

My Twins 391

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 391 QUESTION HER

Megan was indeed sad and wrong about her Great Grandpa's attitude, but she was calm and expressed her thought taking the opportunity. "Great Grandpa, Daddy and Mommy told you the truth because I required to come back the Bennet family and wanted to be with you as a child of the Bennet family. If you don't like me, pretend Daddy and Mommy had said nothing." Megan's word hit Felix's heart like a stone. The child was innocent and she should not bear the responsibility. He had been like Megan and wished she was a Bennet. Felix took a deep breath and then got up. "Winnie, come with me to the study." Felix was old but he said it in a domineering manner. "Grandpa..." Brian was worried, he thought it should be him to take the responsibility, but his grandpa asked Winnie to go with him, and he could not control it. He wanted to stop that, but Winnie sad, "It is ok, you take care of the children." Winnie whispered. It was within her expectation. Brian and two children were Bennet family, even if Felix was angry, he would do nothing to them, so only she sacrificed. After taking a look at the children, she followed Rufus to his study. In the study, Winnie supported Felix to sit down. Felix did not like that, but she insisted to let him sit down, he was the elderly after all. And it was her fault that she had been concealed it for a long time. After Felix sat down, Winnie went to close the door and then stood in the front of Felix. Felix sat at the desk, and Winnie stood in the front of the desk. Seeing that Winnie was calm, Felix was angry. "Is that true?" Felix asked coldly. "Yes, if you don't believe it, I can the children to do paternity test." Winnie said frankly, because she felt steadfast after telling him the truth. It was up to Felix who he dealt with it. "When did you know?" Felix asked. Then Winnie told him what had happened, after that, Felix got furious and knocked at the ground with his crane. "You have known it for a long time, but you did not tell me. why? Why did you conceal it from me?" The door was closed, but his angry voice could be heard, people in the living room was worried. Brian wanted to go in, but Rufus stopped him. "You can't go in, Brian, don't you know your grandpa? If you go in, he will be angrier at Winnie." "Wait, I believe Winnie can take care of it." Rufus was serious. He was considerate and thoughtful. "Brian, Dad is right, Winnie can take care of it." Joshua came to Brian, patted his shoulder and appeased him. "Daddy, don't be impulsive. I go overhear at the door and I will help Mommy when necessary." Luke said in a tender but strong voice. Be believed that his Great Grandpa would not be angry at Mommy because of him, after all he was a child. "Ok, go protect Mommy." Brian agreed with Luke. He believed his son's ability and his grandpa would not blame him. Winnie and he had been prepared on the way home, but he did not expect Grandpa would ask Winnie to go with him, so their plan did not work and it could only depend on Winnie. Luke came to the door of the study. Felix and Winnie still talked in the study. "Chairman, it was me concealed it to you. I was afraid that two children could not be together and I can't be company with them." Winnie took all the responsibility. In face of domineering Felix, she just told the truth. "Aren't you afraid now? You are ambitious, Winnie." Felix said coldly with distain. Winnie understood his meaning, but she did not agree. "I know what you mean, but if I am ambitious, Wendy and Penny would not have showed up and I would not have suffered a lot." "It is not my decision to tell you the truth, I would rather stay with the two children like this, but Mr. Bennet insisted to tell you the truth, so I have to do so." Winnie was still calm. She tried to calm herself to answer Felix's question. "Why did he want to tell the truth? Because of you?" Felix asked. Now he was suspicious about everything. "No, it is because of the children, maybe there are other reasons." "I know it is Brian's uncle. He..." "Thomas?" Felix had doubts and uneasy. "I don't know what had happened between them, I only knew that Uncle Thomas went to the prison to see Penny and gave her good living condition." "Penny knows that Megan and Luke are my children. Mr. Bennet said he was afraid that Penny would tell Uncle Thomas and Uncle Thomas would use this point to make troubles, so he decided to tell you first." "That was what he said. I don't want to make it hard for him, so I agreed." Winnie told Felix what she knew. She noticed that when she mentioned Uncle Thomas, Felix's face got dark. Winnie stopped and waited Felix to ask her again, but he was silent. "Chairman, if you don't want to accept Megan, we can continue to conceal it and don't mention it to anyone. We wanted you to have mental preparation. I can raise her and don't use your money." "And Luke, if you agree, I can take two children to leave B City and will never come back to disturb Mr. Bennet." Winnie expressed her attitude, or Felix would think she had motives. "You can't take the children away. Only you can leave." Felix warmed Winnie coldly. "Winnie, you should know the consequence before you told me the truth. Don't say you have not thought about it." "I do, and I have guessed and I can only leave alone, but I won't leave. the children can't live without me, and I can't live without them. I..." "Winnie." Felix was angry and knocked at the desk. He was in his 90s, but he was still domineering. Seeing that Felix was angry, Winnie wanted to appease him, for fear that he would pass out. "Don't be angry, Chairman. I didn't say it right." Winnie apologized, but she did not take back her words, she insisted to guard her children. Felix was panting. He looked at Winnie angrily and did not continue. There was a moment of silence in the study and then Felix said in a cold voice. "You don't need to raise the children. Go back to your home now and you are not allowed to come to my house." "Bring Brian to me." Felix decided what to do after he asked Brian about it. Winnie had expected that, but she could not give up. Not Felix was angry, she could look for a chance when he was not angry anymore. "I am leaving, please take of the two children." With that, she left the study. When she opened the door, she found Luke standing at the door. "Mommy, I am going home with you." Luke had heard the conversation. If Mommy went home alone, she would not be able to fall asleep tonight. Winnie squatted down and stroke Luke's head. "I can go home alone. Megan has not recovered, you are her brother and should stay to take care of her. Don't worry, I am ok." With that, she took Luke's hand and walked to the living room. Their conversation had been heard by Felix and his mood was affected. It was too sudden and he could not accept it and he did not know what to do. But he was sure that Winnie could not leave with two children. When Winnie came to the living room, Brian came over. "Did Grandpa make it a hard time for you?" Brian asked with concern. "No, he didn't." Winnie forced a smile, for fear that Brian would be angry with Chairman. "What did he say?" Brian asked. "He asked me to go home first. I will call you later, Chairman is waiting for you in the living room." Winnie did not want Felix to wait too long, or he would think she had said something she should not say. "Don't leave. Wait for me." Brian was worried and then walked to the study. Winnie called him at this time. "Brian, don't be angry. Do as he said, he is old." Winnie was worried that Brian would anger Felix, so she had to remind him. No matter what the result was, he could not make Felix get angry and sick.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 392 BRIAN'S ATTITUDE

At this time, Winnie still considered others. She was kind as usual, which made Brian moved. "I know. Don't go and wait for me." Brian reminded Winnie again, and then went to the study. Watching Brian walked into the study, Winnie bent over and picked up the bag on the sofa. Then she raised her mouth and said goodbye to everyone. "I go back first, Stella, please take care of the children." "Winwin, did Grandpa make it hard for you?" Stella asked with worry. Seeing that Winnie forced a smile, she felt bad. "No, I'm going back to work." "Luke, Megan, be good." Winnie said and turned to leave. She could not say anything in front of the children for fear that they would be upset. In the study. "You dare to hide it from me. What do you think? Do you want to be with Winnie?" Felix was still angry. "Don't be angry, Grandpa. I have my reason. I am afraid you will separate the children from Winnie. They are too young and it is bad for them without Mommy around." Brian whispered and dare not show his momentum. He was not afraid of grandpa's wrath, but worried about his health. "Now that you know it is bad for the children without a mother, why didn't you think about that when you were looking for a surrogate? Brian, I tell you, I don't care what you think. No matter who the mother is, Winnie is not allowed to come into this house." Felix killed this possibility and Brian saw no hope. Hearing grandpa's resolute attitude, Brian was angry, but he could not say a word. That Grandpa could not accept Winnie was unchangeable. But if he made Grandpa angry now, Winnie and the children would be separated forever. He could not be with Winnie, but at least she could stay with two children. Seeing that Brian did not say a word, Felix continued to gasp and rebuked loudly. "The two children will live in the suburbs from now on. They can't go to Winnie's. You and Winnie keep a distance, in addition to work, you can't have any relationship." Felix gave a domineering command, but Brian was worried. "Grandpa, the children will not have sense of security without Mommy. Luke has got depression, do you want Megan also to get sick? It's OK for me not to be with Winnie, but the children can't leave Winnie. In addition to Winnie, no one is good to the children." By saying this, Brian implied that his grandfather would not have made such a decision if he really cared for the children. Brian continued. "Penny's abuse caused irreparable damage to Luke, and Wendy made Megan's foot scalded and tampered with Winnie's car, making her car failed. Megan and Winnie almost had a big accident." "It was a lesson learned in blood. I don't want it to happen and lose my two children." Brian could not control his emotion. His fate had been in the hands of his grandfather, and he did not want to destroy his two children. "It is your fault. If there is no ambiguous relationship between you and Winnie, no one will attack the children." Felix did not know Megan's injury was caused by Wendy. Hearing that, he was angry. But Brian could not shirk the responsibility. "I admit that it is my fault, but before Winnie appeared, Luke was abused. Was it related to Winnie?" "Grandpa, with a family like ours, and the way you insist on marriage, no woman will marry me with a simple purpose. Each woman will protect her own status and fight for her children. In this way, Megan and Luke become obstacles in the struggle for power, and they are bound to be hurt." "Grandpa, if you insist that Winnie be separated from her children, don't let me go on blind dates again. I want to be single all my life." Brian was not threatening or warning. As long as Winnie had to leave, he would do that to reassure Winnie. He had done a lot for the Bennet Group over the years, and he couldn't leave his own children alone for the sake of his job and the ambition of others. "Are you provoking me?" Felix asked in a cold voice. "Grandpa, I'm not provoking you, it's the truth. I can't let someone hurt my child. I don't deserve to be a father if I can't protect my own children." "If Winnie can take care of the children, I will have no worries and I will be able to work well." Brian said in a low voice and did not get angry, his attitude was unusually firm. At the moment he dare not have too many ideas, to keep the children's custody was the most important. "Winnie, Winnie, she is a surrogate woman, if you are with her, don't you fear that she had her motives? You are simply obsessed with her. If something goes wrong one day, you will regret it." Felix's anger had not subsided, and he got furious seeing that Brian was so persistent. At the moment he had a feeling of not being able to control Brian, and was afraid of him leaving the Bennet Group. "She has no motives, and all she wants is to be with the children and take care of them personally. If she has a motive, she would have tried her best to drive away the woman around me. If she has a motive, how could she not cost me a cent? She hasn't used a penny of the money I've paid for the children. She's paid for them all by herself." "I gave her a necklace, which she accepted only on condition and she said she would return it when she earn money. Grandpa, if such a woman has a motive, there is no woman in the world who doesn't have motives. Which woman can be sincere to Luke and Megan?" "Grandpa, it's not easy for her to have these two children. She's saved her life several times for them. And her chances of having another child are slim. If you separate her from her two children, there will be no point in her life." Brian said sadly, almost in a tone of supplication, so that his grandpa would agree Winnie to be with the children. "What you have seen is only the surface. Nobody can see into anybody's heart. Don't talk to me any more about these unimportant things. Do as I say, or you'll be sorry." Felix was still awe-inspiring, and he warned Brian. He was sure that Brian would understand what he meant. "Grandpa..." "Get out." Brian tried to say more, but was refused by Felix. Disappointed, Brian left the study, but he wasn't about to give up. After Brian went out, Felix took a deep breath of depression. Thinking of the words of Brian just now, thinking of his unprecedented rebellion, Felix was sad. As what Winnie had done for Luke, she was really excellent as a mother. But now her identity was much more complicated, so he needed to reconsider this person and make a new judgment on her. Brian walked out of the study and quickly came to the living room. "Where is Winwin?" "Mommy's home." It was Luke who answered him. As Luke's voice just fell, he quickly left and did not give everyone the opportunity to ask. "What grandpa said? They both left without saying anything. It's really worrying." Stella was unsettled. Although she was mentally prepared, she could not calm down at this moment. "I'll ask Grandpa." Stella got up, but was stopped by Rufus. "Don't. He needs time to accept it. They must have missed a lot of details since they went out in such a hurry. Grandpa will understand if he knows the details." Rufus was also worried. He did not know what happened, only to hear Felix's roar. Winnie was the mother of two children, no matter she was a surrogate or not, she had made contribution to the Bennet family. Rufus believed even if Felix was cold-blooded, he would do nothing to Winnie. The house was silent for a long time. Paul came to tell the dinner was ready. No matter what happened, and whether they were in a good mood, they had to have dinner on time. "Stella, ask Grandpa to have dinner." Rufus commanded Stella, but Megan volunteered. "Grandpa, I'm going to ask Great Grandpa to have dinner." Megan stood there waiting for Rufus's permission. "Go ahead, don't make Great Grandpa angry." Rufus gave the Megan a look of trust. He believed that Megan could do a good job and would not annoy Felix. Megan came to the door of the study, now first politely knocked at the door, and then stretched in her head after having Great Grandpa's response. "Great Grandpa, I am Megan, can I go in?" Megan said in a childish and delicate voice. Felix raised his eyes and looked at the dexterous and lovely Megan, and his heart was in turmoil. "Come in." Megan walked in, and carefully closed the door. She walked to the desk and stood in front of Felix. She put her soft and boneless hand on Felix's hand. "Do you think it is sudden, Great Grandpa?" Megan asked in a soft voice. "Yes." "It was sudden and he needed time." "Don't you like me? If you don't like me, I can go to Mommy's and will not disturb you. If you don't like me, I won't have the name Megan Bennet, but Megan Chambers." Megan said pitifully. Although her main purpose was to explore Great Grandpa's attitude, she could not avoid being wronged. Seeing that she was sensible, Felix was moved. "You are a child of the Bennet family, I do like you. Megan, what is your name?" "Megan Bennet, can't I be a Bennet?" Megan asked with doubts and she was worried too. "Sure, you are a Bennet, but I want to know when did you change your name?" "Daddy changed it when he found out, and Mommy said I am a Bennet, so I changed my surname."

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 393 MAKE IT HARD

Megan was worried about Felix's problem, for fear that Felix did not accept her, so again she confirmed whether Felix liked her. "Do you really like me, Great Grandpa?" "Of course, I like you and you will stay in our home." Felix repeated the answer. He liked this child, who was clever and he liked to listen to everything she said. "....." As Megan wanted to ask if she could be with Mommy, she thought of Grandpa told her not to make Great Grandpa angry, so she did not say that out. "If you like me, I can accompany you every day." Now the most important thing was to win Great Grandpa's favor, and she would do the rest according to his meaning and gave him some time. "Megan, what's going on with your daddy?" Felix asked something he wanted to know. He asked Megan instead of Brian because he was not angry at her. "Daddy? Oh, you mean Daddy Oscar? I heard it from Mommy that in order to give me a registered residence, she had a false marriage with him. Daddy Oscar is Mommy's best classmate." What Megan knows was what Mommy said by accident. "Has Mommy had a boyfriend for so many years?" Felix continued to ask. "No, not one. It is hard for Mommy to take care of us. She's always busy with work and never has a boyfriend." "Great Grandpa, I come to take you out to dinner. I am hungry, let's eat first. If you have questions, you can ask Grandpa." Megan stopped the conversation, because she couldn't tell what to say and what not to say. She was afraid that she might spoil Dad's plans if she said too much. "OK, let's go out to dinner." When Felix got up and bowed his head, he found that Megan had only one shoe on and the injured foot was bare. "Does it still hurt?" Felix asked and remembered it was Wendy caused it. "No, the blisters disappear when I see you." Megan replied with a smile, and then walked out of the study slowly holding Felix's hand. Brian left the suburbs and went straight to Winnie's home. When he saw her car in the underground parking space, he felt at ease. He was not sure what Grandpa said to Winnie, and did not know if Winnie felt wronged, so he came to her regardless of his Grandpa's warning. No sooner had Winnie arrived home than she heard the bell before she could settle down. Without much thought, she guessed that it was Brian, so she went to the door and opened it. The door opened. Before Winnie could speak, she was held in his arms by Brian who was emotional. Brian felt the real Winnie, relieved. "It's going to be harder for me since you came like this." Winnie looked dissatisfied, but her heart was quite warm, at least at this helpless moment she was not alone. And there was a warm embrace around her. Then Brian let Winnie go. "I don't care. If my freedom is restricted, I will be my grandfather's puppet." Brian said in a domineering manner, but he was still worried. He had heard his grandfather's warning. On the way he had told Albert to arrange someone to secretly protect Winnie, lest she encountered danger or forcibly taken away. "Don't say that. It's a sudden thing for the chairman and he needs time to digest it." Winnie was still persuading Brian, so as not to make the two generations unhappy because of her. "Don't worry about other people's feelings. What did Grandpa say to you? Did he give you a hard time?" Brian did not care anyone but Winnie at this moment. "You are so anxious. If he made it hard for me, how can I be so easy? Don't worry, he just told me that I wasn't allowed to go to his house and to be with the children." Winnie could accept the first half of the sentence, but she could not accept that she was not allowed to be with the children, but she did not show it. "Winwin, I will fight for it. Don't worry. You will not be separated from the children under any circumstances. I promise." It was so hard for Winnie. Brian saw that Winnie was enduring and undertaking it, but she had not broken down yet. "Well, I believe you and I believe Chairman is not that heartless." Now Winnie could only do was to believe, because she was like an egg to Felix and had no ability to resist. "Go back. Chairman just came back today. You go and accompany him." Winnie said gently. However, Brian did not go back, but sat on the sofa holding her hand. "No, I'm the person he hates most now, and going back will only upset him more. I'm not sure I won't annoy him if he goes on asking me about it." Brian was afraid that Felix would faint with anger. If it were another person, he would not have had such an attitude. Winnie slightly raised the corner of his mouth and thought Brian was reasonable, so she did not urge him to go back. "Are you hungry? There are noodles, I cook for you." Winnie was unsettled, but she could only force a smile, because it took time to calm down. Winnie got up and walked to the kitchen, followed by Brian. Although his troubles were not solved, he felt steadfast as long as he was with Winnie, not to mention eating noodles or drinking cold water. In the suburbs. The dinner time was peaceful and neither of them mentioned what had just happened. After dinner, the family sat in the living room. After a moment's silence, Felix finally spoke. "Stella, take the two children upstairs to play." Felix commanded in a deep voice, not waiting for Stella to respond, Joshua volunteered. "I'll go. I'll take the kids upstairs to play." Joshua was not hiding, he just didn't think he was suitable for this kind of occasion. Joshua walked upstairs holding Megan in arms and holding Luke in hand, leaving only Felix, Rufus, and Stella in the living room. "Did Brian go to Winnie?" Felix asked coldly. He did not pursue who should take the responsibility, because it had become a fact and it was of no use to pursue the responsibility. "He didn't tell us when she left, but I think so." Stella answered uncertainly. Felix's face darkened. He had just warned Brian, but the next moment Brian went against his will, it seemed that he could not control Brian any more. But what was in his mind at the moment could not be expressed. "Winnie said it was because Thomas went to the prison to see Penny that she decided to tell the story of the children. Is it true?" At this moment, Felix wanted to solve it. "It's true. The prison surveillance had been taken out. Uncle Thomas went there several times." It was Stella answered. "What does he want? Doesn't he know that Penny is an enemy of our family?" Felix said angrily and was disappointed for Thomas's behavior. "We don't know. In common sense, he should know that he could not go and see Penny." Stella had no idea what happened, but she had been on the alert, for fear that Thomas was ambitious. "He should never have come back." After Felix said these words coldly, he fell silent. After all these years of his absence, nothing happened to the Bennet family, and the Bennet Group was thriving. But he lost control of his ambition when he came back. "Don't let Brian know what happened in those years. If he knows, it will be a mess at our family." Felix mentioned the things of that year. "We can conceal it, but if Brian gets back his memory, it can't be concealed anymore. Grandpa, be prepared." Stella had to remind Felix, because Brian was getting back his memory bit by bit. "Conceal it first and be quiet for a more day." Felix knew that Brian would find out one day, but he did not want to see a war within the family when he was alive. "Dad, what are you going to do about Winnie and the children?" Rufus asked, concerning about the children and Winnie. For him, things between Thomas and Brian sooner or later was to be solved, no one could escape it. And he wanted it done as soon as possible, rather than buried with a time bomb. But Winnie and her children were more important. Only Winnie and the children were settled, Brian could set his mind at work and deal with Thomas. "You take care of the children. Winnie is not allowed to contact the children." "Such a woman is too insidious, she can't in our family." Speaking of this matter, Felix's tone seemed to be sharper. Only in this way can he stick to his attitude. "Dad, you can't be so judgmental. Winnie is not a sinister person. And the children..." "If she is not sinister, how can she conceal me for so long? How can she stick to Brian? And what do you know about her?" Felix interrupted Rufus's words in a domineering manner. He did not want anyone to stand up to refute or wave his heart. Rufus, however, still wanted to do something for her, so he continued. "She didn't tell you because she was afraid that you would deprive her of the custody of two children. She told you because she planned everything for Brian and didn't want anything unpleasant to happen between Brian and Thomas." "She is not scheming. If she is cunning, Brian would not be what he is now." "Dad, now that the matter has come up, I have to tell you. The children need their parents' love, and none of us has the right to take that away." "When Megan left before New Year, you couldn't stand to see it if you were there. She cried sadly. She kept asking me secretly why she couldn't spend the New Year with the Bennet family and why her family had to spend the New Year separately." "Dad, I felt sorry I could give Megan a perfect answer. I am sadder that I have no right to determine the future of my son and I had no ability to let him find his own happiness." Rufus's eyes turned red as he spoke that sadly.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 394 TAKE THE BENNET GROUP IN HAND

Felix said with guilt and remorse. "I'm an example, Dad. I married at your bidding. But as a result, did you ask me if I was happy in my life? Now you want to repeat the same thing and turn Brian into another me. When will this tragedy end? Can Luke and Megan escape such a nightmare?" Rufus questioned his father with such an attitude for the first time, because his endurance has reached the limit. All his life, he had been controlled by his father since he was a child, never making his own decisions, and now he really didn't want his son and his grandchildren to go the same way. Felix was surprised that Rufus who was always composed would say such rebellious words. What was going on here? Why everyone went against him? "Rufus, think it over in every aspect. Do not be sentimental. Why am I doing this is for the Bennet Group can have a long run development, for you to have a good life?" "But do we really have a good life? Did you ask what we need?" Rufus did not put the words too harsh, though his father's actions were just for his ambition. But he could not say so, or his father would be angry and faint. "If we are in the ordinary family, would Thomas do that kind of thing? Brotherly murder would have been unavoidable if I had not withdrawn." Rufus remembered the things before and he got angry. It was related to his father. He ran The Bennet Group very well, but his family relationships were terrible and that was one of the failures of his life. Rufus's words seemed to hurt Felix's heart. He said nothing but his eyes were cold and his face was sullen. His credit for this lifetime at this moment was denied by Rufus. Did he really fail, or Rufus's thoughts were extreme? After a moment of silence, Rufus's mood was somewhat restrained. "Dad, I got off the subject. In fact, I don't want you to interference Brian and to separate Winnie and the children. You may not believe what I said about Winnie, but you get time and opportunity. You can get to know her." "Even if she has motives, she is perfectly fit for the children. The two children will grow up very well under her education and cultivation." "I think as long as children can grow up in a happy environment, it is the most important." "And I hope you will allow Winwin and Brian to be together, and give the children a complete home. If you want a grandson, let him choose his own marriage, and if you want a capable administrator, I can return to the Bennet Group so that Brian can quit." Hearing that, Felix and Stella were shocked. In those days he had made oath to leave the Bennet Group alone, but for Brian, he now violated his oath, because he felt sorry for Brian. "Do you mean to set Brian free, and you run the Bennet Group?" Felix asked for confirmation. Rufus was the most trusted person in his life, and his attitude towards work was more persistent than anyone else. If he had not been determined to quit the position of management, he would not have trained Brian into a king. "Yes, let him live his life freely, and leave him alone." Rufus answered. "If I leave him alone, his future will be ruined. What can he do without the Bennet Group?" Felix did not agree to let go the kind he cultivated. "I believe in my son's ability. He can make a difference without the Bennet Group. But I do not wish him success in business, I wish him simple happiness." "Just like Stella now, Joshua is a worker, but they are happy. And with Winnie's ability, even if Brian could not earn a penny, she would be able to support the family." Rufus said a lot tonight and got in wide scope. But he only had one purpose, hoping the family of four could be together. "He is a talent, you are to bury his talent. He is doomed to be a dragon, but do you want him to live as a dog?" Felix still opposed, he had his reason not to give up. "He is a dragon, but I don't want him to get so tired. Even without the Bennet Group, he can live as an eagle. He may not have the prestige of a dragon, but at least he's free." Rufus said. He did not want his grief to be repeated on his son. "Dad, I just want the family of four to be together." Rufus stood up and left after making a final statement. He was in high spirits now, afraid he would quarrel with his father if he said any more. After Rufus left, Felix felt helpless. "Stella, I don't think I am wrong. What I do is for the good of everyone." Felix felt deep blankness. He made effort of the family, but his son denied him, which was hard for him to accept. Stella saw grandpa's sadness, so she hurriedly hugged him and appeased him. "Grandpa, don't think too much." However, Stella could only say that sentence, because she strongly supported her father's point of view. Her grandpa was not perfect. But if she told the truth, her grandpa could not stand it. Winnie did not sleep well that night, she always awakened by the nightmare that she separated with the children. After she woke up, it was hard for her to sleep again, which made her very tired. When she opened her eyes, she saw Brian by her side, which made her feel at ease. "Didn't sleep well, did you? Winwin, don't think too much. After all, the children are ours. It's up to us." Brian woke up and knew that Winnie had not slept well the night before. "No, I'll stick to it. I can't afford to lose my children, whatever it takes." Although Winnie was worried, she had firm confidence. "Ok, we work together." Then he sat up and picked up his phone to see if there was anything important, since he had turned it off the night before. There were no important text messages, but Stella had sent him messages. Brian hurriedly clicked on it and read it with Winnie. "Brian, tell Winwin not to worry too much. We all know grandpa's attitude. Dad and I will try our best to help you." "Dad has had an argument with Grandpa. He does not want the children to separate with Winnie and he wants you to be with Winnie." "Dad said that if Grandpa wants a superintendent, he can come back to take over the Bennet Group, so that you can have freedom and choose your own marriage." "I was touched to hear that. So you and Winwin must not give up. We will fight together as a family." "I will take care of the two children. For the time being, please do what Grandpa wants and don't let Winwin come to our home. Grandpa needs persuasion bit by bit." "Set your mind at work. Paul will pick them up the children after school. And Winwin can see them when they go to school." "Brian, you and Winwin don't blame Grandpa. He is old, he has been a king all his life and used to be domineering. It is easy to change." "And when I am available, I will take two children to the old house and let them spend more time with grandpa. We can't convince him. It doesn't mean the children can't either." "In short, you can rest assured, put all your energy on the work and make achievements. If Grandpa is happy, it may help." "Brian, Winwin, we support you to be together, just fight for it!" Winnie didn't sleep well all night, but she was warmed by the messages in the morning. She embraced Brian and shed tears. "I thought they don't like me, and I was very careful about what I said whenever I saw them, for fear saying the wrong thing to annoy them even more." "Every time I wanted to have good performance, trying to bring you and me closer." "I am so touched that they all stand by me and offer to help me when I need it the most. I am also touched by their recognition and that they don't hate me." Winnie cried out loud. No matter what kind of results it would be, she was moved by them and they felt like families to her."Fool, how can they not like you? You're so good and you gave birth to two children to our family. They sure like you."Brian hugged Winnie and comforted Winnie, but he was also moved.Stella had been very good to him for so many years and had replaced the existence of his mother. What he didn't expect were the words from his father, who stood by him when he needed him the most.For him, his father broke his oath and wanted to engage in business again, which was the most touching.With the support of the family, Brian and Winnie felt more steadfast. They began to work, as Stella said, as long as they made achievement, his Grandpa would be happy.Leo had not seen Emily for two days since they kissed in the bar, and she did not answer his calls like before.Leo wanted to see Emily, but there was one thing he had to decide first. So now he came to Brian's office."Mr. Johnson, if I'm not wrong, there seems to be no place for us to talk about our work."Brian tone was cold and hard. Seeing Leo, he thought if his love for Winnie."You are smart, but I come here not for business. I'll go to the point since you are a busy man."Leo had no previous smile at this time, but a serious face."What's going on with your blind date with Emily?"Leo asked directly."How do you know? Does Winwin know it?"Brian's facial expression changed because Leo's question. It was not because what Leo knew, but what Winnie knew.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 395 THE DISPUTE BETWEEN WENDY'S PARENTS

Leo looked at Brian who was anxious and knew Brian was really Emily's blind date. But Brian was concerned about Winnie. "Winwin doesn't know it. If she knows, I would not be here to ask you." "Tell me what your attitude is to Winwin. I can understand you have a blind date, after all, you are bound. But your blind date is Emily and I don't know what you mean." Leo asked in a composed manner. "We just help each other. Her parents weren't happy with your breakup and were probably mad at you so they forced her to go on a blind date. I have the same situation. My grandpa does not like Wendy so he forced me to have a blind date. So we agreed to cheat them for some time." Brian explained in details, not afraid that Leo would overthink, but that he would tell Winnie. Hearing that, Leo became less worried. He believed Brian's words, because he was not the kind of person to lie. "Mr. Bennet, tell Winwin one day. She's been through too much, and she's sensitive. If she knows it, she'd have wild thoughts." "Whether you love her or not, I hope you won't hurt her. I decide to pursue Emily again, and I have gone over Winwin, but I will help her when she is in trouble." Leo showed his attitude and don't want Brian to feel jealousy about him. "I will find a chance to tell her, but I still need Emily's help." "Our family is in a bit of a mess now, and if I don't follow my grandpa's advice on blind dates, things will get even worse." After hearing that Leo gave up Winnie, his tone eased a lot and he became relaxed. There were some things he hoped Leo could help. Brian continued. "Wendy and I have broken up, and we had a blind date with Emily. Two nights ago I put the identity of Megan exposure, so grandpa will urge me to push forward the blind date." "During this period of time, I have no woman except Winwin, and she wants to be my girlfriend in a steadfast manner. So I need Emily's help and give Winwin more time." Brian told the current situation to Leo, hoping he could understand. "I can understand what you're saying, but what I don't understand why you don't ask her to be your girlfriend or marry her." Leo could offer help and make things clear to Emily. But the problem could not be resolved, because in the end such a relationship would hurt Winnie. "That's Winwin's insistence. I can't persuade her. I told her I would give up everything and be with her. I also told her to be with me forever, though I can't marry her. She refused both, and I don't know what her scruples are." Brian fought for it, but finally he listened to Winnie. He was disappointed at grandpa's attitude last night and he wanted to give up everything and take Winnie and the children away. But when he mentioned that, Winnie refused. "What did Winwin think?" "It doesn't matter, I'll talk to Emily and give Winwin some time. You'd better tell Winwin about your blind date as soon as possible." Leo now realized that the problem lied in Winnie, it seemed that she was still repressed by some thought and refused to face the reality. "Tell her the truth or lie?" Brian asked Leo in reply. Leo ignored this question, so he was silent before speaking. "Tell her the truth, she hates being lied to. Let's find a chance to say it together. I'll communicate with Emily first and we'll say it together with Winwin." Leo felt it was safer and it would do less harm to Winwin. After Leo left, Winnie knocked at the door and entered. "I seemed to see Leo." Winnie asked Brian with doubts, because she only saw a back on the elevator, and she not sure about it. "It was Leo. We talked about work and he left." Brian did not tell her the true. although he felt sorry, he felt it was not the time to tell her. He went to Winnie and embraced her. "Are you tired? Why don't we take the kids..." After two days there was no news from grandpa, so Brian was worried. Then he brought up the subject of leaving together again. But before his words were finished, Winnie stopped him. "Here you go again, if you want to go, leave by yourself. Even if I'm with you, I want to be fair and open, and I want the approval and acceptance of the Bennet family. I don't want to leave secretly, or Chairman will hate me even more." Winnie had many concerns, and she hoped they could face the problem instead of avoiding. And she had been feeling uncomfortable about the woman in the picture. She was afraid that the woman suddenly appeared when she was with Brian, or that when he got his memory back, he found that woman was his true love. If so, what should she do? "Winwin, it's only a matter of time before the Bennet family accepts you. We don't need to worry about it." Brian persuaded. He felt it was not biggest problem the Bennet family accepts her or not, but he did not know what Winnie thought. "Don't say it. I will think of it and I'll go with you after I have made up my mind." "Sign this, so that we can continue our fighting." Winnie said to Brian in a perfunctory manner, because she would never make up her mind. Even if she left, she left with her children, and it had nothing to do with Brian. Wendy could not eat well and sleep well since she broke up with Brian and she looked decadent. Her mother Zoe was worried, but Wendy did not tell her what had happened. In the living room of the Yup family. "Alfred, why don't you go and ask Brian if there was any conflict between them?" "If Brian still minds about what happened that day, I will apologize to him. We can't let Wendy be like this all the time." Zoe consulted with Alfred. "No, I am ashamed to face Brian. You can't go either, let her fix it herself." Wendy's father Alfred did not want to take care of it. It had violated his conscience that he had something to hide from Brian, how could he face Brian? At the moment Alfred hoped that Wendy and Brian break up so as not to make a bad end. "You don't care about your daughter." Seeing Alfred's attitude, Zoe was worried and raised her voice. "It's the way she chose. What can I do? I did not agree to her returning to home. Now how can I take care of it?" "You have been spoiling her since she was a kid. She is willful and thoughtless. If it doesn't stop now, it's going to be harder to fix it. Leave her alone. It would be better if she broke up. Let her go abroad and never come back." "If she lived in a good life abroad, how would I allow her to come back? I did it for her good, every parent wants their children to have a good life." Zoe was infuriated by Alfred and shouted back. "Now you're talking like that. Why didn't you say anything when I didn't approve of her going abroad? Why didn't you stop her? If she hadn't dated two men at that time, and steadfastly gave birth to a child for Brian, there wouldn't be these filthy things today." "If you're sober enough now, tell her to separate from Brian and send her to another country. Now she's young enough to start over." Alfred was also angry. From beginning to end, no one listened to his arrangement, and now things were not as perfect as the imagination and they wanted him to help. If Wendy did not have a stigma, he could go and beg Brian, but now he had no confidence and it would be of no use. The best choice was what he just said, but he did not know whether Wendy and her mother would listen to him or not. "Is it any use talking about the past now? Can it change anything? You're a man and you just shirk..." Before she could finish, Wendy suddenly interrupted her. "Don't quarrel. I can take care of my business. I'm not going abroad. I'm not going anywhere. I'm going to marry Brian in my life." Wendy stood at the top of the stairs on the second floor, shouting. Her eyes were scarlet. She had been emotionally exhausted, and hearing her parents fighting because of her, she was on the verge of breaking down and could not bear it. With these painful words, Wendy walked quickly down and rushed out without saying anything. She came to the seaside, where the wind was cool, but only in this way she could make herself sober. But unexpectedly, she missed Brian more. At this time she thought of Laura. She wanted to know what Laura said, in order to plan to regain Brian's heart. Wendy made a call to Laura, but Laura refused to answer her phone. Wendy called again and again until Laura's phone was turned off. Wendy still did not give up, and finally drove straight to Laura's work place. She was not sure if Laura was in the company, Wendy could only wait downstairs till it was time to go off work. As Laura walked out of the company, she saw Wendy standing there, it seemed to be unable to hide. They came to Wendy's car. Wendy wanted to chat in a cafe, but Laura refused. "Say it here, I've got to get back and cook for the kids." Laura said in a gloomy face, since she disliked Wendy. Although she had her motives, Wendy used her and she could not protect herself. "Laura, no matter how the matter turns out, I have no other opinion of you. I was too impulsive to make it like this and I know you and Klara are really good to me." "Klara....." When Laura heard Klara's name, she endured it though she did not like it. "Wendy, no need to say anything. We have to leave it at that. I saved my job because Winnie did not pursue my responsibility. I can't fight Winnie anymore. Brian ordered the whole field to ban me. If Winnie didn't protect me, the rest of my life would be ruined." "Wendy....."

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 396 A HINT FROM LAURA

Laura wanted to end the subject after another remark, but Wendy interrupted her. "Laura, I understand you, I understand you. It was my fault. I'm sorry. I dare not ask you to help me again." "But Laura, there is something I want to ask you. When you talked to Winnie alone, what did you say to her?" Wendy came to Laura today because she wanted to ask this question. She did not want to pursue who betrayed her, after all, Laura helped her. According to Wendy, Laura guessed that it must be Klara told Wendy that she had talked with Winnie alone and Klara put the responsibility on her. "Wendy, I told her the truth about everything we did together. I did not shirk my responsibility, nor did I exaggerate fearlessly, nor did I denigrate you or Klara." Laura said truthfully, but Klara did not think so, otherwise Wendy would not come over to her now. "So Winnie knows about everything, and Brian must know about it, too." Wendy felt hopeless. Brian had known everything she had done, how could she explain and fix it? "Wendy, I have nothing to say. I have to hurry home." Laura opened the door, but she then stopped. "Wendy, be careful when you make friends and think it over." She did not tell Wendy directly but just reminded her. Laura got off and left, but Wendy did not understand the meaning of Laura. What did she imply? To whom and to what she was referring. Brian needed to work overtime, and Winnie drove back to her home alone. When she got back to her empty home, she inevitably missed the children. But she could not go to the suburbs, and did not know if she could make a call, so she first sent a message to Stella. Winnie: Stella, I want to talk to children. Is it ok? Stella was chatting with her grandfather in the living room at this time. Seeing the message, she knew Winnie missed the children. Stella: Grandpa's with me. I'll let the two kids go to their room and you send them message. Stella: Grandpa is going back to the suburbs tomorrow. Then you can come and see the children. Stella sent two messages, and then said to the two children who were playing. "It's time for you to go upstairs and do your homework." Stella's sudden command stunned the two children, but they went upstairs after looking at each other. Upstairs, the two children entered a room, and carefully locked the door behind them. They found the phone and sent a message to Winnie. "Mommy!" "Mommy!" The two children excitedly called out their mother at the moment they saw her face. "Mommy, we miss you. Why haven't you come back?" Megan felt sat instantly. She grew up with Mommy and did not get used to leave Mommy. And the atmosphere on the day Mommy left was very worrisome. "I have been so busy these days and got a lot of work to do. I will come and see you when I finish my work." Winnie felt better looking at the two children's face. It was hard for her to imagine what it would be like to be separated from her children. Would she die because she missed them too much? Winnie continued to ask. "Megan, does it still hurt on your foot?" "It doesn't hurt, Mommy. I can wear my slippers now." Megan readily answered, but she still had grievance on face. "Where's Daddy? Daddy hasn't come back these days either." Luke asked. Dad and mom were absent, and they did not have sense of security. "Daddy is busier than me, but Daddy will be with you tonight." Winnie felt the children's inner fear, so for she made a decision to go home for Brian. "Mommy, are you lonely at home alone? Have you eaten well and slept well. Brother and I can go back and stay with you?" Megan's small face twisted because she felt wronged and missed Mommy. She wanted to cry at the moment, but she feared that Mommy would worry. "I am fine. Don't worry. You and brother can't come back, because no one here to take care of you. Aunt and grandpa are in the suburbs, so long as you are good and don't let me worry about you." "I'll fetch you home when I have done with work." Winnie comforted the children and made a promise, but she did not know when the promise could be fulfilled. "You don't have to worry about us, Mommy. We're good here and have done our homework. And I will take good care of sister. As long as you work quickly, we can go home early. We miss grand aunt and aunt." Luke was afraid that Mommy would worry about them, so he promised her. But even though Grandpa's was nice, he never felt at home. He wanted to go back to the days when he lived with his aunt and grand aunt. That was home, where he could feel steadfast. "Good, and I will hurry to finish work." Winnie felt hurt in heart looking at the sensible Luke and the wronged Megan. What did the children do wrong, why they had been turbulent and had not a day of stability. Why did they have to endure all kinds of worries and separation? Winnie could not control her heart and hung up the phone soon, she was afraid that the children would see her cry, and they would cry too. After the children hung up, they received a message from their aunt. Stella: Be sad when you come down for dinner. Two children understood what Stella wanted them to do. They might not be able to help in other aspects, but they were good at this regard. At the dinner table, the two children were in low spirits. They had not spoken since they sat in the dining chairs. Stella gave two children thumb up in her heart. They must be the best actors, but it should be mixed with their true feelings. After a while, Stella began to cooperate with the two children. "What's the matter with you two? Is there anything unhappy?" "Auntie, we are eating here, but we don't know if Daddy and Mommy have food or not." Luke answered first, and then it was Megan answered. "Aunt, I miss Daddy and Mommy." Megan said with worry. "Oh, but they're all busy working. They're trying to make money so they can support you." Stella thought she could go to the film festival to get award back. "We don't need money, we just want to be together with Daddy and Mommy. If we can be together every day, we can live in a small house and take bus. We won't mind if we go to a mediocre school, and we're sure we'll get good grades." Luke said with morale. He wanted his Grand Grandpa to know money could not fix anything. They could live well even if they were not rich. "Yes, if we are with Mommy and Daddy, our classmates won't say we have a single parent, and we can show off in front of them that we have Mommy and Daddy." Megan added. "Everyone in the class has Mommy and Daddy. Their home is not as good as ours, but they are happy. I want that simple happiness right now." Although knowing the children were acting, Stella felt sad. They must had been through there, or how could it be so true?Hearing that, Rufus frowned. Felix did not show a different look, but his heart had ups and downs.Stella continued to cooperate."You are still small, and you don't understand the grown-up's world. Daddy and Mommy want to give you the best living environment, so they work hard. And you must learn to live without parents, and one day you will grow up and have your own life.""Aunt, we understand what you said, but we are now children. We just want to live a child's life, want a complete home and not to be bullied by classmates. We want to have a happy life as other children. When we grow up, we can leave parents naturally and it doesn't need to learn."Luke said like an adult, and this speech made everyone speechless.There was a moment of silence. Then Megan cried out loud.Stella asked with worry."Why are you crying, Megan?""Nothing, aunt, I want to ask you a question."Megan wiped her tears and continued to say."Great Grandpa, I ask you first. You grew up with your parents, didn't you? You were born in a complete home, right?"Felix gave a positive answer."Yes, I was."Megan got the answer and then looked to Rufus."What about you, Grandpa?""I had a complete home, too."Rufus said with guilty."What about you, Aunt? You must be as happy as Great Grandpa and Grandpa.""Yes, but my mother died when I was a teenager."Stella truthfully answered and she had guessed Megan's intention."That was after you were teenagers. My brother and I had no family since we were born. We didn't even know who our father and mother were. Although we know our parents now, we still don't have a complete home.""I'm afraid my brother and I are the worst off in terms of our families. I just want to know, you all have a complete family and enjoyed the love of your parents, why can't my brother and I have this right?"Hearing Megan's words, all people were silent again and did not know how to answer Megan's question."You had been happy and will never know how my brother and I feel, so you don't care about our feelings. I wonder now if you really love me and my brother."With that, Megan directly jumped down the chair and left the table, followed by Luke."If you really don't love us, just leave us alone. We can grow up even if we go wandering."Luke said angrily, but he thought that it would be better to go wandering than to be bound by his Great Grandpa.Luke left and went to appease Megan. The adults at the table were in no mood to eat.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 397 THE OWNER OF HOT POT RESTAURANT

Stella felt guilty because she couldn't control the situation. All she wanted was for the two children to act out a drama of suffering. She didn't ask for much, and as long as it made Grandpa feel uncomfortable, the play wasn't in vain. But she had not expected the two children to be uncontrollably affectionate. Stella looked at the black face of Felix and hurried to comfort him. "Grandpa, children talked nonsense. Don't listen to them. Eat some food." "I've had enough. You go on eating." Felix finally spoke, but left directly. "Grandpa..." Stella wanted to stop grandpa, but was stopped by Rufus by raising his hand. Watching Felix went back to the room and closed the door, Rufus spoke in a low voice. "There was nothing wrong with what the children said and he heard it. Let him think it over." Rufus felt that although Megan's words were sharp and it would be hard for Felix who had been superior all his life to accept, he was not angry at Megan and did not punish her. After hung up the phone with her two children, Winnie texted Brian, telling him to return to the suburbs, because the children would be insecure and upset without parents around. For two children not to worry about them, Winnie could only ask Brian to go back to comfort the children. After receiving a positive reply from Brian, Winnie realized that she was hungry. She looked into the refrigerator and she got nothing to eat, but she felt troublesome to cook, so she took her coat and was to eat at Daenerys'. Jelly Bean was there, she thought time would pass fast, but as she was downstairs, she was called by someone. "Hello, Miss Chambers." Winnie recognized the man, the owner of the hot pot restaurant. "It's you. Why are you here?" Winnie asked curiously. "I am waiting for you." The man said softly. "Waiting for me? Why?" Winnie was even more puzzled. "I want to talk to you about compensation to your daughter. I know your home is in this neighborhood, but I don't know which floor it is, so I can only wait here." The man said directly. "Thank you, Sir. I didn't expect you thought about the child. There are not many people like you who are willing to compensate." Winnie was gratified and touched by the man's attitude. "My daughter is all right, she doesn't need compensation. Well, I should give you a refund. I'm sure you saw the surveillance video. It's not your fault." Winnie continued. "Give me your account number and I'll pay you back the medical bills." In fact, Winnie was sorry that it caused impact on the hot pot restaurant. And the waiter and the boss were there with them. "No, Miss Chamber, the child got an accident in my restaurant, even if someone intentionally tripped the waiter, we also have unshirkable responsibility. If you pay us back the medical bills, we'll feel worse." "Miss Chambers, let's talk about compensation." The owner of the hotpot restaurant was sincere and insisted to compensate her. "No, no need, how about this? I don't pay you back the medical bill, and you don't need to compensate me. Let's just pretend it never happened." Winnie refused, how could she take the compensation. "Miss Chambers, since you refuse, I'll invite you to dinner, and then the whole thing will be over." The owner of the hotpot restaurant changed the way to compensate. "I..." Winnie wanted to refuse, but the restaurant owner knew she would do so, so he interrupted her. "Go to my hot pot restaurant and take both children with you. This will make up for your misdeed last time." "....." "Miss Chambers, don't be polite to me. I'm a fan of your games. It's nothing for me to invite you to have a meal even if the child wasn't injured." The hotpot restaurant owner said and did not give Winnie a chance to refuse. Winnie was silent for a moment, and then agreed to his invitation. "Well, just go to your hotpot restaurant." Winnie said. The owner of the hot pot restaurant smiled happily. "I'm here waiting for you, you go upstairs to pick up the children, if your husband is at home, bring him with you." When it came to her husband, Winnie was obviously embarrassed. It was a fact that she had children and the children had a father, but the father of her children was not her husband. "The children have gone to their grandfather's, and I am the only one at home." "Ok, can we go now?" The owner of the hot pot restaurant noticed Winnie's embarrassment, but couldn't understand why. Two people came to the hotpot restaurant. The owner did not use private room, but a relatively quiet corner in the hall, because Winnie was a woman and he was afraid that it was not good to be with her alone. This showed that the owner of the hot pot restaurant was a thoughtful person. After the two sat down and ordered, the hotpot restaurant owner formally introduced himself. "Miss Chambers, my name is Stefan Brooks. I'm the owner of this hot pot restaurant. I am 30 years old, 180cm tall and unmarried. I run this hot pot restaurant all by myself." Stefan introduced himself to Winnie, but his self-introduction made Winnie embarrassed, because it sounded more like a blind date self-introduction. Winnie gave a faint smile and introduced herself too. "Hello, Mr. Brooks, I am sorry I didn't know your name." "Let me introduce myself. My name is..." "Your name is Winnie Chamber. I don't know your age, but I do know your occupation. Game developer and software engineer, you are versatile in software, and there is no field that you can't cover. And you are professional in the design of the appearance of the mobile phone. Am I right?" Stefan interrupted Winnie and made self-introduction for her. His understanding of Winnie surprised her. It was only a minor accident, and he got deep investigation on her. "How do you know, Mr. Brooks?" Winnie asked Stefan gently. "As I said, I'm a fan of your games. It's all on your profile." Stefan felt her rudeness, so she explained. "Oh, you told me and I have forgotten it." Winnie gave an embarrassing smile, because she thought Stefan investigated her. But it was written in her profile. "Since you are a fan of my game, give me some advice." Winnie relieved her embarrassment. "No, at least no so far. I wouldn't be a fan of your games if I had any." Stefan said humorously and Winnie relaxed. "Mr. Brooks, you are sweet. If you have any opinions in the future, please tell me. I will correct them in time so as to retain more players. And I put a comment area in the game where all the players can give me their comments." Winnie found topic more interesting when it came to the game. "I will and I want to keep playing." "Miss Chambers, please give me your autograph some day. I think if your name is popular, you will be famous. I want an autograph first so that I can show off." Stefan said with a smile, but he really wanted Winnie's autograph. "Mr. Brooks, you are joking. I heard the stars would be asked for autograph, but have never heard someone asked for game autograph." Winnie showed a warm smile, showing dimples on face, which stunned Stefan. "You don't understand, to us who love to play games, you creators are the stars." Stefan said jokingly, for fear that Winnie felt restrained. Although he and Winnie had met only three times and did not know much about each other, he thought she should be a nice person to get along with. "I'm going to have to practice my signature, or I'm going to be embarrassed when someone asks me for autograph." Winnie couldn't help laughing. She didn't think she'd become so famous, and no one would ask for her autograph. What Stefan said was compliment, but it was a kind of encouragement to her. After this meal, they had never mentioned the medical bills again as agreed, so it was in the past. They had one more friend because of that. The next day. After having breakfast, Felix went home with Stella, Joshua and two children. Brian went to work as usual. As he arrived at the company and was about to start work, he received a phone call from Wendy's mother. "Brian, what is wrong with Wendy? She doesn't eat, drink or sleep. It's been days, finally she fell ill last night and she still has a high fever." Zoe's tone was not like that day, but it was with pity. Although Wendy refused to say anything, she was sure that they must have broken up, otherwise Wendy would not be so painful and make herself sick. "Brian, we are in the hospital..." Zoe continued to talk, but was interrupted by Brian. "Zoe, Wendy and I have broken up. No matter where she is now, it's not convenient for me to see her. Take care of her." Brian was still angry about Wendy's behavior until now, although he felt sorry Wendy was sick, he still felt angry. "Break up? Why did you break up? Did I go too far that day?" Zoe was surprised, though she had guessed the result. "It has nothing to do with you. You can ask Wendy why." "I still have work to do, I gotta go." Brian hung up the phone as his voice fell, but he was a bit worried. He put aside the thought of Wendy and began to work. At noon, he wanted to have lunch with Winnie, so he called her to the office ahead of time. "What would you like for lunch today?" Brian asked Winnie while reading the last document.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 398 A SLAP

Winnie still had work to do, so she wanted to shorten her meal time as much as possible. The most time-saving was to eat in the staff canteen. So she replied Brian readily. "I want to eat the big pot food from the staff canteen. Do you want to join?" "I'll eat whatever you eat. Go to the canteen, and I can show off my girlfriend in public." Brian said. He seemed to be joking, but his expression was very serious. "Forget it, let's keep a low profile. If it gets to the chairman, I can't be alive tomorrow. Can you ask the secretary to help us to get the food back?" No matter Brian was serious or joking, Winnie did not want to take risk. She was looking forward to it, but she was sure that she did not have that blessing. "Well, whatever you say, I must obey you." Brian answered Winnie, and then contacted the secretary. "Go to the canteen and get me two lunches." After put down the phone, Brian came to Winnie. Without saying anything, he directly grabbed Winnie's slender waist so that her body was closely attached to his body. "Were you afraid to be alone last night?" Brian said softly and there was love in his eyes. "It was not for the first time. I often sleep alone and it has nothing to be afraid, but I felt like missing something without you around." Winnie said her true feeling niftily. She found herself relying more and more on Brian, feeling insecure without him. This excessive dependence made her feel afraid that she could not leave him. "Good, it proves my place in your heart. But I don't feel missing something..." Speaking of this, Brian deliberately stopped to attract Winnie's interest. "I understand, I am not important to you. I am so sad, it is not fair, so I decided to reduce my love to you." Winnie knew that Brian was joking, and what she said was not real. If she could reduce her love for Brian, she would not be trapped in it. "No, you must love me more and more, and never less." Brian said in an overbearing manner, but it was a joke. "I was in bed with the two children last night, and they clung to me and wanted to sleep with me." "They were not naughty, right? Did they provoke the chairman?" Winnie could imagine the scene the children stuck to Brian, but she was worried that they angered Felix. "No, they were good. They went back to old house with Grandpa this morning. Sister said they will stay there for two days. You come with me to the suburbs this evening." "To the suburbs? Chairman said I can't go to the Bennet family. I will keep my promise to him." Winnie wanted to stick to her promise to Felix and go to the Bennet family after she was allowed to. "I'm not taking you to the old house, and his home is not in the suburbs, so you don't have to mind what he said." Brian felt sad to hear that. Grandpa insisted and Winnie insisted, they would have fewer opportunities together. "It is also the Bennet's house. Come to my house and I'll cook for you tonight." Winnie invited, otherwise Brian would insist on taking her to the suburbs. "Ok, as long as I'm with you. By the way, when will your aunt and Vanessa come back? I haven't seen your aunt till now. Now that we're boyfriend and girlfriend, I wonder if I could meet her." Brian suddenly thought of Winnie's aunt and wanted to meet her in a solemn way. After all, she was the only elderly in Winnie's family, and she had been taking care of the children. So he felt he should meet her. "My aunt said that she would not come back until Vanessa started school. Because the university starts late and there are a few days to go." "When aunt and Vanessa come back, I will arrange you to meet." Winnie said casually, but she did not want him to see her aunt. There was no need to meet her aunt, because they just had a temporary relationship. And it would be troublesome when they broke up. "I have something to tell you. Last night I didn't have dinner at home, someone invited me to eat hot pot." Winnie changed the subject, not wanting to talk about her aunt anymore, or she could not be perfunctory. "Who? A man or a woman? Do I know it?" Brian was nervous. He looked at Winnie, hoping he would not get jealous about the answer. "A man and you don't know him. It is the owner of the hot pot restaurant where Megan got scalded." Winnie gave a sly smile and wanted to know what expression Brian would have. Brian's face instantly became frigid and there was jealousy in his eyes. "A man? How old is he?" Brian asked with alert, feeling Winnie to be snatched. But Winnie gave a sinister smile. "He is 30, unmarried. I heard that he not only has one hotpot restaurant. He has chain stores all over the country and the business is doing very well." "Is it better than the Bennet Group? No, why do you know so much? Why did you ask such a private question at dinner?" "....." Winnie wanted to continue to tease Brian, but before she could say a word, Brian continued to say. "Well, you don't have to answer. Never contact with such a man. This is an order, or I'll keep you close to me all day so that you can't contact with any man." Brian ordered like a king, but Winnie could not help but smirk. "You..." As Winnie was about to speak, she heard noise outside. She wanted to go out and have a look, but the huge solid wood door had been pushed open and an old woman broke into. Winnie and Brian still hugged together since they had no time to react. Brian didn't let go of Winnie until he saw the woman coming in. It was Wendy's mother, Zoe, who opened the door. After confirming that her daughter had broken up, she remembered a woman called Winnie, and she came with anger. When she saw the two embracing each other, her anger scorched all her reason. This woman must be Winnie, and today she had to vent her angry for her daughter. Zoe angrily rushed to Winnie and slapped in Winnie's face. Regardless of nothing, she scolded Winnie. "You have no shame in seducing my son-in-law and breaking them up. You are so shameless. I'll rip your face off today and see how thick it is." She abused and then rushed to Winnie like a hungry tiger rushing to a wolf. Winnie had not figured out what happened. This woman showed up suddenly and she did not expect the slap, so she had no consciousness to escape. It was lucky that Brian was by her side and the second slap avoided her. Brian stopped Zoe, at the same time the secretary also rushed over to pull Zoe. "Zoe..." Brian wanted to scold Zoe, but Zoe clamored loudly. "Let me go, Brian, open your eyes and see what kind of woman she is. She has purpose to be with you. The only woman in the world who loves you is Wendy. You can't abandon Wendy because of this woman." Zoe's attitude was tough, as if she was to eat Winnie. Brian wondered what Wendy had told her mother, why she blamed someone else. But Zoe did not give Brian the opportunity to tell the truth. Because she was an elderly, Brian could only endure it. "Zoe, you are old, please watch your words. Don't insult Winnie. And..." "And what? I did not grab her hair and take her clothes off in public. I....." "You are unbridled." Zoe was still clamoring, but a sonorous and powerful voice suddenly startled her, so she had to swallow the next words back. Everyone looked at the voice and found it was Felix. He was angry to see the scene, looking domineering. There was a sudden silence in the office. It was so quiet that the voice of air moving could be heard. Felix glared at Zoe as if he wanted to swallow her. Step by step, he walked slowly and powerfully to the inside and came to Winnie. Looking at Winnie's rosy face, Felix got angrier and felt distressed about it. "You did nothing wrong, why you allowed she to bully you? Why did you allow her to hit you? Remember, nobody in this world can hit you except your parents." Felix said coldly, but Winnie felt warm in heart. Although she was beaten and stunned, she knew Felix was concerned about her. No matter how it had been, no matter how it would be, at least Felix was on her side for the moment. It was awkward to be recognized like this, but Winnie was grateful from the bottom of her heart. "Brian, who is he? Why he spoke for this woman without knowing the whole story?" Zoe had never seen Felix, so she did not know who the old man was. But she was unconvinced that he spoke for Winnie. But this old man was domineering, so she could only ask Brian. "This is the chairman of the Bennet Group and my grandfather." Hearing that, Zoe was dumbstruck and motionless, with cold sweat on her forehead. Just as Zoe was stunned, Felix stepped up to her. "Wendy's mother, listen up, this is the Bennet Group, not the street, where you can make a scene. Go back to ask the truth and question anyone after making sure your daughter did not lie." "Winnie is our company's partner, and our company has the obligation to protect her. If you dare to move her once more, I will make the Yup Group suffer a complete defeat."

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 399 FELIX'S WARNING

Felix had not been so angry for a long time, nor had he warned someone so forcefully in the face. Today, it was unbearable and he lost his temper. Zoe came back to sense from the warning, but she had spirit like a new-born cattle and did not fear the tigers. "Mr. Bennet..." Zoe wanted to speak, but Wendy dressed in a hospital gown rushed in. "Mom, don't say any more, don't disgrace yourself." Wendy said in tears and her face went pale. Her dry and peeling lips showed that she was in serious illness. But she cried not because she was sorry, but because her mother's impulsive behavior had once again screwed things up. "Grandpa, I'm sorry, my mother didn't understand the status. Don't be angry. I promise we won't come to the Bennet Group again." Wendy apologized to Felix. She did not expect Felix would be there, so it would be more difficult to regain Brian's heart. "The one who should say sorry is your mother. Your mother beat Winnie without any reason. And the one who should accept the apology is Winnie." At this time, Felix thought of Winnie. Her competitive mother should get the consequences of her impulses. Wendy's heart sank. How could her mother beat Winnie in front of Brian and Felix? It was not to vent her anger for her, it was to kill her. "Mom, apologize to Winnie. You can't hit her." Wendy anxiously looked back at her mother, but Zoe refused. "This shameless woman seduced Brian. I helped you vent your anger. And you..." "Shut up, you are still babbling. Call security and get her out of here." Felix was impatient and did not want to see such a poor person. At the command, several secretaries took the place of the security guard and dragged Zoe out directly. "Wait a minute." Felix stopped the secretary in a cold voice. "Wendy's mother, I would say the last word." "Now I finally know where Wendy's temperament comes from. Like mother, like daughter. With a mother like you, Wendy will never marry into the Bennet family." Then he looked at Wendy who was crying coldly. "I warn you, Wendy, tell your mother why you broke up. If she comes again, I will send her to jail, and I will make the Yup Group disappear from B City." "No, it won't happen again. Don't worry, Grandpa. I'm sorry I didn't make myself understood." Wendy repeatedly apologized, and then stumbled to Winnie. "Winnie, I'm sorry for my mother. I'm sorry." Wendy did not mean to say sorry. But Felix spoke for Winnie publicly, she had to apologize. She apologized and walked out to find her mother, who had been dragged out. Everyone else had left, too, and a hush fell over the office. Felix seemed to have some physical exhaustion after burst of rage. He didn't say anything and sat down on the sofa. Then Winnie brought him a glass of water. "Chairman, drink some water and calm down." Although she got beaten, although the company was in mess, Winnie was really happy, but she had to keep a low profile. Felix lifted his eyes and looked at Winnie's red and swollen face, and his heart pulled together. "Brian, take her into the break room and take care of it." Looking at the red and swollen face, Felix felt his mood affect and he could not say what he wanted to say. "Winwin, come with me. There is ice in the refrigerator, get it and cool your face." At this time, Brian was an obedient child. He took Winnie by the hand and walked to the break room. "I'm fine, Chairman is still there. Don't you see he is tired?" Winnie said as she was being dragged away. She felt that Felix needed a cold compress more than her to calm his anger. "Brian..." Winnie's words broke as the door of the break room closed. Sitting on the sofa, Felix sighed a long sigh, showing his helplessness. He came by today to make it clear that they could not be together. If they agreed, he would talk about children. He did not expect to meet this situation when he arrived and did not expect to see Winnie beaten. His heart pulled together. It seemed that it was not suitable to talk about this topic today, so he would find a chance another day. Brian and Winnie walked into the break room. Brian was to get the ice, Winnie followed him nagging. "It is not good to leave the Chairman alone. Go out, I will do it by myself." "It is him who told me to go in." As he said that, Brian had got the ice ready, and then wrapped it in a towel, for fear that Winnie could not accept it because it was cold. "But..." "No buts. I will go out when I finish this." Brian took Winnie by the hand and led her sit down on bed, and then applied ice on Winnie's face. "Ah..." "Does it hurt?" Asked Brian, worried. "No, it's cold." "Hold it for a while, hold it for a while." Brian was still distressed and chagrined. What happened today was too sudden that he did not react in time and he did not expect Zoe would be so impulsive. "Again I did not protect you well. I am so incompetent as your boyfriend." He didn't say sorry, but he was guilty. "It's none of your business. Leave me alone. Go out and see the chairman." Winnie took the ice in Brian's hand and urged Brian. "Ok, I will see Grandpa first." Brian looked at Winnie with worry. However, he opened the door to find his grandfather had left. Brian soon returned, which made Winnie confused. "Why are you back?" "Grandpa's gone home." Brian looked suspicious and did not know why grandpa came. "Won't you go out and see?" Winnie was uneasy. Felix would not have come to vent anger for her. "It's all right, Butler Lowe is with him." Brian calmed down and began to analyze his grandfather's attitude. "Winwin, Grandpa just defended you. I think Grandpa has a different opinion of you." Remembering his grandfather's protection of Winnie, Brian felt happy. Although Winnie was beaten, he saw grandpa's attitude changed. "Yes, I know he spoke for me." Winnie answered in a light tone. "Winwin, Grandpa appreciates you very much. We can't give up. We must work together to win Grandpa's approval." Brian said with hope and excitement. Looking at Brian, Winnie could not bear to cool his enthusiasm, so she gave a faint smile. "Ok, we work together." She said she would work hard on it, but she felt it hopeless. Although she was happy today, it was not approval. She still had no hope of becoming Brian's wife. Wendy went back to car angrily with her mother and showed her dissatisfaction with the behavior of her mother. "Mom, are you crazy? I told you to leave it alone and I will fix it. Why you came to make a scene?" "Now, you have ruined everything. Even Felix had warned me, don't you think I will still have chance?" Wendy said in tears bitterly and resentfully. Maybe she was grieved or helpless, she was in a mess now. "I was angry. You had been bullied and Brian had been robbed away, I can't sit idle. That bitch deserves to be beaten." "As bad as things were today, I don't regret hitting that woman. Don't let me see her again, or will still beat her. No matter....." "Mom...Mom..." Wendy stopped her indignant mother. "Mom, Brian's family has come forward to protect Winnie. If you provoke her, you will get into unnecessary trouble. Felix warned that if we want to keep the Yup Group, we had better not provoke Winnie. Do you still dare to behave foolishly?" Wendy was angry at her mother's outrageous behavior and did not know how to make her understand the truth. "What are you afraid of? It's better to bring down the Yup Group. It's not ours anyway. Wendy, when did you become so timid? How can you stand this?" Zoe still did not realize that what she had done was wrong. She was very flaunting and felt proud to beat Winnie, because she vented anger for her daughter. "Mom, what is wrong with you? Can you get a job? Or do you want Dad to get a job? If we lost the Yup Group, how can we make money? Without the Yup Group, we have nothing." Wendy was so angry and even had no spirit to scold her mother. Her voice obviously lowered down and she felt so helpless. Zoe said at this moment. "Wendy, don't talk about it. Go back to the hospital and have some rest." Zoe started the car and drove to the hospital. In order to be alone with Winnie, Brian finished all the work before it was time off work. He came to Winnie's office. "Is it not over yet?" "It's over. I'll turn off the computer and go." Winnie answered as she turned off the computer. "Brian..." Winnie was about to say something, but then she stopped. "What's the matter?" "Nothing, we will talk about it outside." After Winnie turned off the computer, they left together. They drove a car today. Winnie insisted to drive, Brian had to agree. On the way home, two people had been talking and laughing at the beginning. It was not until Winnie suddenly swerved to the right that Brian became suspicious. "Where are you taking me?" "To the hospital." Winnie could only tell the truth. "To see Wendy?" Brian tightened his eyebrows because only Wendy was in the hospital.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 400 FORCED TO GO TO THE HOSPITAL

Brian's reply made Winnie smile. It seemed that dealing with intelligent men would save more time and effort. "Clever, you are so clever. Now I know why I love you even you're grumpy." "You are naughty. Do you want to give me to Wendy?" Brian said with slight dissatisfaction. He did not want to see Wendy, if he wanted to see her, he would raise it. What Wendy and her mother had done made him extremely disappointed. "No, I wouldn't have come if I don't want you." After one last mischievous attempt, Winnie stopped smiling. "Go and see her. I think she's very ill." "You are so kind to forgive her mother hit you, and she had hurt you more than once. I don't think I am clever, or how can I love such a silly woman?" Brian said sincerely, but it was not derogatory but positive. "Silly? It is ok. This world would be a mess without so many silly people." "Go and see her. Whatever she's done before, she's a sick person now. Let it go." Winnie still persuaded Brian. She agreed with the words of Brian. She was really silly or she would not stay with Brian. Brian took a sigh and showed his helplessness. He could not forgive Wendy at this moment, and he could not pretend nothing had happened. But Winnie forced him to see her, so he had no way to deal with it even if he was clever. "Do you know which room Wendy lives?" Brian said in a low voice seriously. "Yes." Winnie answered. "How do you like that? By hacking?" Brian asked with doubts. "It doesn't need hacking, I asked Doctor Burns." Winnie thought she was not that silly. Wendy knew which hospital Doctor Burns worked. She was likely to choose the hospital where he worked, so that he might go to see her and Brian would know about it. So, Wendy wanted Brian to see her. Winnie made a call to Doctor Burns and knew the answer. "I am going to seal Kevin's mouth." Brian said and wanted to vent his anger. Winnie was speechless and looked at Brian with a smile. In the hospital, Wendy felt asleep since she went back and did not wake up till now. When she opened her eyes, she remembered what happened at noon. She felt she had no hope and could not help but shed tears. "Why are you crying. Cheer yourself up and snatch Brian back." Hearing her mother's sharp words, Wendy was sad. "Mom, don't say anything, ok? Don't you realize your mistakes?" "But I was my fault, I did not tell you the truth." Wendy hated herself now for not telling the truth to her mother, so that it caused troubles. "I don't care what happened, Winnie deserves to be beat." Speaking of Winnie, Zoe was angry. "If you keep that thought, our family will be ruined. Mom, I hate Winnie more than anyone does, and want to slap in her face more than anyone, but I endure it for a chance." "Brian now protects her, no one could do anything to her. If I want to drive her away, I have to regain Brian's heart." With that, Wendy laughed at herself. If she had realized this way, it would not end up like this. "How can you regain his heart? You think too simply. Listen, the best way to drive Winnie away. It is easy for she had no status, no family background, she just is good-looking. You don't..." "Mom, Mom, please stop. I can't drive her away. If I can, I would not have ended up like this. She had no status, no family background, but she has two children. No one could do anything to it." Wendy had to tell the truth. "What?" Zoe was puzzled at what her daughter said. "Luke's mother is Winnie, and she has a daughter too. They are twins, and the father is Brian." Wendy said angrily, hoping her mother could face the reality but not make a scene. Brian had warned her that she could not bully Winnie, or her family could not stay in B City. Zoe was surprised to hear that. She knew Brian had a child, not two children, and the mother was Winnie. "Winnie is Luke's mother? Why did you tell me? If you did, I would have not beat her. I beat her, it is equal to beat Brian." Zoe was angry. She did not know it, and that was why she did a ridiculous thing. Zoe beat and scolded Wendy angrily. "What is wrong with you? She gave birth children for Brian, so that she could have a rich life, and you? What have you done? What did you get?" "Why didn't you tell me before? If you told me, I would not allow you to be with Brian." Zoe beat Wendy like crazy, as if she wanted to vent out the resentment out of her belly. "Mom..." Wendy shouted. Now she was weak, if her mother kept beating her, she would die. Zoe stopped. Wendy asked her. "Why I can't be with Brian. I made a mistake and I want to correct it." "Why? You asked me why? Don't you know about yourself? This is one of the reasons, but the other one was the most important. Winnie has two children, do you think you still have chance?" Zoe regretted it. If she supported Wendy, she would ruin her. "I do have chance. I have confidence to hide my things from Brian for a lifetime. Winnie has two children, but she has no status, the Bennet family will not accept her." Wendy believed that Winnie could only be a mistress and she would never marry Brian. "Wake up, don't dream about it. Didn't you hear what Felix said? If he really can't accept Winnie, he would not spoke for Winnie. And don't underestimate the children, they are the reason you lost." Zoe panted angrily and could not calm down. "The children decide everything and they can make Winnie to be Brian's wife. Felix is in 90s, maybe one day he dies. If he dies, who can stop Winnie from marrying Brian?" "I don't care, even if I will fail, I can't give up now." Wendy shouted hysterically. She could not listen to her mother and did not want to admit that it was the fact. "You are crazy, you are really crazy. You will ruin our family." Seeing that Wendy went crazy, Zoe knew she would not listen to her, and she felt Wendy had no hope to be with Brian. Even if there was, it had been driven away by Winnie. Wendy could do nothing about the children. "Ok, just put it aside. Tell me, what have you hid from me?" Zoe wanted to know the truth and see what have Wendy done wrong to angry Brian. But suddenly, the door was pushed opened, and Brian showed up. In the ward. "Brian." Zoe called his name in surprise, but then she was panic, thinking Brian was there to deal with them. "Brian, come in." Zoe showed flatter. Wendy was lying in bed, but when she heard her mother called Brian's name, she sat up in surprise. She was angry just now, but now she had calmed down. "Brian, why are you here?" Wendy was pleased. She did not know why Brian came, but she was happy to see him. "Zoe, I come to see Wendy." Brian said coldly but politely. It was hospital and he could control his emotion. "Ok." Zoe felt uneasy because she could not see through Brian's mind. Brian came to Wendy. Seeing her pale face, he became soft. "How are you doing?" Brian asked in a cold voice. "I'm ok in a few days." "You are not ok. You just woke up from a day of fainting." As Wendy's weak voice failed, Zoe corrected her. She thought Brian would not be angry with Wendy if she said Wendy was badly ill. "Mom..." Wendy gave a look to her mother. "Fine, you two chat. I go and get some food for Wendy, she has not eaten for two days." Zoe found an excuse and went out. There were Wendy and Brian leaving in the ward. "Have a seat." Wendy said weakly and then moved her body, hoping Brian sat on the bed. "No, I just came by to see you." "Wendy, I hope you can get over, face the reality since we have broken up. It will not change anything even if you torture yourself." Brian said with a frown, it was cruel to Wendy, but he had to say it. If he got a soft heart, it would do more harm to Wendy.