

My Twins 141

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 141 DAENERYS SCOLDED BRIAN

Brian refused to rest, even for a while. Albert and Calvin were worried. "If you don't have a rest, sit down for a while. Or you won't be able to hold on." Albert persuaded him. "Did you catch them?" Brian now did not feel tired at all, only distressed and hateful. No matter who hurt his Brian's woman, he would not let it go easily. "Yes, Morgan had sent them to the police station." Albert replied. "Don't worry, Mr. Bennet. We can handle it. We will do our best in the company these days. You can keep good watch on Winnie, but you can't let Winnie wake up to see a gaunt you. For Winnie's sake, take a break." Calvin said so too. He and Albert sat on the chair for a while if they got tired, but Mr. Bennet walked back and forth. It was very tiring to work overtime today, but now it had been five hours since the rescue of Winnie. Brian had been nervous all the time and never sat down for a rest. In this way, Brian would fall down before Winnie woke up. "Communicate with the police. Don't spill the news. I must get to the bottom of it. Albert, we also need to check, you go to arrange people to keep an eye on Penny." Brian still stood with a gloomy face and worried eyes. He made an order. Winnie had the accident on her way to see Penny. Although there was no evidence, he always felt that it was related to Penny. "I'll do it, but sit down first, Mr. Bennet, and I'll do it right away." The kidnappers had been caught. It would only be a matter of time before the cat was out. The most important thing now was that Brian must take a break. "Yes, Mr. Bennet, sit down and rest for a while." Two people continued to persuade, finally Brian reluctantly sat down. After sitting for a while he stood up again, until daybreak. Daenerys received the call last night but kept quiet until the next morning she dropped the children off at kindergarten and burst into tears at the door of the intensive care unit. "What is wrong with Winwin? Everything can happen to her. She shouldn't have come back. If she hadn't, nothing would have happened." "Winwin, you must hold on. As soon as you recover, leave here and never come back." Crying, Daenerys said. She felt responsible for Winnie's difficulties. She should not have left Winnie, it was her did not take good care of her. "Stop crying, everything is fine. It is only a matter of time to wake up." Kevin walked over to Daenerys and patted her on the shoulder to comfort her. Daenerys cried sadly, pressing her head on the shoulder of Kevin. "You must save Winwin. She has a lot of work to do. She has children to take care of." "Don't worry, I said it's fine." Kevin patted Daenerys' back gently. He felt sorry to see her crying sadly. "You are the best doctor. You must save her." Daenerys was desperate and sad. Even if Kevin repeated to ensure that Winnie would be fine, she felt like she would lose Winnie, so she panicked. "Don't worry, she will be all right." Kevin did not know how to comfort her. Daenerys has always been cheerful and optimistic. Now she was crying for bestie, he did not what to do. No matter how Kevin persuaded, Daenerys could not calm down. This reality was too cruel for Winnie to take. She left Kevin's embrace, went straight to Brian and scolded him loudly. "It's all your fault. It's all your fault. Don't you know what kind of person your wife is? Why put Winwin in danger? Don't speak for Penny any more. It must be her, it must be her." "You are powerful, why can't you protect her? If you can't protect her, you should let her go. Maybe this time she'll get over it. How about next time? Can you guarantee there will be no next time?" Daenerys rebuked him uninterruptedly. It was Brian's fault. He was greedy, so Winnie encountered misfortune. If he had left her alone, she would not have been targeted and would not have ended up in intensive care. Kevin stepped forward to pull Daenerys' arm, trying to calm her down but it didn't help. Daenerys shook off Kevin's hand and continued to say angrily. "You know, this isn't the first time she's been in danger. Some time ago, she went out alone at night and got warned by two men, who said that she destroyed other people's homes and that she was the secret mistress. They said they would kill her if she doesn't leave. So now that it's a fact, you're happy?" Daenerys now regretted. Winnie told her to keep her mouth shut. If she had told Brian earlier, the accident might have been avoided. "A warn?" Brian frowned and looked at Daenerys in shock. Daenerys accused him just now and he had nothing to say. It was he who did not do a good job and he had ignored that point. None of this would have happened if he had taken the bank card and returned it to Penny. But he knew nothing of the last thing she said. Now he remembered what Winnie had said to him. He should have paid more attention. A little caution would have prevented such a tragedy. "Well, who do you think would warn her? Who else could it be rather than Penny? Mr. Bennet, you've a family and a wife. Will you stop messing around with Winwin? She had ups and downs, don't bother her any more." Daenerys' mood was still excited. Brian knew many things but he had been in favor of Penny. She was afraid Brian would stand on the side of Penny this time. "She didn't tell me about it, and if she did, I wouldn't have let this happen." Brian blamed himself. He knew that it had something to do with Penny, and had sent someone to investigate. He would not spare Penny. But things were not as simple as Daenerys thought. If he could leave Winnie, he would have left. "She told you? What should she told you? Have you ever believed her since you met her?" Daenerys thought of Winnie's injustice these days. She could not control her emotions, crying in hysteria. "From the moment she met you, you said she had a plan. Hearing what Penny said, you called her a cheater. What did she cheat you about? Cheating your heart or money? Do you believe what a cheater says?" "She slept with you and got scolded, but what did you give her? You never ever gave her a present. Why should she be a victim? Why should she be bullied by you?" As she spoke, she rummaged in her bag. Then she took out a bank card and gave it to Brian. "This is a hundred million you gave her. She told me to give it back to you when I get the opportunity. Now that she is dying, I think I should give it back to you. This is an insult to her. She is with you not because of this one hundred million, but because of the children, understand?" Daenerys was angry, for what Winnie suffered. Brian stood there, and for the first time in his life, he was not able to say a rebuttal. Now he suddenly understood that everything was rooted in him. If he could trust Winnie, she would tell him when she was in danger. None of this would have happened if he had not allowed her to be wronged, and had put Penny's affairs to rest earlier. Instead of a bank card in his hand, he was carrying a load of guilt. During this period of time, he only focused on his own feelings, but never for Winnie, also forgot that she was a woman who had her feelings. She had suffered so many grievances and suffered so many things that should not have happened to her, all because of his selfishness. "Mr. Bennet, in your heart Winwin is of no importance. She's always the one to take the blame for everything. Now that she's almost dead, let her go." Daenerys cried sadly. She knew everything Winnie suffered and she could feel that. At the moment she felt sorry for Winnie. Kevin walked to Daenerys, held her shoulders, afraid she would faint. As for Daenerys' criticism of Mr. Bennet, he did not stop it. He thought it was right for someone like that to scold Brian, to sober him up and make him see his heart. He felt that the moment was just right and it was time to stop. "Stop now, Daenerys. You're so loud that you're gonna disturb the patients inside. Wait until everyone is calm." Kevin said holding Daenerys' shoulder and forcibly took her away. They sat down on a chair. Brian frowned and said nothing. Daenerys was right. It was all his fault. But Daenerys let him away from Winnie, he seemed to be unable to do that. Winnie did not wake up in the afternoon. When it was time to pick up the children, Daenerys insisted on staying in the hospital, and Albert was busy, so Brian could only think of a way. "Albert, call Butler Lowe to take the children to grandfather's." The only person who could take care of his children now was his grandfather. Only his grandfather could let Brian rest assured. "Mr. Bennet, the chairman is not home these days." Albert replied, having already made a phone call. Brian could not let the children know what had happened to Winnie. At least, he could not tell them before she woke up. But if the children went home, they would be suspicious, so she could only find a place to let them not doubt. After much thought, there was only one place left. "Call Paul to pick them up and say Winnie and I are on a business trip." "Yes, I will send two children there." Albert was excited. He could not believe that Brian would send the children to the suburbs.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 142 WAKE UP

Albert said and left. Brian had been guarding at the door of the intensive care unit. Daenerys had been there all day and had never left. Winnie had not wake up for such a long time, she could not bear it. She got up from the chair and went to the office of Kevin directly. She wanted to confirm if Winwin was in danger. Without knocking at the door, she pushed opened the door and got in. Kevin was studying a difficult case. When he saw Daenerys, he put down the work. Daenerys walked over to Kevin's desk and sat down in a chair, feeling tired and desperate. "Doctor Burns, tell me the truth. Will Winwin wake up?" Daenerys only said a sentence before she could not help crying. "Don't overthink about it. I told you she lost blood and fell into a coma. She's not in danger now. Don't you believe me?" Kevin was worried, but he was Winnie's doctor, after all. If he was in a mess, Winnie was really hopeless. "I do, but why hasn't she wake up? She had so many worries that she couldn't just fall asleep. If she falls asleep like this, what should her aunt, Vanessa, Luke and Megan do?" Daenerys said sadly with more tears flowing down. Kevin felt depressed about it, got up from the chair and held Daenerys' shoulder. "Don't cry, it'll be all right. Winwin is so kind that God will bless her." "God blesses her. Why does Brian torture her? She did not do anything wrong. Brian should thank her. She sacrificed so much for him." Daenerys said excitedly, but she knew what to say and what not to say. Kevin had long been aware of Daenerys' hidden words, outside the intensive care in the morning. But that there were so many people, and he couldn't say anything in that sad scene. Now there were only two of them, he felt inclined to ask again. "Calm down, Daenerys. Some things are not as simple as you and I think. Will you calm down and talk to me?" "Talk about what?" Daenerys was aware of Kevin's serious, looked up at Kevin with tearful eyes. At this time she realized that she was held by Kevin. She got up quickly and distanced herself from Kevin. Then, trying to hide her embarrassment, she continued. "I think... I think between them..." The more she hid the more she stuttered, the rhythm of her heartbeat was lost. "Sit down. We need to have a good talk about Winwin and Brian. We are their best friends." Kevin saw Daenerys' embarrassment and interrupted her words. Then he walked back to his office chair and sat down. Daenerys sat down, embarrassed, and spoke first. "They can't be together. I think they should be advised to end the relationship immediately." Daenerys finally calmed down. In her eyes, Brian was a man like a diamond, but he was not suitable for being with Winnie. "Why do you think so?" Kevin asked. "The status gap is too great to overcome even if they love each other." If Winnie's parents were alive, and if her family's business were thriving, there might be a chance. But now things had changed. Winnie was just a worker with a child, while Brian was a president of his company. "I think love will help, even if they both have children. The disparity in status is not the problem, and children are not the problem. They are like a family of four, Megan and Luke are like twins, four people will be happy." Kevin mentioned the children deliberately. Under this specific situation, he would like to see if Daenerys would continue to cover up.

Daenerys looked at Kevin in some panic. Kevin had mentioned the children on previous occasions, but not so clearly. Did he know something? Why did he say that? At this point, she got up. She could not go on talking. Now she was in a bad mood. If she spoke out the truth, it would be more troublesome. "There's nothing going on between them, and I don't think we can help. Doctor Burns, go on with your work. I'll go and see Winwin." Daenerys got up and left directly. Her reaction was too sensitive, which was more radical than the previous time, so Kevin became more suspicious. Even if she didn't tell him, he could prove everything, but he kept thinking about whether to debunk the truth. After debunking the facts, what should all the people do? After debunking the facts, would Winnie encounter more dangerous things than now? Kevin was baffled, he wanted to talk about it with Daenerys openly, but Daenerys had been avoiding it. Winnie remained in a coma for another day and night and finally woke up two days after the incident. Fortunately, she was sober enough not to have what Kevin feared. After Kevin determined that Winnie had no problem, he told Brian to wear isolation clothes and took him into the intensive care unit. This time Winnie was more miserable than the last time. She did not have clothes on but was only covered with white sheets. There were intubations and all kinds of monitoring devices. Her face was pale. Seeing this, Brian's heart was aching like a tear. He walked to Winnie step by step, but at that moment he looked at her, he found she were still frightened, Brian could not help but have tears in eyes. "Winwin." Brian called Winnie's name softly. Winnie hummed out a word and then tears flew down. There are grievances and joy of rebirth. When she opened her heavy eyes, when she looked at the cold instruments all around her, when she saw white all around her, she really thought she was dead, all she saw was a soul wandering. Even when Kevin came to examine her, she felt unreal. It was not until she saw Brian that she was sure she was safe and alive. Brian bent over, carefully put his face close to her and kissed her pale face. "Don't cry. It's all right. It's all right." Brian wiped her tears while consoling Winnie. Although he didn't see what happened, he could tell from the fact that her clothes were untidy that she must have been very scared and desperate. The kidnappers said Winnie stabbed herself with knife, he had no doubts. Because Winnie would rather die than be raped. This was her strong character. However, Winnie could not control crying, and she could not say a word. "Don't cry, don't cry." Brian also could not bear to shed tears. At the moment he hated the kidnappers who cause harms on Winnie, more hated himself for failing to protect Winnie and got her almost killed. "Winwin..." Brian wanted to continue to comfort, but found that Winnie did not respond, and the instrument also issued an alarm. Kevin quickly pulled Brian away and took a check again. "Winwin... Winwin....." Brian saw hope in despair, not he was helpless feeling like falling into the abyss. "She is fine, she is fine, she just blacked out." Kevin said, which made Brian at ease. "That's why I don't want you in. She must have woken up excited from the shock." Kevin had expected this, so he did not go out but stayed by her side. "Is she really all right?" Asked Brian, worried. "Yes. She'll get over it in a minute. You'd better get out of here and I'll send her straight back to the ward when she's calm." Kevin was afraid of Winnie in the excitement, which was not conducive to the recovery. "I'm going out, and you take good care of her. Don't make her cry when she wakes up." Brian was still worried, but had to go out, afraid of Winnie's emotional instability and that she would get fainted. When Winnie woke up again, Kevin didn't let anyone in to see her until a day later, when Winnie calmed down, she was transferred from the intensive care unit to the VIP advanced ward. Seeing all the people, Winnie finally felt relieved. "I have got you worried." In the first sentence, she was still thinking of others and apologizing for everyone's worry about her. "As long as you're all right." Brian breathed a sigh of relief. Seeing that Winnie's face was better than the day before and his spirits were in good condition, he finally felt at ease. In the four days since her injury, he had barely slept, had not cared business of the company, and had not left the intensive care unit. But it was all worth it, finally Winnie was out. "Winwin, is your wound very painful..." Daenerys got near the hospital bed. She could not help but cry. "It's all right. Don't cry." Winnie endured pain and comforted Daenerys. Kevin pulled Daenerys aside, so as not to make Winnie emotional. "I said don't cry. You'll affect her mood." Kevin whispered. "Ok, I won't cry... But I can't help it. Look at her." Daenerys could not uncontrol her mood. Kevin could only pull her out of the ward. Winnie was good. She felt lucky that she was still alive. Slowly, she reached out her hand and touched Brian's wrinkled eyebrows, trying to smooth the bulge between them. "I'm fine, don't worry. Thank you for saving me." She said in a weak voice, which made Brian's nose sour. "Don't thank me. I've blamed myself already. You shouldn't have been put through this." Brian took Winnie's hand in his own. Afraid that Winnie would be worried, he forced himself to stretch his eyebrows. Winnie's words made Brian more ashamed. He had been blaming himself these days, hoping that Winnie would scold him, beat him once she woke up, so that he could feel better. "It has nothing to do with you. I did not do a good job. Don't blame yourself. You have not told Vanessa, right?" Winnie changed the topic, because she could not bear Brian's guilt.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 143 RARE GENTLENESS

In the danger, Winnie really hoped the person to save her was Brian. Things had past, but she was afraid, because all this was related to Brian. If he could stay away from her, it might have not happened. Winnie certainly felt that way, but she did not blame Brian; after all, their relationship was consensual. It was she had a simple thinking. Brian had prominent status and was destined to be extraordinary. Since the day she agreed to be his woman, she should have thought it would never be easy. "I didn't tell her, for fear they would be worried." Brian replied in a low voice. "Yes, don't tell them. How about the children? Who's taking care of them?" Winnie asked weakly. "I sent them to the suburbs. They didn't know what happened to you. I told them we were away on a business trip. But we can't keep it for too long. I'll bring them back when you're stable." Brian said in detail, afraid of Winnie worried about children. "Well, you were right. I am relieved to know that they are in the suburbs." Winnie involuntarily raised her lips. It seemed that she encountered the accident had harvest, so that Brian and Rufus would be gradually connected. "Stop talking. You are still weak and need rest." At this time, Kevin walked in again and reminded Brian. Daenerys was still excited. Kevin stopped her from entering the ward. He chased away the people in the ward, leaving only Brian alone. The room was suddenly quiet. "Take rest, I'll be right here." Brian had been holding Winnie's hand. "Well, I'll get some sleep." Winnie was very weak and soon fell asleep. Brian had been guarding Winnie. Unconsciously he lied on the bed of Winnie and also fell asleep. Brian did not wake up until he heard voices outside the ward. Carefully, he walked out without making a sound. It was the police. "Mr. Bennet, the police want a transcript." Albert explained. "No, she's very weak and can't speak easily. She can't do it now." Brian resolutely refused. "I'm the victim's guardian, and I have the right to know what's going on." Brian had been in the hospital these days and got no news from the police. Of course, the police knew who Brian was and told him the situation. "Mr. Bennet, the three people caught said that there was another person. They were only responsible for bringing Miss Chambers back. they took Miss Chambers to the third floor and then went downstairs..." The police gave a detailed account of the three people's statements and how Winnie resisted. Finally, the focus was on the fourth person. Continued the policeman. "The three of them said they were paid by the fourth man. They did not see who he looked like. We had checked the phone number we contacted with them. The real name of the phone number was not consistent with the case, and the phone number was activated after the loss of identity documents." "That is to say, the person behind this has long planned, and its anti-reconnaissance ability is very strong and had minimized the risk." "We heard that Miss Chambers had woken up and wanted to ask if she had any impression of the person, such as physical features," he said. Brian once again frowned. He thought there were only three people and did not expect that there was a fourth person. "Not now. She's stimulated and unstable in mood. I'll call you in a few days when she's better." No matter for what, Brian would not let the police see Winnie and mention the things at that time, Winnie must not accept it. After the police left, Brian looked around and asked Albert. "How is the investigation on Penny?" "She has been at home for the past few days and has not detected any suspicious messages on her phone." "What about those two people who threatened Winwin according to Daenerys?" Brian continued to ask in a cold voice. "I have just received a message about the two men. I have found them. Surprisingly, it seems to be Richard Burns, Penny's father, who is behind the scenes." Albert came back and met the police before the report. And now he had the chance to tell him the results of the investigation. Hearing that, Brian looked at Albert sharply. "Richard Burns?" "I think it was him. I have made a video record. They said that a middle-aged man had come to them. I investigated again and asked them to recognize him. It turned out that the middle-aged man was Richard Burns' assistant." Albert told him all the details. "I see, keep it quiet. Accelerate the acquisitions." Brian carefully walked back to the ward after that. He stood by the bed and looked out of the window, with his thoughts reverberating in the matter that Albert had just reported. Since it was Richard, it must be related to Penny. Did they really have something to do with this matter? Penny had always been cautious, as last car accident, she would remove all responsibility before she took a move. She didn't feel guilty afterwards and acted as if nothing had happened. It seemed that his blindly forbearing did not make Penny repent, again and again she provoked his patience. One day she would realize that you messed with the wrong person. She had done too much wrong thing to Winnie. You were gonna pay for this. Brian returned to the bedside. Seeing that Winnie having a sound sleep, he lay down and unconsciously even fell asleep. He slept soundly this night. Finally he opened his eyes. The room was dark except for the faint glow of a single yellow lamp. He looked out of the window and realized it was dark and the stars had already come out. He slowly turned around and looked at Winnie. He found that Winnie had opened her eyes and was looking at him. "You're awake? Why didn't you wake me up?" As he spoke, he sat up. "I just woke up. You are sleeping soundly, so I didn't wake you up." Winnie's voice was a little better than that in the morning, but she still dared not speak loudly. "Are you feeling ok? Shall I ask Kevin to come?" Brian continued to ask. "No, don't bother him. It's getting dark and you haven't had your dinner yet. Go to your dinner." Looking at Brian's gaunt face, Winnie was distressed. She thought Brian was the object of her lifelong crush, but when she woke up in the intensive care unit to see Brian, she had an impulse. She had the impulse to tell Brian that she loved him, it was better than to die with regret. But before she said anything, she passed out again, and when she woke up, when she was alone in the intensive care unit thinking, she came back to reality, and got rid of that idea. "I'm not hungry, and I don't want to eat now. Albert will send dinner over when I want to eat." Brian just woke up and had no appetite. Winnie had not eaten anything. He could not eat in front of her. "You have lost weight in the past two days. Your beard has grown out." Winnie reached out her hand and touched Brian's chin lightly. Although there was not enough light, she could still see Brian's tired face clearly. Was he tired and haggard for her? Was he worried about her, sad for her, so he did not take care of himself? And his tears in the intensive care unit were because of her? If it was the truth, Winnie would be happy and satisfied."As long as you are fine, I can lost weight."Brian said softly. This was his most gentle attitude to Winnie, For he could not speak to her in a cold voice now.Brian was afraid of Winnie would get her wound hurt when she stretched hands, so he quickly put his face down so that Winnie would be easy to move. However, his thoughtfulness and gentle tone made Winnie got tears in eyes.If Brian could treat her like this all the time, she would rather lie in bed all her life. It was a kind of happiness to look at him like this all her life."You know, at the moment before I stabbed myself with the knife, I felt so desperate and so sorry. There are so many concerns that I don't want to leave."Winnie said with emotion, the concerns included Brian."What my two children do if I die? I owe Megan a father, owe Luke a mother. If I die, they would have regret."She owed them a complete home."My aunt will be sad if I die. She won't be able to carry on. Without spiritual support, Vanessa will have to support her whole family. She will be as tired as me for the rest of her life.""Daenerys will be said if I die, and Leo will live with guilt."Winnie had been unable to hold back tears, feeling herself to the moment of despair.Brian reached out to wipe her tears. And Winnie moved the line of sight with tearful eyes to Brian's face, looking at his distressed eyes because of her."If I die, I'll never see you again."Winnie said she would not show her love, but it was ok to say it in this way, she thought.After this sentence, Winnie's line of sight got blurred and she could not see Brian's expression, which was good, so that she did not have to see his disdainful expression.Winnie could not stop talking."At that moment, I finally understood why people die with their eyes closed. I thought if I died, I must have my eyes open, because there are too many concerns and too many unexpressed feelings. I can only die with my eyes open."Winnie was sobbing and deeply afraid of death."Don't cry, don't cry. It will never happen again. I will protect you. I will not let you die. You cannot die without my permission in this life."Brian wanted to hug Winnie to comfort her, but was afraid to touch her wounds. He wanted to kiss away her tears, but he was afraid that she was emotional and got fainted again.All he could do was continue to wipe her tears in bewilderment.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 144 THE FOURTH MAN

At the moment, Brian was distressed, which was beyond words, as if Winnie's tears flew into his heart, and her tears was like having salt in it, making his heart pain. Winnie's words fell into his ears and seeped into his heart. She owed her child more than a parent; she owed them a complete family and an explanation. She was not only worried about aunt, but also her friends, even Leo who had hurt her. She could not bear to leave them. Most importantly, he would live with guilt and miss her for the rest of his life. Winnie cried for a long time before she calmed down. She was moved by Brian's words, but she did not expect anything. It was not easy to get along with Brian so peacefully. As long as she cherished the moment, she would take it as God's compensation for her injury. The next morning. Winnie's condition gradually improved, and her spirit was better than that of the day before. "Have some breakfast and go to work. I'm fine." Winnie calmly said, with a more stable tone than that of yesterday. "Don't worry about me. They can handle my things well. I'll wash the towel and wipe your face." Brian said and went to the bathroom. He would not leave if there were no important things. At this moment, he felt unease to give Winnie to anyone. The thing was not clear yet and the fourth person had not been caught. No one could guarantee that he would not make a move to Winnie. As Brian had just gone to the bathroom, Kevin and Daenerys opened the door and came in. "How are you today? Are you better?" Daenerys finally could control her mood to face Winnie. "Well, I am better. Thank you for your concern." Winnie saw Daenerys show a sweet smile. "That's good. I'm so worried." "Here, let me check first." Kevin had observed that Winnie looked good, but for everyone to be at ease, he had to carefully check again. And he began to check on her. At that moment, Brian came out of the bathroom with a wet towel in his hand. "You're here?" "Yes." Kevin was busy and Daenerys answered. "Mr. Bennet, I will be here today, you can go back to sleep." Looking at Brian's tired face, Daenerys remembered her excessive words and regretted. "I am fine. You have to work, so I will stay here. Winwin's bed is big and I can sleep while she sleeps." Brian did not trust others to take care of Winnie, nor did he feel tired. If he went home, he could not sleep, it is better to stay with Winnie in the hospital. Since Brian insisted, Daenerys had nothing to say. From Winwin's accident to now, Brian had been taking care of Winwin and Daenerys could see that he was to Winwin. But would he still be good to her when she recovered? Could they be like this for lifetime? Kevin soon finished checking and gave a warm smile. "It's all right, everything's fine." "Good." Holding a towel, Brian walked over to Winnie and began to wipe her face. The action was gentle and careful for fear of hurting Winnie. "This is the first time I've seen President Bennet take care of others. You are potential, good for you." Kevin could not help joking. Brian really did a lot for Winnie during these days. "Do you want a major operation, too? If you're lying here, I'll take care of you too." Brian said in a cold voice. "No, it's painful. You'd better take good care of Winwin." "Go ahead, I will go to get some medicine." Kevin was to leave, but was stopped by Brian. "Tell a female nurse to change it, not you." Brian commanded. Winnie's wound was in the front chest, of which the position was awkward. He had endured it during the operation, but now that the operation was over and she was stable, he could not accept other men looking at her body. Not even if Kevin was a doctor. "Shit, are you all right? I'm her doctor. I saw everything and you're jealous of that." Kevin did not expect that Brian would mind that. It seemed that his woman was not allowed to be watched by other men. "Cut the crap and do as you're told." Brian did not want to talk with Kevin. "Well, I'll do what I was told, or you will dismantle the hospital." Kevin turned around, but then turned back. "Are you jealous?" Kevin was still continuing to tease. With Winnie beside him, he was not afraid of Brian's anger. "Kevin." Brian warned him angrily and took a sharp look at Kevin. He was sure that he wasn't jealous, but that his woman was not allowed to be watched by others. "All right, I'll get a female nurse, a pretty, sexy one, just for Mr. Bennet." Kevin said jokily and then ran, if he was later, Brian might have killed him. "Anyone will do." Winnie calmly said, she was glad to see Brian's gloomy face. Was he really jealous as Kevin said? Or was she imagining? "No." Brian said firmly. As for why, it was not necessary to say it clearly. "Don't worry about it. The most important thing is for Winwin to get well soon." Daenerys went to the bed and took the towel from Brian. Then she went on talking. "Mr. Bennet, as a friend of Winwin, I want to ask for your favor. If you promise it will never happen again, your relationship can continue. If you don't, I think it's better for you to separate. Winwin has only one life and there is no guarantee that she will survive again." Daenerys had wanted to say this for a long time. She did not want to see Winnie in danger again. "Daenerys." Winnie reminded Daenerys, then Brian decisively gave the answer. "I can keep her safe and will not let it happen again." Brian's face got more and more cloudy. He promised Daenerys and told himself that he would never let Winnie in danger again. "I'll trust you, Mr. Bennet." As Daenerys's voice fell, Kevin came in with a female nurse to change the dressing for Winnie's wound. Soon it had been done. "She can eat today. Give her something light. It gives her strength." Kevin said and left with Daenerys. Brian told Albert to get a light porridge. Winnie had spirit after having the porridge. "Wanna go to bed?" Brian asked in a soft voice. "No, I'm not sleepy at all." Winnie replied in a low voice. "Let's talk about this event, can you control your mood?" Brian asked carefully for fear that Winnie got emotional. "Yes, I'm fine." Winnie had been able to face the event of that day. Although she was still scared, no one took it for her and it could only overcome when she was strong. Brian sat beside Winnie and held her hand, giving her strength virtually. Then he asked. "Did it happen on the day you went to see Penny?" "Yes, when I came out of the cafe..." Winnie told him the whole story, including the fourth man. When Winnie finished speaking, she was in tears. If she didn't cut herself that day, she wouldn't be able to see Brian again. Although she had experienced ups and downs, she still felt that the knife kept her most important things. Brian stretched out his arms to hug Winnie in his arms to appease, he knew that how painful Winnie was, but in order to make her safe, he must find out the fourth person. "Don't cry. It was my fault. If I did not ask you to return the bank card, you should not encounter such a thing. Sorry, Winwin." Brian said of remorse. His words made Winnie sad, but Winnie understood that if there was no such a thing, she could not escape the disaster, it was just about time. "Don't cry. I'll make those people regret." Brian promised to appease Winnie in the hospital bed. He felt better if it was him bear all this, and in this way, he would not be so distressed. Winnie cried for a while and relaxed a lot. Revisiting the events of that day, Winnie found herself panicked, but with Brian sitting beside him, she had the courage to tell her story. Because Brian was considerate, which made her warm and down-to-earth. "Winwin, we only caught three men who kidnapped you, and there is another one still missing. Do you remember what he looks like?" Brian found Winnie's mood improved and continued to ask. "It was not clear. He was wearing a hat and a mask. But I recognize his sound." "Who is it?" Brian's eyes became cold. He wished he could tear this man into pieces. "I heard it was Daniel Wong. His hat fell off and revealed his face above his nose. I thought it was Daniel Wong. He knows me and you." Winnie said in a low voice, and gave a shivering sigh. "Daniel Wong?" Brian was puzzled. It should be Penny. How could it be Daniel Wong? Daniel and Penny didn't know each other, and they had no connection. Was he wrong about Penny? Brian had doubts, but he did not say it out. "Yes, it's Daniel Wong. His voice is so familiar and his physical features are exactly the same." Winnie was sure that person was Daniel. When she fell down, Daniel came to her side and at that moment, she determined his identity from his nervous eyes. "I didn't expect it was him." Brian seemed to be talking to her as well as talking to himself. But it could be Daniel, after all, he had been keeping an eye on Winnie for a long time. "I was surprised, too. I didn't expect him to be in B City." Winnie always thought that Daniel returned to A City, and never thought that he would use such extreme means to deal with her. "I was careless. I should have been on guard against him. I should have been prepared when I drove him away."

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 145 IN THE SAME BOAT

Although Brian said so, he was still thinking about whether Penny and Daniel had any connection, but they did not seem to be connected. "Drive him away?" Winnie was baffled. After the acquisition of MT, she asked for the dismissal of Daniel. When she heard the voice of Daniel, Winnie thought of Daniel was to find her revenge. Why did Brian say that he drove him away? "In fact, after he made a move to you on the rooftop, I fired him. Not only did I fire him, I blocked his way out. He couldn't even find a job." Brian said it was him drove away Daniel. He now regretted not for driving him away, but... "If I had known that he was an unrepentant man, I should have made him disappear then, and he wouldn't have hurt you." Brian gnashed his teeth. He hated himself that he did not do a good job and left a threat there. Winnie was stupefied. It turned out that Daniel was fired by Brian at that time. She did not complain, but was moved. Brian had protected her silently. Winnie leaned forward carefully and suddenly embraced Brian with open arms. "Thank you for everything. Nice to meet you again." Winnie said in a gentle voice. She didn't know what "everything" meant. Maybe there were many things she didn't know. It was Brian who protected her. Brian did not expect that Winnie could embrace him. At the moment of being embraced, he heard the sound of his heart beating violently and the sound of the iceberg completely melting in his heart. Now his heart was nothing but the irregular beat and the soft murmur of the flowing water. The iceberg had gone forever. He stroked Winnie's back, listening to what she said to him. The last sentence, however, stunned him. Winnie had said that when she was in a drunken sleep, when he thought she said to Leo. He did not expect the one in her dream was him. "When was the last time you saw me?" Asked Brian suddenly. Brian obviously felt Winnie's body froze because of his words. She answered. "Maybe in my previous life." Winnie's body betrayed her, but she answered calmly, without flustering or explaining. Because one day the truth will come out. If she had not survived this time, Daenerys had already told her everything. Brian didn't get the answer he wanted, so he didn't keep asking. Winnie was not suited to emotional ups and downs. When she recovered from her injuries, he would investigate it. "Winwin, the police will come in the evening to do a record, you need to tell then what happened. Don't get emotional and don't cry. It's all over. Say it out and forget about the bad memories." Brian said, while pulling apart the distance between them. He must say it in advance, so that Winnie had a psychological preparation. "Ok, I'm fine." Winnie was flattered, since Brian was gentle to her since she woke up. She had doubt that if she got illusion, because Brian never had been so gentle to her. Winnie wanted to feel this rare moment of warmth, so she hugged Brian again. This time she said nothing, just trying to keep the memory. She did not fall asleep until after noon, and Brian went out while she was asleep. In the car in the hospital parking lot. Brian returned to his usual apathy. "Look into Daniel and see if he ever left. I don't understand the connection between Daniel and Penny." "I'll send someone to look into it. But they met." Albert gave a hint. "They did?" Asked Brian doubtfully. "In the first time we met Daniel, Penny was in the elevator too. They didn't talk, but he knew who she was." Albert said so, Brian suddenly saw the light. "Check both of them and see if they're connected." "Okay, I'll call right away." Said Albert, picked up the phone and conveyed Brian's command. Brian continued to order. "Inform the police that they can come in that evening and take a transcript." As Brian's voice fell, Brian's phone rang. Brian picked up the phone and found it was Penny calling. He told Albert to cooperate with him. "Contact the police in a louder voice." Albert nodded. He understood the meaning of Brian, so he made a call to the police. Brian also answered the phone. "What is it?" "Nothing, Brian, but I'm worried that you haven't been home for a few days." Penny's calm voice came over. "I was too busy to go home." "Don't be too tired..." As Penny said, she heard the voice of Albert over the phone and stopped, alert. "Is that Officer XX? Miss Chambers's mental condition is much better and you can come here this evening to take transcripts." "Yes, an important lead. She knows who it was that got away." "OK, we'll be waiting for you at the hospital." Albert's said the key words, making Penny panic. "Speak, why don't you talk?" Brian reminded Penny in a cold voice. "Oh, I hear someone talking on the other end of the line. I'm afraid I might bother you. Since you are busy, I will call you when you are free." Penny hurriedly hung up the phone. Brian immediately made orders. "Monitor Penny's phone immediately." "Mr. Bennet, we've been monitoring it, nothing unusual. I'm checking to see if Penny has another phone number." "Penny is protective of herself. She does everything with caution." Albert had not found any suspicious about her or completed the tasks given by Brian. "That's right. She graduated from the Department of Law. If she exposes her easily, it's useless to study in school." Brian said coldly. He was not surprised that Penny did not expose herself. If she couldn't hide it, she wouldn't be so crazy. "Go and set up a pinhole camera in Penny's room when no one's home. I don't believe she's completely unexposed." Brian knew this kind of practice was dirty, but for Penny who used law to cover up herself, that was the only way. After Penny hung up the phone, she picked up another phone to call Daniel. "Did you leave?" Asked Penny, in a voice of evident eagerness. "No." Daniel replied in a deep voice. "No? Why don't you hurry away? You have exposed. The police will go to Winnie tonight and she knows it was you." Penny said angrily. Since that day, she had urged Daniel to leave. Days passed and he still was there. It was inevitable that she was angry and alarmed. If Daniel was caught, she would have no room for survival. If Brian would kill her, she would be also miserable."She knows? How come? I disguised myself very well."Daniel was frightened."You must have exposed yourself, otherwise she wouldn't know. Now don't talk nonsense. I'll pay you to leave. Come back after it is done."For Penney, the most important thing now was for Daniel to leave. As long as he didn't get caught by the police, she would be safe."I'm not leaving."Daniel calmed down. He said a lot of words, so it was normal that Winnie could know it was him, after all, they had been working together for years."Do you want to get arrested by the police?"Penny could not restrain her anger."The police can catch me even if I leave? Now the technology is so advanced, I can't even get out of B city. You'd better do something about it. We're in the same boat anyway. You won't be happy if I'm caught."Daniel began to threaten. B City was the safest city for him. He would do nothing and that Penny would protect him. If she chose to give up, it would be a dead end."You are threatening me?"Penny asked in surprise. She did not expect that Daniel would do this."It's not a threat, it's a fact. Do you think I can get away? If the police start investigating me, the first place they go will be A City. Where do you think I should go?"Well, now I can only see hope if I stay with you. I'm sure you can straighten it out, and if you can't, your father will help you."Daniel reminded Penny. He believed Penny and her father could make him safe certainly."You.....You'd better hurry to leave. In case I fail, you can't leave. You....."Before Penny had finished speaking, Daniel's phone had hung up.Penny was really panicked. Daniel was a rogue. If he was really caught, everything would be over and her four years of efforts would turned into ashes.No, she must not let it go on like this. She must do something about it.Penny took the car keys and went straight out.She came to the Burns Group and directly broke into her father's office without knocking the door."You came in without knocking, you became less and less polite."Richard scolded her. Fortunately, there was no one in the office. Otherwise, it would become a joke."No time to knock, Dad. I had something urgent."Penny could not calm down, nor did she have time to knock. Every second mattered to her."What's it?"Richard frowned and asked, having a bad presentiment arose spontaneously, afraid that Penny had done something that she should not have done."Dad, don't be angry, I..."Winnie told the whole story from beginning to end.Richard was angry and cursed repeatedly."Are you mad? Don't you have brains? How could you do that? I've already said I'll take care of it. Are you that impatient?"All right, something is wrong. Are you capable of fixing it by yourself? Isn't it too late to think of me now?"

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 146 RICHARD IN A RAGE

If Richard had not been ashamed of Penny, he would have given her two slaps and woke her up. Richard continued to scold uncontrollably. "You are a major in law. Have you forgotten everything you learnt? Don't you know it is against the law? How can you use Daniel? Now he threatens you, what do I advise you to do?" Penny was scolded to cry, because she could not figure out a way. "Dad, I know I was wrong. You did nothing, so I made a move." "How do you know I didn't do anything? I've had someone warn her. She should know to stop. Do you know that before you do anything, you have to think it through and you have to be completely sure that you can do it? I told you that you need to know all about Winnie before you do anything, but you did not follow but made troubles." "Winnie's background was deliberately concealed, which proves that someone is on her back. If we offend the wrong people, the whole family will be buried with us." Richard was angry about what Penny had done. She was not calm and made private action in audacity. "Dad, I didn't think that much, and I didn't know you warned her. But I know that she doesn't have a background." "You know?" "Yes, I know. Her father is Dominik Chambers. When we were at school, he ran a construction company, which later went bankrupt. Her parents died in a car accident while they were out dodging debts. Now she lives with her sister and aunt." Penny told his father Winnie's situation. In the view of Penny, Winnie was a down and out princess, without any background. "Why didn't you tell me since you know so much? Do you know how hard I tried to check her family?" Hearing Penny's words, Richard was even angrier. He had put a lot of money and man into this matter, but Penny knew everything. "How do you know?" Richard asked suddenly. "Actually, Winnie and I were classmates..." Penny knew she could not conceal it and told everything about Winnie, but she still did not say it was she took away Leo from Winnie. She said that Winnie had taken away Leo and that Winnie had deliberately destroyed her family. "Why didn't you tell me before? If I knew she didn't have a background, I would have made a move." Richard patted the table angrily. He did not expect the matter had been bogged because of Penny. "....." Penny bowed her head and did not know how to explain. "You had reason, not she gained the upper hand. I don't know what to say." "I want you to fight for the family, but you've made things worse. If Brian finds out about it, the family will be ruined by you." Richard's words made Penny feel cold. She did not expect that at this crisis moment, what her father cared about was still his business. How could she love a father like this? She was angry, but she could only rely on her father, so she forbore. "Dad, I know I was wrong. I was afraid that if Brian finds it out, it will have influence on the family, so I come to you. Lecture me after covering it up for me." "Have you expected this before you did it?" Richard was still angry. "Give me the address of Daniel and hold him steady for the time being. You must obey me and not mess around." No matter how angry he was, the problem still had to be solved. Now Richard had to step in to help, or it wouldn't be solved. Penny shut up and sat there in a pitiful manner. After Penny left, Richard fell silent. Winnie's identity was nothing special, why could not it be found? By whom was her information deliberately erased? Dominik Chambers? He seemed to have heard of the name, but couldn't remember when. The most important thing was to solve the urgent problem. Since Daniel did not let go of Penny, the best way was to make him disappear. He would make him disappear at the right moment. In the evening, the police finally finished taking transcripts and left. Winnie's condition was better than Brian expected. She showed her strong side. "Are you tired? Lie down for a while." Brian asked in a soft voice. "No, but I miss the children." Winnie had not seen the children for several days. Although they were being well cared for in the suburbs, she was still worried. "Tomorrow I will ask Albert to pick them up. They also miss you." The children had known that Winnie was in the hospital. If the children were there, she could be in a better mood. "You go pick them up, let Albert be here." Winnie's intention was very obvious, and Brian had seen through it. "You still mind my business now. Never mind, you can come with me when you're healed." Brian didn't want to face his father alone because he had nothing to say to his father. "Ok, but can you tell me what happened between you guys?" Winnie thought this was a good opportunity. No matter how reluctant Brian was, he would not be angry with her when she was injured. "Oh, knowing that will only annoy you. Don't get to know it." As expected, Brian did not lose his temper. "It doesn't annoy me. It does worry me when I see you not letting go." Winnie said earnestly. Although she could not express her love for Brian, she would not hide her concern for Brian. In order not to leave regret, she would use her own way to love Brian, just like this. Brian looked at Winnie and did not know what to say next. When Winnie woke up, her attitude towards him changed greatly. It seemed that she used to be imprisoning herself, now she released her feelings. However, it made Brian feel embarrassed. He wanted to tell her not to have hope for him, but saying so would have hurt Winnie. But if he did not say it, she would get hurt in the future, after all, he could give her nothing. "What, did I say something I shouldn't say?" Seeing that Brian was silent, Winnie questioned. "No, I'll pick them up tomorrow." Brian said so, or Winnie would continue to care about him. Although he was touched, he could not bear it. "Good." Winnie showed a sweet smile in happiness. But she knew that her words had put a burden on Brian. "Winwin, the software you put in my mobile phone has been successful, sell it to the company. Get the money, buy a car, and buy a house." Brian successfully changed the topic, he did not want Winnie misunderstand him, and did not want to shake his heart. His beloved woman was only Wendy. Then Brian handed her the bank card he had been keeping in his pants pocket. "I know that the money I have given you is a burden. You may not use the money, but it must be kept in your hand for emergencies." Brian handed the bank card to Winnie. This bank card suddenly pulled Winnie back to reality. Brian said that only when Winnie accepted this one hundred million, he would feel at ease. By giving it back to her now, he was seeking peace of mind. "Daenerys gave it to you?" Winnie's tone was depressed. "Yes." "What else did she say?" Winnie continued to ask. "Nothing." Brian said lightly. He still remembered the words Daenerys scolded him, but he could not tell Winnie. "Ok, I'll take it." She could take it for his peace. That was a way of loving him. "Winwin..." Brian was about to move on to a new topic, but his phone rang. He answered it without hesitation. "Wendy, you are up?" As long as it is Wendy's call, Brian would pick up without hesitation, but he forgot that Winnie had told him not to answer Wendy's call in face of her. Winnie's heart turned cold when he said "Wendy". It seemed that even if she was ill, she was not as important as Wendy. Winnie covered her wound with her hand and supported herself out of bed. Though the wound hurt, it did not hurt as her heart. Now she wished that the knife had hit her heart, so that she would never have to feel such pain again. Brian turned around and saw that Winnie had already got out of bed. He was so scared that he almost threw his phone away. "Why did you get out of bed?" Brian did not have time to hang up the phone, but directly ran to Winnie to hold her. "Lie back." Winnie did not dare to make any big moves. Only after she got her feet firmly did she point to Brian's mobile phone and indicate that the phone was not hanging up. Brian realized this and picked up the phone again. But before he could speak, Winnie walked forward again. He did not care too much, once again came to help Winnie. "Don't go, you'll hurt the wound." "You call and I'll go for a walk." Winnie whispered, afraid that Wendy heard her voice. Winnie's words made Brian finally understand why she suddenly got out of bed. "Well, go back first. I'm going to answer the phone outside." Brian was to help Winnie come back, but Winnie refused. "I'll go back to bed myself." Winnie slowly turned around and her face got gloomy when she turned her back to Brian. At this time, Brian was reluctant to hang up the phone, which showed how deep his love for Wendy was. He could have hung up, sent her back to bed and called her outside. But he was not willing to put down the phone, and had to show his love in front of her. Brian did not know that his behavior was more cruel than that of Daniel?

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 147 COME BACK OR BREAK UP

Brian did not dare to make a big move, afraid of hurting Winnie's wound. He could only watch her slowly walk back step by step. Just a few steps back and forth had made Winnie panting and sweating. She put her hand to the wound and the other on the edge of the bed. She had to save up her strength before going to bed, or else she would have to sleep on the floor for the night. Brian looked at Winnie's stubborn appearance. He could not bear it. He wanted to come forward to help her, but Winnie refused again. "Go out and answer the phone, she's waiting." Winnie put all her last strength on this sentence, and it seemed that she would have to wait a little longer. Brian could not bear it and finally hung up the phone and came to Winnie. "I'll help you to bed, and when you lie down, I'll go out and make phone calls." Winnie bowed her head and smiled wryly, thinking that she should be satisfied. She thought that he should hang up the phone before helping her to bed. But now she wondered why he had to make the call. Couldn't he end it for her? It seemed that people were greedy. With what should Brian hang up the phone of his beloved woman for her? He was gentle to her for a few days, and she forgot who she was. In order to make Brian go out to make a phone call, in order not to affect their communication, Winnie took a deep breath, turned around and sat on the bed. It was a bit of a big move and no doubt hurt the wound. But she gritted her teeth without even frowning. "Give me the remote control. I can lie down myself. You go and make phone call." Winnie whispered slowly. Now she felt pain even when breathing, but she must not become a burden to Brian. Brian handed the remote control to Winnie and walked out of the room. Then he picked up the phone. Instead of leaving the door, he turned around and looked at Winnie through the glass. Winnie rested for a while and lifted her legs to the hospital bed, and then moved to straighten out her body. At this time Brian could clearly see Winnie's facial expression, which was painful. Brian knew that she must have hurt the wound, but she did not say it when he was there. Such Winnie let him feel distressed. "Hello, Brian..." "Are you there, Brian?" "Brian?" The phone had been connected, it came the urging voice, which got Brian's attention. "Wendy." "What's the matter with you, Brian? What happened? What wound?" Wendy's voice was clearly anxious. She had just heard Brian talking to another man on the phone, but she had not heard the other man's voice. She was worried and didn't know who the injured person was. "Nothing. A friend got hurt. I came to visit her in hospital." Brian understated, but the line of sight still fell on Winnie. Looking at her wrinkled eyebrows stretching, his felt relieved. "What friend? A woman?" Wendy felt it was a woman, because the tone of Brian was gentle. Only when facing a woman, men would unconsciously become gentle. "....." Brian was silent for a moment. "Yes." Wendy's heart suddenly trembled, but this was the first time that Brian admitted that he was facing a woman. Wendy had not doubted Brian's feeling to her for so many years, because she knew Brian loved her, but this time she felt it an exception. Winnie was getting better, so she started to control the hospital bed with the remote control, trying to let herself lie down, but as she put the bed down a little bit, her wound again was in pain. Her eyebrows again twisted. Seeing that, Brian felt anxious. At the moment he wanted to hang up the phone regardless of everything to take care of Winnie, but the voice of Wendy came over the phone again. "Brian, you never cared about women. Is this a special woman?" Wendy pretended to be ease and said so, in this way Brian would not think she was a stingy woman. However, Brian suddenly got a cold voice, and it was the first time he spoke coldly to Wendy. "Wendy, don't talk about anything else. I wonder when on earth you'll be back. Or do you have any intention of coming back?" If she would not come back, he wanted to be nice to Winnie. If she would not come back, he wanted to take care of Winnie for the rest of his life and he wanted her to be his rightful wife. Wendy was stunned and unable to say a word. She could not accept Brian changed his attitude and she did not know how to answer the question. A moment later. "Are you in love with another woman, Brian?" Wendy did not answer but asked question. If he really fell in love with another woman, she would never give up Brian like this. "It has nothing to do with me, and I refuse to answer it. Wendy, You left out of angry and now it has been years and I have been waiting for you. You should not be angry any more. I don't know why you haven't come back yet." Brian continued to say coldly. "I do now have a child. If you love me, we can work it out together. Even if you can't accept him, you can't put off our love for so long. Are you gonna keep me waiting? Till when? When I get gray hair or till next life?" Brian really did not want to wait any longer. For the first time, he felt that waiting was a very torturing thing. For the first time, he found that he had exhausted all his patience. "Brian..." "Don't put it off any more. I'll give you time to think it over and give me an answer. If you forgive me, I'll come right back and get married with you. If you can't forgive me, that is it." Brian hung up the phone decisively after finishing speaking. He was afraid that he would regret saying such words. He was afraid that Wendy would say a few good words and he would continue to wait unconditionally. Brian pushed the door into the ward. Winnie had lied down. Winnie, with her eyes closed, was still frowning. "Winwin..." Brian called her softly, and the indifference had ceased. "I'm tired and want to sleep." Winnie interrupted Brian on the pretext of being tired. At the moment her heart was aching inside and out and she was not in the mood to speak. "You haven't had your supper. Go to bed until after supper." Brian looked at the time and said. He didn't want her to speak with emotion. He also wanted to apologize and explain to her. "I will sleep for a while before eating." Winnie refused and kept her mouth shut. Brian stood beside the bed and watched her for a while. He left the bed and sat down after making sure Winnie was asleep. Winnie had slept all night and did not open her eyes even though she woke up twice. Even when Brian asked her to have dinner, she pretended to be deep in sleep and did not respond. The next morning. Brian drove to the suburbs of the city early so as not to affecting his children from going to kindergarten. Without Winnie's company, he was inexplicably flustered. "Uncle, you are back. Why Mommy is not with you?" As soon as he stepped into the door, Megan ran over, which let Brian's mood be relieved. "I am here to pick you up. You'll see Mommy in a minute." "Daddy." Luke also ran over, followed by Rufus. "You are here." Rufus was the first to speak, but Brian did not answer and did not look at Rufus. "You two needn't bring anything. You'll be brought here in the evening." Brian avoided Rufus and communicated with two children. "Do you have another business trip?" Megan asked. "Yes." Brian planned to tell the truth to the two children in the hospital to in case they were worried all the way. "Then let's go now." Luke said. Since the time together was not long, it would be better as soon as possible. "Come on." Brian also wanted to leave as soon as possible. This home and the person in front of him made him feel suffocated. If he didn't leave, he would suffocate. Brian turned around and left with one child in each hand. The two children turned back and said goodbye to Rufus as they walked. "Good-bye, Grandpa!" "Grandpa, we'll be back in the evening." "Ok, be good. I am waiting for you." Rufus also said goodbye to the children, following them. Brian put the two children in the back seat and himself went to the driver seat. He was about to open the door, but Rufus stopped him. "I heard that Winwin is in the hospital. Take good care of her." Rufus had heard about Winnie and been worried about her these days. "I have my own way." Brian said coldly and got into the car to leave. Although his tone was cold, Rufus felt satisfied that he had spoken to himself. With his children, Brian stopped at the door of Winnie's ward. The two children looked at Brian in doubt. "Uncle, why did you bring us here? Where is Mommy? Shouldn't we meet Mommy?" "Yes, Daddy, where is Auntie?" "I have something to say. Now adjust your mood, no matter what I say, don't cry." Brian asked the children to be ready. Hearing that, the two children were more worried. "Ok, Daddy. Say it." "Auntie is in there. Auntie is hurt. But don't worry too much about it." "Mommy is hurt, how did Mommy hurt?" Megan was a girl. Hearing that her mother was hurt, she was nervous. "Never mind, she got hurt. Megan, Luke, don't her, otherwise the wound will hurt." Brian continued to explain, for fear that the two children would hurt Winnie's wound. "Ok, let's go in now." Luke tried to control himself. Brian went in with two children. When the two children saw Winnie in her hospital gown, they immediately burst into tears and forgot Brian's words. They directly pounced on Winnie. Luckily, Brian was ready to run to the bed and stopped the two children, so as to avoid Winnie's second injury. "Mommy, what's the matter?" "Auntie, are you hurt?" The two children cried and said, with pain in their eyes. At this time, Winnie's hospital bed slowly rose. Looking at the two children, she was pleased, although they were crying. "Stop crying. My wound hurts even more when you are crying."

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 148 LEO'S WARNING

Winnie said in a low voice. Last night, he had lost a lot of energy. He did not have the strength to speak loudly. "Luke, you are brother, coax sister. If you kept crying, I will cry. You don't want me to cry, do you?" Even though they were five-year-olds, they were intelligent and thoughtful, but this trick worked for them. They were kind and sensible. "Don't cry, Megan, Auntie will be worried." Luke wiped his tears with his hand and wiped Megan's tears with the other. "Well, I don't cry, but Mommy, don't you hurt?" Megan seemed to be difficult to control her emotions. Brian looked distressed and directly picked up Megan. "Mommy just said it won't hurt if you don't cry." "Then I won't cry." It took Megan's great effort to stop the tears. "Did Mommy meet someone bad?" Megan adjusted her mood and asked. She wanted to be close to Mommy, but she endure, afraid of hurting Mommy. "No, I hurt myself carelessly." Winnie could not tell it to the children and could not let such a young mind to carry too heavy things. "Auntie, be careful. If you hurt, Megan and I will be sad." Luke leaned on the bed and took Winnie's hand. In this way he felt her wound not hurt. "OK, I must be careful in the future." After Winnie chatted with the children for a while, Brian chimed in. "It's time for school. I'll take you to school." Brian put Megan down. He had been holding her because he felt distressed and he was afraid of Megan's rushing to Winnie. "Daddy, can we have a day off? We need to be with Auntie." Luke did not want to leave. "No, you will disturb her rest. By the end of the week, when Auntie is much better, you can stay here all day." Brian decisively refused. With the two children here, it had a certain risk for Winnie. He would not allow that risk to exist. Brian let Albert send the two children away, and then Kevin came in with a female nurse. "Time for a dressing change. How are you feeling today?" Kevin thought that Winnie's condition must be better day by day, but found that her face did not get better. "I am fine." Winnie answered faintly. The nurse began dressing Winnie's wound, peeling off the gauze and frowning. "Did you touch your wound? Why is it bleeding again?" The nurse asked doubtfully. "Bleeding? Not the day before." Kevin heard the nurse's words and went forward to see, regardless of Brian's opposition. He had to check to see if it was bleeding inside or just from the suture. And Brian was the most clear what was going on. Last night Winnie hurt the wound but did not say a word. After examination, Kevin determined that the bleeding was caused by the tear at the suture. The amount of blood was not much and there was no big problem, but it would affect the time of recovery. "It's no big deal, but it's easy to get infected if you're bleeding like this, and then you will be in trouble. Be careful. Why can't you take care of her? What can you do in addition to earn money?" Kevin said these words to Brian, no matter if the cause of the bleeding was Brian, he could not shirk the responsibility. But it was Winnie who answered. "Don't blame him. I should have made it accidentally when I turned over my body. I didn't expect it would bleed." Winnie said in a low voice. She was self-willed and could not control her emotions. The responsibility should be borne by herself and had nothing to do with it. From now on, she had nothing to do with Brian, while she would help him with all her heart, which was the way she loved him. "You still speak for him! If you turned over and he did not help, why should he stay here? Let someone else take care of you." Kevin as a doctor could not forgive Brian's negligence. They were not aware of what kind of consequences the wound split would cause, but he was very clear. In this way, the biggest impact was on the patient, her recovery time would be delayed, and she would have to endure a longer period of pain. "I'll pay attention to it, stop nagging." Brian did not pass the buck, because it was his fault. He guaranteed again and again that he would take good care of Winnie, but she hurt was always because of him. While several people were talking, the nurse had changed the medicine and wrapped the wound with gauze again. Before Winnie could put on her hospital gown, the door of the ward was suddenly pushed open. Leo hurried in with a look of worry. "Winwin, what's wrong with you?" Brian frowned as he saw Leo. He rushed to Winnie's bedside, pushed the nurse away and helped Winnie put on the hospital gown. "Leo, how do you know?" Winnie asked in a low voice. She motioned to Brian to lift the hospital bed. "I called you but your phone was off. I knew it until I called Daenerys this morning. Why not tell me about such a big thing?" Leo was very anxious and did not say hello to Brian. Seeing Winnie's face was pale and wounded all over, he was both distressed and angry. He was angry that Brian did not take good care of Winnie, so that she suffered such a serious trauma. "I knew you were on a business trip, so I didn't tell you for fear of affecting your work. Don't worry. I'm fine now. I'll be able to leave the hospital in a few days." Winnie said gently and with a smile on her face. Winnie was aware of the business trip of Leo. She thought it was not necessary to tell him and she did not want to affect his work. Now Leo was here, which made Winnie embarrassed. "You got serious injuries, I am worried about you for sure. Are you better now?" Leo's eager mood had eased. He did not understand why he was always on a business trip when Winnie needed help, why Brian could always be with Winnie. "Much better. I'll be discharged in a few days." Winnie was still whispering. As long as she used a bit of force, she could feel the pain coming from the wound. "Leo, Winwin can't speak for a long time now. She is still very weak. The children bothered her this morning and she was already exhausted. You better come tomorrow." Brian said indifferently, driving Leo away. He was worried about Winnie. "Ok, Winwin, take a rest, I will come over when I have time." Leo did not care about Brian's words, just because he also worried about Winnie. But he could not leave yet. "Mr. Bennet, if you don't mind, let's go out and talk." There are some words he must say to Brian, now for Winnie, he was not afraid of the forces of Brian. Brian looked sullen and did not speak. He left the ward first. Leo said goodbye to Winnie and followed him out. "What's the matter, Brian's rival in love?" It was not the first time Kevin met Leo, but it was the first time he found Leo lost his demeanor, for Winnie. Kevin was a man, and he understood men. Once a man lost his mind for a woman, he had fallen into the whirlpool of love. "What do you mean by rival? I have no boyfriend." Winnie ironically said. No matter who was the rival, it had nothing to do with her. She was still single and nobody liked her. "No boyfriend? Those two guys went out to fight for you and you said you didn't have a boyfriend?" Kevin did not understand Winnie's statement, but she really did not have a boyfriend. After all, the relationship between her and Brian was only transactional. "No, Leo is a stable person. No matter how Brian lost his temper, he will not fight." Winnie knew Leo well. Leo and Brian came to the safe passage of the hospital, where no one would be there, except for the two of them. "Mr. Bennet, I will go to the point. I heard from Daenerys that the accident happened happened to Winwin had something to do with Penny. You are also to be blamed for the wickedness of Penny." "So don't keep Winwin around. You can't give her happiness, you can't give her a complete home, you can't even guarantee her basic security. I can't figure out why you keep her around." "Let her go. She is a good person and doesn't deserve this." Leo said, going to the point. He just wanted to let Winnie be safer, have a better life. Even if she didn't like him and would not be with him, he hoped that she could be happy. Only to see the happiness of Winnie made his guilt less. "Don't worry about us. I won't let her go through such things again. Whether this has anything to do with Penny, it is still under investigation, and I can't make a conclusion so early. I won't let go of her." Brian knew that Leo called him out for this. Now no matter what he could not let go of Winnie. If he let her go, he feared that he would never find her back. "Mr. Bennet, it's selfish of you to do this, you know? Do you love her? If you don't, let her go. If you love her and cannot give her happiness, you should also let her go. I don't know what happened between you and Penny. All I know is that Penny is a wicked person. If you stay with her, Winwin will come to harm again." "You must not love her, if love her, you will never bear to see her again and again get hurt." "When you return to Penny, you will put her aside. Think how sad she must be. Mr. Bennet, I've been there before. I've broken her heart. I only hope you don't regret it, as I do, for hurting her all over." Leo said angrily. He felt that even if Brian loved Winnie, they would not have a good ending. Separating now was the most sensible thing to do. "I know all that. I know what I'm supposed to do." Brian coldly said and stared at Leo before he left. He knew better than anyone that he was selfish. He forced Winnie to stay around. There would be a certain risk and there would not be a good ending. But now he could not do without Winnie. There were a lot of things had not been clear, he must keep Winnie around.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 149 IN TWO MONTHS

Since Leo said those words, Brian's mood had been depressed. After dinner, Winnie lay down for a rest. Brian was in a bad mood and went to Kevin's office with an excuse. Without knocking on the door, Brian came in. Kevin knew it was Brian without thinking. "Winwin is sleeping?" "Yes." "You won't come to me till she's slept. Is the bleeding of her wound related to you?" Kevin felt it was a bit gossipy to ask such a question, but he had to. He wanted to find out what was going on between them so that he could help fix it. "Wendy called and I answered the phone, forgetting she was there. She was unhappy that she got up to leave the room, and she hurt the wound." Brian did not conceal it. He came here to find Kevin to release. "I guess it's you. When did you act so carelessly? She is in a very difficult time, how can you answer the phone in front of her?" Kevin did not know what to say. If he were Winnie, he would have gotten out of bed and left at that time. "It seems that Daenerys is right. You don't care about Winnie at all. Let her go." In Kevin's opinion, if he cared about a woman, he should not answer another woman's phone call in front of her. That hurt. "Alas.....I want to let her go, too." Brian sat on the chair feeling helpless. "Then let go, don't waste her time." Kevin said heartlessly, but it was good for Winnie. "Let me ask you a question. If Winnie and Wendy asked you to choose, who would you choose?" Instead of being annoyed by his words, Brian asked a question that surprised him. He should not have this thought. He loved Wendy, how could he choose Winnie? "In my point, I would choose Winnie." Kevin gave the answer without any consideration. "Why?" Asked Brian. "Wendy has been gone for so many years and never said she would come back. I don't think she is real anymore. And she left because of the emergence of Luke. If she can accept Luke, she would have come back." "Winnie is real and good to Luke, and probably she is Luke's mother. So, aren't you a happy family of four?" Kevin said his view. He did not mention love, but it was realistic. "....." Brian said nothing, and Kevin continued to say. "Of course I mean in my place, but in yours it's different. Since you answered Wendy's phone in the face of Winnie, your choice has been very clear. You still love Wendy." "Not only in this respect, Winnie is not suitable for you with her family background. Even if you agree, your Grandpa won't." "You have been waiting for Wendy for so many years, while helping her family from an ordinary one to a small famous construction company. Aren't you doing all this to match Wendy with your identity?" "Since you prefer Wendy, you'd better choose her. When Winwin gets well and leaves the hospital, you should understand the matter as soon as possible and then separate from her." Kevin actually let Brian leave Winnie. His original intention was to hope that Brian could be with Winnie, but in the end he deviated from the line. Was it because of the influence of Daenerys, or he could not see Winnie got hurt again? Kevin did not help Brian analyze the specific reasons for Winnie's accident, but he felt that there must be something to do with Penny. Penny would certainly have the next action. Winnie would be in danger again. When the time came, he did not know whether Brian would regret keeping Winnie around. "I gave Wendy a deadline last night. If she can accept Luke, we will get married once she comes back. If she can't take it, I'll break up with her." Brian repeated what he had said last night. He didn't feel his mood as bad as he thought, nor did he regret what he had said. "What? You did say so?" Kevin looked at Brian in disbelief. He could not believe that a spoony man like Brian would put forward to break up first. Crazy. But at the moment, Kevin was confused. Who did Brian love? "Yes." Brian gave an affirmative answer. If he had not said so, he might have let Winnie go. "I can't help it. Ask your heart." Kevin finally gave an irresponsible answer. Brian sighed helplessly, if he knew how to choose, he would not come to Kevin. When two people were silent, Brian's mobile phone rang. Brian picked it up habitually. "Wendy." "Brian, I've made up my mind to go back. I can't do without you. I will try to accept the child for you." Wendy's voice was excited. She went through ideological struggle to make this decision. However, Brian wrinkled eyebrows and did not respond to Wendy. "Did you hear what I said? I said I would go back." "Ok, good." Brian said in a low voice. After so many years of waiting and looking forward to it, she said she wanted to come back. Why couldn't he be happy? "What? Aren't you happy I'm going back?" Wendy asked softly, she could see that Brian was not in the right mood. "Yes, I am happy. I am just surprised." Brian concealed it, but the more he said, the more upset he felt. What appeared in his mind at this time was not the excited and happy face of Wendy, but Winnie's strong face even though she was injured. "I am glad that you are happy, but you have to wait for me for two more months. I need to take care of my affairs and find a replacement for my work. Brian, you have been waiting for me for many years. Do you mind waiting for two other months?" Wendy was worried about the last two months, which were worse than four years, because she had a bad feeling about it. "I'll wait for you." Brian said without certainty, but he must say so, because the person he loved was Wendy. After Brian hung up the phone, he felt even more depressed and remained silent for a long time before speaking. "Wendy wants to come back, everything will be ok. Help me find out whether Winnie is the surrogate as soon as possible. If she is, we need to settle it within two months." When Brian finished saying these words, he felt bitter and reluctant to part with her. He was not satisfied with such an end. "So suddenly." Kevin said in disdain and he found that Brian was not happy as he imaged. "You said when she comes back, you will get married. Shall I help you get the wedding ready?" Kevin's tone was obviously ironic. He did not feel it real. "The wedding....." At that time, Brian didn't even think about the wedding. He thought Wendy would not come back. "There is no need to prepare for the wedding until she comes back." "Since you have made a decision, you should solve it as soon as possible. I will help you determine whether Winnie is the surrogate. Go to work tomorrow. Don't guard Winnie here. Don't let her expect anything from you." Since Brian made the decision, Kevin could only support him, and it was for the sake of Winnie. Brian was not in a good mood since he left the ward, and Winnie had been worried. She thought he would be in a better mood after he came to Kevin. But Brian was still in a bad mood with a gloomy face. His cold and sharp eyes were full of indifference. "You are back." Winnie said softly, but Brian said nothing. He walked to the window and looked outside alone, but his heart was very messy. When he walked into the ward and saw Winnie, he suddenly had a feeling of regret, but he did not know what he regretted. Winnie was sensible. She saw a sentence and Brian did not respond, so she did not say the second sentence. So two people were silent on the surface, but their hearts were messy. The next morning, Brian finally returned to the company to work, but for Winnie's safety, the guard at the door of the ward did not withdraw. As soon as he arrived at the company, Brian began to work. He thought it was better to be busy so that he wouldn't get distracted. Until noon, Albert came to report and he stopped from work. Albert began to report work. "Mr. Bennet, I investigated on Daniel. He left for a few days after getting hit by you, but later he returned and never left again." "And he was in contact with Penny, very frequently, in the bar..." Albert stopped here, looking at Brian, feeling embarrassing. "And?" Brian said coldly. "And hotels. I've their room records at various hotels." He was afraid that Brian would be angry, but he had to say it out. "Hum..." Brian coldly hummed. He did not expect that Penny would do such a stupid thing. But it would be easy to be settled. "Keep all the evidence you have gathered. I will send Penny away." "Ok." As Albert's voice fell, Calvin and Morgan knocked at the door and come in to report work. "There is breakthrough in the Burns Group, and it won't be long before we can operate." Calvin reported. Then Morgan continued. "Mr. Bennet, the police have confirmed that Daniel is still in B city. An arrest warrant has been issued. We'll catch him soon." Brian sighed. "Wendy is coming back, both Penny and Winnie must be solved within two months." Brian had to tell them about it and make them hurry to take care of them as soon as possible. "Come back?" "Why does she come back?" "What should Winnie do?" Three people at the same time put forward the question, they could not accept that Wendy was coming back. "Never mind, just do what I told you." Brian suddenly said in a cold voice, showing that he was fidgety. If he had known what to do, he would not have been so upset.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 150 PENNY IS PREGNANT

"Winnie is so pathetic." "Winnie can't leave." "Winnie doesn't deserve to be treated this way." Three people refute Brian at the same time. This was the first time they put forward opposing opinions to Brian's order. "Get out and do what I told you." Brian was furious and roared. He never thought that three people actually went against his idea for Winnie. Was Winnie really so good that even his henchmen stand by her side? Three people did not dare to refute, but turned to leave. Brian's anger wandered in the chest and he could not find a way to vent. He was not going to go to the hospital after work in the evening, but he came to the door of the ward again. "Are you better today?" Brian said coldly, which made Winnie's heart icy. "Yes. Were you busy today?" Winnie answered. "Yes, very busy. I will be busy every day, so I don't have time to be here. If you need help, tell the bodyguard outside." Brian felt that he was right. He came here not by accident, but because he wanted to tell Winnie that he would no longer take care of her. "Oh, ok, I'm fine." Winnie whispered, but Brian's sudden change made her difficult to accept. "Go on with your work if you are busy, the children will be with me later, so will Daenerys. There are bodyguards out there. Don't worry about me." Winnie said. She wanted Brian to leave now, she did not want to see his icy face and did not want her children to see that. Brian turned to leave in silence, at this moment Penny walked in unexpectedly. "Brian..." Penny called Brian happily. "What are you doing here?" Brian asked angrily. Seeing Penny he must endure it, or he would make Penny into ashes. "I have good news for you." Penny could not restrain her excitement. It seemed that only Brian was in her eyes, and she did not have a glance at Winnie on the hospital bed. "....." Before Brian asked, Penny was impatient and announced the good news. "I'm pregnant. I just learnt it." Penny's excited exciting news hit Winnie like a bomb. She looked at Brian in daze. Could this be the cause of his sudden indifference to her? Was that why he was so busy at work that he had no time to take care of her? He had sworn to her that nothing had happened between them, but why did Penny get pregnant? Brian looked calm. Winnie found the reason why Penny suddenly appeared in her ward. The two of them should have agreed to come here to play a show for her, so that she could quit on her own. Brian looked at Penny calmly. After a moment, he looked back to Winnie and found her sad eyes. Brian's heart was writhing with pain. He withdrew his gaze and glanced coldly at Penny. "Come out with me." The voice was angry enough to make Penny flustered. Penny glared at Winnie before she quickly followed out. After walking out of the ward, Brian pulled Penny's shoulder and took her to the place where no one was. "Pregnant, uh? Do you want to give birth to it?" Asked Brian contemptuously. "Yes, I am not that young. If you don't want it, I still want to give it to birth." There was no reason not to give it to birth? She had done so much for this child. "Ok, do a paternity test after birth. If it is my child, I will keep it. If it isn't, you will be screwed." Brian's words were unusually cold, warning Penny. Penny was stunned and then obviously nervous. "What do you mean, Brian? Do you suspect that this child is not yours?" "Are you sure it's mine? I can have a DNA test since you are not sure." Brian looked sharply at Penny. His calmness formed a sharp contrast with Penny. "Brian, there's no doubt about it. I don't have any man but you." Penny had no confidence in what she said, but she had to earn it for herself. "No other men? So what's the matter with Leo? You slept with Leo in MG and lied he is just a friend." "Penny, I am disgusted with your vile nature." Brian loudly rebuked, and was now eager to slap Winnie two slaps for the grievances of Winnie. Hearing these words, Penny was completely overwhelmed. Brian knew all about it, but why didn't he say it earlier? Since he knew her relationship with Leo, would he know that she framed Winnie? "Brian..." "Hold your tongue, Penny, if you are wise enough, stop, or you will come to no good." Penny tried to explain, but Brian didn't give her a chance. Brian shouted and directly turned to leave. What happens next was up to Penny. If she was determined to go on her way to death, Brian could help her. Brian returned to Winnie's ward. He felt it necessary to explain to Winnie. But at this time Winnie had been lying down, looking at the ceiling sadly. "Winwin, I want to explain to you, Penny..." "I want to ask you a question." Winnie interrupted Brian's explanation. "Ok." Brian's voice was not as cold as that of just now, but it was not as warm as it was a few days ago. "If I carry your child, will you let me give it birth?" Winnie did not know why she asked such an ignorant question. Maybe she was looking for a reason to let her heart die. Maybe she wanted to see what kind of existence she had in Brian's heart. "No." Brian gave her answer almost without thinking Wendy would come back soon, no one was allowed to give birth to his child. Luke made Wendy leave for so many years, if he had another child, he would not be able to see Wendy again for the rest of his life. Winnie's heart was cold. After long time being together, she was nothing in the heart of Brian. "I see. Aren't you very busy? Go and get busy. I'm tired and want to rest." Winnie once again drove Brian to leave, as for his explanation, she did not think it was necessary to listen to. Winnie pulled up the sheet to cover her head, trying to bear her painful heart. Now she only hoped that Brian leave quickly and not trample on her remaining self-esteem. The next day was the weekend. Brian did not come to the hospital, but her two children stayed with her. In the evening Leo came to the hospital to see Winnie, he was surprised to find that Brian was not there, but he was glad. After saying hello to the people in the ward, Leo sat on the bedside of Winnie and watched Winnie carefully. "You don't look better. Why have you been like this for days?" Leo asked in puzzle. Although her face did not look better, Winnie's mental state was still good. "It's normal. I had lost a lot of blood during the operation. But I'm much better. The doctor said I'll be home in a couple of days." Winnie casually found a reason to prevaricate. "Good. If you go home, you'll be in a better mood and recover faster. Go to my home after you discharge. Your place is too small and inconvenient. I can take care of you in my home." Leo said with concern. "You are busy, how can you have time to take care of me? If you go on a business trip, I will be alone, will you let me starve!" Winnie jokingly refused Leo. "No, I won't have business trip during this period of time. I have time to take care of you." Hearing that, Winnie was nervous. No matter what Winnie said was true or false, he did not want to miss the slightest opportunity. "Just kidding. Daenerys will take care of me. don't worry, you can earn a hundred million a day, how I can take your time?" Winnie continued to joke. She would not let Leo take care of her. If she could take care of herself, she would let him do it. "Winwin..." Leo wanted to strike for opportunities, and Daenerys came over "You can have a chat, I will take two children back." Daenerys said that and then turned to leave. Because of her interruption, Leo did not continue this topic. "Will Brian come later?" "No, he's busy today." Winnie didn't talk to Brian by phone all day, but she was sure he wouldn't come. "How about Daenerys? Will Daenerys be back later?" Leo continued to ask. "She will be at home to take care of the children and won't come back." "Then I'll stay with you. I can't leave you alone." Leo finally found his chance. "No, there are bodyguards outside. They'll take care of me." Winnie refused. "It's settled. You needn't object." Leo insisted. "Let's not talk about it. Shall we talk about Penny?" Leo hurriedly changed the topic for fear that Winnie would drive him away. "Penny? Why?" Hearing the name of Penny, Winnie remembered last night, she felt her heart hurt. "I think Penny has something to do with your accident, even if she has not, she is the happiest of all." Although Leo was not sure, he still wanted to put this possibility out, so that Winnie could be more careful later. "....." Winnie had suspected that Penny did it, but he did not tell anyone about it. "Winwin, he is a wicked man. She will certainly make trouble for you. For your own safety, you'd better leave Brian." Leo persuaded. Even if Winnie would not return to him, he did not want Winnie to continue with Brian. Brian was not dangerous, but Penny was an uncertain factor. "I can't for now." Winnie wanted to leave, wanted to stay away from Brian, but no matter what kind of danger she encountered, no matter how much injustice she had, she had insist to the day on which she could not insist, for the sake of Luke. "Why? Are you in love with him?" Leo suddenly asked. It was the only reason why Winnie refused to leave Brian. Winnie was neither surprised nor embarrassed by Leo's question.