

My Mates 466

Chapter 466-Finally Found D*Idos

"I don't get it. How is she going to fight him?" Maynard argued after we all walked back into the mansion and gathered around in the living room.

"She will train for it, for sure," Kellice said, Janet, agreeing with her. I didn't know what to say because if my wolf didn't wake up, then I wouldn't be able to fight Corbin.

The way he looked so alarmed when he heard he was going to be challenged, I knew he would prepare. Corbin wouldn't leave the throne for anything.

"How much can a human prepare fight a werewolf?" Lazlo grunted, walking around the living room and grunting every two seconds.

"And we know we are not the people you think should be here and expressing care, but we do. We do care," Lazlo stopped walking around just so that he could make deep eye contact with me and let me know.

He knew I would judge him for acting as if he cares.

"Even if you do, I think you two should leave. Why did you two come here, anyway?" I said as I watched Theo silently sitting in the corner and probably thinking about what he could do to help me get Nia back.

Lazlo and Maynard shared a glance before the two sat down to have a deep conversation with me.

"Do you remember when I started changing?" Lazlo asked, looking guilty.

"Right after we signed the marriage papers," I recalled, and he shook his head.
