

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 10 AN EXTRA PERSON IN THE BED

In the evening, the hotel room was lively. People were drinking happily for the arrival of Winnie. Winnie was happy, but she didn't drink too much wine. After all, she needed to take care of her child, so drinking too much was inconvenient. "I would like to propose a toast to Miss Chambers. I hope we can have better cooperation in the future." Seth was already slightly drunk and did not know how many times he had toasted. "Don't worry, Seth. There will be no problem with the cooperation." Winnie said with a smile, and did not know how many times she made such an answer. "Winnie, I would like to propose a toast to you. I will study hard from you, please help me more, I want to become an excellent engineer like you." Alice Dawson the assistant arranged by the Bennete Group to Winnie said with a smile. She had just graduated from the university. She was young, but she was ambitious. "No problem. You can surpass me if you try hard." In Winnie's eyes, this assistant was more like a sister. As Winnie's voice fell, someone said. "Mr. Bennet, Mr. Bennet is coming!" Everyone looked to the door in surprise. Winnie turned and did not expect Brian really appeared, which disappointed her. "Mr. Bennet." The last one to react was Seth, who quickly got up to give his seat. Brian did not look angry, but he was serious, so that everyone's mood was forced to restrain. Brian sat down naturally with Winnie beside her. He turned to Winnie with pale face, Brian said calmly. "Sit down, everLKody. I'm here to welcome Miss Chambers on behalf of the Bennete Group." "Mr. Bennet, allow me to interrupt. Miss Chambers just said, when we are not in the company, we can call her Winwin, you can also call her Winwin." It was Seth who cut in. He must have had too much wine. If he were sober, he wouldn't have dared to interrupt Brian. However, Brian was not angry, but said in a low voice. "Winwin." "Mr. Bennet, thank you for coming. I didn't expect that I as a small employee can have you here. It is my honor." Winnie said indifferently. With the last lesson, she paid special attention for fear of being misunderstood was ulterior motives. "Have a drink, then." As Brian spoke, the assistant had prepared the wine. "I, Mr. Bennet..." Winnie wanted to refuse, but Seth interrupted her. "Miss Chambers, you don't have to drink our wine, but you have to drink Mr. Bennet's wine. He never propose a toast to anyone." Since Seth said so, Winnie could not refuse. "In that case, I'll have a drink." However, after this glass, she could not stop drinking. Winnie not good at drinking flushed and showed her dimples. Looking at the charming Winnie, Brian lost his mind for a moment. Winnie eventually got drunk and was sent home. Brian supported Winnie and searched in her bag for a long time before he found the key to the house and opened the door. "Mommy." "Winwin, you are back..." Hearing the sound of the door, Daenerys and Megan walked over together, only to find Winnie was nestled in a tall and handsome man's arms. "What's the matter? Get drunk?" Daenerys quickly came to help Winnie regardless of the man. Brian did not answer but directly helped Winnie to sit on the sofa. Then Daenerys's cell phone rang. "Mom..." "Ok, ok, don't worry, I'll be right back." Daenerys put the phone down, looking nervous and anxious. "Sir, I have something urgent to deal with, so please take care of Megan and Winwin." Daenerys did not care who the man was and left after saying that. "Uncle, did mother drink a lot?" Megan walked to Brian and tentatively asked. "Well.....not much. She will be fine after sleep." Brian did not know how to answer the child, and he said so. "Uncle, please help Mummy to bed, she will be uncomfortable here." Megan tried, but her strength was too small to help her, so she had to ask Brian for help. "....." Brian was cold on face and had to pick up Winnie, but Winnie did not cooperate, so he failed to help her up and could only pick her up to the bed in the bedroom. "It's getting late. Go to bed with your mommy. I am leaving." After helping Winnie to cover the quilt, Brian was ready to leave. "Uncle." Megan's childish voice called Brian again. "Uncle, I dare not sleep. Can you leave after I fall asleep?" Megan begged and her poor little eyes made Brian could not bear to leave. "You go to bed and I'll leave after you're asleep." "Thank you, Uncle." Megan was so excited that she didn't run back to the bed. Instead, she held Brian's hand and pulled him to the bed. "Uncle, have a sit, you leave after I fell asleep." Megan went to bed, got into Mummy's quilt, and then lay down in front of Brian, during the whole process she did not loosen Brian's hand. "Close your eyes and go to sleep." Brian said, he did not understand why Megan had been watching him with a smile and not ready to sleep. "You feel like my Dad." Megan's word made Brian think of Winnie's family members. There were only a mother and a daughter. Instantly his heart was like be hit and trembled. "Go to sleep." His voice softened distinctly. He was cold and friendless by nature, but he could not refuse such an expectant child. In the morning, Winnie woke up in a daze. Being dizzy, she knew it was all caused by alcohol. When she turned back and found her daughter was still asleep, she showed a smile. The next moment she froze and her smile disappeared. "What are you doing here?" Winnie asked in a low voice, for fear of waking up Megan. "Nothing." Brian did not know why he was here, nor did he know why he had fallen asleep. Didn't he have trouble sleeping in strange places?"You..."Winnie tried hard to recall what happened the night before, and finally she gave up because she finds herself had fragment memory.Winnie tiptoed out of bed, found herself still wearing yesterday's clothes and breathed a sigh of relief.She walked to Brianand pulled him out of the bedroom."I don't remember what happened last night, Mr. Bennet, but it doesn't seem right for you to stay here. For whatever reason, you should leave."Winnie's tone of blame was obvious.For so many years, she kept her distance from any man for fear of getting into unnecessary trouble. However, Brian slept in her bed. If this was spread out, it would be said she seduced the president."I'm leaving. I don't want to get into unnecessary trouble, especially you're an active single woman. Your friend had to deal with her business and asked me to look after you."Brian frowned and his cold and deep eyes fell on Winnie's confused face."You.....Mr. Bennet, please watch your mouth. Yes, I am a single woman, but I won't seduce you. I am not that bad, and I have no feeling for you."Winnie admitted that Brian was an excellent man, but she had long given up her heart to men. She would not seduce a married man. She was angry that he had denigrated her.