

My Mates 469

Chapter 469-Not Accepting Rejection.

Enya's POV:

Present Time:

'Her mother used to be friends with your mother before everything fell apart and they two became foes,' Kellice explained the entire history between my mother and Emelia to me. I was stunned upon hearing how my mother betrayed her.

"So maybe Christina is taking revenge on me for what my mother did to her mother?" That was all I could conclude from the history my mother and her mother shared.

"There could be more." Kellice shrugged.

'Because Enya! when you have so many foes, there is a possibility that some of them become friends. Their mutual goal might not be the exact same, but the outcome they want would be similar. In your case, maybe Maynard's interest in you, along with what your mother did to Emelia, made Christina evil?' Kellice uttered, trying to comprehend everything.

'Her mother had never come out before until yesterday when I was about to reject—t Christina,' Maynard stuttered as we watched his face with our eyes bugging out in surprise.

"You were going to reject her?" I asked, surprised.

'Let's just say I have woken up from all the lies she had been whispering in my ears as a lullaby,' he pouted, admitting he was wrong for believing her without questioning anything.

Emelia when Theo's phone began to go crazy.

Lazio spoke up before I did. "It's Enya's adaptive parents,"

Theo had a stern look on his face when talking about them. The truth about them hadn't me back when—I was her only mate," Lazio's tone changed after acknowledging he was my only mate, and he messed up that see what they have to say,' I told Theo, eyeing him to accept the call. I knew Thiago! We are so pleased to know that you have come back to lead your pack. It was a shame that some untrained witch got you for a suitable response. She should suffer for hurting you," she continued to shock us. I was in disbelief but also laughing at her inside my heart. She really thought she would pump Theo against me. If said, not saying much else. He was thinking—why don't you come over with her for dinner? While we enjoy a delicious meal, we can tease her together," her voice held so much enthusiasm that I frowned and pouted his palms as he couldn't wait till

Theo rolled his eyes at

After I gave him a nod, he responded to her, "That's perfect. I will be there with her ex-mates," he said, dragging Maynard and Lazio, who once failed to ex-mate brought a frown to Lazio's forehead. He stared at Theo and then turned his for that evil girl to pay for her sins." My so-called mother was shamelessly plotting against me with my

'Same," Theo faked.

up after discussing the details of the dinner, and now we were pass, nobody just knew who that woman is such a bitch,"