

My Mates 472

Chapter 472-Theo Is Jealous

'I—," Elaine muttered, and after getting a signal from her mother, she lowered her head and sat in silence like a child who just got scolded.

'Isn't he overdoing it?" Theo slid closer to me on the couch and whispered in my ear.

'He is just trying to be nice," I whispered back to him.

I will bring some snack," Vinona walked out of the living room in a hurry before she stares getting scolded while Theo spread his arm behind me and rested his hand on my shoulder.

'I don't like how he keeps asking his mate to be like you,* Theo grumpily hissed, making me secretly smile.

Well, somebody is jealous!" I taunted, feeling confident. I was over the moon to be with Theo. As the night progressed, I started feeling heavy-headed. There were just too much energy in the living room, so I excused myself and left the house to catch some fresh air.

Standing on the front porch, I let out a deep breath I had been holding in, and when I shifted to the side, I watched Trevor come out after me.

'Are you okay?" he asked, smiling comfortably at me.
