

My Mates 468

Chapter 468-The Dead Brother.

Years Ago:

Author's POV:

'Are you cozy in here?' Marko walked into his house and asked Emelia, who had rented the house a few days ago.

'Oh yes. It is actually a delightful place,' Emelia forced a smile across her lips and told Marko.

'Actually, it's a bit far from the population. That's why Ruby-,' he paused, 'My sweet mate decided she will send you food until you get comfortable enough to get groceries, 1' he added. Ruby and Marko were extremely generous. They didn't mind if Emelia was going to pay them after two months. Even when the two needed money badly, they understood and wanted to sympathize with Emelia.

'That's very kind of you two, but I would appreciate you calling first before coming here.' Emelia put the food down and told Marko, who understood that his arrival had made her uncomfortable.

'Oh, of course. I am sorry for coming without informing you first.' He found it odd, but then again, he wished to respect her privacy, so he agreed with her.

The way Emelia stood in her spot with her head tilted was a sign for Marko to leave.

'Okay then, let me know if you encounter any problems,' he stated awkwardly before rushing out of his own house. He was shocked at how unwelcoming Emelia was. Once he had run into his car, he sighed and called his mate.

left, she ran outside to check on her daughter. Christina was still hiding behind the tree and come outside now," Emelia said, calling for Christina, who did just that. Christina walked out from behind the tree and watched her mother's face arms around her and closed her eyes to feel her daughter. It saddened her because she had craved to hold her daughter in her arms. Even when she lost is not safe for you to be seen with me here." Emelia held Christina's hand and made her walk into the her mother, looking around at the broken walls and ago," Emelia sighed, but offered a seat to her all these years?" Christina asked her especially Lord Shaun," she said, a frown appearing on her forehead at the

on the couch while staring

She said, "That man, along with many others, ruined my life, Christina. You might think your mother abandoned you, but I was never even given a chance to be with you. However, I have returned now, but I don't know how long it will be before Lord Shaun finds out about me and calls

a horrible feeling for Christina to think she had

Christina laughed hysterically, tears shining in her

a witch without having to answer

Christina's jaw hung low.

covered her mouth with her hands, as she never and pieces is true. I am indeed a witch. Not just any witch, but the witch they were once supposed to crown as a mother witch." Emelia recalled what seemed