

My Mates 474

Chapter 474-The Rotten Witch Theo!

"I whispered, Who is it?" I asked, watching him look very sad when talking to Lazio.

'Send me the exact address. We are coming over," Theo spoke to Lazio for a few minutes and then hung up the phone to look at me.

'Tell me, who is it?' I asked again, but this time my eyes welled up so badly that everything turned blurry.

'Lazio and Kellice came across a dead body when heading back to our pack," Theo uttered, closing his eyes with pressure and expressing a lot of emotions.

'Is it Oswin?" I asked and instantly broke down. Theo turned to me and held my hands tightly to shake his head for me.

'No! it is not Oswin." He didn't waste a minute before clearing that out for me. I stopped crying and frowned at him.

"Then who is it?" I asked in confusion. Not understanding how else it could be that is related to me.

my heart stop instantly. I couldn't even react to anything. Instead, me and asked Theo, who was now holding my hair him, and all I could hear from Maynard was a loud gasp. After Theo helped me wash my face and calm down, he sat me down in the car and started driving to the location. I was lifelessly resting against the window and staring outside. Silent tears were all I could shed at this point. It was never easy for me to find loyal and genuine friends. And now that I had found one in a most unexpected scenario, I had lost him. By the time we arrived at the location, we found even stomach see their faces. I kept sitting in the car, crying hysterically, while Theo had left the door open for me to get fresh air. Theo, Lazio, and Maynard dealt with the guards, was him and his pregnant wife, Ruby!" Theo said. 'Somebody had killed them and left their bodies here on purpose," he explained, sounding super low now that I was

are trying to help me.*

catch this killer," Theo said, leaning into the car and hugging me. I cried on his had drowned now. But I didn't want to back down now. I had to learn to mom and carry on

You should also go with them," you mind if I hug her?" Lazio asked Theo in a whisper, and rushed over to the driver's side to drive away. Lazio and Maynard joined us on the road, also sad because the car and only woke up when we

