

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 15 CAN I BE MY DAD

Winnie regained her freedom, gasping for breath and heaving in her chest. If not, she was afraid her heart would jump out. "Why do you treat me like this, rascal?" Winnie questioned, while suppressing the irregular heart. Winnie's angry face and eyes made Brian's heart lost sharply deepen. "No one has ever dared to hit me. You have made another unforgivable mistake." Brian got a slap and became angry. He turned his inexplicable feeling into anger, and only so he could continue to punish her. As his cold words fell, Brian once again kissed on Winnie ruddy lips. But after getting a slap, he was a lot smarter. Winnie's hands were controlled on the thick tree trunk, making it difficult to push Brian away. Brian's kiss was so aggressive that he pried open her teeth at the right time. Then his warm tongue probed into her mouth to absorb the taste of Winnie in a greedy way. But she had got married and had given birth to a child, why she was so unfamiliar with kiss? Winnie forced herself not to be confused by this man's madness. She tried all her strength to resist. Because of the friction between her hand and the tree trunk, she felt pain, but it was not as unacceptable as the humiliation Brian gave her at the moment. She had boyfriend, but broke up before further development. She had surrogacy and she had sex, but it was just business. And it got straight to the point, and the man rarely kissed her. So when it came to kissing she was stiff and had no experience at all. And how could she accept it with humiliation in it. Brian kissed Winnie until they were in serious hypoxia, he let her go. But he found anger in her eyes. Was his kiss that bad? Many women wanted his kiss, yet he was disgusted by her. Brian became cold and his eyes were gloomy. "Remember that. Don't try to provoke me any more. And don't say you will go back." As the cold voice fell, Brian shook off Winnie's hand. Ignoring Winnie, he continued. "I signed an agreement with your company. I can fire you, but you can't replace me." "Scoundrel, you are a scoundrel. Brian, why do you bully me like this? I have a family and a man." Winnie ignored the pain in her hands and shouted angrily at him. "You're divorced. You don't have a man. That's why you're approaching me." Brian continued. "You investigated me?" Winnie said she had a man because she didn't want to be bullied. To her surprise, Brian knew everything. "Kind of." Said Brian. "You..... Okay, let's say I'm divorced. Let's say I don't have a man. But you have a wife. Are you not afraid that your wife sees it? You treat me like this, what am I if your wife knows it?"

Winnie did not know what to say to this rogue man. He actually admitted that he had investigated her privacy. "I don't have a wife." Brian blurted out. "Are you kidding? If you don't have a wife, who gave birth to Luke?" Winnie was disdainful about Brian's words. How could such a successful man have no a wife? "Stop that, Brian, and don't think I am scheming. I am telling you I will never seduce you, peep into you. Even If I have no man, I will not seduce you." "I'll only work with you for one year, and one year later I'll leave. I hope we'll have a happy parting." Since no matter she clarified, Brian did not believe her, so she did not need to waste words with him. After Winnie finished speaking, she gave a glance at Brian and walked away. "Wait a minute." "Ah..." Brian grabbed Winnie's hand and touched Winnie's injury accidentally. Brian did not release her and looked at her. Winnie's hands were obviously peeling with blood, and Brian frowned. "Let go." Winnie shook it off and left. Looking at her back, he recalled that crazy kiss and the familiar smell of her. She was like her, with faint and elegant fragrance. MaLKe that was why he kissed her suddenly. The two children had a good time, but Winnie was in a bad mood. She thought she would have a good talk with Brian about the children and the misunderstanding between them, but she made it worse. Although she was in bad mood, when Luke rushed to her, she was still smiling. "Auntie, play with me, Megan is tired and wants to have a rest." Luke shook Winnie's arm, with a face of supplication. "Ok, I play with you." Winnie took Luke's hand to play happily. Megan walked into Brian with timidity. Although she had been in contact with this Uncle before, his face was so gloomy that Megan was afraid. Although she was afraid, she wanted to talk with him and built up the courage to approach Brian. "Uncle." "Come and sit down." Brian puckering eyebrow stretched because Megan's childish voice. "Uncle, I saw you kiss my Mommy." The child's world was forthright, and she did not beat around the bush, but just said what she thought. "Well....." Brian was surprised and didn't know how to answer. The tree was bid enough to hide them, and they were seen by the little girl. "Uncle, will you be my father?" Megan waited for Brian's answer with eager eyes. Brian was stunned and frowned. He had suspected that Winnie was premeditated to get close to him, now she used her child and she said she had no ambition. "Megan, you have a father, why let me be your father?" Brian's voice was cold, which made Megan want to flinch. "Uncle... I have a father, but I've never seen him. All the children tn kindergarten have parents to pick them up, but I have no a father to pick me up." Although afraid, Megan insisted on speaking out. "Uncle, I like you very much, and I like Luke. He and I were born on the same day of the same year, and you kissed Mommy. I saw on TV that only people who love each other kiss. You kissed Mommy because you love Mommy." Megan was proud to apply what she had learned from TV to reality. "Born on the same day of the same year?" "This was really fate." "Uncle, can you be my father?" Asked Megan again. "Megan, it was an accident I kissed your mommy. Uncle has a family, Luke has a mommy, so I can't be your father." Brian decisively refused, because he did not want to drag the children into the adult's world. Megan was disappointed. Her eyes were ruddy, but she endured it as stubbornly as her mother. "All right, if Uncle doesn't like me and Mommy, I can only wait for my own Daddy to come back." Megan was rejected and felt wronged, but she could not be found by Mommy, so she could only endure it. However, Brian could not bear such a Megan. "Megan..." Brian wanted to say something, but he stopped. So what he could not bear it? She was not her child anyway.