

Chapter 0173

Alpha Reggie sat in my desk chair and looked at me with sympathy. “What about this third person who you say is in charge of your attacks? Are you ever going to reveal her identity to us? It would be helpful in getting the justice that you deserve.” 1

“No sir, I can't prove anything that she has ever done to me with no room for doubt, so there is no point in starting a he said, she said argument. And like I told Warrior Osiston, she's very good at manipulating information. She's gotten away with all of my attacks for as long as they've been happening and many of them under the noses of adults who should be better at reading situations. She has a lot of cards stacked against me, she's done a good job of setting me up. I'm done fighting her and I'm done getting in trouble because people think that I'm falsely accusing her out of spite or jealousy. Karma will come back to get her and I just hope that I'm there to see it.” 2

“But what if now that you're gone she starts honing in on somebody else? Or what if she was a part of the breach that threatened your Queen and your Luna?” 1

“I don't think that will happen. Everyone was too afraid of her to do anything to help me. They should steer clear of her, and as long as no one interferes with her pursuit of the Alpha twins she won't do anything to them. That is also one of the reasons I was so heavily involved in the pups training, I wanted them to be able to at least defend themselves to get away. I believe I was a threat to her because of my rank and my association with the Future Leaders of our pack. I'm convinced that she was just trying to get me out of the way because she thought that I could be a threat to her status and nothing more. If she really wants that status she's going to have to fight very, very hard, and if she does win it then that's on the idiot who chooses her. I do not believe that the Moon Goddess will willingly give her a position as Luna. As for the Luna Queen and Luna Ava, I don't think she is that smart, but if you can find evidence suggesting one of our teenagers was helping rogues enter and threaten our pack, I will bring forward all the information I have on her of my attacks. Until then, I will keep it to myself so your investigation isn't skewed in favor of me." 3

"Are you planning on pursuing pack law? You are almost as good as Warrior Brogen at withholding information, under the guise of staying neutral." We both laugh. "Very well, I will not ask you again until we have more information, but if you do need to talk to somebody we have many warriors here who would be willing to listen and would probably better understand your story. I hope you learn to trust again.” 2

“Thank you sir, and I really do appreciate you taking me on when you did not have to at all. You don't know how much this means to me.”

“None of that dear girl. I think Xander would have had my head if I hadn't helped you out. He has been beside himself for weeks. He was hoping to get special visiting rights as the Alpha Prince, but we kept him away, just like the future Blue Crescent leadership. As for the rest of your young gentleman, they haven't been allowed anywhere near you for fear of causing you more distress. That doesn't stop them from asking their supervisors about your status every single day though.” He chuckles and my mouth drops open. There's no way they asked every day, they have more important things to do than worry about me locked up in a hospital. “They are here on the grounds doing their leadership training, but their focus has definitely been torn. I think it will do them all good to know that you are out of the hospital and finally moved into our warrior compound. The six of them have bonded over the loss of you. Also, Lucas and I decided that it was probably a good idea to get some separation. Based on everything that you seem to continually go through. I will allow Luna Ava to visit you on a monthly basis since you are in a unique situation, but no one else is allowed to visit you while you are in training, no distractions. You are a very strong little wolf, I can't wait to see what you do. While you are in training the only contact you will have to the outside world is the two days we will afford you to attend school."

“Thank you again sir.”

“Well, I will leave you to it. Warrior Osiston will get you acclimated with the compound facilities. and he will get you your training and school schedule. I believe your friend Sierra will be very excited to know that the classes you will be attending will be at our local school. Our schools run year round, so there will be no break from studies for you this summer. I want to give you a little bit of normalcy with the strange circumstance that you find yourself in.” Alpha King Reggie pats me on the shoulder and gives me a small little smile that reminds me of Alpha Lucas and Delta Kyle when they are letting me try something new all on my own and they are more nervous about it than I am. Then he nods at Warrior Osiston before leaving.

“All right little one, head into your closet there, your uniforms are all set up for you. You will wear a uniform everyday, anytime that you are out of your room. When you are in your room feel free to wear whatever you want but considering you came with nothing you're stuck with the uniform.” Warrior Osiston flashes a ghost of a smile.

“Did you just make a joke? I didn’t know that was possible.” I laugh and he fights a smile.

“We will get some of your personal things from Luna Ava. You can write a letter to her requesting items you may want or need from home. I will give you exactly 3 minutes to change and to be out in this hallway so we can finish the rest of our tour.” With that he steps out and closes the door.

Oh sh*t! This is for real now. I changed in record time into the black leggings, black sports bra, and collared zip-up jacket that had the royal crest on the left side. Black socks and running shoes finish the outfit. I let myself wonder at them having everything in my size considering my lack of size. I don’t dwell on it much though, I scramble to the bathroom finding elastics to pull my hair back into a ponytail, and I’m out the door right at 3 minutes.

Warrior Osiston doesn't even look at me, he just turns and continues down the hallway. He pointed to the room located near the main staircase that I saw when we first walked in. “This is your floor leader's room, if there's anything that you need you will let her know. Her name is Audrina and she will drive you to be your best. She has been here for 3 years and I will make sure you get to know her tonight before dinner.

Now, down that end of the hallway is the male section, all the rooms are equipped the same. Let's go see the rest of the living quarters, then we will head out to the grounds."

"We head down the main set of stairs back into the open foyer. The look is deceiving. These stairs look like something out of a Cinderella movie where the girl makes her grand entrance to the ball, not a functional set of stairs leading to warrior bedrooms. I don't get much time to dwell on that as I follow Warrior Osiston back into the massive living room but this time head off to the right.
