

My Mates 471

Chapter 471-Bitch Please

Once we entered the living room, we found Trevor and Elaine sitting together. Elaine was all over him, while Trevor looked like he wanted to be anywhere but here.

Hey!" Elaine cheered when watching us. She got up from her seat, but only to welcome and greet the others. From the looks of it, I could tell her mother had told her why they were all coming here. She was mentally preparing to put on a good show when they all humiliated me.

'Seems like somebody dressed up for their funeral,' Elaine mocked me when staring at me from head to toe.

I didn't say anything to her and sat down near the fireplace. The dress was short for the cold weather. While the others took their seats, Theo sat with me.

'I am sorry, but I have not seen you before.'" Elaine's eyes landed on Kellice, who was sitting confidently alone and staring around as if she were judging everyone. I simply loved how cool Kellice was.

'Don't worry, I haven't heard about you either,'" Kellice waved her hand at her and silenced Elaine. One could tell Elaine didn't like Kellice responding so rudely to her, but she could only afford one target at the moment.

'It is nice seeing you alive again, Thiago.'" Elaine had a shine in her eyes when talking to Theo. It wasn't until she blinked too hard that I recalled how she wanted to be in the past.

Elaine! Do you know who Kellice is? She is Thiago's new girlfriend.' Vinona had to jump in to turn her attention back at me. Elaine watched her mother's face in shock and then looked my way.
