Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 41 THE RESULT

Winnie was discontent, but she could not say no, after all they she was in the plane. She could only walk to the position by the window and sit down. She did not sleep well last night. And it took four hours of the flight. She was bothered by Leo in the first two hours and got freezing in the last two hours. Winnie was speechless and looked out of the window. She would not speak again now and she just wanted to sleep. Whoever dared to bother her, she would be angry. She was not angry, which was different from she was just now. Brian was furious. He wanted to question her loudly, but he had to put up with it, after all, it was the public. Fortunately, Winnie did not hear his cold voice till she fell asleep. The temperature in the air was low. In her sleep, Winnie could not help but quiver. Seeing that, Brian frowned and covered her with his blanket. It was got caught in the eyes of Leo. President Bennet who had been always indifferent cared about his employee, which was unbelievable. As the plane was to land, the strong current began to jolt fiercely. Winnie had been just waken up was in a daze and did not know what had happened. Then she felt uncomfortable in head and ears, so she could not help but scream. Then she was suddenly held into someone's arm and stopped screaming. His solid chest made her feel safe and have a different feeling that she did not want to leave. The jolt by current got over soon. And airline stewardess came to comfort them. And Winnie could not nest in the arms of Brian. "Winwin, are you all right?" Leo asked with concern. "I'm fine." Leo was worried about her. Feeling embarrassed, Winnie did not know what to say. Brian stood out. "Are you all right?" Asked Brian in a quiet voice. Looking at Winnie's face, he felt worried. Winnie was surprised to hear Brian's voice which was not cold, looking at him in a daze. This seemed to be the first time Brian talked to her with such warm voice, which was better than that when he was indifferent. "It's okay. I made a fuss." Winnie came to her senses. After tidying up herself, Winnie noticed the blanket on her body. What the hell was this? Who covered it for her? Was it Leo? Was it Albert? Was it the stewardess or Brian? When Winnie was wondering, the plane began to land, and her head once again was in pain. But this time she tried hard not to make a sound, not to bother anyone. After getting off the plane and saying goodbye to Leo, they went straight to the workplace. After a busy afternoon, they came to the hotel after dinner. "Mr. Bennet, your room and Winnie's room are on the 28th floor. My room and Klara's room are on the 20th floor." It was Albert who booked the room. "Thank you, Albert." Winnie said politely, while Brian was indifferent and said nothing. The elevator stopped at the 20th floor. Albert and Klara walked out of the elevator. After the elevator's door closed, Albert asked. "You booked the plane ticket and arranged the seats?" Klara was obviously at a loss. "No, I'm not that boring. That's from the system. What can I do?" Klara denied it. "Klara, I told you to do your job and not think too much about it. But you still do so, don't you think it is childish?" Albert warned her again. "Don't worry about me. I can do my job well." Klara said unconvinced and went straight to her room. Brian and Winnie walked out of the elevator together and walked to their respective rooms. The two rooms were next to each other. Brian found his room. When he opened the door, Winnie came to his side. He reached out his hand and accurately grasped Winnie's hand, and pulled her to his room with great force. Winnie was looking for her room then. When she came back to her sense, she had been pulled in the room. She looked at Brian in a panic. "You..." As she only said one word, her lips were accurately captured by Brian. "... " Winnie was tightly held, and it was impossible to escape. Now all she could do was stop herself from responding to the kiss. However, Brian's kiss surprised her. It seemed like an act of venting, rude and wild. His anger rose at the thought of Winnie's interaction with Leo on the plane. And the way to vent anger was to kiss, and the position of venting anger could only be Winnie's tender attractive lips. Brian controlled his impulse to bite and controlled his hormones. But when he felt Winnie's body became soft under his attack, all his self-control declared failure. He suddenly let go of Winnie's lips. Before Winnie sobered up from the kiss, he picked her up and went straight to the big comfortable bed. Brian tore Winnie's clothes with passion, throwing to the ground one by one. "Brian..." Winnie felt the coolness and became conscious. When she was to refuse, she found that her voice sounds like an invitation. She quickly increased her strength. "Brian." But now even if Winnie took a knife on Brian's neck, he could not stop. He had never been hungrier than he was today. He thought he could be calm about anything, including sex. But Winnie was special. She had enough ability to make him out of control. Brian had been unable to contain the desire which was spreading like wildfire. The night was dark as ink, and the two was in passion in the big bed. Winnie was tired and limp all over her body, lying on the bed and inhaling oxygen. The dim light shone on the two naked bodies, which was more attractive. "Don't go close to Leo. You cheated him, he will retaliate." Brian suddenly said in a cold voice, which was antipathetic with the current atmosphere. Winnie sighed about that all the beauty was all illusion. She would like to sleep since she was so tired, she would like have a sound sleep in this man's arm and owned this man for a night. But Brian's words pulled her back to the cruel reality. "I cheated him, and it is reasonable he takes avenge. You have no simple reason that you want me to be your woman, perhaps because you do it for your wife, perhaps because my ability is good for the company." Winnie was not sure which one was the reason, it could be both. But she was sure that it was not because of affection that Brian wanted her to be his woman."Because of your ability." Brian answered decisively, and he did not know why he wanted to give her answer."Thank you for telling me that. Since you are selfish, I cannot agree to your request. In fact, you have no difference with Leo, he wants to revenge, but you are cruel than him. If it is the fate, I would rather be revenged by Leo, at least he will not anger me." Winnie was upset and she did not want to let Brian feel good. They could have a peaceful night. But he had angered her, so she would like to anger him too."Winnie..." Brian was successfully angered by Winnie, but his roar was interrupted by her."There you go again. I told you are moody. No, I used the wrong word. You are not moody; you are angry without joy." Winnie said with sarcasm and felt better when Brian was angry. Winnie took a breath and continued."Perhaps, when you are warm and gentle to me like Leo, I will agree to be your woman." Winnie adjusted her mood and said jokingly. Because she knew that Brian could not meet such demands, and she had no chance to be his woman in her life. Brian suddenly calmed down. Wasn't there any distinction between him and Leo? Was he really so cold that women dared not to come close to him? Brian's eyes were dark and cold, making people shudder. Brian's silence and anger in his eyes had given Winnie the answer. She raised a self-mockery radian on lips, but she felt lost out of no reason. Man was a landmine, and she had to avoid him, otherwise she would be blown to pieces. They started working early in the next day and kept busy all day. In order not to affect the work, Winnie's mobile phone had been turned off. When she was back to the hotel at night, she turned it on. She had a habit of checking WeChat first to see if anyone had sent her messages. But most important of all was the one she had been eagerly waiting for, Daenerys. Winnie clicked in and sure enough there was message from her. Winnie was highly nervous when she saw the message."The identification result comes out, I have emailed you." Winnie clicked the mail directly without hesitation. When the email was click, she couldn't wait to scan it. She froze when she saw the number 99.99% in the lower right corner. As she stared at the screen in disbelief, her hands began to shake, her eyes began to ache, and her heart began to pound wildly. The next Moment Winnie could not control but cry, she felt to the ground weakly. She found her son. No, it was fate that led her to find her child. It has been four years, she thought of him all the time and prayed for his happiness all the time. But that was not what she found. The child was unhappy and abused. He had to suffer both mental and physical harm. Why, why should her child be treated like this? Was it punishment for her abandoning her child? Winnie was crying loudly, holding the phone tightly in her arms, just like holding Luke. Now she was blank. She did not know what to do except to cry loudly.

CHAPTER 42 CRYING HEART OUT

After crying for a long time, she calmed down and made a call to Daenerys. "Is this all true, Daenerys?" Winnie stifled sobs and asked. And it was like showing off that she had found her son. "Yes, I personally sent the samples for the DNA tests, so there can be no mistake. Luke is your son. Congratulations!" Daenerys could hear Qin's sobs and feel her excitement. She was happy for her. "Yes... Yes ... It's my son. Luke is my son." Winnie could not help but sob again. She felt real and that she was no dreaming only when hearing Daenerys' confirmation. "Don't cry, it's a good thing." Said Daenerys soothingly. "Yes, I will not cry. Is Luke all right?" Winnie wanted to immediately put Luke in her arms to compensate him for the loss of her love in these years. "I called you for that in the afternoon, but your phone was off. Luke was brought home by Penny, I can't stop her." Daenerys said, but such a message once again hit Winnie. She remembered that Luke had told her that as long as Daddy was on a business trip, Mommy would beat him. Thinking of this, Winnie had a bad feeling and quickly hung up the phone. She clicked on an app on her phone and saw the video immediately. The screen was dark, but she could hear Luke's trembling voice. "Where are you, Auntie Winwin? I am so afraid. Auntie, where are you and Daddy?" Luke said in a low voice with panic and helplessness. "Luke, don't be afraid, where are you, Luke?" Winnie was worried, looking at the dark screen. But Luke could not hear anything. The toy bear she gave Luke was a video transmission tool, which was unable to communicate like a mobile phone. Winnie was restless and anxious with tears falling down. She had no idea what happened to Luke. She gave Luke the toy bear with cameras, so that she could offer help when Luke had an accident, but now she was too far away to do anything at all. Winnie forced herself to calm down. Luke said that Penny would lock him in the warehouse after beating him. Now Luke was in dark environment, he must be in a warehouse. Winnie did not dare to think about it, since Luke must have been abused. With trembling hands, Winnie backed up the video. Sure enough... "Son of a bitch, you always hang out with that bitch Winnie. What's so good about her that you'd rather go to her than go home?" The scene showed Penny's ferocious face with hysterical invective. Luke obediently stood in front of her, dare not look up or talk back, he just silently endured it. Seeing this, Winnie burst into tears. "I am asking you." Penny continued to ask maliciously. Without waiting for Luke's answer, she stretched out her hand and slapped Luke's head. Luke was still a child, how could he withstand such a powerful slap directly, so he fell to the ground. He was in pain. He just silently burst into tears but did not dare to cry aloud. Winnie felt her heart broken for that. She blamed herself and repented. She would not have given her child away if she had known he was being treated like this. Winnie felt her heart in pain, crying hysterically. "You are inhumane, Penny. I will never forgive you for what you did to my child." Winnie cried loudly. She swore that Penny was her enemy from now on, she would let her pay for what she had done to son. Winnie put away her phone and went straight out. She heavily knocked at the door of Brian's room. Brian was on the phone in the room, with a serious expression. Hearing the knock at the door, he did not put down the phone but walked over to open the door. Seeing Winnie with tearful face and swollen eyes, instantly he felt distressed. "Call Penny right now!" Winnie shouted loudly in panic and came in regardless the fact that Brian was still on the phone. "I'll call you back." In a low voice, Brian hung up the phone and walked over to Winnie. "Why, why are you crying?" Brian asked in a cold voice. It was obviously a far cry from what it sounded like just now. But Winnie ignored that, she just wanted to make Luke out of the dark fear as soon as possible. "Call Penny right now and ask her to send Luke to my house." Winnie was still crying. Seeing Brian, she felt more hateful. She hated him that he did not take good care of the child. "Luke was picked up by Penny?" Brian was confused about what was going on. "Don't ask, now call her and ask her immediately to send Luke to my house." Winnie begged and cried, having difficulties in breathing. She wanted her to send Luke back as soon as possible, or the child would be hurt psychologically. Seeing her crying hysterically, Brian did not continue to ask but made a call to Penny. "Where are you?" "I'm outside." Penny was surprised to receive the call from Brian. She felt unease to hear his cold voice. "I don't care where you are, now send Luke to Winnie's house." Brian shouted angrily, issuing orders like a king. If Penny had seen his gloomy face, she would have been scared to the ground. "Brian, you are not home, so I took the child back, why should I send him to her house?" Penny's voice obviously was trembling. When she heard about Luke, she was surprised and wondered if Brian had known about something. "I let you..." Brian did not know why, so he could not answer Penny's question. When he spoke, Winnie shouted angrily. "Penny, you are inhumane, why did you take Luke back? Penny, I am telling you, I shall never forgive you, you go to hell." Winnie stood beside Brian and she heard what Penny said over the phone. She felt much hateful about that. "You're together?" Penny frowned, feeling that it was not so simple. "Yes, we are together. I'm sleeping with your husband in the same bed. If you're trying to get back at me, just come to me. Penny, don't think me a bully. If you provoke me, I will steal your husband." Winnie cried hysterically. At the thought of Luke was beat and kicked until he was put in the dark warehouse by Penny, she wanted to kill Penny. She could be beaten or scolded, but she could not bear Penny was so cruel to her child. "You..." "You now immediately send Luke to her house. I will check in half an hour. If he is not there, you will suffer." Listening to Winnie's words, Brian was puzzled. But he felt distressed when he saw her crying so bitterly. At the moment, what Brian could do was appease Winnie's mood by giving sharp order to Penny. After putting down the phone, Brian put Winnie in her arms and caressed her back. "Don't cry." Brian was not good at comforting people, because he had never comforted others. But he could not bear the fact that Winnie was crying sadly. "It's all your fault. It's all your fault. How could you..." Feeling the embrace of Brian, Winnie cried more sadly. She demanded as she beat Brian's solid chest. But there were some words she could not speak out. "I asked you to arrange the child before we left. Why did Penny take Luke away? It's all your fault." At the moment, Winnie just wanted to vent her anger, wanted to take Brian as Penny to beat and to avenge Luke. "....." Brian was still confused, but in this case he chose silence. "Bastard, how could you do this to a child? I hate you, I hate you..." Winnie cried and questioned loudly, but because of the long time of sad crying, she had serious hypoxia of the brain. Finally because of weakness, she was unable to support herself and got fainted in Brian's arms. "Winwin, Winwin..." Brian panicked and quickly picked up Winnie to the bed. Two hours later, Winnie finally woke up. What she did first was to confirm whether Luke was safe. "What about Luke? Did Luke go to my house?" Regardless that she was still in infusion, she suddenly sat up and asked Brian nervously. "Luke is in your house, I made a phone call and confirmed about it." "Give me the phone, I want to make sure of it." Winnie looked around for the mobile phone and got moody. "Calm down, Winwin. It's getting late and the children are already in bed." Brian stopped Winnie, which made Winnie calmer. "Brian, if you dare to cheat me again, I will hate you for a lifetime."Winnie angrily looked at Brian and said gnashing her teeth."Call tomorrow morning and you will know."Brian said coldly. Winnie was the only one woman who dared to threaten him, dared to him. He could have thrown such a woman away, but he could not. Maybe she would bring a lot of benefit to the company.Winnie finally calmed down and lay down again.There was silence in the room."Come on, what is going on?"Brian asked in a cold voice."Nothing? Penny went too much."Winnie was anxious and thinking it was the fast was to save Luke by asking Brian to call Penny. As for how to explain why she acted anxiously, she was not thinking about it."What has Penny done? She is Luke's Mommy. It's normal to bring her son home. Why are you so anxious?"Brian was smart and wise that he would not easily believe Winnie's understatement."No..."Winnie stopped talking."I am not anxious, I am just worried about Megan. Megan had been with me for so many years. I would not agree to come with you for this business trip if you had not agreed that you would send Luke to my house. But Penny picked up Luck and Megan called me crying. I am now far away from her and sure I am worried."

CHAPTER 43 BE YOUR WOMAN?

Winnie finally came up with an excuse to for her anxiety, as for Brian believed or not, it would be his problem. Brian's eyes were dark. He was still questioning. "It is not a big deal, why are you crying like that? Winnie, it's not like you." "She is not your child, of course you don't care. If you have the chance, experience what it's like to hear your child cry on the phone." At the thought that in the dark video Luke was helplessly call her and Daddy, Winnie could not help but shed tears. In that dark environment, he must be helpless and desperate. His heart was filled with fear, and Winnie had been there. She had that feeling when her family was destroyed and she got betrayed by bestie and boyfriend. She was an adult, she could endure it, but Luke was still a child..... Winnie really could think more about it, her tears kept falling down, and her heart felt suffocating pain. She once again secretly vowed that she would never forgive Penny and would fight with Penny. "Ok, ok, don't cry." Brian did not continue to ask, but he had doubt in his heart. "Divorce Penny, and I will be your woman." Winnie lifted her tearful eyes with hatred. It was so sudden that Brian froze. "No." Brian frowned and his eyes turned cold. "Why? What's good about her? I'm prettier than she is, I'm more capable than she is, I'm more qualified than she is, I..." "She's never married. You're a divorced woman." Brian's eyes were sharp and his tone was cold. "Hum..." Winnie stubbornly wiped away tears and continued after a cold hum. "Is there any difference between being married and not being married? Was she a virgin when she married you? If not, you still married a secondhand girl. I just have a child." Winnie was angry and said rude words. Winnie would like to try any way that she could keep Luke away from Penny. Even if the way was full of thorns, for the sake of the child, she would walk on it. "She has power and status. You don't." Brian was angry and his icy voice hit the key point. "Winnie, is this the ultimate goal of your acting today? You want to find a reason to replace Penny's position. I underestimated you. I thought that you only cheat money, you only want money. I didn't think you were so ambitious as to be Mrs. Bennet." Recalling what Winnie had done and said to deliberately provoke Penny, Brian finally realized that she was careerist no matter how her ability was. Brian paused for a moment and continued to coldly say. "Winnie, let me tell you, I am not a person who can be cheated by anyone. You can't be Mrs. Bennet. Put away your ambitions and work well, or I'll ruin the rest of your life." Brian said before he got up proudly, regardless of Winnie who was weak in bed. "Brian, am I that bad in your eyes? I have no status and right, I should come once you asked me to? You were lonely, I should come to your bed? The heat of the bed has not completely faded, you immediately called me a cheater. So what is your plan? Avenge your wife?" Winnie did not rebuke but said in a low voice. Because Brian's words had hurt her that she could even not refute. Her eyes were full of wronged tears. She tried hard to hold them back. "....." Brian had nothing to say, not because he didn't know what to say, but because he saw the injustice in Winnie's eyes, so he kept silent. Brian could not bear to see the moisture in Winnie's eyes, so he turned around... "Brian, I will give you only this chance. If you don't agree, don't ever ask me to be your woman again. Don't ever drag me to bed again." Winnie was trying her last effort to induce Brian, but Brian did not stop but resolutely left. Winnie was decadent and sad. It seemed that Brian's feeling to Penny was deep, and he would not give up Penny easily because of her the cheater. In the next day, Winnie went back to B City alone after work. She was in a hurry to go back to see Luke and to appease him. When Winnie got home, it was already 9 p.m. She felt relieved when she opened the door and saw Megan and Luke were watching the cartoon in the living room. But her excitement could not be contained. She ran to Luke, directly knelt on the ground and held Luke in his arms. "Sorry, Luke, it is my fault." Winnie could not again control her emotion and burst into tears. "Auntie....." Luke froze, but later he cried too holding Winnie. He thought of himself as a man and held back tears when he came back here. But after being held in the arms of Winnie, he could not hold back tears anymore. "Luke, don't afraid, I will protect you, no one will bully you. Luke, if you are afraid or wronged, cry loudly. You don't need to bear it in heart." Winnie cried and counseled for fear that the child would be psychologically hurt. "Ok, I am afraid, I am afraid." Hearing that, Luke wept aloud. Winnie was distressed and used all her strength to hug the child, blaming herself. If she hadn't let go of the child, he wouldn't have suffered this inhuman treatment. It was her fault and she would have spent the rest of her life trying to make up for it. Winnie put both children to sleep before returning to the living room. Her eyes were still swollen from crying and her tears were still swirling in eyes, which made Daenerys sad too. "Well, you should be glad you've got your son back anyway." Daenerys put a glass of water in front of Winnie, comforting her. "Yes, I'm glad. I thought that I would never see him again in my life. I thought that when I met him, I could not recognize him. It was a surprise and it is more surprising than that I saw an alien." Winnie was glad, but it was too bitter. "Daenerys, I've decided to stay. No matter my aunt and Vanessa will come back or not, I will not leave. I want to protect Luke, I can't let him continue to be hurt. Penny is too cruel, she is inhuman and she will ruin Luke." Winnie had made up her mind that even though she had bad memory about this city, Brian made it tough for her, Penny slandered her, she would stay with Luke. "I agree, but what are you going to do about it?" Daenerys felt it was difficult. "I'm not sure, but I can't reveal my relationship with Luke. Brian will not accept me, and he will not give me Luke. The only thing I can do is to find another reason to protect Luke." Winnie was helpless. She had a certain understanding to Brian. It was not simple to keep the secret while protecting Luke. "Winwin, why don't you tell Brian that Luke was beaten, I don't believe Brian will ignore it." Flankly, Daenerys did not know how to help, and she just came up with this suggestion. "No, there's some risk. He would not do anything to Penny even if he knows, and he will only suspect me. In this way, he won't let Luke stay with me, and I won't be able to protect Luke." Winnie denied Daenerys's suggestion. She had to make decision after she thought about it. She could not push Luke into a deeper hell because of her own impulse. "The most important thing for me now is to find a way to keep Luke here." Winnie said thoughtfully. The first way had failed, so what else could be used to negotiate with Brian? The next evening. The weather was good. The sun was still in the sky. The children in the community were frolicking in the playground. Winnie took two children downstairs for a walk after dinner in order to make Luke happy. Megan took Luke to the children's park to play, and Winnie sat in the pavilion watching. "Winwin, why are you here?" Leo's clear and gentle voice was heard. Winnie looked up to Leo. "I live in this neighborhood. How about you?" Leo always showed up suddenly, Winnie had got used to it though she had doubt. "I also live in this neighborhood. Gate 2 on the 18th floor of that building is my home." Leo happily pointed to a building in front of him. Winnie looked at the building and found she lived in that building too. What a coincidence. People said that the world was so big and it was not easy to meet, but she felt that the world was too small that she met people who she did not want to meet. "Oh, that's a coincidence. We live in the same building. Gate 1 on the 18th floor. But it's not my house. It's just a temporary stay." "It is indeed a coincidence. Winwin, we are destined to meet." Leo showed a look of surprise. "When did you get back?" Winnie asked casually, turning away from the topic. She had long not believe in destiny. "This morning." Knowing from Daenerys that Winnie moved here, he spent a day to move here to be her neighbor. Leo did a lot in order to help Winnie as much as possible. "Oh, you must be tired. Go back and rest." Winnie had to make a plan what to do next, so she did not want to be disturbed by Leo, and did not want to see his eyes that will previous emotion. When she saw Leo, she would think of Brian and compared them. One was as warm as the sun and the other was as cold as an ice cave. The sun would burn people, which the ice cave would freeze the heart into ice. If possible, she would like to stay away from both of them. "I am not tired. I've had a day off at the office. Super..."

CHAPTER 44 REACH AN AGREEMENT

Brian wanted to say he had finished his supper, but he was embarrassed that his stomach growled. "I have not had supper, I mean. Why don't we take the kids to eat outside?" Leo wanted to spend more time with Winnie and tried to find out if she needed help. "I..." Winnie hesitated for a moment. "All right. I didn't thank you for fixing my car, it's my treat then." Listening to Leo's hungry grunt, thinking of his help to her, Winnie did not refuse. They came to a barbecue shop outside the community. The business of the barbecue shop was good, and there was no room anymore, so that could only sat by the window. Leo only asked the two children what they wanted to eat and then ordered. After the baked food was served, Winnie found that everything except the children's food was her favorite. "Eat, they are what you like to eat." Leo said kindly. They became a couple abroad. Winnie liked to eat barbecue, but it was difficult to find authentic flavor. Every time he took Winnie out, Winnie would say what kind of barbecue she liked to eat, so Leo remembered it. At that time, Leo had more than once promised to take Winnie to have delicious barbecue when they got home, but they broke up before they returned. Thinking of that, Leo felt guiltier and became serious on face. "Thank you! You eat too, you are hungry" Winnie thanked him for still remembering her favorite. They had a nice time at the table, but Brian in a luxurious car parked outside the window was gloomy on face. He was staring at Winnie's bright smiling face. From the moment Winnie came back, he was inexplicably worried. He was in a hurry to get everything done and took the last flight back, just to see if she felt better. But seeing her happy smile was for the man sitting opposite her, Brian longed to cover her beautiful face, and even wanted to fill her dimple with plaster. Brian thought that Winnie did not come back for Luke. She did not get what she wanted from him, so she turned her target to Leo. Winnie and Leo came back with the two children. They saw Brian standing at the door as soon as they got off the elevator. Leo said nothing and walked toward his home with a smile. Winnie took a look at Brian, and then approached him with a blank expression, holding Luke more tightly, for fear that Brian took Luke away. Sure enough... "I am here to pick up Luke." Brian said coldly and the anger in his eyes was obvious. "He will stay here today." Winnie subconsciously pulled Luke closer. "Daddy, can I stay with Auntie for a few days?" Luke timidly said. This time Penny hit him more serious than ever, he did not want to see her. "No." "Yes." One was icy, the other was unwavering. "I have developed a new voice program that can be used in the phone's calculator, which no other manufacturer has. If you agree to let Luke stay with me, YB will make a new chapter in the history of mobile phones." Brian came suddenly. Winnie had not come up with a good way, so she could only sacrifice the newly developed software. "....." Brian frowned and said nothing. Winnie's offer really caught his attention. But such a patent-level piece of software would earn a lot if she sold it. Why Winnie used it to let Luke stay? Winnie knew that Brian was attracted by her offer, so she continued. "We will talk about it tomorrow in the company. They children are tired and should have a rest." Winnie said, while inputting password to open the door. Regardless of Megan, she pushed Luke into the room, for fear that Brian would regret. To her surprise, Brian walked in. He changed into slippers, took off the coat and tie, as if he would stay too. Winnie would not have any fierce debate with Brian, for fear of affecting Luke. She said nothing and took two children to take bath. After the children fell asleep, Winnie ignored Brian sitting in the living room and went directly back to her room. Winnie lying on the bed had been listening carefully. If Brian entered her room, he would agree to divorce, but if he didn't, Brian would choose Penny. When Winnie got up the next day, Brian had already left. After sending her children to school, she went to the company. The most important thing today was to work out the agreement that they didn't reach last night. Winnie came to the president's office directly. Brian was on the phone, Winnie stood aside and did not disturb him. Seeing that Brian was on the phone, she remembered that he was on the phone too when she rushed to his room that day. But his voice was not cold on that day. And he frowned when he saw her. Who he called to? Parents? Brothers and sisters? Penny? Or someone else? But no matter who it was, this person could make Brian be less cold, it was not an ordinary person. Since Winnie came in, Brian's cold eyes never left Winnie. As she said, she was more beautiful than Penny, more intelligent and talented than Penny, more elegant than Penny. Winnie was that kind of elegant and lovely woman, and her temperament changed as her work and the environment. When she was at work, she was like a proud but talented princess; when she was with children, she was like a lively girl. Sometimes she was composed, sometimes she was stubborn as a little girl. When she was stubborn, she looked lovable. Brian's thoughts stopped suddenly. How could he describe Winnie's stubbornness with loveliness? Wasn't she the most disobedient woman? Thinking of this, Brian's deep eyes suddenly became cold and he hung up the phone. "What do you think?" Brian got to the point directly. He cared about that, and his tone became cold. "I can give you the software unconditionally, but I want Luke to stay with me." Winnie did not hesitate to answer. She seemed to have been accustomed to Brian's cold attitude to her, so she did not care about it. "I can let Luke stay with you, but I have more demands." Brian thought it was Winnie's way to be Mrs. Bennet. No matter what she would do, Brian was confident that he could play with her. His answer should meet the requirement of Winnie. But there were still questions in his mind, but he couldn't ask now. Brian's answer let Winnie see hope. "What is your next demand?" Winnie was looking forward to it. She would agree to whatever she could do. "Come to work for me." Brian's tone was tough. With a frown, he fixed his cold eyes on Winnie. It was a rare opportunity; he had to make Winnie stay. She was a cheater in life, but she was capable in work. So Winnie was indispensable to him. Winnie thought for a moment. "Yes, but the work contract should be equal, not like last time you have the right to fire me but I did not have the right to resign." Winnie had no other demands than equality of work contract. She needed this job and only be close to Brian, could she stay with Luke. "Deal." "Wait a minute." Brian has got what he wanted, and Winnie had not finished hers. "Mr. Bennet, you haven't heard my terms carefully. I wanted Luke to live with me not for a day, not for a month. He has to live with me as long as I am in this city." Winnie must tell him that clearly, for fear that Brian regretted about it. "Why?" Brian's voice was clear and cold, and his dark eyes showed his doubts. "Megan likes to be with Luke. She has no friends here and relies on Luke." Winnie could only use Megan as an excuse. "Go on." Megan was a good shield, a weapon that Winnie conquered him, so Brian agreed. "When I am on a business trip, when I have no time to take care of them, you send them to the Chairman's. I don't want Luke to have more contact with Penny. She can't teach him well." Winnie had her lesson and did not call him grandpa. She learnt that the so-called grandpa was the chairman of the Bennet Group. According to Luke, the chairman was very fond of him, so she was relieved. "She is Luke's Mommy. There are occasions where she has to take him. Don't you go too far?" Brian's voice was cold and disdainful. His eyes were horrible, feeling like heavy wind would violently come at any time. "Fine, he can go with her for some events, but you have to be there with him." In any case Winnie did not want Penny to stay with Luke alone, she could not let her son live in fear. "Anything else?" "No." Winnie took a deep breath, not expecting things to be solved so quickly. Although she suspected Brian and was afraid of him to set a trap for her, but now she had no choice, even if it was a trap, she had to jump into it for Luke. "Go to the personnel department and entry to your job." Brian did not delay a moment, hoping to hire Winnie as soon as possible. "I can't do it now. I haven't done the demission formalities in MT. I'll finish my work before I go back." Winnie had not settled demission formalities yet, so she was still an employee of MT. "I'll take care of MT. You don't have to go back. Do your job well." Brian was concerned. Winnie was a talent, if she stayed when she went back, he would be in vain. And he must conquer this woman.

CHAPTER 45 THE INTIMATE RELATIONSHIP

After Winnie left, Brian asked Albert to deal with Winnie's resignation, but what he worried about happened. Albert reported the work in the afternoon. "Mr. Bennet, MT did not agree the resignation. It is tough to deal with it." Distressed, Albert said. He had communicated with them for a morning. He sent a lawyer and threatened them, but MT refused the resignation, so he had no way but came back to report. "It is not tough but a chance." Brian's deep eyes darkened. "Albert, immediately convene a meeting to acquire MT." Brian's cold voice was aggressive. Every time Albert saw Brian's such expression, he knew Brian would do something big. "Mr. Bennet, MT is now a big company and profitable, so it is not easy to acquire it." Albert gave his opinion. "Acquire it at a high price, at all costs. We will be profitable after the acquisition of such companies." Brian never flinched when he encountered difficulties. The more difficult it was, the more he rushed forward. If MT did not force Winnie to stay, perhaps he would not do that. He had to get Winnie and he would not show mercy to MT. "Mr. Bennet, do you need to reconsider it?" Albert was not optimistic, and he could only remind him in this way. "No. Do what I tell you." Brian said with certainty and his eyes were dark. Winnie started to work the next day with her position and office changed. In the past, she only directed the application of mobile phone software, but now she was in charge of all the software, becoming the head of Software Development Department in the Bennet Group. Her office was on the 15th floor, but now it was on the same floor as that of president. Winnie felt that this arrangement was high profile. In addition to the president's office and the secretary's office, there was a super large conference room on this floor. No one else worked here. Winnie took a deep breath to relieve the pressure it placed on her, looking at the office. Winnie appreciated the style of office decoration and the office supplies in it. Sofa, tea table, bookcase, air conditioning were of high quality. The restroom was independent, almost as good as Brian's. The financial directors did not have such treatment, so Winnie was completely speechless. Winnie came to the president's office. "Mr. Bennet, my office..." "Don't feel stressful, you have the abilities." As soon as

Winnie said, Brian knew what she wanted to say and denied it directly. "But..." "No buts. Report if you have something to tell, if not, go out." Brian said coldly, without looking up at Winnie. Winnie helplessly glanced at Brian. This man must be the bandit in his last life, who did not give other to speak and did what he wanted to do. Winnie had to turn to leave. Since returning from a business trip, Brian had never made it hard for Winnie in private affairs. There was no sudden embrace, no imperious kiss, and no rolling on the bed. In this way, Brian should have given up her, There was a sense of inexplicable loss, but Winnie still felt at ease that Brian did not disturb her. After dinner, Winnie set about cleaning up the mess. Standing in the kitchen, she could see the sitting room very clearly. Luke sat on the sofa without saying a word and had been looking at Megan. Luke was in a good mood today. Winnie found it at the dinner but she did not ask for fear that she would affect him. It seemed that she needed to have a heart-to-heart talk with Luke. Winnie stopped the work in the kitchen and sat down next to Luke. "Luke, you are in a bad mood, is there anything wrong?" Winnie asked gently. "Auntie, I miss Daddy." Luke did not hide it and was willing to share his thought with Winnie. Hearing that, Winnie suddenly was shocked. She ignored this point. How did she forget that Luke had always admired Brian and relied on him? "Do you miss Mommy?" Winnie continued to ask. If he missed Penny, they still had feelings. She could not let him ignore these feelings, after all, Penny lived with Luke for more than four years. "No." Luke decisively answered. "Auntie, I don't miss Mommy. I want to live with you forever. I don't want to live with Mommy." Luke constantly emphasized, showing a look of panic. "Ok, ok." Winnie quickly put Luke in her arms to comfort. "Luke, as long as you are willing to live with me, you can live here forever. This is your home. Megan and I are your families." "Ok, I live here and grow up with Megan." Luke showed a smile on face. He would be happier, if he could see Daddy. Winnie gave the phone to Luke and let him make a phone call to his Daddy, otherwise she would be slandered for no reason. Twenty minutes after Luke made a phone, Brian came. "Luke said he missed you, play with him." Winnie said indifferently before she went back to her bedroom. "Daddy, I miss you!" "I miss you too, Uncle!" Said the two children together. "Ok, I'll come and see you often." "Megan, do you get along well with Luke?" Brian asked. Though his eyebrows were not cold, he still had a serious face, which made Megan stay away from him. "Yes, I like him. I'm happy to have him around." Megan said sweetly with a smile. Her smile was exactly the same as that of Winnie, and Brian involuntarily raised his lips. Although it was a slight smile, it gave Megan and Luke great courage to get close to him. "Daddy, we are playing a game. Come and play with us." Luke finally laughed happily. "I don't know how to play. Teach me." "Ok, ok!" The Children was happy and laughing loudly. Winnie heard it clearly from her bedroom. The sound of such harmonious laughter made her heartache. The three people in the living room had the closest relationship in the world, but they didn't know anything. This was probably the cruelest thing in the world. Brian played with the children. Although he was not patient, but unprecedentedly, he persisted for a while. "Luke, Megan, you play, I have to rest for a while." Brian sat down to one side. When they children paid no attention to him, he went to Winnie's room. Winnie was reading in bed, and she sat up when she heard the door opened. "What do you want?" Brian did not answer but went straight to Winnie. Winnie could not see through him from his dark eyes. Brian stood in the bedside overlooking Winnie. Looking at her panic pure eyes, her small face and her dark long hair, Brian could not help but tighten his throat. It had been a week since they had sex. During this week, Brian tried his best to endure it and waited patiently, waiting for Winnie to take the initiative to find him. But he did not expect that the first person who could not help was him. When he was playing with the children, he had been thinking about Winnie. Now looking at her quietly, looking at her face became flushed bit by bit, his heart felt more lonely. "You..." Winnie felt unease by Brian's eyes, she could not help but dodge it and

but sometimes captured it. It made her heart beat fast and her face heat quickly. She felt that she could no longer stay in bed and that she would become prey to him, if she did not escape his burning eyes. "Go out and talk." Winnie got out of bed. When she passed by Brian, her delicate arm was seized suddenly. Winnie instinctively wanted to take it back, but Brian gripped it more tightly. "Mr. Bennet, what do you mean by that?" Winnie's heart beat faster and faster. The warmth of Brian's hands made her tremble like an electric shock. "....." Brian did not speak, because for the first time he ran out of words and did not know what to say. He asked himself why he grabbed Winnie, why he stared at her, why he came to her room. "I didn't have my dinner." "Yeah, he must be hungry." Brian's words not only made him have a good excuse, but also made Winnie breathe a sigh of relief. "Let go, I'll get you something to eat." Winnie reminded Brian. She would rather go to the kitchen to cook than stay with him in this room. The air in the bedroom became sparse with him, so that Winnie had difficulties in breathing. Brian let go of her hand, feeling lost. Yet he fought back the urge to hug her. In Brian's opinion, this woman was enchanted. He would be out of control seeing her, but he felt lost without seeing her. The feeling disgusted him, and there was nothing he could do about it. Brian ate a lot of dinner and enjoyed it very much. Lying on the sofa, he stretched himself. Luke came over and put his little head on the chest of Brian in a stiff and timid way. This was the first time Luke got so intimate with his Daddy. Although he feared Daddy would be angry, he still built up courage and asked. "Daddy, can you sleep here tonight?" He froze. For the first time, Brian felt his child's dependence on him. This feeling was warm, happy and full of achievement. "....." Brian did not answer. This scene was caught by Megan and she envied. "Mommy, I want a Daddy too. I want to lie on Daddy's chest like brother Luke." Megan's words were heard by all. Luke felt proud of it, turned his little face and made a face to Megan. Her words hurt Winnie's heart. With someone here, she could not show it, but appease her. "You have me, I can hold you." Winnie said in a low voice. "It's different, Mommy. Daddy has a broad chest and it must be very comfortable to lie on it. Mommy's breasts are heaving and I can't lie down." Megan said casually, but it immediately embarrassed Winnie.

CHAPTER 46 WHY ARE YOU CRYING

Hearing Megan's words, Brian first felt distressed, and then inadvertently raised the corners of his mouth. He knew that now Winnie must be embarrassed and got flushed on face without looking at her. "Megan comes to me. My chest is flat and comfortable to lie on." Megan quickly jumped on the sofa after having the permission, and then she lied on the chest of Brian. "Mommy, it feels great!" Megan described this wonderful feeling excitedly, showing off with Luke. Winnie felt her heart in pain seeing such a warm picture. If she could go back four years, if she could choose again, she wouldn't let this happen. It would be too cruel for the children. Megan and Luke were very happy and Brian's cold face had a smile on it. "Megan, how is it? Are you happy?" "Yes, yes. Uncle, don't leave, be my Daddy, we will have a happy family." "Yes, Daddy, don't leave. Come here every day after work. We'll eat together, we'll go to bed together, and we'll get up together the next day. We'll be happier if we do that." At this Moment Luke's feeling was exactly the same with Megan's. They would have a family with four people and they would be happier. However, the two children's words made Winnie's heart completely collapsed. A complete home was such a simple request, but she could not give it to them. Winnie suddenly could not control her mood and got her eyes moist. Afraid of being found by Brian, she quickly got up and fled back to her room. Although Brian was lying with Megan and Luke on his body, he still felt something wrong with Winnie, looked up and found Winnie's back before she closed the door.

Inexplicably, he felt her loneliness and upset. Brian put the two children down and told them to play by themselves. Then he went to Winnie's room. When he opened the door, Brian saw Winnie was wiping tears in panic. Seeing that she was crying, Brian frowned and felt sorry for her. After closing the door, step by step he walked to Winnie, but found that his footsteps heavy. "Why are you crying?" He wanted to know his concern, but it was like a query because of his heavy tone. "Nothing. I just feel sorry for my child. All the other children have complete family, but Megan..." Winnie was sad and answered without thinking when Brian asked her, but she felt she could not say anymore, or Brian would say she was acting and cheating him. "Never mind, it's nothing. I've got too much water in my head and I've got to get some out of it." Winnie wiped her tears with a paper towel, but found that the paper towel had been soaked before her tears had been wiped out. "Aren't you going to remarry? When you remarry, she will have a family." Brian wrinkled her eyebrows and remembered Winnie's talk of remarrying. Winnie looked at Brian inexplicably with tears in eyes. Suddenly she remembered that she had told that to Brian. "Oh, I am still thinking about it." Winnie did not want to explain it so that Brian would stay away from her. "Is it so hard to be my woman?" Brian said coldly and his black eyes were gloomy. "No, but you are the man of Penny. I don't like her man." Winnie raised her lips in disdain. "You said the other day that you would steal Penny's husband. Why....." Brian could not understand Winnie's heart. She was a cheater. Why she missed such a good opportunity? What was the difference to be his woman and his wife? He didn't love her, what is the position for? "No why, I gave you a chance the other day. Now that you have refused me, I have to move on. Listen, people like you are too vigilant. I can't cheat money from you. So I changed my target to Leo. When I get the money, I will remarry with my husband and give my child a complete home, so that she had no need to envy others who had a Daddy." Winnie once again used Leo as a shield angrily. Brian wanted to get to know about the truth. She was afraid that she would tell him about it, so she could only use this way to let Brian give up. "Shameless woman. You are a woman, live proudly, don't be so lowly." Brian could not help but scold. He could not accept any words of Winnie. He doesn't want to hear Megan calling others Daddy. "I am shameless? I am lowly? So do you think Penny is good?" Winnie could not bear that Brian insulted her. How could she become such a terrible woman in his eyes? Was it because she did not agree to be his woman? Winnie felt wronged and her eyes became red again, but she gritted her teeth to endure it and never admitted defeat to Brian. "....." Winnie said angrily. Her tolerance and wet eyes had fallen into Brian's eyes, so that he did not continue his ruthless words. Without a word, he looked at her coldly and his dark eyes gradually became better. Brian sat beside Winnie. When it was time to go to bed, the two children insisted on four people sleeping together. Winnie had to agree. Fortunately, the bedroom was huge and the custom-made bed was big enough to have four people to sleep on it. The two children were in the middle, Winnie was on the left and Brian was on the right. "Mommy, this is the first time we have brother and uncle to sleep with us. I'm so excited and happy." Megan said, touching Luke's small face. And then she turned to kiss Mommy. Her wish was so simple that they could be happy like this every day. Luke was also excited and not sleepy. "Daddy, I like auntie, I like Megan, I like us being together. I won't go back to Mommy's. I'll just grow up here with Megan." "You don't like Mommy?" Luke had never mentioned Mommy. When he occasionally mentioned her, he would say he did not want to go home. That worried Brian. Luke was now very dependent on Winnie, but if Winnie could not always stay with him and he did not have good relationship with Penny, he would have a hard time like Megan. "No, but I more like Auntie. I am very happy to stay here with Megan. No one played with me when I was home." Luke's small brain moved fast, afraid that Brian would be unhappy, so he quickly found a reason. Megan, Megan again, Winnie and Luke's excuses were really surprisingly similar. "Since you like auntie and Megan, you can live here from now on." Brian had no reason to object, because he had promised Winnie, and Luke was much happier when he was here. "Thanks, Daddy! Daddy, I love you!" Luke was happy and said what he thought. Brian froze by that and his heart melted at that moment. In his opinion, it was the most beautiful sound in the world. "Good boy!" This was the warmest words Brian a cold man could say "Uncle, if you are my Daddy, I love you too!" Megan said suddenly, which stunned Brian. How should he answer her? It was impossible to be her father and he was afraid to hurt her if he refused her. Winnie showed a bitter smile and then said. "Megan, don't do that, you can't call anyone Daddy." Winnie felt sad about it. Her poor Megan even had no right to call him Daddy. Similarly, Luke was also poor, he could only call his Mommy Auntie. "But Mommy, I really need a Daddy. Why don't I have a Daddy? I didn't do anything wrong. I behaved well. Why doesn't Daddy want me?" Brian did not say yes to her, so Megan felt grieved and then she cried unexpectedly. Megan cried sadly, which made Winnie feel distressed. Winnie's mood was at the edge of collapse. She hugged Megan in her arms and appeased her. "Megan, good girl. It is not your fault that Daddy left. It is my fault." "Mommy, I will behave better, I don't want anything, I just want a Daddy, can I? I envy Brother Luke, he has Daddy and Mommy. He is happier than me." Winnie comforted her, but Megan cried more sadly. Perhaps she was jealous that Brian spoiled Luke, perhaps her self-esteem was hurt because Brian did not agree to her. Her sad crying hit Winnie's the softest part of her heart. She could not let her continue to cry, she could not be so weak. Being a daughter without the protection of a father, she had to be strong. "Megan Chambers, stop crying. It's late and you'll disturb others." Winnie's voice was stern. From her name, Megan Chambers, Megan knew she was getting angry. But she knew it was gratuitous anger not aimed at Megan. Megan hurriedly endured it, covered her mouth with her hand, forcing herself to stop making a sound even if she cried, for fear that Mommy would be angry. "Don't envy others, others have their ways of life. Although you don't have a Daddy, you have Brother Luke, he can protect you, he can give you a sense of security." Winnie continued. She did not want to give her child pressure and did not want "Daddy" to affect her mental health. "Don't cry, Megan. I will grow up with you, I will protect you." Luke felt sorry for Megan and comforted her. But Brian said no words with a frown. Watching Megan cry sadly, listening to her desire for a Daddy, Brian's throat was blocked and he could not make a sound. Her wish was so simple and sincere, but it could not be met. Could he be her father? Brian asked himself in heart, but he gave the answer soon: No. Megan fell asleep in grievance, and Luke could not bear the silence and fell asleep. But Winnie and Brian were not sleepy.

CHAPTER 47 DON'T SWEAT THE SMALL STUFF

They successively walked out of the bedroom and came to the living room. Winnie stood by the window, seeming to be thinking about something. Her figure was alone and lonely, without sharpness that a cheater should have. Winnie turned to look at Brian when she heard that Brian also came to the living room. "I'm sorry for the kid. I'll have a good talk with her tomorrow. It won't happen again." Winnie whispered. Her voice was lonelier in the stillness of the night. "It's not her fault. You shouldn't blame her." Brian lowered his voice, but it was still cold. "I don't blame her. It was the truth that she had no Daddy, she has to be strong and can't call anyone Daddy." Winnie blamed herself that she could not give Megan a complete family, it was her bleak life affected the child. But she was unable to change anything and could only be strong. Winnie paused for a moment and continued. "There's one thing we've all overlooked about Luke. He may not miss his Mommy, but he'll miss you. Let's fix a time that you meet him and take him home for a night, or take him to the Chairman's." At this Winnie stopped and took a deep breath. "And please don't come here again, otherwise Megan will be jealous of Luke." As this words fell, it felt like breaking up. It was sad but she was reluctant, but what was she reluctant about? This man was of great ability at work. He was handsome, wealthy and powerful. However, that was not Winnie wanted. Why did she feel reluctant? "We had not talked about that." Brian suppressed his anger and looked at Winnie coldly. "It was an oversight. Mr. Bennet, for the children's sake, don't bother me about such trifles." Winnie said indifferently, without showing any emotion on her face. She did not want what happened today to happen again. She did not want Megan to rely too much on Brian. She did not want to see the cruelty that Megan could not recognize her father. Brian was speechless but there was indignation on the face. In a moment, he got up and left angrily. Winnie took a deep breath, but found herself inexplicably trembling. She seemed to feel wronged. She turned around, looked at the silent night outside, and unconsciously lowered her head to look down. That figure even was dazzling in the night, but such a man was only suitable to be a leader. Quietly watching Brian's figure disappeared in her sight, Winnie turned around. She went to the sofa, threw the decadent her into sofa and wanted to relax, but the telephone rang. She looked at the caller ID and she began to fret again. "Do you think it's all right to call at this late hour?" Winnie spoke first. "Why not? You've taken my man and my child. Why can't I make a phone call? Winnie....." Penny said insidiously. Even on the phone, Winnie could imagine how ugly her sly face was. Winnie did not want to argue on the phone, afraid of affecting the children, so she directly interrupted Penny. "Talk tomorrow, pick a time and place." Winnie hung up the phone. The next day was the weekend, Brian came to pick up Luke. He still clearly remembered Winnie's words last night, so he did not go upstairs. "Take Luke down." The tone of Brian in the phone was icier. "Where are you going to take him?" Winnie asked anxiously. "Back to the old house." Winnie sighed and then hung up the phone. She had not got used to the way they spoke, feeling like strangers. Winnie did not feel relieved if Megan stayed upstairs alone, so she took her down too. She was worried that Megan talked nonsense when she met Brian, but they met Leo at the door of the first floor. Leo was to go in and Winnie was to go out. "Leo, help me with Megan. I'll take Luke to the parking lot." Winnie was in hurry and entrusted Megan to Leo. Leo did not ask the reason but agreed. "Go and leave Megan to me." Leo said, bent directly bent to pick up Megan and then saw Winnie and Luke out. Winnie thought Brian would be waiting for her in the parking lot, but she found Brian was in the pavilion. Brian had a tall and straight figure. Even on weekends, he was in customized suit, with both hands in his pockets. He stood there like a God. The smooth and fair face revealed coldness. The bushy eyebrows, the high nose, and the beautiful lips all revealed his noble and cold temperament. But his black and abstruse eyes were so cold that she lose all reverie to him. Winnie walked to Brian holding Luke's tender hand. "His stomach is bad these days, don't give him raw and cold things to eat. If..." "I will take care of my child." Winnie just wanted to remind him, but her words dissatisfied Brian. Winnie was embarrassed and simply stopped talking to Brian. She squatted down, looking at Luke dotingly. "Luke, remember what I said, don't let yourself sick. When you are in great grandpa's, be polite and don't be naughty. And take care of your own safety." "I know, Auntie, don't worry, I will do as you say. I'll be back tonight, you and Megan wait for me." Luke answered. He was not afraid to go to great grandpa's, besides, Daddy personally came to pick him, he was in a good mood. "Ok, I will wait for you." Winnie got up, but found that Brian was staring at them standing in the doorway coldly. Megan's line of sight had not moved from that Brian was holding Luke's hand. "I envy him." Megan involuntarily murmured. "For what?" Leo was baffling, because he had never contacted children before, he did not understand their way of thinking. "I envy Brother Luke that he has Mommy and Daddy. He has a happy home, but I don't." Megan was sad, and Leo felt sorry for her. Leo suddenly was silent. Her wish was simple, but it was an extravagant hope for her. "Don't envy, as long as you want, you will have Daddy and a happy family." Leo comforted Megan. "No, I won't. I asked Uncle Brian last night to be my Daddy, but he refused." At this point, Megan felt wronged. She quickly turned her head around and hugged Leo's neck with her hands, and put her head on his shoulder, no longer looking at Brian. Leo froze and looked at the direction of the pavilion blankly. What was the relationship between Brian and Winnie now? In his view, Winnie got close to Brian to revenge Penny, and Brian had a family and enjoyed prominent social status, he was impossible to have too close relationship with Winnie. But why Megan and Brian talked about such an intimate topic? Brian refused, so it proved that there was no relationship between the two people, but why Brian had desire in his eyes to Winnie? That Megan turned on Leo's shoulder was caught by Brian. He suddenly felt loss, like his child was stolen by others, like his child called others Daddy, which made him crazy. "Daddy, let's go." Luke urged. "Luke....." Brian had impulse, but he stopped as he was about to speak. He wanted to take Megan to play together and did not want to see her rely on Leo. But Winnie's warning last night again occupied his mind, so he gave up that thought at once. Without saying a word, he left with Luke. On the way to the Bennet's old house. "Luke, why is Uncle Leo there?" Brian asked in a deep voice. Leo's appearance made him mind. "Uncle Leo lives there, too. He's our neighbor. He lives in Gate 2, and we live in Gate 1." Luke answered, not aware of anything wrong. Luke's words stunned Brian, for that Leo lived there and that Luke considered that as his home. "Leo lives there, 18th floors of Gate 2?" "Yes." Luke answered, playing with the gift his great grandfather gave him with excitement. Brian's eyes became cold. He made a call. "Albert, check why Leo is Winnie's neighbor." Brian put down the phone and felt distressed at the thought that Leo was holding Megan. There was silence in the car for a while. "Luke, why did you say it was your home?" "You mean Auntie Winwin's?" "Yes." "I think it is warm and it is like a home to me. And she is good to me, so I take that as my home." Luke said frankly. He used to say his great grandfather's home and his Daddy's home, he never said "my home". Auntie Winwin was the first place he called a home. he was very proud about that. "Is Auntie nicer to you than Mommy?" Brian was surprised by Luke's answer and did not understand why he liked Winnie so much. "....." Mentioning of Mommy, Luke was silent and stopped playing with the toy. For a Moment. "Auntie is better to me. I can't feel Mommy's heart." Luke was bold to say, but then he said more crazy words. "Daddy, divorce Mommy. I want you to be with Auntie Winwin as Megan." "Luke Bennet..." Brian suddenly warmed in a cold voice. In the past, when Brian warned him like this, he would apologize immediately. But today, instead of apologizing, he protested in silence. Winnie went upstairs after seeing Luke off with others. In the elevator. "Leo, I need your help." Winnie said awkwardly.

CHAPTER 48 INTERRUPTION BY OTHERS

She had made a call to Daenerys and asked her to take care of Megan, but Daenerys was forced out on a blind date and could not come. Now it was the time she went to meet Penny. She did not feel at unease if Megan at home alone, so she could only ask Leo for help. "Ok." Leo would like to offer help and he agreed to help unconditionally. "I have to go out, please help me to take care of Megan." Winnie took a breath. Afraid that Leo did not know how to communication with children, she added. "She's good. You take her to my house. You don't have to..." "All right, go now, I can take care of her." Leo said softly, with a warm smile on his face. "Thank you." They got of the elevator and went to Winnie's home. Winnie came to the designated location of Penny. It was a café and she had booked a private room. Winnie opened the door and walked in. Penny was sitting inside. She first raised her lips with mockery and disdain. Then she sat down opposite Penny. "You say first or I say first, I also want to see you."

Winnie said with lukewarm voice, so that she could not be seen through. "Come on, Winnie, what do you want? I have warned you several times, do you really want me to do something to you?" Penny did not have a good temper. She hated Winnie and got angry when seeing her. "What do I want? What do you mean? What did I do to make you so angry?" Winnie said easily, she would torture Penny bit by bit. Thinking of her acrimonious face, Winnie was angry, but she could hold back and would never be as uncultured as Penny. "You denied it. What did you say when you were on a business trip? Didn't you stay in the same room? Why you denied it now? You bitch." Penny was furious and said dirty words again. "Not a big deal. It is not an outrageous thing. Your way to steal Leo was more despicable, and I just learnt it from you. Do you think what you did went too far?" Winnie leisurely said and adjusted her mind repeatedly. Only in this way could Penny completely collapse. "Winnie, you should not blame me since you failed to keep Leo. I have a happy family now, and you are the mistress." Penny was out of mind. She shouted angrily, disgustingly looking at Winnie's frivolous face. In those days, if she knew that she was the socialite of B City, if she knew that she would meet Brian, she would not try hard to get Leo. "Come on, Penny. Your marriage is not illegal, Brian does not love you, and the child does not like you. Do you really have a happy family? I don't think so." The angrier Penny was, the happier Winnie was. It was a joke that she said she was happy. "You're bullshit. Brian loves me, and the child loves me, too. You bitch are messing things around." Penny was furious. "Well, you're cheating to yourself." Winnie gave a cold hum. "Winnie, shut up. It is your fault. You have to admit it. You tried every man to let Luke live with you. Brian hasn't come home from a business trip. With them both around you, how dare you say you're not the mistress?" Penny said while taking out a mobile phone and showed her the pictures. Winnie looked at Penny's mobile phone. Those pictures were taken when she was with Brian, but not when they had sex Winnie sneered again. "So that? I'm not saying I don't admit it, but I'm not mistress, I'm just doing the same thing as you. We just changed our positions." "Good, Winnie, you seem to want to compete with me. Well, fine, I'll see if you can take my position and see how long Brian can protect you." Penny said in a malicious way. This was her last warning. Since Winnie insisted, she absolutely would not show mercy. Penny was dismissive to Penny's warning. As Penny spoke, she took out her phone and clicked on the pictures. Winnie lifted her eyes to look at Penny in contempt, and then said. "Are you finished? Well, let me tell you why I'm here today. Look at these pictures first." Winnie put her cell phone on the table and slowly flipped through it one by one. Her face darkened quickly and her eyes were cold. "You.....This is..." Penny froze seeing the pictures. Looking at Luke in the picture was injured, her first thought it was related to herself. But she was an excellent 'actor', and a Moment later, she felt distressed on her face. "What's wrong with my Luke? Who hurt him?" "Vile and shameless. You don't even have the courage to admit it. Come on, Penny, act in the front of Brian." Winnie's face became cold and she continued. "You hurt Luke like this, and you still dare to say the child likes you. I would like to know why he should like you." "You're talking nonsense. I didn't do that. Winnie, don't slur if you have no evidence." Penny flustered and had no confidence in her tone. "Let Brian see if I have slandered you, and he will know. Do you want me to send it to him now?" Winnie took back the phone and was to send the pictures. "Wait..." Penny stopped Winnie. "What do you want to keep your mouth shut?" Penny made an indirect admission. She did not know how Winnie got these pictures. All she knew was that if Brian knew about them, she would lose everything, even her life. "It's very simple. Leave Brian and give up your position, then I will shut my mouth forever." Winnie casually said. "Impossible, I'll never agree to that. It's not about the two of us, it's about the two families. I can't leave simply." In order to protect her position, Penny could only make things as big as possible. "OK, then, from now on Luke will live with me. Don't tell Brian that you want the child back. And if you dare touch him, I'll put you in jail for the rest of your life." Winnie threatened her and temporarily did not want to make things big, because she had to hide the truth. "....." Penny was thinking, but she could not think of a better way, so she only temporarily agreed. "Ok, I'll accept that." Penny knew that Winnie's ultimate goal was Brian, her position by getting the child first. She had underestimated Winnie's ambition from the very beginning, and now she had become passive. Penny pondered this question all the way home. Now Winnie was not a simple mistress, she was a time bomb, which at any time would threaten her life. To defuse this bomb, she had to be more insidious than she was. Anyhow, Penny would not let Winnie succeed, and she could not lose to her. Winnie was relieved when she thought of Penny's frightened and sick face. But compared to Luke's injury, this panic was nothing. Winnie was not a sinister person, who must fight for something. When she was angry, she might say some bad words, but if she thought about it, too many things were nonsense. So long as Penny did not come to provoke her, she would not pursue further. However, if Penny did not know repentance but continued to hurt Luke, continued to slander her, she would never sit still. Winnie went to a supermarket before she went home, and when she returned home, Leo and Megan were playing happily. "You're back." Leo said hello to Winnie. His face was handsome, and now he was like a naughty kid. Seeing that Winnie was carrying something in her hand, he quickly walked over and took it from Winnie's hand. "I..." Winnie wanted to refuse, but before she said anything, and the thing on hand was snatched away by Leo. Leo's warm-hearted action stunned Winnie. She recalled Leo abroad four years ago. "Did Megan bother you?" Winnie shook off the memory in the brain and asked. "No, Megan is very lovely." Leo answered sincerely. After half a day of getting along, he had been like this lovely little girl. "Mommy, I did not bother Uncle." Megan ran over and said, with a story book in her hand. "Good, my dear, I believe you are good." Winnie bent over and picked up Megan. "Megan, is Uncle telling you a story?" Looking at the book in Megan's hand, Winnie asked. "No, I'm telling him stories. Uncle said he liked it very much." Megan said proudly, feeling herself invincible. "Oh, Megan is so good. What about the words you don't know?" Megan loved listening to stories and had been pestering others to tell her stories. Winnie was surprised that Megan told others stories. "Uncle asked me to spell the words I didn't know, and then he explained the meaning to me so that I could understand. Mommy, Uncle and I work together very well." Megan was still showing off with a bright and innocent smile on her face. "Megan is clever, she learns fast." Leo sent the things to the kitchen before he came back. Megan's cleverness was beyond his imagination. She liked her Mommy, but she seemed to be more clever than Mommy, possibly her Daddy was a person of unsurpassed wisdom.

CHAPTER 49 THREE GENERATIONS IN A FAMILY

Leo's praise was a supreme recognition to Megan, and she felt proud of it. "Uncle praised me. Aren't I great, Mommy?" Megan seemed more satisfied. "Megan is great. Megan is the smartest. Tell Mommy stories every night, ok?" Winnie smiled. She had wanted to cultivate the reading ability of Megan, but she had been listening to the story but did not want to read by herself, now, Leo had helped her to solve this problem. "Yes, I'm Mommy. I'll tell you a story." Megan showed a bright smile, revealing her dimples on the cheeks. Winnie and Leo laughed happily under the influence of Megan, which was a harmonious scene. Brian had been gloomy since he heard that Leo lived in next door to Winnie. He frowned and his dark eyes were horrible. Even when he went back to the old house and met her Grandpa, he did not feel better. After lunch, three generations of the family basked in the sun in the garden of the old house. Grandpa was sitting on a chair, Brian was standing next to him, and Luke was playing football not far away. Brian's Grandpa, Felix Bennett, was 88 years old. He was healthy and still looked strong. His face showed the vicissitudes of life, but her sharp and wise eyes were still bright and delicate. He was dignified and serious, and only when he talked with Luke could he show his kindness. "Luke is in a good mood today. Has he been stay with you for these days?" Felix asked. He did not know what Luke looked like in Brian's house, but he seldom smiled so happily and was seldom as lively as children of the same age. Luke changed obviously, but he was getting better and better, so Felix wanted to know the reason. "No, he has been in a classmate's home. He likes that classmate and likes her mother." Brian replied in a low voice. Being mentioned by Grandpa, Brian seemed to have felt it more obvious. Luke changed a lot, which might be the credit of Winnie. Thinking of Winnie, Brian clenched his fist feeling like his heart beat stopped for a while. "At a classmate's home? Live there?" Felix did not understand. "Yes, he lives there. Luke said it was more like home. His classmate is Megan, who lives with her Mommy and is the child of a single parent family. Her Mommy works for our company and is a software engineer." Brian roughly said about Winnie and Megan. Since Luke would live there, it was necessary to tell that to grandpa, so as not to worry grandpa. "An employee of the Bennet Group? Are they good to Luke?" Felix screwed his eyebrows and continued to ask. "Yes, she treats him as her son. Look at Luke, and you will know it. Luke becomes more cheerful and loves study. He learns computer software every night. I think it is good, so I let him live there." Brian's black eyes fixed on Luke. He had never observed the child so seriously. He felt happy by watching him like this. "Penny agreed?" Felix continued to ask. "None of her business." Brian said in a cold voice. "What is your relationship to this software engineer?" Felix directly asked the crux of the matter. In his opinion, Penny was not Luke's mother, but the child did not know about that, so she had the right to participate in everything about the child. But now Brian was indifferent, so the problem was about the software engineer. "Nothing between us. She is my staff." Brian understood his Grandpa's meaning, so he answered without a bit of hesitation. Until now he had no relationship with any woman, and Winnie would not be that exception. A woman who had divorced, a woman with children, a woman who lived by cheating men was less likely to have a relationship with him. As for sex, it was just a grown-up game. It didn't mean anything. "....." "Investigate her, if the person with ulterior motives uses Luke, you will suffer." Felix paused for a Moment and then reminded as if he was not satisfied to Brian's answer. "Don't worry, Grandpa. It's okay." Brian answered with certainty, which he did not know why. "....." As Felix was to speak again, Brian's phone rang, so he stopped. Brian took out the mobile phone and picked it up. "What is it?" There was expectation in his cold eyes. "Mr. Bennet, I have checked out the matter of Leo. The house was occupied a few days ago, and Leo bought it at a high price. He was probably aiming at Winnie." Albert told Brian the results of the investigation. "I see." Brian's voice was colder. He hung up the phone with anger in his eyes. Leo really took great pains, and he thought of this method. But he knew Winnie was a cheater, why did he try to get close to her? Even if it was revenge, he did not have to do that and even used the child. Brian thought, but once again remembered that Megan turned and put her head on Leo's shoulder. This picture made his hand unconsciously increase the strength of holding the phone. "Leave after supper." Felix said and he felt that Brian was in no mood to talk further. "I can't have dinner here tonight because I have work to do." Brian refused. He had to send Luke back to Winnie's. Felix got up slowly, and turned to another topic. "Go back early if you want to." He straightened up, turned and said. "Take some times to see your father. Something needs to get over." The sound was small but powerful. And then he walked with steady steps toward the room. Brian frowned and kept silent. Some things were not easy to get over. Winnie wanted to ask Leo to stay for lunch, but Leo had something urgent, but Leo did not miss the opportunity and would have dinner with her. He went out in a hurry to finish the matter and bought Winnie's favorite vegetables and fruits. When he returned, Winnie had not yet started to cook dinner. "I didn't expect you to come back so early. I'm going to make dinner." Winnie was to go to the kitchen, but Leo caught her in time. "Winwin, let me cook dinner tonight." Leo's tone was unusually soft, just because he happened to hold Winnie's hand. It took him back four years. It was the same as it had been four years ago. It made him throb inexplicably. Yes, he still loved Winnie, as if he had never moved on. Because he loved her, he hated her when he did not know the truth. "Ok, I will help." Winnie quickly withdrew her hand, feeling embarrassed. Four years ago, this warm hand made her happy, but now after so long time and so many painful things, she was not used to this feeling. "When did you learn to cook?" To ease the tension in the kitchen, Winnie asked. "I've been learning it for years, and I will cook when I get bored at home." Leo said, in fact, he learnt to cook was because he wanted to look for the feeling when Winnie cooked for him. "You are quite skilled." Unlike someone who could not do anything but messed around in the kitchen. Someone? Who? Why compare them? Winnie realized that she thought of someone she should not think of, so she quickly shook off her thought in the brain. Both men hated her deeply and hurt her. She should treat them like enemies deep down. "It's all right. But you are luckily, no woman has ever tasted my cooking." Leo showed a bright and happy smile. The last time he cooked with Winnie was abroad, when they had just fallen in love, and he could do nothing but watch. It had been one of his wishes over the years to be in the same kitchen with Winnie again, and today he finally realized it. He must make the food more delicious. "It seems an honour to me that such a good thing happens to me. So it seems like I've done more than just bad things in my previous life, I've also had occasional consciences." Winnie could not help teasing, she was not sure this honor was a blessing or a curse. She could not judge if that Leo suddenly changed had something to do with Penny's revenge. She only knew that she had not encountered good things, only knew that the good things she encountered were sugar-coated bullets. "Winwin, four years ago..." Leo understood the meaning in Winnie's words. Thinking of those things she encountered, Leo was heartache. Hearing Winnie's words, he was unbearable. He wanted to say sorry for what happened four years ago, but Winnie did not give him a chance. "Leo, whatever happened four years ago has passed and I don't want to mention it. If you really want to continue this relationship as a friend, I am ok with it." Winnie forced herself to speak gently. What happened four years ago was not that she did not want to bring it up again. Just mentioning it once was equal to peeling off the blood scab of her wound again. She did not want to bear the repeated pain. Winnie understood that if Leo would hurt her again, it was the destiny that she could not avoid. Even if she and Leo were not friends, Leo and Penny would not spare her. Now she just took a bet, in case Leo was not scheming, she could have a friend. "Ok, let's cook." Leo forced out a smile. The fact that Winnie did not want to mention what had happened four years ago proved that she did not move on. It proved that she was still resentful of him. She had no others choice but be friends with him. Leo understood it, but he could do nothing about it. He could only tell himself to be patient and take time. Only Winnie forgave him, he could say that he loved her.

CHAPTER 50 AS HER HUSBAND

They cooked fast and the dinner was ready in no time. There were a lot of food and it was an extravagance for three. "There are a lot of good, we can't finish them. If only Uncle and Brother Luke are here." Megan said and air was still. "Brother has a good meal today, you don't have to worry him." Winnie said. What was going on with Megan? She recently always said something she shouldn't say and often mentioned Brian. If she did something wrong before, as long as Winnie corrected it, Megan will not make the same mistake. But on the problem of Brian, she made mistakes repeatedly and never changed. "Mommy..." Megan continued, and Winnie quickly interrupted her. "Megan, Uncle Leo cooked this for you. It is getting cold, have it." She could not lecture her directly, so she could only be in euphemism. Fortunately, Megan understood her meaning. "Thank you, Uncle, I will have it. Uncle, Mommy, eat." Megan said, with her dark eyes turning. Uncle Leo was really nice, but she didn't know why she just liked the cold Uncle Brian. The embarrassment was finally lifted. When they had dinner happily, the voice of the door was heard. "It must be Uncle and Brother." Megan ran out excitedly. A few seconds later her more excited voice was heard. "Brother, Uncle, you are back. We are having dinner. Come and join us." Megan could not restrain her excitement. In the few hours separating with Luke, she felt it was like a long day. "I'm hungry." Luke said excitedly. "Hello, Uncle." Megan remembered that Mommy had told her that she could not cause trouble to Uncle. Megan had to converge her mood and said hello politely. "Luke, you are back." Winnie came over, and she was happy to see Luke. "Auntie, I'm back." Luke excitedly threw himself into the arms of Winnie. But Brian fixed his eyes on Leo with a dark face. When Winnie opened the door, he saw a pair of men's shoes by the door, which made him angry. After knowing that it was Leo, he became furious. "Hello, Mr. Bennet." Leo greeted him. "Hello." Brian had to endure his anger. He couldn't be rude with children here. "Have you had dinner? Would you like to join us?" With Leo here, Winnie could not ask Brian to leave, so she could only ask him to stay for dinner, while she hoped Brian refused. She had seen his cold face and his hidden anger, but she did not care about it. He did that to anyone. "Auntie, we haven't had dinner yet. We are hungry. Let's eat together." Brian was silent. Luke's stomach was grumbling. Luke walked toward the table, and Megan went to Brian, stretched out a small hand to hold his warm hand. "Uncle, come in and eat together. If you don't eat, you will be hungry, and you'll get sick." Megan's eyes were sincere with expectation. Brian could not refuse to this soft sweet voice, so he chose to stay. He squatted down, kissed Megan's little cheek, picked her up and walked toward the dining table. Winnie took a deep breath and turned around. She found Leo was speechless too. She whispered. "Sorry." "It doesn't matter, it is lively." It was true that it was lively with many people, but he did not want Brian to be here, but he could not say that out. Together, Winnie and Leo walked to the table, where the others had already sat down. "I'll get the cutlery." As Winnie was about to turn around, Leo put his hand on her shoulder. "I will take it." Leo said considerately. That intimate behavior was caught by Brian, which made him angry. "Thank you!" Winnie thanked him and sat down next to Leo, because Leo was not malicious and he was safer than Brian. They began to eat, Megan was the first to speak. "Brother Luke, is the food delicious?" Megan asked innocently. "Yes." Luke was probably hungry, and he was chewing as he answered. "Uncle Leo made them. He said they are Mommy's favorite food. I think it's delicious, too." Megan said this on purpose absolutely, so that Brian could hear her. Mommy didn't want her to bother him, so she said in euphemism. "Thank you, Uncle!" Luke said thank you, while secretly glancing at Brian. He understood Megan's words, and his Daddy must have understood. "You're welcome. Eat as much as you like. If you're hungry, you can come to my house and I'll cook for you." Leo said gently. "Uncle, you can come every day, we are neighbors. Mommy can't cook as well as you." Megan seemed to say innocently, in fact she was scheming. "Megan... Uncle is so busy that he can't always cook for you. If you think Mommy's cooking is not good, you can learn to cook by yourself." Winnie interrupted Megan. What was wrong with this child? How could she use her wisdom in the wrong place? "Forget it, let Brother learn to cook, and he cooks for me." Megan pushed the burden to Luke. Luke thought quickly, afraid that he said something wrong to anger his Daddy. "I will cook for you." Luke said, while patting Megan's head to comfort her. During the whole process, Brian said nothing. He had been eating, but he could not taste the favor of the food. At the Moment he felt like an outsider, and it was hard to describe how he felt. But he would never accept this situation. Brian was the fastest one to finish the meal. He put down his chopsticks and got up immediately, with smooth movements. "Take your time. I'll go to the room and rest." He said a meaningful sentence, and then he turned around and went directly to the bedroom. His words made Winnie and Leo embarrassed. Leo froze holding chopsticks in his hands. Brian naturally went to the bedroom, had they... Was he too late... After dinner, Leo helped Winnie clean up the mess before leaving. It was a hard day for Leo today. Originally he had a happy time with Megan, originally he wanted to review the past and cooked for Winnie, but he did not have fun at the table. What made him more concerned was that Brian had never come out of that room since he entered it. Winnie asked the two children to the study to do their homework before she went to the bedroom. Leaning against the head of the bed, Brian was playing with his phone. When he heard the door open, he took a look and continued. "Mr. Bennet, it's getting late, why don't you..." Winnie wanted to drive him away. "I'm staying here today." Brian spoke in a cold voice. "Mr. Bennet, we made a deal last night. You can't..." Winnie retorted. "Can't what?" Brian interrupted Winnie, threw down the phone, got out of bed and walked to Winnie. "It's my house, and I can stay if I want to. My son is here and I can stay here unconditionally." Brian's dark eyes fixed on Winnie, without blinking. "You..." Winnie did not dare to look at Brian. Every time she saw his dark eyes, Winnie could not control herself. "It will affect Megan's mood, and she would say something to embarrass you. You....." Winnie took a step back to make her words clear. Before she could finish her knows, Brian approached again. "Megan is in a good mood today and will not embarrass me. Again, this is my house and I have free access to it." Brian looked at Winnie's reddish face and raised a undetectable smile. "Ok, since the house is yours, I'll move out tomorrow with two kids." Winnie was angry that this man was bullying. "Good, if you move out, you won't have to see your neighbors. I'll find a house for you tomorrow." Brian preferred that. Leo was making coincidence. He wanted to see how his next coincidence would work. "You can't do that, you know?" Winnie was angry, but she did not know how to refute because Brian was so close to her. "What can I do? You don't want to leave now? Because of Leo? You don't want me to stay because I influence you?" Brian suddenly said in a cold voice and his eyes became dark. Such Brian instead made Winnie relax. "My affair has nothing to do with you, it is my private matter. You can only care the official business." Winnie was stubborn and glared at Brian angrily. "What if I have to care?" Asked Brian. "Then divorce Penny and be my husband. Otherwise stay away from me, you have no right to care about me." In a fit of pique, Winnie mentioned it again. But then she regretted it. How embarrassing it was to be rejected again, how painful it was to be ridiculed again. She deserved it by saying that. Sure enough... Brian's dark eyes became sharp, and they were as cold as a freezing arrow. "Winnie, in any respect, you are not qualified to be my wife. In addition to the identity, Penny cannot get my feelings, you both are not worthy." Brian's voice was colder. His eyes were like an arrow against her chest, and his voice was an invisible force that stabbed that arrow into her heart, causing blood flowed instantly. "Because I'm dirty? Because I have a kid? Because I'm lowly? Ok then, don't mind the affairs between me and Leo, he doesn't despise me." Winnie stared at Brian angrily, and then left sadly after that. It was understandable that she was not worthy. After all, she had a bad past and now it did not get better. But what does it mean that Penny was unworthy? Why did he marry her? If they were not worthy of his feelings, then who was worthy?
