

My Twins 211

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 211 PENNY AT THE POLICE STATION

Winnie leaned on Brian's shoulder. Because it was fictitious, she just wanted to relieve herself. Winnie sighed, then closed her eyes and began to speak. "I don't know why you always find fault with me. I tried to avoid you, we have ended our relationship. Why do you still care who I drink with?" "Aren't you tired? There's so much for you to do, and you're here to fight me. Are you afraid of me finding a stepfather for the children? Don't worry, I can do what I promise you. Let alone Leo, I will never even make Brian the children's stepfather." Winnie was not satisfied with Brian's criticism. She knew what to do and did not need irrelevant people to advise her. "I'm the father, so I have a right to mind your business. Your impropriety in your conduct will have bad impact on the children." Brian heard grievance and helplessness in Winnie's tone, but she had been enduring. Such forbearance made Brian distressed. "You are father, I am the mother, and it is the only relationship between us. You have the right to control the children but not me." "There is no indiscretion in my life...You are my first man and you are still the only one. Am I not disciplined?" "Well, it's no use telling you that. You're the last person who trusts me." "Talking with you is so depressing. Don't say anything now. Just let me lean on you for a while." Winnie felt heartache and knew whether in real life or in the illusion, Brian was not suitable for her. No matter where he appeared, he could successfully hurt her heart. Winnie did not hear Brian's voice again and she was silent. The next day, Winnie was awakened by the sound of a phone call and picked up the phone in a daze. "Hello." "Miss Chambers, I'm a police officer. I need your help." The police officer's voice sobered Winnie up immediately. "What is it?" "Penny has been clamouring to see you in prison, and tried to kill herself with a toothbrush a few days ago, when the prison police refused her request." "We have no control over her except to put her in a room alone, and now she is on hunger strike, saying she will starve to death unless she sees you." "Miss Chambers, even though she made a mistake, she is still a fresh life. We want to meet her request. Could you meet her?" The policeman asked Winnie's opinion humanely. Winnie hesitated for a moment. She thought Richard had been caught, but it was that Penny wanted to see her. "If she tries to kill herself if I see her, wouldn't I be a sinner?" Winnie said cautiously. "No, we made that clear to her, and it's all on tape and video. It's nobody's business if she killed herself." "Miss Chambers, I know what you are worried about. As long as you don't say something to stimulate her suicide, it has nothing to do with you. Besides, the prison police are nearby, and we will accompany you to go in, so that your safety will not be threatened." The police had been ready, waiting for Winnie to meet Penny. It would have been illegal to do so, but in order not to see Penny die like that, they had to make an exception. "All right, I'll see her." Winnie put down the phone and sank into her thoughts. Actually, she was also afraid that Penny would make tricks, after all, she did not repent at the last moment. But she was reassured by what the police had said. Actually, she decided to see her with a trace of pity, to see if she was OK, to see if she had reflection after being restricted by the wall and realized that she had done something wrong. Winnie stretched to get out of bed and then she realized that she was not in her bedroom. She sat up as if awakened from a dream. She looked around and realized that it was the hilltop villa. The hilltop villa? Brian? How did she get here? Was Brian back? Had it not been a vision that she saw last night? Was it the real Brian? Was the dream she had last night true? Thinking of this, Winnie looked down at herself, as expected, she did not wear clothes, and she got up, flurried. "Crazy, crazy, I must be crazy. How can I be here again? Winnie, you should never come here again." Winnie scolded herself as she put on her clothes. "I absolutely can't drink anymore, or I will choke myself to death." Winnie hurriedly put on clothes, only to find that there was a note on the bedside table left by Brian. "I want to talk with you. Wait for me downstairs the company at noon. We will talk when we meet." Winnie looked at the note on the word, and felt chaos in heart. What did he want to say? The outcome would not change anyway. Winnie put Brian's things aside. She planned to go to the police station to see Penny first. She still had to think about whether to go to see Brian. She didn't know how she got to the hilltop villa, but she knew that she must drive Brian's car to leave. She took a car key from a drawer and went to the police station. An interview room at the police station. "Don't worry, Miss Chambers, she can't do you any harm. Just remember not to say anything to provoke her, and not to be provoked by her." The police were afraid of any accident and repeatedly told Winnie. "I know. I'll be careful." As Winnie's voice fell, Penny pushed the door in. Seeing that Penny got thin, Winnie felt upset. She had been punished and she must repent. "Winwin..." Penny's expression softened and changed her address. "Winwin, thank you for coming to see me." Penny was taken to the seat, so that Penny and Winnie sat face to face. There was only one glass in between and there were two worlds. "The police said you wanted to see me and I came. Why do you want to see me?" Winnie said in a low voice, with a stiff face. Because she did not know what kind of identity should be used to talk to Penny. "Winwin, I don't have much time, so I'll go to the point. We were friends, please help me. I don't want to be here. I want to be free." Penny said with pity. She refused to eat for several days for this opportunity, so she must grasp it. "How do you want me to help you?" Winnie's tone was low and she looked calm. "Please persuade Brian not to accuse me of mistreating Luke, and plead with the judge about your kidnapping. As long as you don't accuse me, I can get out of here." "Winwin, I'm still young and I don't want to be here. Winwin, as long as you help me, I will give you all the money I have. I will also give you the villa Brian gave me." Penny said, she thought Winnie would be able to save her. All her hopes were in Winnie. As long as she could go out, she didn't mind having nothing. "Penny, I can't help you with the thing related to Luke. Even if Brian wants to forgive you, the chairman and his father won't allow it. You should have thought of taking responsibility when you abused him. You are a law student and you know better than anyone that that is illegal." "And you kidnapped me and tried to run me over with your car so many times, and it is not depend on me to free you. You have broken the law, and it is the law that punishes you, not me." Winnie said indifferently. She could not persuade Brian, the victim was her son, who had been ill by that. If she forgave Penny, she would felt sorry for Luke. "Winwin, I know I was wrong. It won't happen again. Please help me, please, you can do it, you can get me out of here." Penny was upset to hear Winnie's words, but she could not give up easily, this was her last chance. "What did you do wrong?" "Winnie wanted to see if Penny had any repentance." "It doesn't matter what I did wrong. The most important thing is that I was wrong. I promise you it will never happen again, and if you will let me go free, I promise to stay away from you and never bother you again." Penny blindly admitted the mistake, but refused to say what she had done wrong. Seeing that, Winnie felt that she should not have come. The poor, repentant Penny she had just seen was an illusion. She never admitted that she had done anything wrong. "I'm sorry. I can't help you. I can only disappoint you." "Be good to yourself. You won't be here all your life. I have to go." Winnie got up. Then Penny gave a despairing look and suddenly from got up. "Winnie, I beg you, why are you so cruel? You have no heart....." Penny suddenly scolded Winnie. The prison officer came to stop her and pulled her to leave. "Winnie, I curse you, you will have a miserable life....." Penny's voice of abuse bit by bit disappeared in Winnie's hearing range. Seeing Penny like that, Winnie could only shake her head. Winnie she came out of the police station, it was ten o'clock. She sat in the car in a daze. She was not thinking about Penny but Brian. She asked herself again and again whether she should go to see Brian, and repeatedly thought about what Brian wanted to say to her. Did he regret giving her the children or did he want her to take the children to leave? Winnie thought for a long time and finally found a reason to see Brian - to return the car to Brian. After thinking of an excuse, Winnie drove away from the police station.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 212

Brian had been perturbed this day, but he was secretly happy. Since he left in the morning, he had turned on his cell phone's location function. He knew where his car went from the hilltop villa. He didn't have time to check his phone during the morning meeting. Only now, back at the office, did he have time to check his phone's location. Oddly, his car was driving downtown from the police station. Police station? Why did Winnie go to the police station? To see who? Penny? Brian followed Winnie's route with doubts, until he was sure that she was driving in the direction of the building of Bennet Group. He then felt relieved. Brian opened the drawer and took out his one-of-a-kind gift, then put it in his pants pocket. Looking at Winnie bit by bit got close to the Bennet Group, Brian got more and more excited. Seeing that Winnie's car was about to arrive at the parking lot, Brian arranged himself and took the exclusive elevator to the first floor. Winnie parked her car, straightened herself up in front of a mirror, opened the door and got out. Winnie walked toward the door of the Bennet Group and saw Brian walking toward her. He was still handsome, tall and cold. But there was tenderness in his cold eyes. And the radian in his mouth meant something. As Winnie walking slowly to him, a clear and pleasant voice was heard. "Brian..." At the same time, Brian heard the voice. He followed the voice and his face stiffened when he saw the voice's owner. "Brian..." The woman again intimately called him and ran to him. At this time, Winnie watched a sexy and enchanting woman running into the arms of Brian. She hugged Brian tightly and they seemed to be very close. Winnie stopped and looked at the unfolding love drama. "Wendy....." Brian's words reached Winnie's ears and she realized that the woman was Wendy. At the moment of hearing the name of Wendy, Winnie heard the sound of her heartbreak. She finally knew why Brian asked her to come here. He wanted her to see with her own eyes how much love they had, so that Winnie could give up. He wanted to tell her he loved Wendy, not her. It seemed that she had said something she shouldn't have said last night when she got drunk. It seemed that what she said brought burden to Brian and made him have a crisis. Now he wanted her to see this, so that she would not disturb his life. Well, since it was so obvious, there was no reason she could refuse. After Winnie took a last look at Brian with a deathly gray face, she turned and walked toward the car. She told herself that they would be strangers from now on. She walked over to the car, put the keys on it, and sped away. Looking at Winnie left, Brian's heart was hurt like a knife cut and he could not breathe. He did not have time to say the prepared words to Winnie, did not have time to give her the unique gift and now he watched her turn to leave. He had prepared everything but did not expect that Wendy would suddenly appear. Brian stretched out his hand to make Wendy leave him, and looked at Wendy with a serious expression. "Why did you come back? Didn't you say you wouldn't come back?" "I want to surprise you? I said I would not come back, but I show up all of a sudden, you must be happy. Brian, is it a surprise to see me?" Wendy looked at Brian with a sweet smile on her face and thought her surprise was perfect. But it was not. Her return upset everything that Brian had arranged. "What's the matter? Why don't you talk? Did I make you angry by saying I wouldn't come back? But I am happy if you're angry. It proves you care about me." Wendy complacently said, but she was flurried in mind. She wanted to go to Brian's office to give him a surprise, but she saw Brian as she got off. But it was clear that Brian wasn't in the parking lot for her. For whom if not for her? There was love in his eyes and smile on his face. Brian took Wendy back to his office. That Wendy took the exclusive elevator holding the arm of Brian was seen by the company's employees, instantly it was spread throughout the company. "Wendy, have you dealt with everything?" Brian was still serious, but he was not happy, especially when he thought of Winnie's sad eyes. His heart bled as he thought of her eyes. He and Winnie were so close together, so close that even if Wendy came back, it would not change the fact. But she left sadly before he could say a word. Why didn't he catch up with her and give her a hug and a word of comfort? Why just watched her leave? When would they meet again? "Yes, and I'll be right here, following you wherever you go, and staying by your side for the rest of my life. Brian..." Wendy said while came to Brian. She wanted to hold his hand, but Brian avoided it. Was it repulsive of her touch, or was it inadvertent? "Wendy, you shouldn't joke like that. I've cancelled the wedding preparations. Everything is... Never mind, you must be tired. I'll send you home. We'll talk about it tomorrow." Brian was in no mood to chat with Wendy to discuss things between them. He was so confused that he didn't know what to do. Brian said he was busy and asked Albert to send Wendy home. After Wendy left, Brian made a call to Winnie, but Winnie did not answer the phone. And he kept calling her, until her phone was turned off. Brian knew Winnie must be very sad and must hate him. He texted her, but she saw such a scene, she must think he was intentional. It upset Brian, until it was off work. He drove the car to Kevin's home. When he saw Daenerys, he remember that Kevin was not single anymore, he had a wife. "Have you had your supper?" Kevin asked Brian. "No." Brian replied in a low voice. "Let's eat together. I'll get the cutlery." Daenerys turned around, but Kevin held her shoulder and said considerately. "I should protect you now. Sit down. I'll get it." Kevin gave Daenerys a loving smile and went to fetch the cutlery. Such a scene made Brian feel bitter. If Wendy did not come back, he and Winnie would be together too. Kevin came back and put the cutlery in front of Brian. "You come at the right time. We shall have finished if you come later. Would you like a drink?" Kevin continued. "No, I drove here myself." Brian still said in a low voice. Actually, at the moment he just wanted to drink and get drunk, so that he needed not think of anything. But he knew that even if he drank, Winnie would not appear in front of him. "Eat, then." Kevin sat next to Daenerys. Brian was not in a good mood. Kevin's table was full of delicious food, but he didn't have any appetite. He didn't even know what he was putting in his mouth. Daenerys saw what was wrong with Brian, but she said nothing. She just wanted to eat a quick meal and go back to her bedroom, letting them talk for a while. Looking at such Brian, Kevin got worried. He asked when he was almost done eating. "What's wrong with you?" "....." Brian did not answer. "You have a talk, I go back to the bedroom to rest for a while." Daenerys got up, but was stopped by Brian. "Daenerys, stay here. I'm in trouble. Help me." Daenerys knew Winnie the best, she must know what was in Winnie's mind. "Wendy is back and I don't know what to do." Brian spoke out his troubles. It surprised Kevin and Daenerys. "You've been looking forward to her coming back, haven't you? Why don't you know what to do? You have been preparing for the wedding. Now that she comes back, get married." Daenerys could only say that, although she saw that Brian was reluctant to marry Wendy. "But what about Winwin and the children?" Brian didn't know who he was asking, only that he couldn't find the answer. "Don't you think it's too late to say that now, Mr. Bennet? Why didn't you think of the children and Winwin when you were preparing for the wedding? Why didn't you think of them before Wendy came back? Does it make sense to remember it now?" Daenerys was angry to see Brian's painful face. If Winnie knew Wendy was back, she would be sadder than Brian. "I don't know what to do, so I ask you to help me." Brian felt that it was not too late to save everything, but he did not know if it was right to ask Winnie back. "Brian, first you must know your own heart, and whom you love, and then you can..." Kevin advised, but he still hoped that the person Brian chose was Winnie. However, before he could finish, Brian said. "Winnie, the person I love is Winnie. I'm sure of my heart now. It's her I love." Brian did not expect he himself would say that. It was the real voice, which could not be covered. Kevin and Daenerys looked at each other in surprise. They did not expect that Brian would admit that.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 213 OVER WINNIE

After listening to Brian's words, Kevin understood why he was in low spirits. On the one hand, he could not be over Winnie, and on the other hand, he felt guilty to Wendy. "Did you talk to Winwin?" Kevin asked again. "I wanted to, but I never got the chance." Wendy appeared when he was about to say it, and he swallowed the words back. "Then talk to her, why no chance?" "Then don't talk." Kevin and Daenerys said together, but the meaning was completely opposite. Daenerys stared at Kevin and continued to say. "Mr. Bennet, you should know some love can't be together for so many reasons, and some love has to give up. That's what's going on between you and Winwin. Your love can't protect her, so don't let her know." Daenerys still objected. "Mr. Bennet, you are so entangled because you don't love her much. You still have Wendy in your heart, so you better choose Wendy." "Daenerys, I want to know why you say so." Brian did not mean to blame Daenerys, he just wanted to know the reason. Maybe she meant what Winnie meant. "There is no why. I just want Winwin to spend the rest of her life in peace." "You should know what she had been through, Mr. Bennet. Accidents happen one after another after meeting you, and you could not stop those accidents. Winwin is just a woman. If she loses her life because of love, I don't think it's worth it. It's not worth it because you don't love her enough." Daenerys stopped and sighed. She felt that since the subject had already begun, she should speak more seriously and thoroughly. So they could move on and live their lives. "Never..." Brian wanted to explain, but he thought of his grandfather's warning. His grandfather would also cause harm to Winnie, he still could not ensure that Winnie was safe. "If you really love her, you would give up everything, even your current status. If you really love her, you would do anything for her at all costs. Obviously you can't. You cannot give up your current status and Wendy. Since you cannot give up everything, leave Winwin alone. Silent guarding is also a kind of love. Daenerys was sad to say those words, after all, she was in the obstruction of them. Winnie loved Brian and Brian also loved Winnie, but too many factors were mixed between them. Even if they loved each other, even if they walked hand in hand, the road was full of thorns. "Mr. Bennet, you are like the emperor in ancient times, and Penny, Wendy and Winwin are your concubines. The competition for favor in the harem is more insidious than everything else. Penny is not there, but no one can guarantee that Wendy is not vicious. You know a woman will do anything to protect her love." Daenerys made a metaphor of the current situation of Brian. She just wanted to tell Brian, he was superior and there were many women liked him. Even if he got married with Wendy, other women would be around. "Mr. Bennet, Winwin is the most uncalculating of them all and she was too kind. For the sake of your love, don't bother her anymore." Daenerys added, wanting to let Brian give up. "I know, and thank you for telling me all that. But I want to know if Winnie likes me." If Winnie liked him and loved him, he wanted to try to give up everything for her once. "I don't have the answer, you can only ask her by yourself." Daenerys actually wanted to say that Winnie did not love Brian, but she felt that she had no right to say so. "Mr. Bennet, since we're talking about Winwin, since you say you love Winwin, can you love her in another way?" Daenerys agreed that these words would be said by Kevin, but she was afraid that Kevin would not say that. "In what way?" Asked Brian in low spirits. "Let her get married, so that she could have a happy life. This is the way to love her." "You and Wendy will have children after you get married. You will live happily together. I don't think you want to see Winwin alone. I think setting her free is the best thing you can do." Daenerys said what she wanted to say. She knew that Brian was a wise man. He must know what she meant. And she said that for the sake of Winnie "....." Brian was silent. He understood. He knew that it was selfish to let Winnie be alone all her life. But he really could not stand that Winnie to be with other men. In his conception, Winnie was his from the beginning and he did not want to give his woman away. However, did he have the ability to protect Winnie? Would letting go of her make her happy? Brian said nothing, but got up silently and left Kevin's house. He wanted Kevin to help him think of a way, but after listening to Daenerys' words, he was at a loss. He drove to the hilltop villa and lied in the bed with Winnie breath. It was full of their memories. There seemed to have nothing happy in the past, there was no happy moment, unexpected surprise and good memories. There was nothing but pain and Winnie's tears. The phone rang and Brian took a look. "Brian, take me to your grandfather tomorrow, and then you come to my house to meet my parents." "Let's reschedule the time of our marriage, and then we'll live happily ever after." "Did you see my message, Brian?" "Why don't you reply?" The message came one after another, Brian's heart became more and more chaotic. He turned off his phone, calmed his mind and let his thoughts wander. But Winnie's figure was lingering. The next day, Brian did not follow Wendy's instructions. He asked her to the office because they had to clarify something in advance. "Why didn't you reply to all the messages I sent you last night?" Wendy came to Brian, pulled up his hand and blamed him in a peevish manner. "I didn't it, my phone turned off." "Wendy, sit down, I have something to tell you." Brian took Wendy to the sofa, let her sit down, pulled back his hand and then sat down. "Why so serious? It makes me nervous." Wendy said sweetly but let her flutter was not for Brian's words, but his hand that pulled back. She just came back and thought that Brian would treat her warmly, thought that he would be reluctant to send her home. But from yesterday till now, he not only sent her home, but also refused her touch twice. This was clearly that he disliked her. "It is about Luke." Brian was not in the mood to cooperate with Wendy's coquettish and just wanted to solve the problem as soon as possible. "You know what happened between me and Penny, but now I have no longer had anything to do with her. But in these years, Penny had been mistreating Luke, so Luke got depression. You and I marry in the premise of that you can accept Luke....." "Do I have to live with Luke?" Hearing that Brian and Penny lifted the engagement, Wendy was happy. She thought Brian fell in love with Penny in these years, so he was so indifferent to her. Since Penny was not the reason, she had no scruple and nothing to worry about. "You still can't accept Luke?" Brian asked Wendy frowning. "Brian, to tell you the truth, I don't hate Luke, but I really can't live with him. But if you insist, I can try." Wendy did not conceal it. She did not like children, and did not like Brian's child more. The child's presence had always made her feel that their love was impure. "I expected that you don't like Luke, so Luke is not with me now." Brian was disappointed. Was this Wendy's so-called love? She loved him, but she could not accept his child. "Really? Brian, I knew you would think for me. Luke can stay with grandpa or your dad. He can not get along with me well, and it will be tough for you." Wendy was joyful to hear that. "Luke is not with grandpa or my dad." "Where is he?" "At his mommy's." Brian said calmly, but Wendy was lost. "His mommy? Didn't Penny mistreat him? Why is he with her?" Wendy asked with doubts. "Luke's biological mommy." Brian gave the answer seriously. He had to tell Wendy everything, if he concealed it, it would have more trouble. And she had to accept all this, if not, they could only separate. "Biological..." Wendy was stunned and speechless. In the moment, Wendy realized the change of Brian was not because of Penny, but Luke's biological mommy. "We accidentally met. Luke now cannot stand the stimulation, so he can only be together with her." "In addition to Luke, I have a daughter, she and Luke are twins, and now they are together with their mommy." "What did you say? Another child? Brian, what do you mean? Are you kidding?" Wendy could not accept the appearance of Luke's biological mommy, and now there was another child. Did he want her to break down or leave again? Looking at Brian's serious face, Wendy knew that he was not joking. It was the fact. At this moment, Wendy had a feeling of being cheated and finally understood she felt restless abroad.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 214 MUST BE MADE CLEAR

Wendy was emotional and did not want to confirm her speculation. She said with her voice rising uncontrollably and fury of disappointment. "Brian, why didn't you tell me before I came back? What do you by that?" "It is my fault. I didn't know my daughter existed when you decided to come back, and I didn't know about her until recently. But I must tell you now, because you would be even angrier if I tell you after we get married." Brian said sorry, but there was no guilty expression on his face, instead, he was brimming with happiness. Looking at the happiness on Brian's face, Wendy panicked. Was this happiness coming from his daughter, or from her mother? "You mean her mother has been keeping it a secret, so she is selfish and wants to use the child to be with you?" "No, she not that kind of person. She doesn't want anything from me. She just wants to live with the children." Brian explained and did not want to hear someone say something bad about Winnie. In his heart Winnie is perfect. Even if she had shortcomings, it could only be said by him, others were not qualified to say so. "She wants nothing? If she was really so noble, why did she do surrogacy." Wendy was flurried and upset because Brian's words. She only said one sentence, and Brian began to defend her. Brian hurt her and trampled on her self-esteem. "Wendy, please don't get her involved in our affairs. It is true that she is a surrogate, but it has nothing to do with you, and you cannot denigrate her." Brian was angry, but he suppressed, but he did not control his tone. He found that as long as Winnie was mentioned, he could not calm down. This was also a way of love. "Brian, you still protect her. You like her, don't you?" Wendy got tears in eyes. She did not expect that and it was a heavy blow to her. "I said it had nothing to do with her, and we should not get her involved in our business. I told you all these things, now you have two children to think about. If you can accept them, we will get married. If you can't..." "If you can leave both children with that woman, but you can't contact with that woman, we'll get married now." Wendy did not dare to let Brian finish his words. She was afraid that Brian gave up her because of the two children. Now he had changed and it was not that Brian who was willing to wait for her. She could not bear it now that he might go into another woman's arms if she were not careful. "....." Brian did not say any more, but frowned deeply. This was the woman he had been waiting for for so many years, but she could not accept his children. After a silence in the office, Brian spoke again. "The two children can stay with her, but it is impossible that I don't contact her, after all, there are children. I didn't tell Grandpa about the children. If he knows, he would probably let me stay with the mother of the children. After all, he will think about the children. So you mustn't mention it to Grandpa." Brian's tone softened. In order not to let grandpa know, he could only give Wendy sense of crisis, so as to keep the secret of the children and the two children could be with Winnie. Now it seemed that it was the right choice that Winnie had the two children. Winnie insisted on having the children, because she guessed that Wendy would not accept the children. He should thank for Winnie, or his children would have become unwanted orphans. "I won't tell him, I certainly won't tell him. I can get in touch with that woman about the children. If I can't deal with it, you can..." "You don't like children at all, and you don't know them. Besides, I am the father of the children. I will miss the children and will see the children often. You said you will contact with the children's mother, do you mean I can't see the children?" "Wendy, if I agree to marry you, I won't get in touch the children's mother. You don't need to mind her." Brian directly opposed Wendy's statement. He had to see the children and Winnie, and he could not let Wendy contact with Winnie. He was afraid that Wendy was jealous and would do harm to Winnie like Penny did. "Keep your words, and don't have too much contact with that woman. We are getting married now, and the wedding can be held later." Wendy was not at ease. Although Brian promised her, she panicked and had feeling that she would lose Brian. "We will get married until you see Grandpa. We will go to the old house tonight. By the way, Uncle Thomas is also there." Brian politely refused. Getting married made him feel terrible, because he could not see Winnie again. Brian refusal worried Wendy, but she could do nothing about it. Winnie was in a bad mood since she saw Brian and Wendy hugged together yesterday. When she got home, she couldn't show it. She couldn't tell anyone. She was suffocating at that thought. From yesterday till now, Brian had been calling her. But she could not pick it up and she did not know what to say. Should she bless him or blame him? So she turned her phone on mute and looked at that familiar number. Brian was cruel to use that way to let her give up. Didn't he think it was cruel? Other people's love was so happy and natural, why her love was so bitter and sad? Winnie didn't go home after work, she told her family that she had to work overtime and then she went to visit her parents' grave. Only her parents would listen to her at this time. But when she came to her parents' grave and looked at the smiling faces on the tombstone, Winnie did not want to disturb their peace and swallowed her words back. "Mom and dad, are you all right? Aunt and Vanessa as well as me and the children are all right. Don't worry about us. Just take care of yourself." "Mom and dad, I'm working hard to make money right now. When Vanessa's house loan is repaid, I want to buy back the villa where we used to live. There are memories of us and those memories are the happiest moments for me." She might keep those memories for a lifetime, because the memories Brian gave her were too painful. It was like a scar got uncovered. It was a terrible feeling, and she'd rather seal it. "Mom, you love Vanessa. She studied hard and self-motivated. She is the backbone of her class and school. She will be an outstanding person in the future. You will be proud of her." "....." Winnie told her parents the good news and did not mention her sorrow. After chatting with her parents for a while, she felt better and said goodbye to them. Winnie decided to go home. When she reached the parking lot and was about to find her car, a familiar voice came from behind, and Winnie suddenly stopped there. "Winwin." Brian called Winnie from behind. He came to the cemetery to visit his mother because of depression, but when he came out, he saw a familiar figure. He was excited. He had been calling her for two days, but she did not answer, and now they met here. Winnie did not turn around and she could tell it was Brian. Only by hearing his voice, her heart hurt. But she had to face it. For the children, she had to take the pain for a lifetime. Winnie gathered her emotions and forced herself to look calm. Then she turned around and looked at Brian. "Mr. Bennet, I'm here to see my parents. I definitely am not to create chance for encountering. Please don't misunderstand me." Winnie said. She knew that Brian hated her, so she explained, otherwise he would hate her more."Winwin, I don't think in that way. Can we talk?" Brian said with guilty. "There's nothing to talk about. Tell me when you're ready to get married. I will tell the kids. We have nothing to do with each other and I understand what you mean, there is no need to say any more." "Mr. Bennet, I wish you happiness." Winnie said that with a bitter smile, and then turned to leave. "Winwin...If there is a suitable person, you can get married. As long as he is good to the children, I will not interfere in your marriage." Brian said the important thing when Winnie did not give him a chance to explain. Daenerys was right. Even if he loved Winnie deeply, he could not deprive her of happiness selfishly. Even if he felt sad when she got married, he could not interfere with her marriage. Only when she was married and happy could he feel at ease and forget this love. When Winnie heard that, she felt sad. Brian's meaning was too obvious. Only when she had a stable family, only when she married, he would be steadfast and believed that she would not disturb his life. Winnie bit her lower lip. "Sure, thank you for giving me the chance. I'll get married when I find the right man." Winnie pretended to be clam and said. "Winwin, I call you in the future is because the children, you don't have to avoid me." He had to say so because he was worried when she refused to answer the phone, because he would miss her when he could not hear her voice. "I see." Winnie answered and strode away directly. Winnie gave a look of self-mockery. It seemed that she had overthought, he called was not to explain. Brian took Wendy back to the old house after he returned to the cemetery. Uncle Thomas and his family were not at home on a date with an old friend, so it was easier to cope with. "Grandpa, I'm home."

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 215 THE MARRIAGE IS POSTPONED

Wendy greeted Felix with a smile, but it was a smile she forced herself to make because she had no affection for him. If it hadn't been for his despotism, if it hadn't been for his contempt for her, there wouldn't have been so many twists between her and Brian, and the two children wouldn't have been there. "Glad to have you back. Let's eat, I have been waiting for a while." Felix lukewarmly said. He had met countless people all his life and he could see through everyone, so he could see that Wendy's smile was not from her heart. But even if her smile was from the heart, Felix felt that it was not as nice as Winnie's. Although he could accept Wendy, he did not like her. At this point he could only sign that nothing was perfect. Winnie was likable, but Wendy was not. Wendy's family background was ok, but Winnie had nothing. If they complemented each other, if Winnie had a strong family background, he must ask Brian to marry Winnie. That would be perfect. Wendy was embarrassed. She took a look at Brian and then followed him to the table. "Eat, it will be cold soon." Felix said monotonously. After Wendy took two bites, Felix once again said. "The Yup Group a rising star in the business world. It seems your father has a good head for business that it raised quickly in such a difficult environment. But it's a long way from the Bennet Group." Felix's meaning was obvious. He wanted to tell Wendy he accepted her reluctantly. If the Yup Group had not succeeded, he would not have allowed her to marry Brian. "Well, with Brian in the Bennet Group, let alone the Yup Group, no one can surpass it." Wendy complimentarily said and she understood Felix's meaning. However, she felt uncomfortable about that, but she did not dare to refute. "Wendy, you are back to marry Brian. But you must arrange Luke. If you marry Brian, you are Luke's mother, you should treat Luke as your own child." Felix spoke as if he were giving orders, not in a deliberative tone. He had to arrange everything for Luke, because he was old and could not tell which day he would die. Rufus was not young and did not have too much energy on the child. Only Wendy and Brian could accompany the child for a long time, but among the two people, Wendy was the key figure. "Don't worry, Grandpa. Brian said that Luke will stay with his father and we will visit him on the weekend. Grandpa, about Luke, I think he has his ideas. If I stay with him, we will have contradictions, so it will be good that we live separately." "And..." Wendy wanted to continue to find reasons for herself. She thought that Brian had communicated with Felix, so she said fearlessly, but Felix unexpectedly interrupted her words. "You mean you don't want to live with Luke?" "I..." Wendy looked at Felix's serious face and realized that she had said the wrong thing. As she was about to explain, she was interrupted again. "Brian, ask your assistant to bring your hukou to me tomorrow. And don't get ready for your wedding. I'm going to convalesce for a while. Wait until I come back." Felix wanted to play tough to Wendy. How dare she refuse to raise Luke? It seemed that she was not as smart as Winnie and needed to be lectured. "Grandpa..." Brian finally spoke and wanted to explain for Wendy, knowing that his grandfather was angry, but Felix did not give him a chance. "I will ask your father to go with me to convalesce this time. Send Luke to Winnie till we come back. Tell Winwin that I trust her to take care of Luke. I thank her." Felix wanted to make Wendy regret and make her know the existence of Winnie, make her have a sense of crisis. Let's see if she could still talk so loudly. "Grandpa..." Brian began to worry. His grandpa was not to create a sense of crisis for Wendy, but make Winnie an enemy. "Eat, if you are not hungry, you can go now." Felix's sullen words shut Brian up and he did not speak again. Wendy did not dare to explain. She did not expect that Felix was so old, but he was still domineering. But she could not annoy him yet, or he would let Luke's mommy take her place. Was Winnie mentioned by him Luke's mother? She remembered it and one day she would want to see that woman. On the way back to the city, Albert was driving. Brian and Wendy were sitting in the back. "I've told you to watch your language. Grandpa gets provoked easily. Why weren't you careful?" Brian said sullenly. He was angry not because the hukou was taken away, not because the wedding was delayed. He felt relieved that the wedding date was controlled by grandpa. And he could give the children naturally to Winnie. It was an unexpected surprise. However, Winnie was involved, which worried him. "I thought you had told Grandpa. I didn't know it would happen." "Don't be angry, Brian. I'll be careful and I will please grandpa." Wendy regretted, but it was of no use. She could only think of ways to please Felix. "By the way, Albert, send my hukou to grandpa tomorrow." Brian suddenly thought of the hukou and told Albert. "Ok, I will send it there when I get you to the company." Albert seemed to be happy. He understood that it was difficult for them to get married without hukou and Winnie had a chance. "You really send it, how can we get married without it?" Wendy was surprised that Brian was so obedient. "We'll have to wait. If we go against Grandpa's wishes, he won't let us be together even if we get married. You try to please grandpa in these days, so that we can have the hukou back after getting his approval." Brian put off the wedding on the pretext of his grandfather's command. The car stopped in front of Wendy's house, but Wendy was not happy. "I don't want to go home. Go to your home." Wendy said shyly. "My villa had been given to Penny, and I have no place to stay now." Brian rejected Wendy's proposal. "You must have a place to stay, and I'll go wherever you go." Hearing that, Wendy wanted to know where he lived. "I have to work late tonight. You go home first." Brian refused again, and now he was not interested in any woman except Winnie. "Brian....." Wendy was surprised by Brian's reaction and did not expect him to refuse her. In the past, he worked hard and had been many times busier than he was now. At that time, Brian never refused her, but he refused her after years of not seeing her. "Go home, and I will fetch you when our house is ready." Brian's tone became soft. He felt he refused her directly and Wendy could not accept it. But there was nothing he could do. For the time being, he could not forget Winnie. As Brian's voice fell, Albert had opened the door for Wendy. Wendy felt lost and embarrassed. She stared at Albert and got off the car. Watching Brian's car leave, Wendy felt a strong sense of loss, as if Brian would never show up again, as if they had nothing to do with each other. Brian changed obviously. He was not that Brian who loved her deeply and spoiled her. Wendy felt that it was because of Winnie, a woman who would affect her life. Brian did not have any work at all. After returning to the company, he was in a daze in the office. "Mr. Bennet, give me your hukou, I'll send it to chairman. And then I will be off work." Albert said calmly. "You seem to be more anxious than I am. You don't want to me get married?" Brian casually asked and did not care about the hukou. "No, but..." Albert hesitated and then said boldly. "Mr. Bennet, I'm glad you get married, but I don't want the bride to be Miss Yup. That's my own opinion, please don't get angry." Albert said honestly. He did not like Wendy and did not want Brian to be with Wendy. "Who do you want me to marry?" Brian did not lose his temper, but if such a situation had happened before, he believed he would have fired Albert by now. "Winnie, I want you to marry Winnie. You have two children, a family of four would be happy together. I want to see you happy, not live in an unsatisfactory marriage." Seeing that Brian did not lose his temper, Albert became more courageous. He wanted to express his thought, but Brian was upset recently, especially after Wendy came back, he had been frowning. So, he could only hold back his words in heart. "You are standing in the children's point of view, marriage also needs love to maintain." Brian was pleased that the person referred to by Albert was Winnie, it seemed that Winnie was popular. Mentioning Winnie, Brian felt better after talking with Albert. "Mr. Bennet, I'll say a few more words." "I don't understand love, but I don't think Miss Yup loves you that much." Albert said so not because he hated Wendy, but because he felt that Wendy did not love Brian that much. "How come?" Brian raised his eyebrows and frowned, wondering why Albert said so. "Love can't be concealed. Miss Yup has no love in her eyes. She is just possessive of you. If she really loves you, she would have come back earlier. Why have you waited all these years?"

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 216 TREAT AUNT

What Albert saw in Wendy's eye was different from that in Winnie's eyes. Although he did not have a girlfriend, he could see love in Winnie's eyes. Brian did not speak and gave his hukou to Albert after being silent for a while. "Go off work after you send it." Brian said in a low voice. Albert left. Brian came to the rest room. Lying on the bed, he thought about what Albert had just said. His words made senses, but he did notice if Wendy had changed since she came back, because his mind and his attention had not been on Wendy. Brian did not feel sleepy at all. Although it was very late, he was enjoying at the moment. Only when he was alone at this moment would he miss Winnie without any fear. If they could meet earlier, he would choose Winnie without hesitation and no matter in what way, he would make Winnie his wife who got approval of grandpa. Regrettably, they met too late. Winnie decided to forget everything and put all her energy into her work. Only in this way could she forget Brian, the man who hated her. Winnie was working hard in the office. Leo knocked at the door and came in. "Winwin, there is a good news. The government has found advantages in the process of experiment of our software and is ready to promote it to the whole country, so that your company can be famous an, there will be a lot of partners to cooperate with you." Leo said excitedly. He was more excited about that than his success. What he hoped most now was that Winnie would go well, and that she would live the rest of her life with only happiness instead of pain. "That's great, thank you very much. Leo, without you, our company would not have this chance. I really appreciate it." Winnie thanked him from the heart. She knew Leo was excited because of her, she also knew Leo chose to cooperate with their small company because of her. Leo offered constant help, and Winnie did not know how to thank him. Even if he owed her before, it should have been paid off. "We have cooperation and we get mutual benefit, you don't need to thank me. It is me should thank you. We are new in software industry, but we made achievements thanks to you." "Winwin, work in my company. I will give you more shares than you have here. Our company really needs you." Although Leo communicated with Winnie with a smile, he was sincere. Leave alone his personal feelings, Winnie's ability would make his company have a great leap forward, and it would be possible to surpass the Bennet Group. "Never mind, I'm fine here. I dare not accept shares in a company as big as yours. It's good for us to cooperate as much as we can." "Leo, let's have lunch today. It's my treat..." "It's my treat." Leo interrupted Winnie and continued to speak. "I have already booked a restaurant. It's near Vanessa's school. Ask Vanessa to come, as well as your aunt and two children, let's have a meal together." "It is troublesome..." "It is not, since your aunt is back, I should treat her. A good friend's aunt is my aunt, I should welcome her and it is the most basic courtesy." Leo stressed the words of good friend, for fear that Winnie would have burden, for fear that Winnie would refuse. "That is the deal. I will send you the location and specific time. You just need to contact your aunt and Vanessa. I gotta go now." Leo came in a hurry and left in a hurry because he wanted to make time for lunch with Winnie's family. Winnie did not have the choice. Seeing that Leo was so sincere, she had to contact your aunt and Vanessa. At noon, Winnie came to the restaurant with her aunt and Vanessa. At this time, Leo had been waiting in the compartment. Leo had met Vanessa, so Winnie introduced her aunt to him. "Leo, this is my aunt." "Nice to meet you, Aunt. I am Leo, Winwin's good friend." Leo greeted her gently. "Hello! Nice to meet you!" Aunt was kind and she liked this young man who called her Aunt. "I should have treated you long ago since you have come back, Aunt, but I've been so busy these days that I haven't had time." Leo said modestly and politely. He could see that Winnie's aunt was also a good person. From her look, he could feel her kindness. "You are polite. Since you are Winwin's good friend, we are one family. Families don't need to be so polite." My aunt had been unfamiliar with this kind of gathering for a long time, but she was quite at ease with it. She felt at ease because Leo was gentle, and it seemed that he was a good person to get along with. "Aunt, have a seat." "Ok, you too." Isobel liked him. He was young, promising and handsome. She did not know whether this young man had a family background or not, if he had not, he was match to Winnie. "Winwin, where are Megan and Luke? I told you to bring them, too." Leo questioned. "They have already had lunch by this time, and will take a nap later, so I didn't pick them up." "Don't worry about them, let's order food. Vanessa has a class later." Winnie also sat down. The two children did not like Leo very much after they had Brian, so Winnie did not want to bring them. "I've already ordered. I don't know what Aunt likes to eat, so I've basically chosen all the dishes here, just to save time for Vanessa." Leo looked to the waiter. "The food can be served now." "Leo, you are considerate. Thank you for thinking of me. But we can't finish all the food." Vanessa said with a smile. From the moment she saw Leo, she knew that Leo did not give up her sister, and there was love in his eyes for her sister. "I have to be considerate. You are a pillar of the state and I should attach importance to you. Vanessa, if there's something you can't solve at school, just tell me, and I'll try to help." Leo said sincerely. As long as it was Winnie's family, he would offer help, so as to reduce the burden for Winnie. "Rest assured, I will." Vanessa had heard the same words not long ago, but it was said by Brian. It seemed that these two men attached attention to her sister. They talked while eating dinner, and the atmosphere was harmonious. It was not like the first time they met, but like a family. After lunch, Leo wanted to them home, but Isobel refused. Their home was opposite the restaurant, she could walk back and it would be troublesome by car. Leo went back to the company, and Vanessa was back to school. Isobel and Winnie walked home together. "Winwin, I have never asked you about the father of the children. Is it impossible that you and him to be together? After all, you have two children." Isobel asked in a low voice. She never minded Winnie's business, because she believed that Winnie could handle it well. However today she could see that Leo liked Winnie. She thought if Winnie could not be with the children's father, Leo was a good candidate. "No, their father has a family. It is his limit that I get custody of two children." Winnie answered. All said so, but none of them knew that there was more than a mountain between them. They did not start but ended completely. They had nothing to do with each other and it was impossible that they could be together. "I think Leo is good. If he doesn't mind your two children, you can consider him." Isobel knew Leo was still single when having a meal, so she said so. So Winnie could have someone to rely on and she would not be alone in the second half of her life. "Consider what? He minds, of course, I have two children. Aunt, do you know what Leo is? In B city, even in the country, he is a big figure. It is a shame for him to be with me, a woman with children." "If we are really together, we will have conflicts because of the children, and then we will separate. Marriage is not a joke." Winnie wanted her aunt to give up her thought, so she told her that it was impossible for her to be with Leo. She did not want to worry her aunt with her past with Leo. Winnie paused and continued. "What's more, I promised the children's father I would not get married. If I get married, he will get the children's custody back." "He won't, he won't be so cruel. He has his own family, if he let you guard the children and not get married for a lifetime, it is too selfish." "Winwin..." "Auntie, I won't be single forever. I will marry when the children grow up and are independent." Winnie interrupted Isobel and assured her. In order to make her aunt feel at ease, she could only say so. "When they grow up, you are old. Winwin, you should think about it....." Isobel asked Winnie to weigh up whether the effort was worth it and let her come up with a way, but Winnie did not give her a chance to continue. "It worth, why not? You never married and you are good. Auntie, don't worry about us, we are all grown up and we can solve all the things by ourselves. Take care of yourself and to be happy." Winnie wanted to be like her aunt. For the sake of her children, for the sake of love, she would rather be single all her life. Nothing was bad. Her aunt could do it, so could she.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 217 NOT LIKE A FAMILY

When Vanessa came back from the evening class, her aunt and two children fell asleep, only the light in Winnie's room was still on. Vanessa opened Winnie's door and then gently closed it. "Sister, are you still working?" Vanessa asked softly. "Yes, have you had your supper?" Winnie turned around and asked Vanessa. "Yes, I had with my classmates." "Sister, does Leo like you? If you can't be with Brian, why don't you..." "I can't be with Leo either. Aunt talked with me about that today, so you don't have to say that. I won't be with Brian and I won't be with Leo. He hurt me once. How would I be with him?" "Don't mention it any more. I'll never find a boyfriend again in my life." Winnie did not want to talk about men. She had been hurt by men and did not get hurt again. "Sister, but you'll be alone. The children will grow up and leave you. What will you do then?" Although Winnie had said that, Vanessa persuaded her, it was for the sake of her sister. "I will live alone. I am not the only lonely person in the world. It's getting late and you have to go to school tomorrow. Go to sleep." Winnie said with impatience. She did not want to worry about it. She believed that no matter who left, she could face the reality. After Vanessa left, Winnie sighed a long sigh. Though her troubles were much less after Penny was put in prison, her heart was never at peace. Now she had finally decided to forget Brian, but everyone came to remind her... It made her heart more uneasy. Now she saw the truth and just wanted to put all her energy on the child, only hoped that Brian could be happy and that Leo could find his true love as soon as possible. She had been ready for being a lone for a lifetime. She had been so before she met Brian. Felix took Brian's hukou back. In order to avoid Wendy to bother him, he really went to the nursing home to stay for a period of time. But he did not take Rufus with him. This time he wanted Wendy to think if she would be good or arrogant in front of him. Stella came to suburb to see her father and called Brian to bring Wendy over. Brian had to do so. But without Winnie, he had no feeling of home. The family first greeted, however Stella and Rufus disliked Wendy. Stella found an opportunity to chat with Brian alone. "I heard from grandpa that you can't register for marriage for the time being. Did Wendy upset grandpa?" "No, but Grandpa's too sensitive. Wendy is such a straight shooter that she say whatever she wants." Brian explained, but his grandfather did make him relaxed. "It's good to put it off for a while. After all these years of parting, you need to get to know each other again. Brian, I don't think you are in high spirits. Did you quarrel with Wendy?" Stella knew her brother well, but she did not ask directly. "No, it is just I am busy and I am tired." Brian find an excuse, in fact, he missed Winnie. Everywhere had the breath of Winnie, which made him miss her more. "You are really tired of supporting Bennet Group by yourself. If you are too busy, I will take care of the wedding for you." Stella loved her brother. If he was tired physically, he could take a rest, but if it is mentally tired, it was difficult to heal. "It depends on grandpa, temporarily wedding is not needed. When grandpa is not angry, you can discuss with him." What Brian said seemed not to be his own marriage. Now he was really in no mood to prepare for the wedding. "Brian, you..." Stella wanted to ask if Brian really want to marry Wendy, but before that, the two siblings' conversation was interrupted by Wendy. "Brian, why bother your sister with our wedding? We had better prepare it ourselves." Wendy seemed to be dissatisfied with Brian's contempt for the wedding. In her opinion, Brian should push off all the things and put all the attention on the wedding, after all, there was only one wedding in a lifetime. "We will wait for grandpa to return my hukou." Brian said aptly. There was no joy of reunion after a long separation, nor passion in those years. Stella felt lucky that she did not say the words out, looking at Brian's frowning eyebrows and Wendy unpleasant face. She could see that Brian was not very interested in getting married. Otherwise, even if Grandpa took the hukou, he could not be prevented from getting married. Brian left with Wendy, leaving only Rufus and Stella at home. Stella came to the living room with a cup of tea. "Dad, do you like Wendy?" Stella asked directly. Rufus answer directly. "I don't like her. I don't know why, but I don't feel like a family." "Me either. It always feels like there's something missing. I always fell like she doesn't belong to the family." Stella put the tea in the hand in front of Rufus. "She is pretty, but looks rigid. She is not as flattering as Winnie. She has a rich family and a nice figure, but the clothes do not make her high-end. She does not look as noble and elegant as Winnie, and is not match to Brian." Stella continued. Before Wendy came back, she was not fond of Winnie, but compared with Wendy, she knew that Winnie had many advantages. Take things just happened for example, Wendy interrupt her conversation with Brian impolitely, if it were Winnie, she would leave silently. "Why do you always compare Wendy with Winnie?" Rufus asked and did not understand why Stella made comparison. "Dad, can't you see that Brian has feelings for Winnie? They are two women he likes, so I should compare them." "Brian said nothing to me, and what I read is all conjecture, and I can't say anything until he tells me. I don't like Wendy, I just don't think she's as good as Winnie." Rufus knew that the heart of Brian had been divided into two parts. And it was difficult for him to abandon one of them. "Yes, I don't like her. I don't know why Brian loves her and has waited for her for so many years." Stella did not understand the heart of Brian, but she saw that Brian was not as persistent as before to Wendy. "Brian doesn't love Wendy very much. I think he wants to see how long his grandfather could control him and whether he could marry the girl his grandfather opposed." Rufus made analysis from Brian's indifference to Wendy. In this way, Brian should love Winnie more. Since he loves Winnie, can he still get married?" If it is so, he will suffer. Marriage is a big thing in life, and two people will live together for a lifetime. How does he maintain marriage without love?" Stella began to worry. She did not want Brian's marriage like her father's. Her parents had always fought with each other. "Stella, talk to him alone. Make clear to him what's at stake. Tell him think and analyze before he makes a decision." Rufus could only give this task to Stella, because Brian would not listen to him. Since Winnie's departure, their relationship had stagnated and even gone into reverse. What he said carried even less weight. "Don't worry, Dad. I want to talk with him too. I will go to the company to see him tomorrow." Stella thought Rufus's worry was right. She could not tell Brian Wendy was not suitable for him till they got married. But..... "Dad, if Brian chooses Winnie, Grandpa..." Stella thought of another difficult problem, it seemed it was not easy to be happy. "I don't know what I can do now, unless Brian gives up everything to Thomas." Rufus showed a look of difficulty. "I'm afraid it won't work either. Grandpa puts all his hopes on Brian. Even if Brian gives up, Grandpa won't agree." What Stella said was realistic, which was difficult to overcome. Grandpa was so old and could not be disobeyed. She did not know what to do. Before Wendy came back, she thought that as long as Wendy came back to marry Brian, Brian's life would be perfect. And more than once, she reminded Winnie not to disturb Brian. But after Wendy came back, Stella's thought came to a surprising reversal. Seeing the arrogant Wendy and sad Brian, she knew that Winnie was more suitable for Brian. Only Winnie let Brian involuntarily show a smile. Stella came to the office of Brian the next day. "Brian, does it bother you that Jack works here?" Stella did not go straight to the point, but she had to remind Brian of Jack. "It is ok, he is well-behaved, but he gets too close to the female staff." Brian said in a low voice. He had long predicted that relations between men and women would be chaotic as long as there was Jack. "It's just his nature and it's not easy to change. These are small things, as long as he doesn't try to trick you at work. And you should take more care lest he takes advantage." Stella had to always remind Brian, for fear that Brian would be stroke by Uncle Thomas.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 218 FINAL DECISION

Now Jack and Uncle Thomas could not disturb Brian's heart, his heart became lost because of women. "Don't worry, sister, I have his every move under my control, and everything will be all right." "That's good. Have you given any thought to getting married?" Stella asked, but Brian sighed. "Kind of, but I feel relaxed after grandpa took away my hukou, maybe I have marriage phobia." Brian made an excuse for himself. In fact, he wanted to find someone to talk about his worry, but no one could help him. "Are you sure you still love Wendy?" Stella could not worry too much at this time. She only hoped that Brian could be happy. "I can get married without love, not to mention I had waited for Wendy for so many years. I think we will get married in the end." He was sure that the person he loved was Winnie, and that the person he wanted to spend the rest of his life with was Winnie. But things didn't always go according to plan. Let Winnie, the woman he loved deeply, live in his heart, let him silently guard her for a lifetime. "Brian, it's very difficult to maintain a marriage without love. Mom and Dad are the best example. You can't just follow in their footsteps. I mean you can choose what you want, and you can choose whoever you love. Dad and I will try to help you out." The hint of Stella was clear, and Brian could understand naturally. But he had to take grandpa's threat seriously. If someone really could persuade grandpa, he and Wendy would not have been separated for so many years. "Sister, it's not that bad. I have deep feelings for Wendy, and she still loves me. It's just that we'd been apart for so long that it will take a reacquainting process." "When we get used to each other, I will ask grandpa for hukou and register our marriage." Brian had made such a decision and would not change it. If he changed his love, it might cause a lot of trouble. For everyone could go in peace, in order to avoid Winnie to have accident, he could only make that decision. "Now that you have decided, I have nothing to say. Brian, Dad told me to tell you that marriage is like business, you have to think and analyze before you make decision." "Think about what he said. But I will support you in whatever decision you make, and I will do my best to help you through whatever difficulties you may encounter." "After get married with Wendy, make sure the two children are ok." Stella said that for Brian. She believed that Brian made that decision with his own reason, she also believed that Brian had the ability to bear the consequence. "Yes, I will make sure they are ok." Now he was the same as Winnie, all for their children. Stella did not hear what she wanted to hear, but she felt relieved that Brian was so firm to take responsibility. Before Stella left, Kevin knocked at the door and came in. "Stella, you are here too." Kevin smiled and said hello. "Yes, I am idle and come to have a look. I heard that you're married and going to be a father. Congratulations." Stella said. She looked at Kevin with gratitude. Because had Kevin's company and enlightening, Brian was fine after his mother died. If it were not Kevin, Stella dare not imagine what Brian would become. "Thank you, Stella, I buy you sugar when the child is born." Mention the child and wife, Kevin gave a bright smile. Stella envied and did not know when Brian could be so happy too. "I will give your child a big red envelope then." "Brian, you talk, I have to buy something for Dad." Stella got up and left the office of Brian. "How do you have time to come to me instead of staying with your wife?" The tone of Brian was obviously with ridicule. After Kevin registered marriage, he became a model husband, went home on time every day, and even ignored Brian. "My wife went back to her mother's home today, otherwise I wouldn't have come. I wish I could be with her twenty-four hours a day." Kevin expressed his true thoughts without exaggeration. "No wonder you come to me. Do you want to drink with me?" Asked Brian. There was no need to beat around the bush between them. "To talk to you. I've been worrying about you ever since you left my house. Well, have you made a choice?" Kevin knew that Brian was a decisive person, but regarding relationship, especially after he met Winnie, he was not that decisive. "I will marry Wendy as planned." Now everyone was concerned about his problem. His sister left, here came Kevin. So many people cared about him, he had no reason not to choose. "Alas.....It is a pity. Is my intuition wrong? I always thought you should be with Winwin." Kevin said and was disappointed about Brian's choice. "That's your intuition, and your intuition is always wrong. Now that I have decided to marry Wendy, don't mention Winnie again. If you do so, it will affect both me and Wendy." Speaking of this, Brian sighed a long breath before he continued. "Winnie is a good woman. She is suitable for the plain lifestyle. I can't give it to her, so I can only stay away from her." "Yes, what a good woman. It would be too bad to give it to anyone else. But since you have chosen Wendy, live your life. As you said, Winnie is a good woman, and it is not difficult for her to marry a good man." Kevin still felt pity that they should not be so broken. But Brian's words were reasonable. As long as his grandpa was there, he would not give Winnie an easy life. "Brian, don't restrict her marriage. Winwin is a clever man. The man she chooses will not make her two children have a hard time." Kevin could only say that. Brian chose Wendy but let Winnie stay single for a lifetime, it was selfish. "I've already told her to marry if she can find the right man. The children are not a problem. If it is not convenient for her, I can take them back. We would not make the children suffer anyway." Brian said sadly, but he knew there was no other way. Only Winnie could live more happily when she was away from him. "I'm glad you think so." Kevin was relieved, but looking at Brian's sad face, Kevin did not feel comfortable. He hoped there would be a miracle, hoped Brian's grandpa would not interfere in Brian's marriage, and hoped Brian would be with Winnie, which was the most satisfactory ending. There was a gathering in Winnie's company. And after that, she got home and saw everyone sitting in the living room. When she sat down on the sofa, she noticed that neither of the children was in high spirits. "What's the matter, aren't you happy I am home?" Winnie asked softly. "Mommy, my brother and I miss Daddy. We haven't seen Daddy in days." Megan said sadly and told the reason she and Luke were unhappy. "Well..." Winnie answered. "Daddy is very busy these days. He travels a lot. I will call him tomorrow and ask him to come and see you." At this moment, Winnie was helpless and most guilty. Although she did not want to contact Brian, she had to for the sake of the children. "Really? Then we'll be expecting good news from you." Hearing this promise, both children became excited and soon felt better. Winnie gave a smile, but felt depressed. This was going to happen a lot, which meant that every time she would feel sad. Winnie returned to the room and sent a message to Brian, for fear that Wendy would not be happy. "The children miss you. Come and see them tomorrow if you have time." After the message was sent successfully, Winnie kept her mobile phone in her hand, waiting for Brian's reply. However, she was disappointed. She waited for a while but did not get a reply from Brian. Winnie sent another message to him. "I told the children that you are busy and often on business trips these days, so don't say something wrong." After seeing the message successfully sent, she turned off her phone so she wouldn't expect anything. In the next day, Brian was ready to get off work early. As she was packing up the documents, Wendy knocked at the door. "How long will it take to get off work? Let's have dinner together." Wendy said gently. She found the right time to come, no matter Brian had something to do or not, she would have dinner with him. "I'm going to visit the kids, maybe I will have dinner with them." Brian said coldly, not he felt pressure when he saw Wendy. "Is the children's Mommy there?" Wendy asked. "No, just me and the kids." Brian wanted to take the children directly from the kindergarten, only in this way to avoid meeting with Winnie. "Then take me with you. I'm going to see the children sooner or later anyway." Wendy insisted on going with Brian, Brian had to agree. He felt what Wendy said was reasonable, but he forgot that Winnie had not told the children about existence of Wendy. Brian sent a message to Winnie, and then went to the kindergarten with Wendy. They waited at the gate of the kindergarten. Wendy deliberately held Brian's hand. Brian did not refuse. Two children were sent out by the teacher. They were happy to see Brian and ran toward Brian, but when they saw Wendy, they stopped the pace.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 219 IS NOT ACCEPTABLE

Two children looked at the Wendy in surprise, especially when they found her holding their Daddy's hand. Megan and Luke looked at each other and then walked to Brian. "Why are you holding my Daddy's hand? May I know who you are?" Luke asked with a serious face, at this moment he did not want to be polite. But Megan was more direct. She did not say anything but directly took Brian's hand out of her hand, and then held his hand herself. "I don't like it when you hold Daddy's hand." Megan was blunt, she felt she was polite because she did not say she hated that. Brian did not expect that and then he realized that the two children did not know the existence of Wendy. "Luke, Megan, be polite." Brian said in a deep voice, which was rebuke. "We are polite. Daddy, who is this woman?" Megan said, looking stubborn like Winnie. "It's my girlfriend. You can call her Auntie Wendy." Brian introduced Wendy. Wendy forced a smile. "Hello, two little babies. I'm Auntie Wendy." Wendy said hello to the two children, but she was embarrassed that the two children did not respond to her but continued to talk to Brian, as if she did not exist. "Your girlfriend? Are you going to get married?" Luke asked calmly. His serious face had shown that he was not satisfied. "Yes." Brian could not conceal it. The children would know it sooner or later. If he concealed, it is unfair for the children. "What about Mommy, me and brother? You mean you will marry her and abandon us?" Megan questioned in a stern voice, with tears in eyes. She had never thought that there was a woman with her Daddy, whom she had not seen for so many days. "Megan..." The children were sad and he wanted to comfort them, but at this time, Luke suddenly pulled Megan to go. "Megan, let's go back to the kindergarten and wait for our great-aunt to pick us up." "Daddy, we don't like this woman. We don't want to see her." Luke showed his attitude, pulled Megan and returned to the kindergarten. While walking, he comforted Megan. "It's all right, I will protect you and Mommy." After the two children left, Brian did not chase them because he realized that the two children needed time. Brian left with Wendy, and Wendy had been nagging about the two children in the car. "What is it? How did their Mommy teach them? They are not polite. I said hello to them, but they ignored me. Brian, if this goes on, they would disgrace you." "Then I bring them back and you teach them." Brian said in a cold voice. He felt ok Wendy blamed the children were not polite, because it was their fault they left without saying anything. But he could not stand it when it came to Winnie. In his heart, Winnie was the most responsible and sincere Mommy, and the children she educated were all excellent. "....." Brian's words made Wendy speechless. After seeing two children, she saw through their nature and could not accept them. Therefore, they had to stay with their Mommy, which meant she could not talk about the two kids now. As soon as Winnie came into the house after work, the two children came to hug her and cried, which made her distressed. Winnie's heart sank sharply after hearing the children's words. She did not expect that Brian took Wendy to see the children and that he did not care the children's feelings. "Stop crying. I will talk with Daddy." Winnie comforted the two children. "Mommy, I don't like Daddy to be with that woman. I hate her." Megan was still crying. She finally had a Daddy and did not want him to be taken away. "I don't like her either. If Daddy stays with that woman, I'll never go to his home." Luke stopped crying, but his face of resentment worried Winnie. He had just got recovered. If the incident affected his condition, Winnie would blame herself. "It's not as complicated as you think. There are things you'll understand when you get older. Megan, don't cry, brother doesn't cry. You should learn how to be strong from brother." "Luke, you are the elder brother, and when you grow up, you will be the support of the whole family, so you have to learn to accept these things. Such things are too small for a man. Don't take it in heart." Winnie comforted Luke. Megan would be fine after crying, but Luke had depression. "Mommy, I'm just a kid, I don't have much demand, I just want a complete family. I don't want Daddy to leave us like this." Luke said, frowning. He was worried. "I know, I know what you think. I will talk to Daddy sometime. Don't care too much about it." Winnie did not know how to comfort the two children. She would like to tell the children the fact, so that the children had psychological preparation. Winnie returned to her room and called Brian directly. "You shouldn't have brought Wendy to them. It was too sudden for the children to accept. My aunt said that the two children have been crying since they came back from school. How can I explain to them?" Winnie asked directly with resentment. She did not understand why Brian put all his attention on that woman and ignored the children's feeling. "I forgot you hadn't told them. It is my fault. Please comfort them." Brian felt guilty and worried even more when he heard the children crying at home. "I did, but..." Winnie felt uncomfortable and wanted to blame him, but she swallowed it in the middle of the sentence. She knew there was no point in saying anything now. She could not turn back the clock by blaming him hurting the children. "Never mind, it has been like this." "Let's have some time tomorrow to talk to the children about this. We can't hurt them like this again." "And, please come over by yourself tomorrow. Temporarily do not let the children see Wendy." Winnie had to warn Brian. Women might be more important than children in Brian's heart, but children were more important than anyone else or anything to her. The next day at noon, Isobel went out to see an old friend, and Vanessa would not come back. Taking this opportunity, Winnie took the two children back and invited Brian to her home. The two children were not as happy as before when they saw Brian. They just looked at him angrily without a word. Winnie asked both children to sit down and the family sat around the coffee table. "Luke, Megan, Daddy and Mommy have something to tell you." Winnie spoke first. "If it's about that woman, don't talk about it. We can't accept it." Megan said and Luke was silent. "Megan, it's not about that woman. It's about Daddy and me. It has nothing to do with that woman." Winnie corrected the statement of Megan and hoped the children could understand. "Daddy and Mommy feel sorry that we can't give you a complete home. Daddy and Mommy..." Winnie tried to explain, but Megan interrupted her. "But we need a complete home, Mommy. We're small and we need parents. Daddy, is that woman that nice? Better than Mommy? Better me and brother? Am I too naughty to annoy you, or..." "Megan, it is not like that. I like you and brother." Brian said with guilt. He really didn't know how to answer the children's questions, didn't know what to say without hurting them. "So you hate Mommy? If she did something wrong, you can tell her and she can correct it. Even if she can't, can you stand it for my brother and me?" "Mommy, can you correct it? For brother and me, became what Daddy likes." Megan begged Winnie, which depressed her. "Megan, when you grow up, you will know relationship could not be forced. Mommy and Daddy don't hate each other, we just have no feelings. We wouldn't be happy if we were forced to stay together for your sake." Winnie tried to persuade, as far as possible to reduce hurting to the children. In fact, she did not expect the children would act like that. "Since you have no feelings, why gave birth to us?" At this, Megan paused. She thought of a crucial point and then she said. "I forgot that I am not Daddy's biological daughter and brother isn't Mommy's son, so you don't care about our feelings and wouldn't be together for us." Megan began to cry. She could not help herself when she thought of this fact, and felt herself the most miserable person in the world. Brian could not see it, so he put Megan in his arms. "You are my biological daughter, and brother is Mommy's son, and you are twins. Daddy loves you, but it's my fault that I neglected how you feel." "Then don't be with that woman. Persist for me and brother for a few years and abandon us when we grow up." Megan cried with grievance, as if she had nothing to rely on. She didn't know if what Daddy said was true or not, she had regarded Brian as her own father from the very beginning. Now she was going to lose him, she really could not accept it.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 220 PERSUASION IS USELESS

Brian was speechless again. He could not answer Megan. He did not know whether his next words would hurt her. "Daddy, Mommy, you have not lived together for such a long time, Megan and I have not said anything, because Daddy's still ours anyway. But with that woman, it is different. We will get abandoned by Daddy. If Mommy has a boyfriend, no one will have me and sister." Luke who had been silent for a long time finally spoke, but there was no expression on his face, just frowning. Winnie felt distressed. She wanted Luke to cry like Megan, so that he could vent depression and dissatisfaction out. Winnie took Luke's hand and let him come to her side. Winnie said softly. "Luke, I will never leave you. I will have you for the rest of her life. I will not have a boyfriend. I will always be there for you." Winnie would not make him sad because of her private affairs. "What about Daddy? Can Dad not get married for us?" Megan looked up and looked at Brian with full expectation. "....." Brian did not know what to answer. Winnie rescued him. "Megan, Luke, it is too selfish. Daddy has someone he likes, you should bless Daddy. Even if Daddy gets married, he will still love you and is still your Daddy." "No, I just can't take it. I want Daddy and Mommy together." Megan became emotional. She cried, broke free from the arms of Brian and ran to her room. "I can't accept it either. Megan and I just want a complete family like other kids. Even if there is no money, no house, we can't have no parents." Luke's mood was more stable, and he had the same attitude with Megan. Luke went to Megan after that, leaving only Brian and Winnie in the living room. "I didn't expect that. They all seem to need time." Winnie whispered, as her two children were sad, her spirits were low. "It's my fault. Maybe it wouldn't have happened if they hadn't seen Wendy." Brian blamed himself. The two children's requirement was not too much. It was the most basic protection, but he could not give it to them. "Come on, don't say that. You ought to be ready for wedding. I'll take care of the children." Winnie stood up from the sofa. "Go back, I..." "Winwin..." Brian interrupted Winnie. He wanted to do something for the children. He wanted to say that he could postpone his marriage until the children accepted that he was getting married. However, before he could say anything, Winnie interrupted him. "Go back and move on with your life. I'm going to check on the children." Winnie went to the second floor without taking a look at Brian. At this time she should be the saddest one. Her beloved man married someone else and she was responsible for letting two children accept it. Either one of these events was heart-rending to her. Brian felt it was his fault, looking at Winnie's back, thinking of the two children's eyes of resentment and sad face. If he had given up everything, if he had chosen to be with Winnie, all this would not have happened, and he would have been given a warm home to the children. Brian left with a heart of remorse. He took the lift downstairs. When he reached the first floor and got out, an old woman passed by. His mind was full of the children and he did not notice her. By the time he recovered and looked back at the woman, the elevator doors had closed. Brian frowned. Was he wrong? How did she show up here? He must be wrong. Winnie came to the two children's room. Looking at Luke who was comforting Megan with tears, she felt depressed, but she said nothing. She wanted them to release before she said anything. Winnie sat on the bed, feeling sad. But now she had to face it like her children. After a while, Winnie heard the sound of the door opening downstairs, her aunt should be back. Winnie went downstairs again, afraid that her aunt would worry if she could not see them. Not long after, Winnie came back alone. The children, who had ceased crying, sat silent. "....." As Winnie was to speak, Luke put forward the question. "Mommy, is it true what Daddy just said? You are my biological mother, and Megan is Daddy's daughter, we are really twins?" Luke's question stunned Winnie. She wondered how she would answer the question, but if she didn't tell him the truth now, would it hurt him again in the future? Winnie took a deep breath and decided to tell everything and never hurt her children again. "It is true, you are my son. You and Megan are really twins." Reminding of a few years ago, Winnie got tears in eyes. If she had known it would happen, she would keep Luke with her. "But Mommy, why did you keep us apart, why weren't you with me?" Luke could not help crying again, but when he heard that he was Winnie's son, he felt at ease. He had a Mommy, too. He would not have to miss his Mommy anymore. "Luke, there are some things you don't understand even if I tell you, let alone you are young. I promise to tell you why when you are older." Winnie help Luke wipe his tears, and then continued to comfort the two children. "Luke, Megan, you don't need to do anything. Just remember that you are my children. Mommy and Daddy love you even when we are not together." "Daddy blamed himself when you went upstairs, and he felt bad. He wanted to be with you, too. But the adult world is not as simple as you think. There are things we have to take on and accept." "I'm sorry for not giving you a complete home." "But..." "No buts. I don't want to hear any buts. You're not allowed to get married or have friends. Wait until we're eighteen and you part." Winnie said a lot and wanted the two children to accept, but when it came to the point, Megan interrupted her emotionally. "Since you gave birth to me and brother, you should be responsible for us. We don't have too many requirements, just give us a home until the age of 18. 15, if you can't make it, 15 is ok, the bottom line is 10." Megan said while crying. As if she could not see hope, she kept dropping the standards. Megan walked to Winnie and hugged her. "Mommy, we have been separated from each other since childhood, and we have not had a complete family since childhood. Can you give us five years?" It made Winnie heartache and embarrassed. At this time she did not know what to say, and she blamed herself. Such a mistake was made by her and Brian and the responsibility should not be borne by the children. After dinner, the two children did not speak, but went directly on the second floor, which worried Isobel. "Winwin, the children just ate a few, they will get sick." "Don't worry, Aunt. Let them think about it. There's no other way. They have to accept it." Winnie had no better way. She and the children had no ability to change the fact, and they had to face it. "Can the father of the children not get married now? It is not late till the children accept that. Why don't you talk to him?" The method that Isobel could come up with was the father of the children. She felt that the father of the children could delay the marriage for the children. "I don't want to talk to him about it. It's up to him, and he'll do it if he wants to. Besides, it is not for him alone to decide whether to marry." Winnie held no hope on Brian. She knew Brian was tyrannical, if he would delay the wedding for the children, he did not need to ask the opinion of Wendy. But seeing his performance at soon, she thought he wanted to get married, after all, he had been waiting for years. "Let his family persuade him. He had a sister and a father. Their families know the children, they can't see the children sad." Isobel wanted to reduce the children's harm to the smallest, for fear that two children are stimulated and would lose confidence to the future life. "Auntie, it's not as simple as we think. His marriage is supported by all his family, it is in vain even if they talk to him. If I ask them now, they will think I have other intention. I can't say anything." Winnie thought about Stella did not like her based on the attitude to her. Rufus was nice to talk to, but his relationship with Brian was bad. Brian simply would not do as he said. Who could Winnie ask for help? She could endure it and would not bother anyone. The two children came to the room of Megan and began to discuss the matter instead of crying. "Brother, we cannot let Daddy get married, so that Mommy and Daddy can have a chance to be together." Megan said with bright eyes.