

My Twins 26

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 26 PENNY'S IDENTITY

Winnie was enjoying herself and found the feeling of four years ago. The same body temperature and the same body odor made her feel as if she had returned to the villa and the dark bedroom four years ago. Although that man four years ago was colder than Brian, but in that special period, she gave Winnie a different kind of warmth. Only for a brief moment with him could she forget everything. She had the same feeling now. She felt hot because of alcohol, but his temperature seemed to be more. The next day. At four o'clock in the morning, Winnie suddenly woke up from her sleep. She sat up and looked at the decorations around her and she realized that this was Brian's lounge. Lifting the quilt to look at her naked body, Winnie's head went blank. It took her quite a while to remember what happened last night. Chagrined, Winnie shook her head pulling her hair, trying to sober up and making sure what happened last night was not a dream. But it was the fact. The more sober she was, the clearer the fact became. She said she would not find a man again and avoided the man, but she took the initiative to have sex with Brian. Was she crazy? Was she stupid? Even if she needed a man, she could not choose Brian. He was already convinced that she had bad intention. If she got into his bed, she would never have a chance to prove her innocence. She took a look at the watch and found it was still early. She should leave now, otherwise she would be seen by the staff and she would be miserable. She quickly put on her clothes, and only after she was dressed did she think of a key question. Where was Brian? Why was she alone? When Winnie was puzzled, Brian suddenly pushed the door and came in. After the sex, nothing had changed to Brian. He was colder than ever. He looked coldly at Winnie, walked to her, and then reached out his hand and handed her a white pill. "Take it, I don't want any trouble." Winnie looked down at the ironic contraceptives, her heart was like being pierced by icicles. "You are thoughtful, if I don't take and give birth to a little cheater, you will lose." Without a word, Winnie picked up the pill and swallowed it. "I've taken the medicine. Can I go now?" After glaring at Brian angrily, Winnie stepped away. "I promised Megan yesterday that I will send you home." Brian picked up his coat and followed Winnie. "No, she is not sensible. You don't need to send me home." Winnie walked to the office door without looking back, but was directly pulled to the president's exclusive elevator by Brian. "Mr. Bennet..." "Shut up." Winnie wanted to refuse, but Brian interrupted her and pressed the button to the negative floor. The elevator went straight to the underground garage, and Brian's car was parked in front of the elevator. At the moment the elevator door opened, Brian put his coat on Winnie's shoulder. Winnie was surprised. "Thank you!" Now the temperature was still low, she wore a few and she did need such a coat. Winnie did not refuse and when she opened the car door, she heard a woman's voice behind. "Honey." Winnie and Brian looked back at the same time, and found Penny carrying clothes in her hand and looking at them with a gloomy face. When she saw that the woman was Winnie, her face immediately leaked the intention of killing. From the situation, she was sure they were together last night. If the secretary had not informed her that Brian had an early meeting, she would not have come so early to deliver the clothes. If she had not come so early, she would not have seen such a surprising scene. Winnie was also shocked. She was not surprised to see Penny, but the word "honey" made her shocked. Winnie cast her unbelievable vision on Brian. He was the only man here, and the "honey" Penny called must be him. How could this ridiculous thing happen? Winnie always thought that Penny was Brian's sister, but instead she was his wife. What happened? After four years she thought it was all quiet, but why did she get involved in it again? Brian was calm. Although he found hostility in Penny's eyes, he did not care. He closed the door, walked around car and came to Penny. "Give me the clothes and go home." Brian was always indifferent, even to his wife. Penny handed over the handbag, Brian turned. "Honey, who is this lady?" Penny emboldened and asked. She would rather be scolded by Brian but to show her identity in front of Winnie. "A colleague." Brian did not lose his temper. After answering Penny, he got into the car quickly. Winnie stared in disbelief until Penny gave her an angry look. She hurried to open the door and get into the car. On the way home. "We got caught by your wife..." Winnie wanted to make sure if Penny was Brian's wife. But it was not good to ask directly, so she asked tactfully. Before he could finish his words, Brian interrupted her coldly. "What did she catch? What has happened to us?" Winnie's words made Winnie's heart feel cold. Brian's words had indirectly admitted that Penny was his wife, and denied the relationship between them. "Yes, you're right. Nothing happened between us." Winnie said and tilted her head to look toward the distance with dim eyes. She did a stupid thing, the worst thing in her life. He had sex with her, but he didn't admit it. Forget it. She would never do it again. When she returned home, Daenerys and Megan were still sleeping. Winnie washed her face and lied on the sofa thinking of Penny, thinking of the fact that she was Brian's wife. No wonder she spoke so arrogantly. No wonder she was so haughty. She was confident, because her husband was the most formidable man in B City and even the whole country. No matter how she bullied others, even if she was arrogant and domineering, she had someone on her back. Winnie suddenly thought of Luke. Penny was Luke's mom? With Penny's arrogance, with her sinister manner and her hot temper, it was not strange that she treated Luke like that. But Luke was poor, even he was clever and sensible. Wait... Winnie suddenly thought of something and directly interrupted her thought. Within expectation, Penny once again came to her. The rooftop of the company. Winnie walked behind Penny. "I should call you Young Mistress Chambers." Penny heard Winnie's voice, turned around and directly slapped Winnie. Winnie was off guard and did not expect Penny would hit her. She got a slap in the face. "You're crazy. Why did you hit me?" Winnie did not fight back. Her face got hot and she angrily pushed away Penny. "You deserved it. I warned you yesterday, and today you seduced my husband. Who do you think you are? Do you think you seduce my husband and I can do nothing with you?" Penny slap on Winnie, but she could not vent the anger in heart. The thought of seeing two people come out together in the morning, she would like to kill Winnie, a slap on her had been a mercy. "Didn't you deserve to be hit? Didn't you steal my boyfriend, too? Penny, I would say, if I knew he is your husband, I would seduce him earlier." Winnie was angry and deliberately provoked Penny. All this might be the fate. Four years ago Penny robbed her man, four years later she got into Brian's bed. Although she felt ashamed to intersect other people's marriage, but Penny's slap made her furious. She must win her in term of momentum and make Penny angrier than she was. "You are shameless. I didn't expect you became cheat after you became poor and lost your status. Winnie, I knew you came back with a purpose. I defeat you four years ago, and now I'm not afraid of you. Take Brian away if you have the ability. Let's see if you win or I win this time." Penny said. She did not expect Winnie to be shameless. It seemed that she could not underestimate the enemy and allow Winnie to take Brian away. "Well, let's see." At the moment, Winnie had no retreat but to accept the challenge. As for the outcome, she had no idea about it. "Bitch." After Penny glared at Winnie angrily, she turned to leave directly. "Remember, Penny, you slapped me and I will let you pay." Winnie said loudly and it was definitely not a casual talk. This slap was for stealing Leo. Originally she did not intend to pursue, but Penny was arrogant. She could not stand it. Leo was in the cafe at the moment, sitting opposite Daenerys. "You must have known the truth, Daenerys. Tell me about it." This was the third time Leo had forced Daenerys to the cafe. "Leo, it has been past for so many years. Even if you know about it, it is pointless." Daenerys was helpless. Winnie did not allow her to say anything but Leo asked endlessly. She didn't know how to deal with it. "I just want to know the truth, so so that I can decide whether to give up or continue." Leo had made up his mind that he must hear the truth of from Daenerys. "To give up? To continue? What do you mean?" Daenerys, sensing something, asked. "I love Winwin. I always love her. I don't want to let go." Leo said seriously. If he had not loved Winnie, he would not have been without a woman for so many years and would not have been angry until now. "Alas....." Daenerys sighed helplessly. "Leo, where were you? Since you have been in love with Winwin, why didn't you listen to her explanation four years ago? You've ruined everything between you." In Daenerys' view, it was good that Leo loved Winnie, but now things had changed completely. Leaving alone Winnie's family background, she now had a child, which would be a biggest obstacle. "I know, I was really too impulsive. But I was angry because I love her so much." Listening to the words of Daenerys, Leo felt that there was something strange. "Leo, go to a place with me, then you will understand."
