

My Twins 421

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 421 ANY CHANCE?

Oscar knew what Penny referred to, but he had no enough understanding of changeable Penny. He thought she had changed and began to miss their friendship. "They are good, Daenerys gave birth to a child in the second day of the New Year and till now it is less than one month. Kevin is obedient to her." Thinking that Penny miss their friendship, Oscar naturally said good words, after that, he mentioned Winnie. "Winwin is good too. The game she cooperated with Leo sold well since the end of last year. In less than a month, she earned a lot, so she had no need to worry about money." "She is now having a new cooperation with the Bennet Group, after the holiday, she works in the Bennet family and after that she will back to her company." "I think her relationship is getting better and better, Brian..." Speaking of relationship, when it came to Brian, Oscar stopped. He looked at Penny apologetically, for fear it reminded her of bad memory. "Is it unsuitable I speak of Brian?" Oscar asked carefully. "Brian and I have been over and the person he hates the most is probably me. I have got over him and have no expectation on him, never mind, go ahead," Penny was embarrassed, but she felt hurt in heart. Even so, she had to listen to it. She would like to see what would happen to Brian and Winnie. "Good, you are right to have that thought. I mention and you can listen, which proves that you have got over him. Oscar encouraged Penny and then continued. "Brian and Wendy broke up, now..." "They broke up? Has Brian been waiting for Wendy? How can he break up?" Before Oscar reached to the key point, Penny interrupted him. Did Winnie defeat Wendy? So Winnie was this great? Penny could not believe that Winnie was so scheming. "It seems that Felix could not accept Wendy, so as Rufus. Wendy hurt Megan and made a move in Winnie's car and made it out of control. Winnie and Megan were in the car and they were close to an accident." "Knowing that, Brian could not accept Wendy, so out of anger, he broke up with Wendy." That was all Oscar know, but saying that to Penny, he reminded what Penny did to Winnie. Actually what Wendy did was almost the same to what Penny did, but Wendy was not as sinister as Penny. Luckily, Brian found it early, or she would be in prison for years. Knowing that Wendy's behavior was similar to Penny's, Oscar still said it out. He felt it necessary to remind Penny that it was not ok to do that and there would be consequence. There were a lot of information in Oscar's words, Penny did not understand, so she had to ask. "I am confused. Doesn't Rufus care about Brian's affair? And they have no good relationship." "They are good now because of Winnie. Brian moved back to his father's and his sister is back. They discuss the thing they encounter." Oscar answered her question. She should know that so that she could get closer to the fact. "He is home and they are good now?" Penny felt it incredible. She did not know the contradiction between Brian and his father, but she knew they had bad relationship. Brian did not even talk to his father and they seldom meet, how can they be good now? What tricks Winnie used to make Brian stop hating his father? But that was not the point, the point was Winnie won credit from Felix by finishing a difficult task. Plus, Wendy and Brian broke up, then Winnie would naturally become Brian's wife/ At this thought, she opened her eyes wide in shock. Did Winnie win and she lost to her? "Yes, it is been a while since Brian came back to his father's" Oscar noticed that Penny's face changed. It seemed that she could not accept that frankly. "Did Brian break up with Wendy and stay together with Winnie?" Penny could not accept the fact and wanted to know about the current situation about Winnie. "Yes, they are together, but there are some troubles." Oscar raised his eyes and saw Penny's expecting eyes. Since she wanted to know, he continued. "The identities of Megan and Luke have been known by all the Bennet family. Winnie raised them at the beginning, but now Felix took them home and Winnie is not allowed to be with them. "Felix has high standard of requirement and is not satisfied about Winwin's family background and fortune, they everyone is doing their best. The Bennet family supports Winwin, I think Felix will soon compromise for the sake of two children." Oscar's words made Penny's heart suffer ups and downs. Luckily, Felix had not yet accepted Winnie. However, as Oscar said, for the sake of the two children, it was only a matter of time before Winnie was accepted. But it was sure that she had not lost yet and had another chance. But she was in prison and could not do anything. After Oscar left, Penny went back to her cell, still thinking about the news that Oscar had just brought her. What could she do? What should she do to stop Winnie and Brian from getting together? The unnamed man had not come to see her, and even if he had, she was not sure which side he was on, so she could tell him anything. Now she thought she could only use Wendy, but she and the Wendy had not met, so she could not contact Wendy and it seemed impossible to use her. Penny thought hard, but she was in prison, so any idea could be daydreaming. Because of the threat of Brian, because of Winnie's words for the sake of the children, because of Rufus' tough attitude, because of Stella's anger, he was angry and upset staying in the study. Felix spent two days in his study thinking about it except at dinner time and during sleep time. He couldn't make a decision though he was dizzy. Thomas did not do anything or go out these two days, but his mind was not idle at all. He had been thinking about Rufus's conversation with his father in the bedroom that day. If his father was really against Winnie and Brian, against the children and mother living together, then would Rufus really give the Bennet Group to him? If so, did he have to try to get it every day? If Rufus let go, Brian took his wife and children away, then the Bennet Group must be in his power, his 90 years old father would not take charge of it again. Thomas felt excited when he thought about it. Whether it would be successful or not, he could not sit still, after all, it was a shortcut. In case his father agreed to Rufus out of softheartedness, he would miss a good opportunity. At this thought, he made a move immediately. Thomas went to the door of Felix's study and knocked at it. Almost immediately, he heard his answer, opened the door and went in. However, Felix was disappointed seeing that it was Thomas. "What is it?" Felix asked Thomas in a cold voice. "Dad, these days you always sit in the study, it is not good for your health. If you have nothing to do, go back to your bedroom and lie down for a while. You'd better have a nap after lunch." Thomas first concerned about his father. "I can't fall asleep. Go out if you get nothing to say." Felix was indifferent to Thomas's concern and still gave a cold face. "Dad, isn't it Winnie and the two children's business? These two days you did not have good sleep for this matter. You can't stand that at your age." Thomas came in with purpose. How could he leave after giving his concern? It was not his style. "Dad, don't overthink about it. You can't allow Winnie and Brian to be together, nor let Winnie raise the two children." Thomas began to say his own opinion. But then Felix cast a cold and angry look at him. Thomas felt the danger, but at this time even if there was a knife on his neck, he must finish what he should say. "Dad, Brian is the hope of our family. If he marries Winnie, it would be disgrace to our family. I agreed that he marries a woman who matches to our family, which is the best for the Bennet Group." "As for the children, there is nothing to worry. They are the children of the Bennet family, why should them be raised by others? Who knows if Winnie has no ambition or not? Who knows she is not used by others to destroy the Bennet family?" "We are..." "Shut up." Rufus continued to vilify Winnie, trying to slander her. But then Felix could not listen to it, and angrily interrupted Thomas's words. Felix continued. "Now you talk to me about the children. If you hadn't showed a black face to the children, how could your brother find an excuse and taken them away? Now you are trying to be nice, do you have an ulterior motive?" Felix knew his son, but he did not know his motives."Dad, what motive do I have? I'm for the good of the Bennet family. Besides, I was in a bad mood those two days, I was not against the children. I did look black on face, but I didn't yell at them. Why are you saying it's my fault?"Thomas defended himself. If he had known there would be such a thing, he wouldn't give a black face but forced a smile.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 422 FIRST MEETING

Felix was so angry that he had to warn Thomas. Although he did not mention that Thomas went to prison, he had always minded that. "Quibble, did you have to show to the children you were in a bad mood? Thomas, I tell you, since you have come back, be quiet. If you have ambition, I will never forgive you. If you can't help it, you can go abroad at once and never come back." Thomas had never met Penny before, and now he went to prison to see her. Even a one year old child would not believe that he had not ambition. "How can it be? Dad, you think too much, I'm not ambitious. It's better to live in silence now. I can earn money sitting at home, and I will not do useless things." "Dad, let's get to the point. Winnie is scheming, otherwise..." "Get out. I don't want to hear it." Thomas was interrupted by Felix impatiently. His mind was a mess and did not want Thomas to add his mess. No matter he thought about Winnie, it was ok. He also thought Winnie was scheming and purposeful, but it was so harsh when he heard it from others. "Don't accept Winnie." Rufus added before he left. Felix sighed alone in the study, thinking about what Thomas just said, thinking about the attitude of the other Bennet family, it was obvious that only Thomas did not stand in the children's position. Thomas said Winnie was scheming, and he thought so when he knew that Winnie was Luke's mother. But after a long time, he really did not find what Winnie was scheming about. How should he deal with this matter? He was in his 90s, and it was first time he could not eat well and sleep well, feeling difficult to deal with it. Wendy interceded for Klara few days ago, but she got no news from Brian and she was worried. She had recovered from her illness, but she was still in the hospital, because she was escaping from her parents, not wanting to come home and face them. But being alone in the hospital was boring. What to do? She had to ask Klara to come, anyway, Klara was now unemployed, and she had nowhere to go. In Wendy's ward. "Why there is no news? Brian hasn't asked you back?" Wendy talked about this matter with Klara. "I think the problem lies in Winnie, not Mr. Bennet. Mr. Bennet wouldn't get me back without her permission." Klara said. At the moment she could only use Wendy, she had to grasp this straw what was about to break. "But will Winnie allow you to go back?" Wendy questioned, she felt that Winnie was very angry this time, in addition to Laura, she would not give anyone a chance. "So, that's the problem. Winnie must stop Mr. Bennet, so there is no news." Klara induced the problem to Winnie, hoping that Wendy could deal with Winnie. "Winnie has cause many troubles to me." Wendy did not have the intention to beg Winnie, so she did not care about what Klara said. "Are you going to keep waiting like this? Maybe one day Brian and Winnie will get married. Then you really won't have a chance." Klara still encouraged Wendy. No matter what identity Winnie had, she hated Winnie to her bone, which could not be completely cleared away. Even if Winnie married Brian, she did not want Winnie to have a good life, did not want her to be happy. "What can I do then? Brian is still very disappointed with me. He won't be touched even if I use that method." Wendy was helpless. There was the bad situation, what could she do? "Wendy, you can't wait idle. If you don't fight for your own things, nobody will fight for you. Do you remember what I told you about Penny? As my understanding to her, even if she's in prison now, she won't hate Winnie any less." Klara took a breath and wanted to continued, but Wendy interrupted her. "I remember Penny, but there is nothing she could do in prison." "Although she can't help, she may have a better way to deal with Winnie. You have nothing to lose by going to see her." Klara thought that Penny was Winnie's opponent. If it were not for a moment of impatience to do something wrong and she was sent to prison, Winnie could not be so at ease. "....." Klara's words made Wendy silence. She thought about Klara's words. It lost nothing to see Penny, but what if Brian knew? Although Wendy thought so, she still followed Klara to the prison. Klara waited outside the prison, and Wendy came in alone. It was her first time to come to prison, Wendy had a feeling of unsteadiness. As she sat in her chair and looked through the glass wall, she imagined what a formidable figure Penny was. A door inside the glass wall was pushed open and an uneventful woman with short hair and a prison uniform entered. For there was a big gap from her imagination, Wendy did not dare to believe the woman at the moment was the powerful Penny others mentioned. Penny was puzzled to see Wendy, because she did not know the person in front of her. She wondered why there were always strangers came to see her. With watchful eyes, she walked step by step to a chair and sat down. "You want to see me?" Asked she, in a sharp voice, looking the woman up and down. Judging from her clothes and makeup, she should be from a rich family. Her facial features looked not delicate separately but beautiful collectively. "Yes, I want to see you. Hello, I'm Wendy." Wendy introduced herself calmly, but her first impression of Penny had changed, because she saw Penny's eyes were sharp and cold. From her sharp eyes like swords, she knew Penny was a cruel woman. No wonder Klara said that Penny was unique. "Wendy?" On hearing the name, Penny was surprised at first, and then let out a barely perceptible grin. It seemed that God was in care of her. Wendy came when she wanted her to come. She wanted Wendy's help and here she was. Winnie, it seemed that your life is not as good as Oscar said, otherwise Wendy would not have come to prison. "Wendy, I have heard of you, but it is the first time to meet you." Penny spoke coldly, but her vigilance was gone. Because she knew Wendy came here for the purpose of alliance. Penny compared Wendy with Winnie, as her voice fell. She was less delicate and beautiful and smart than Winnie. There was no wisdom of Winnie in her eyes, and no confidence of Winnie on her face. That was to say, there was nothing comparable to Winnie in Wendy. "It's the first time I meet you, too." Wendy was at a loss, at the moment she did not know what to say in face of Penny. Penny smiled coldly. "I don't have much time, so tell me what you want to say." Penny was straightforward, which made Wendy embarrassed. But since she had come, she wanted Penny to help her, and she would tell Penny her purpose. "Actually I come here to ask you for help to see if there is any way to let Winnie go." Wendy put the words in a euphemistic way, afraid of being overheard by the police. When she heard the name of Wendy, Penny had guessed her purpose. It seemed that Wendy was not a match to Winnie, so she lost. "I have methods, but I have nothing to do with you, after all. I won't tell you for nothing." Penny had been in prison for so long and had been waiting for a chance. Today chance finally came, how could she not mention her request?"I... what do you want me to do?"Wendy asked helplessly. Penny's words made her find that she was not a match to Penny. At this time she really should thank Winnie had sent Penny to prison, otherwise she might be killed by Penny, because she was not as sinister as Penny. "Please help me to check one person first. Then you can come to see me. I will tell you how to deal with Winnie." It was not much to ask for. Now Penny wanted only to know who it was that had come to see her. "Who?"Wendy asked. Penny told Thomas's appearance characteristics and dress to Wendy, so that she could find out this person. "The sooner you go back, the better, or you won't have time." Penny finished her speech, got up and left. She believed that Wendy would find it out because she had not concerns as Oscar. Wendy got into the car after she walked out of prison, frowning, as if she got nothing. "Well, did Penny give you any advice?" Asked Klara eagerly. "No, but she asked me to check on one person." Wendy looked at Klara with doubts. "A person?" Wendy repeated everything she and Penny had said, including the characteristics of the man. "Who can he be?" Klara was confused. Every man had these characteristics, how to check? "She said he should be a rich and powerful man. But there was many rich and powerful men in B City, where to find him?" Wendy was puzzled. "The detective agency may work." Klara felt that there was no hope, but suddenly inspiration came to her. "Wendy, the prison is full of cameras. Why don't we ask someone to check the records of people coming and going of the prison?" "It's a good idea. We'll find the man." Wendy suddenly became excited. She knew Klara got a lot of methods. She would not know what to do without Klara. "Yes, your method is better. It shouldn't be any trouble if I asked someone to do it. It'll be quicker than the detective agency." Wendy said hopefully, and then picked up the phone to look for helpers. Not long after, someone promised to let her wait for news, so Wendy and Klara drove away from the prison.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 423 YOU ARE A CURSE

Winnie was in a better mood, but she still wanted to control her heart, so that she would not miss Brian, at least to leave some room for herself. After a long day at work, it was finally time to knock off. They agreed to have dinner together before, but as Winnie opened the door of the office to find Brian, she saw Wendy walking into the president's office. Looking at Wendy wearing a black hoodie, Winnie thought of Brian said that the woman was in such dress. Brian had said that Wendy might be the woman who saved his life. For the sake of saving his life, for the sake of the two people's feelings for many years, it should be natural for them to get back together. Winnie left Brian alone and returned to her office. Because of the sudden appearance of Wendy, because of her own wild thoughts, she was upset again. Winnie had had enough this kind of self-abuse and suspicion. What should she do? How she could live a quiet life? How could she face everything without no waves in heart? In Brian's office. "Wendy, don't come here without an appointment again. I don't have time to think about Klara. And I have found someone to take her place. There is no vacancy." It was obvious that Brian was annoyed by the arrival of Wendy. But looking at Wendy's familiar dress, Brian refrained to get angry. "Brian, can't Winwin accept it? If she can't accept it, I'll go apologize to her. Now Klara is really pathetic. She has no husband she has to carry everything by herself. She must have great mental pressure. She will be much better if she had a job to take the pressure off." Wendy said. Last time Brian was shaky, but now he refused. It seemed true as Klara said, it was Winnie's problem. As for Klara's family, Brian knew it better than anyone else. He knew that it was really difficult for Klara to take care of four old people and a child by herself. But even if it was difficult, she can't devoid of human nature and moral. Klara was difficult, but Winnie was more difficult than her. Why Winnie could be upright in such difficult condition? "Wendy, you think too much. It has nothing to do with Winwin, and you needn't bother her. I gave Klara more than one chance, but she didn't take it seriously and didn't take my kindness into her heart." "If I give her another chance, I would have planted a time bomb for myself. You don't have to come to me about this again. I won't give her another chance." Brian refused cruelly. After Klara left, she did not refuse the compensation he offered, but accepted all. Since she accepted, Brian had nothing to worry. Even if Klara did nothing, the money would be enough for her whole family, even for their next life. "Brian..." "If you're talking about Klara, you can leave now." Brian coldly interrupted Wendy. In fact, Brian had thought about this decision repeatedly. One reason was that Winnie could not forgive Klara, and the other reason was that Klara did not repent and did not realize that she had done wrong. If she had realized she was wrong, she would have cut off her relationship with Wendy as Laura did. But seeing that Wendy again and again interceded for Klara, he knew that Klara and Wendy still had close contacts. Brian felt that if he gave another chance to Klara, it was to give himself trouble. Seeing that Brian had strong attitude, Wendy did not dare to say anything more. It didn't seem to be as easy as she had expected. "Well, then, I won't say it." Wendy was silent after indicating her attitude, but she did not intend to leave. Brian remembered that he had an appointment with Winnie, but he wanted to ask Wendy a few questions. "Wendy, when we went together, did we have a car accident or something?" Brian really wanted to smooth the wave of doubts in his heart, so he had to put off his appointment with Winnie. "Car accident?" Wendy felt confused and did not understand why Brian asked such a question. "I don't remember. It's been so long that I've forgotten it." Wendy gave a vague answer, Brian felt no value of it. Brian was disappointed and looked at the time. He did keep Winnie waiting for a while, so he did not continue to ask. "Go back, Wendy, I have things to do." Brian said impolitely. "Oh, I won't bother you then. Go ahead and I have to go back to the hospital. The doctor doesn't even know I am out." Wendy got up. She deliberately mentioned the hospital to show her vulnerability. "You are still in the hospital?" Brian asked. "No, I checked yesterday, there is still a shadow on the lung." Speaking of her illness, Wendy was in low spirits. She wasn't lying about her lung, but the doctor allowed her out of the hospital, and it was her own problem if she didn't discharge. "Be careful, don't come out. If you make it worse, it's even more troublesome." Brian expressed his concern, which touched Wendy. She looked at Brian in surprise. Because she was touched and wronged, her tears suddenly flew out. "Thank you, Brian, for your concerns. Thank you for forgiving me. I thought you wouldn't care about me for the rest of your life." Wendy wiped away tears as she spoke. Brian could not bear to see it. "The past is the past. We can still be friends even if we break up. Wendy, go back and get rest." "Ok, I am going back. Sorry to have bothered you so long." Wendy walked out in tears, which was seen by Winnie. Winnie had been standing by the window since she returned to the office, not deliberately wanting to see something, but wanting to find Brian after Wendy left. To her surprise, she saw Wendy walk out from Brian's office wiping tears. What was going on? It was totally different from last time. Winnie walked out of the office and directly pushed the door of Brian's office, she saw Brian who had a black face. She was stunned for a moment as if she had seen nothing, and then she spoke. "It is the time, shall we go?" "Ok, I put the papers away." Winnie's words made Brian ease his mood. Winnie did not ask anything. If she asked, she would not be an open-minded man as Wendy. They came to a top class western restaurant. When they finished ordering, Brian mentioned Wendy. "Wendy came, so I was late, or we should have almost finished our meal." "Oh, I saw her come into your office. Otherwise I would have gone to your office to hurry you up." Winnie did not conceal it. Brian mentioned it, she thought it was respect to her, so there was no need to cover up anything. "Why didn't you ask?" Brian was surprised. "You told me even if I didn't ask." Winnie raised the corners of her mouth and answered with a smile. "She came to plead for Klara again, and she said..." "Brian, let Klara come back if you want to, or you'll always feel indebted to her husband. Even if you give her enough money, you don't think you'll get a life back." Winnie knew Brian well, she knew it was difficult for Brian without second thought. "I refused. Klara and Wendy have been in contact and Klara has been using Wendy. She doesn't repent at all, and if I bring her back, there'll be trouble." Brian felt it difficult. Indeed as Winnie said, it was because of his guilt for Spencer. But there was no change in his mind, unless Klara realized her mistake. "Oh, you refused. If they're still together, it seems like they still have a grudge against me. Klara is really scheming. She treats me as her worst enemy. Do you think I made mistakes?" Winnie asked, but she was surprised by Brian's refusal. She did not know his refusal was because he felt distressed that Wendy was used by Klara, or because he was afraid that she got hurt again. "You made mistakes? No, if there's a mistake, it is because I love you. When Penny and I were together, she knew I didn't like Penny, so there wasn't so much hatred. My heart has a resting place ever since you appeared. She is so sensitive that she knew I loved you long before I did." "After all, it's because I'm in love with you that she sees you as the enemy." Brian took the responsibility on himself, but if Klara had a correct attitude and had a clear knowledge of herself, these things would not have happened and it would not have hurt Winnie indirectly or directly. Brian lifted his eyes and looked at Winnie, but Winnie was staring at him with sharp eyes. "What, did I say wrong?" "Yes, what you said gave me a feeling that I should not be loved. Do you regret it?" Winnie was not angry this time, but just naughty, trying to make herself relaxed. However, Brian's reaction was beyond Winnie's expectations. He reached out and took Winnie's hand on the dining table, then replied with a straight face. "Falling in love with you is the most regretless thing I have ever done in my life. I think you are a curse that will never be removed once I put it on." Brian stared at Winnie with affectionateness, but Winnie did not know how to deal with it. His words were so warm that she could forget all the unpleasant things and release all the feelings hidden in the bottom of her heart. However, how many of his words were true, and how much should Winnie love to respond to that? "I am caught off guard by your sudden nauseating words." Winnie could only say so, because she dare not put the most authentic thought to Brian. She did not want Brian to say he loved her, but the position in his heart. The difficulty was comparable to exploring the mysteries of the stars.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 424 ENCOUNTER WITH STEFAN

Hearing Winnie's words, Brian finally had a smile on his face since he came back. It seemed that he had come out of the mood of looking for that woman on his business trip. "Really? Is it nauseating? Did I say little of these words, so you are not used to it. It doesn't matter. I'll say it more often in the future to get you used to it." "If you let me get used to it, you should be responsible, so don't talk nonsense. But I do hope I'm a curse, and you'll never get rid of me." Unfortunately, Winnie was not a curse, and she did not have the power of the magic curse. She was nothing but a rubber band to tie hair. When he felt constrained, he could take it off and throw it aside. When it was broken, it could be decisively discarded and replaced by a new one. She was such an insignificant existence. Brian did not know his next words were commitment or not and did not know he could be responsible for the end. But he would try. He could do it after convincing his Grandpa. "Sure, I try to be responsible." Winnie said nothing but gave a bright smile. Joking or not, she didn't take Brian's remarks as a joke. She would get along with Brian day by day. All she had to do was be ready to get dumped. The waiter brought their food and the two began to eat. Brian cut his steaks into small pieces and put them in the front of Winnie and then got Winnie's to him. This considerate move made Winnie warm her heart once again, but this kind of warm was bitter. "Thank you!" Winnie said with a faint smile. "Don't thank me. It's what I should do as a boyfriend. And....." Brian was about to promise that he would do this more often in the future, but a man suddenly appeared. "Miss Chambers, you are here." Stefan stood there in surprise, thinking that he was mistaken, it was really Winnie. "What a coincidence, Mr. Brooks." Winnie looked up at the voice. When she saw Stefan, she immediately showed a sweet smile. "I thought I was wrong. I came with a friend, and you..."

Stefan was in the middle of the sentence when he noticed that there was a man sitting opposite Winnie. When Stefan looked at the man, he immediately recognized it was Brian Bennet, president of the Bennet Group. Brian was a famous young entrepreneurs over the country even the world. Others might not know him, but as a person in B City, it would be absurd not to know him. However, at the moment, Stefan was surprised. Why was Winnie with such a famous man? "Oh, let me introduce you. This is the father of my two children. His name is Brian Bennet." Winnie saw Stefan's surprise and then introduced. "Father of your children?" Winnie's introduction made Stefan feel incredible. Brian was the father of two children, so they were husband and wife? How was it possible? Brian had never made his marriage public. How come he have children and wife? "Yes, the father of my two children." Winnie answered Stefan again with great affirmation. Then she looked at Brian. "This is the owner of the hot pot restaurant I mentioned to you, the one who actively cooperated with the treatment of Megan. His name is Stefan Brooks." Winnie introduced him to Brian, but Brian did not look good, and he returned to his usual indifference. To Brian, Stefan was not a hotpot restaurant owner who actively cooperated with the treatment, but a man with good height and good looks. Brian looked at the man called Stefan coldly, he knew that it was a kind of impolite behavior. But he wanted to see if Stefan was good as Winnie said. Stefan calmed down and said hello to Brian, after all, his daughter was injured in his shop. "Hello, Mr. Bennet. I'm sorry for your daughter's injury. I'm sorry." Stefan apologized, but Winnie felt embarrassed. "You're polite, Mr. Brooks. I didn't introduce you to make you apologize. I said it's none of your business. Don't apologize." Winnie said, and kicked Brian under the table to signal him to say hello. Brian received Winnie's signal and then spoke. "There is no need to apologize, Mr. Brooks. We all know the truth. It has nothing to do with our hotpot restaurant. I should thank you for taking my daughter to the hospital in time and for your care." "Mr. Bennet, you are polite. It's all we should do." Stefan said with embarrassment because a plutocrat thanked him. "You eat, I will not disturb you. See you sometime." Stefan felt that the momentum of Brian had a sense of oppression, and he had to leave as soon as possible. After saying goodbye, Stefan left with a smile. But he felt uncomfortable and could not believe that Winnie was Brian's wife. After Stefan left, Winnie once again stared at Brian with blame and dissatisfaction in her eyes. "What's the matter?" Brian asked, knowing Winnie was dissatisfaction. "Why didn't you say hello to my friend?" Although she was dissatisfied, her tone was soft, because she did not want anyone or anything to affect their newly relaxed relationship. Winnie continued. "I know you are a great figure, and disdain ordinary people. But all my friends are nobody at this level. You can't look down on them all and not even say hello. You make me feel inferior and ashamed." In fact, Winnie had found this situation for a long time, but she did not think it was a big deal, nor a matter related to principle. And with his identity, Brian could indeed put a superior posture. But because of this, Winnie felt the distance between her and Brian was far, far away. "I ignored your feelings, right?" Hearing that, Brian found that he was not right. If he liked Winnie, if he wanted to be together for a lifetime, he had to accept the people or things around her, and integrated into her world. "My feelings...never mind, next time when you see my friend, please do me a favor." What could Winnie ask for? It was impossible to accompany Brian all her life. Why should he change himself? Never mind, she was too melodramatic. "I will next time. I will not make my woman unhappy again. But....." Brian's face became serious. "Why did you just say I am the father of the children? I really want you to say I am your boyfriend." Was Brian jealous or blaming Winnie for the introduction? "Then how should I introduce? If I said you are my boyfriend, who would have blind date with you? If it is known by the chairman, we will have to break up." Winnie casually found an excuse, but Brian's face was sullen, and she had to use cruel moves. "Do you want to break up with me so you want chairman to know as soon as possible?" As soon as Winnie said this, Brian's face turned from overcast to clear. "You are sharp-tongued. I had wondered why Megan was sharp-tongued and now I see the reason lies in you." Brian smiled. He was defeated by this dignified but naughty woman. The next day, Rufus took the DNA identification report with excitement and came to Winnie's downstairs. At this time, Winnie must have gone to work and two children had started school, so there should be only Vanessa and Isobel at home. Rufus had already entered the door of the community, but later he came out. He felt that everyone could not accept such a sudden revelation, so he returned to the car. Rufus called Isobel. "I'm at your downstairs, if it's convenient, I'll go up, if not, you can come down." No matter what, Rufus must see Isobel today, must hear Isobel's affirmation. "It is not convenient, and it is not inconvenient I go out, say it on the phone." Vanessa was at home. Seeing it was Rufus calling, Isobel returned her room before picking up the phone. She could learn that Rufus was in urgent, but Isobel did not want to see Rufus. The sight of him would not only bring back her memories, but also make her heart ache again. "I must see you today even if it is not convenient. There is something we must talk over. If it is not convenient for you to come out, I shall have to go up." Rufus' attitude was tough, his mood was a mixture of joy and sorrow. He was joyful that Vanessa was really his daughter, but for 21 years, he did not know he had a daughter and she had a painful life. "You wait, I will go down." Isobel could only compromise and went down. As Isobel walked out of door of the community, she saw Rufus, however before she could say a word, she was pulled forward by Rufus. Isobel was puzzled. "Let me go, don't pull me, it is disgrace to be seen." Isobel resisted, but Rufus did not let her go. "Go to the car. We can't talk here." Holding her wrist, Rufus pulled Isobel to the car. "Hello, Isobel." Paul said hello to her and he could only say hello in this kind of atmosphere. "Drive and find a quiet place." Rufus commanded seriously and his nerve was tight. At this moment, Isobel did not refute, because she was aware that Rufus should have important thing to talk to her. All the way Isobel did not speak, she had been guessing. Was there any change between Winnie and Brian, or had her identity been exposed? She had thought of anything possibilities, but she did not expect it to be related to Winnie. They were sent to a teahouse by Paul. They got a quiet room not to be disturbed. The two of them were in the room. Rufus finally eased his mood. However, Isobel was still confused. "You are anxious, is it related to Winwin?" Isobel asked anxiously before she sat down. "No." Rufus did not sit down, because he was too nervous to sit down. "Did Brian know I am Winwin's aunt?" "No." Rufus decisively answered Isobel again. "What is it then?" Isobel was worried and could not calm down.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 425 A SECRET OF TWENTY YEARS

Rufus did not answer but asked, but he could not be straightforward, so that Isobel could be well prepared. "Isobel, it's been more than 20 years, do you have something to hide from me?" Rufus asked. At first, Isobel was puzzled. It took her a while to realize that she was hiding something from Rufus. But she did not believe that Rufus could know it, so she denied it directly. "No, there's nothing I hide from you. There is nothing between us." "Isobel, look at what I have in my hand." Rufus finally handed the file bag in his hand to Isobel. Isobel was stunned and opened it without hesitation. She wanted to know what secret was inside. But when she saw the DNA test report, she could not calm down, she was completely messed up. "I don't know what it is." Isobel's premonition was right. It seemed that the secret she had concealed for more than 20 years could not be concealed again. With that, she put the file bag and report into the hands of Rufus, turned around and was to leave, but was stopped by Rufus.

"Isobel, you could not conceal the fact for a lifetime." "I think you know what this report is about. I am Vanessa's father." As Rufus had finished his words, Isobel could not control her anger. She did not want to accept the fact to be exposed. "Stop, it doesn't matter. It just brings pain to more people." "This child..." "This child is ours. I know I will cause her pain, but she is my child and I have right to know that she exists." Rufus did not give Isobel the opportunity but interrupted her words directly. To him, the child was his guilt, but also the love fruit between he and Isobel. He wanted the child even if it meant pain to her. "No, neither of us has the right. I have given her to my brother and she has a happy love. I don't want her to be in pain because of you and me." "Rufus, pretend you know nothing. in the past 20 years, you did not know her, but she had a good life. You have two children, so you are not lack of her. The things related to the children has been messed, so don't cause troubles to them." Isobel was kind of begging. She did not want the annoying days became worse because the identity of Vanessa. "No, I don't have a good life. Since I lost you, I had never been good. For 20 years, I did not know that I have another, I could not watch her grow up. Do you know how depressed I am?" Rufus did not with the statement of Isobel. It was the fact, even if it was wrong, it had to be corrected. It would bring much pain to others, but it had to be corrected. He continued. "Isobel, it has been more than 20 years, I thought I would never see you again, but you are back, you came back to my life and brought back my kid and my grandkid. This is destiny, no one could escape." "Make Vanessa's identity public and we face it together and fix all the problem. We ..." "Your feeling? Don't be selfish and only considered your feeling. My kid stays with me every day, but I can only be her aunt. What do you think my purpose is?" Isobel was unconvinced and did not agree with Rufus' statement. She would rather endure it alone than hurt the kid. "You think simply. Don't try to make her identity public. Think on her food, she was sick and could not be stimulated. She had to been my brother's daughter in the past 20 years, and now if you say she is your daughter, she would not stand it." At this, she shed tears, for her persistence and grievance of many ears. She had to say it even if she was in tears. "And Winwin, she had lost her parents. If the identity of Vanessa was told, she would become an orphan and she would be lonely." "They had been supporting each other for years, just like two legs supporting each other. if you break one of the legs, the other leg would be difficult to stand." Isobel raised her heard and questioned Rufus. She wanted to tell him that his persistence would be rude, Winnie and Vanessa could not accept it. Seeing that Isobel was in tears, Rufus felt unbearable pain in heart like stuck by a bee. He could not help but reach his hand to her shoulder and comforted her. Isobel did not refuse his comfort. She put her heard against Rufus' chest and cried out loud without any wild thought. She had been suppressing for more than 20 years. She had never released her pain in heart when she broke up with Felix, but she could not bear it anymore maybe it happened suddenly or she was old. She could not control her emotion at this moment, just wanted to cry out loud and relaxed her heart which had been tensed for more than 20 years. "Cry out, don't hold it back, you have been tough for too long." Rufus comforted her. He did neglect her thought, but he felt it would be exposed sooner or later. Isobel cried for a while and calmed herself down. She realized the situation was wrong, so she raised her head from Rufus' chest. "Sorry, I even cried at this age.." "Don't say that, Isobel, I feel indebted to you. If I had not been into your live, you would not have been single all your life." Rufus interrupted her. Everything happened during the 20 years has nothing to do with anyone but him. "Have a seat, let's have a talk. Even if the identity of Vanessa is not to be made public, I have the right to know how she lived." Rufus pulled Isobel who was wiping tears to the seat and he moved a chair over and sat opposite her. Isobel took a deep breath, truing to smooth her breath, since Rufus knew about it, she had no need to conceal. "Vanessa is our kid. Since I broke up with you, my brother and sister-in-law asked me to have abortion, but I did not want to, so I left alone and did not come back one day before she was born. "My brother and sister-in-law were angry, but they could do nothing about it. They were afraid that I lost my job and I could not get married with a kid, so they had her since she was born." "I thought it was good for her, it was a complete and steadiest family after all. I could not stay in this city at that time, there seemed to be your breath everywhere I went to in those days. I felt hurtful and could not stand it." At this, her tear flowed down. She was still in pain recalling the past. "So I gave the kid to my brother and sister-in-law after she was born and I left." "At the moment I left, I had never intended to come back and had been engaged in medical aid in remote places. I seldom came back in those years. I did not come back until my brother and sister-in-law had a car accident." At this, she stopped and took the tissue Rufus handed her and wiped tears before she continued. "I had wanted to tell Vanessa her identity, but she was badly sick and she was to break down. If I told the truth, Winwin would break down." "And I told myself not to be selfish. They relied on each other, encouraged each other, and held on bravely. Her tears stopped as her voice fell. She wanted to give her kid her warm, but her love had been from her brother and sister-in-law, how could she deprive it from her?" "I have nothing to say. I am guilty to you and Vanessa and I have neglected Winnie's feelings. Why has it become so complex?" Rufus did not want to do now. He felt his thought at the beginning was impulsive and selfish, but he wanted to think about it and found a solution to get his daughter back. "I did not expect it out two families would be connected in a complex way. Now I am worried that I will see your son and daughter, if I see them, nothing could be fixed." "Rufus, pretend you know nothing about Vanessa and don't fight for Winwin and Brain. You take care of two children, and I go for medical aid, so that I will never see your son, and they can have a quiet life." It was the best way she could come up with, she wanted to hide it for a lifetime and escape for a lifetime. "Isobel, avoiding is not the best solution. Do you want to stay away for a life time? Can you avoid it all the time?" "Let's face it together. No matter the result was, we try our best and there will be no regret. As long as the thing was resolved, we can spend our life peacefully." Rufus had different idea as Isobel. They both were old and the things to be solved could not be dragged. They could not die with guilt and regret and left the problem to the next generation in an irresponsible way. "But how can we fix it. There are many people we will hurt, how can we have a peace of mind? Listen to me, conceal it. When I die, you son would not hate me, and he would not be angry at Winnie and Vanessa." Isobel said. She wanted to solve the problem and then spent the rest of life with peace, but it was easy to say, hard to do it. "Even if we die, the problem would not be solved. Do you want us kids continue the hatred because of us? Isobel, I have something to tell you, you be prepared." Rufus did not want to mention it, but he had to. If he did not say it out, Isobel would think death could fix everything. "What is it?" Isobel had bad feeling. "In the car accident of your brother, the death was Brian's driver and Brian got injured."

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 426 BUY BACK EVERYTHING

Hearing what Rufus said, Isobel was shocked. With her eyes wide open, she asked Rufus. "Do you mean my brother hit Brian in the car accident?" "Yes." After hearing Rufus' answer, Isobel's had heartache and her tears once again fell down. "What's going? Why are we in a tangle? Was our Chambers family indebted to you last life and we have not paid you back?" Seeing that Isobel in tears with painful expression, Rufus felt distressed. "Don't cry. It's destiny. We are not indebted to each other. Pain must be endured, all people have to go through pain to grow up, to be mature." "It is only through suffering that we know what happiness is. Let us take it; their happiness is worth the sacrifice of both of us." Rufus comforted and persuaded her. Escaping was irresponsible behavior for everyone, he did not want to be sorry to anyone. Isobel could not think about any problem at the moment. She did not understand why after 20 years, they had not moved on but got more entangled. Was this so-called fate? If it was really fate, it should be a bad fate. "Winwin went to surrogacy because of medical bills and lack of money to compensate the deceased. But we did not expect the wounded man was Brian, and that Winwin surrogate for Brian?" "We did not see the families of the dead or injured during the whole process. We only saw your lawyer who represented you. If we had seen it earlier, it probably wouldn't be what it is now." The feeling of Isobel was not on a line with Rufus. She was still thinking about the incredible predestination, but Rufus had already come up the solution. Isobel continued. "Winwin had already got the money for the injured and the damaged car ready. No matter how hard it was for us, we didn't use the money all these years. I don't understand why Brian suddenly disappeared, and the mobile phone we had been contacting was turned off and never turned on again. Had we been in touch earlier, none of this might have happened." "I don't know about that. I don't know that it wasn't done. Brian had his head hit in the car accident, although it was not too serious, part of his memory lost. But it doesn't seem to have anything to do with the compensation." Rufus was not clear about the specific situation, and did not know that the matter had not been handled after so many years. He was completely blindsided by the situation. "The money we paid was a huge amount of compensation. Winwin said it would not cost that much if we followed the legal procedures, but the man was innocent after all. We tried our best to meet the demands of the other party..." At this, Isobel did not continue. At that time, no one could understand Winnie's and her suffering and helplessness. Now it seemed to be a kind of hell. "Well, we are in the wrong and have no right to complain. An innocent life was taken by my brother, and all we can do is to let the family of the dearth live in peace of mind." Isobel undertook all the responsibility kind-heartedly and had more guilt to Brian. What should she do? Should she let it be more and more tangled, or, as Rufus said, though it hurt many people, they solve the problem? Isobel did not give her answer until the end. They parted, she told Rufus she would think about it and the thing of Vanessa could not add more mess. After Isobel and Rufus parted, Isobel took a taxi and returned to the villa of her brother before. Standing outside the gate of the villa, Isobel was surprised. The gates were locked, the yard was strewn with weeds, the Windows were shut, and there seemed to be no one living there. Had it been empty all these years? Had the bank not auctioned or had the buyer never lived in it at all? Though surprised, Isobel did not think much of it, after all, it was no longer their home. The only thing she could feel was the shadow of her brother and sister-in-law still walking in the yard. After dinner in the evening, Isobel mentioned the house to Winnie and Vanessa, but she did not tell them she had met Rufus. "Our house is still there, as if no one lives there." Isobel sat in the middle of the sofa, flanked by Vanessa and Winnie. When Isobel finished speaking, the two sisters looked at each other. Subsequently Vanessa intimately embraced Isobel's arms, with her head leaning on Isobel's shoulder. "Aunt, do you miss my parents? Do you miss our previous home? It is good there is no one, so that we can go and have a look casually." Vanessa did not thinking too much, she just thought her aunt was homesick. "I was homesick, if only your parents were alive." Isobel took a sigh. If her brother and sister-in-law were still alive, none of this might have happened. Even if poor, Winnie was impossible to surrogate and she would not meet Brian and to tangle with Brian. If she had come back earlier, things would never had turned out the way they were now. At least there would not have been two children, and there would have been no trouble with the Bennet family. "Don't think too much about it. Or our parents would worry about us." Vanessa sensibly comforted her aunt. She did not know why her aunt suddenly became sad and did not ask why her aunt suddenly went to the original home. She only knew that her aunt was the only support for her and her sister, and could not bear to see her sad. "Aunt, did you say the house is empty now? The villa has been sold?" Winnie asked her aunt. She hadn't been there once since it was sold. It was not that she didn't want to go, but she dare not go, for fear to think of the previous happy life, afraid that she could not hold on. "It's supposed to be unoccupied. There are weeds in the yard and no vehicle entry. It looks like it's been unoccupied for years." Thinking about the condition of the house, Isobel could recall the desolation of the Chambers family at that time. "What does it matter? Perhaps the rich has not lived in after he bought it. Nothing to be surprised about." Vanessa said, afraid that her sister became sad because of the house. "Aunt, have you ever seen the old house that grandpa left you?" Winnie transferred the topic to the old house. These were their pain. Although Vanessa did not want to mention it, afraid of affecting everyone's mood, but these pain hidden in the bottom of heart would be painful for a lifetime, and it would be less painful if she said it out. "No, I haven't been there." Isobel replied. She never dared to have fantasies about the house, for fear that Winnie had a burden in her heart. "Aunt, go and see it when you have time. If the owner of that house wants to sell, we'll buy it." Winnie had wanted to tell her aunt about it for a long time, but she forgot about it when she got busy, so she brought it up today. "Buy it? We don't have so much money." Isobel looked at Winnie in surprise, even Vanessa felt incredible. "You don't have to worry about money. I earned some money from the game, it is not enough, Leo will lend it to me. You just need to go and see it when you have nothing to do, and if it's sold, don't let it bought by others." Winnie was now capable. Not only the games, their company also made a lot of money. With both sides combined and backed up by Leo, she had nothing to worry about. "Why does Leo always help you? Can't Brian help you? He is your boyfriend." Vanessa suddenly deviated from the topic, and said with dissatisfaction. "The Bennet family thinks we get to them for money, how can your sister mention money to them? Winwin, we don't need money from anyone. We'll talk about it when we save enough money." Isobel hurriedly gave an explanation, did not want Winnie covet a penny from the Bennet family. "I know, Aunt. I don't think money is very important, but I think Brian should mean to help for the sake of two children." Unconvinced, Vanessa said. Before her sister asked for help, Leo would offer help. She didn't know whether her sister was important or not to Brian. Even if her sister didn't say anything, didn't he know what her sister wanted? She was so optimistic about Brian and thought he was the best candidate to be her brother-in-law. It seemed she was wrong. "It has nothing to do with him. We don't ask anyone for help." Winnie, like her aunt, did not ask anyone for help, including Brian. Besides, no matter what happened in their family, she had never told Brian. How could he think of helping? Winnie continued. "Aunt, I have a lot of ideas, although I don't know if it will be finished, I want to try." "This house will be transferred to the name of Vanessa two years later, and then I will buy your old house back, and then buy our villa back. I may also buy back my father's company." This was not the ambition of Winnie. It was what she should do. Her father had left them, and she wanted to help him buy them. "Sister, I support your idea. But wait for me, when I make money, we can buy back Dad's company." Of course, Vanessa supported her sister, but she wanted to work with her sister because she was part of the Chambers family. Hearing that, Isobel spoke after a moment of thinking. "I support your idea. But do what you can and don't worry too much. These cost a big amount of money. If you are tired or hurt because your goal is too big, it is not worth it." "We're not as rich as we used to be, but we're doing pretty well. I don't ask too much, I just want you to be safe." Isobel said so not because she knew too much. If they were exposed, all their dreams would be dashed. They would be the ones who got hurt. "By the way, Winwin, haven't you had found the injured in that car accident?" Isobel suddenly mentioned the injured, she wanted to know whether Winnie was still checking on it. "No, I have no clues. I'll check with Officer Lee in a few days and see if he can help me with the files."

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 427 REMINDS VANESSA

As Winnie had just finished, Isobel stopped her immediately. "Don't check, let it be. If he wants the money, he'll come to us." In the past, she always urged Winnie to find that man as soon as possible, because she would be contented once the money was paid. But now she did not want Winnie to find it out, or Winnie would not be in peace. Winnie was surprised by her aunt's change, but she didn't ask much. She would ask when there was opportunity, if there was not, she would wait him to come to door. Rufus had been in a bad mood since he got home and shut himself up in his room for a whole day. "Dad didn't eat dinner tonight. I wonder what's wrong." As Brian just came back, Stella went to him and told him about Rufus, looking worried. "Not feeling well?" Brian asked in a stern voice, frowning. "No, I asked him about it. He is just in bad mood, I don't know the reason." Stella was worried all the time and could not understand why her father was in low spirits. "Is Grandpa getting tough again?" Brian guessed. "Not likely. If something goes wrong with Grandpa, Dad will tell us." "Why don't you ask?" Stella had thought about all kinds possibilities, and she wanted Brian to ask about it. "You go, I have work to do." Brian refused directly. He could not communicate with his father alone or take the initiative to care for him. With that, Brian returned to his room. The expectation on Stella's face subsequently dispersed. It seemed that Brian's heart knot was still not open, the impact of his mother's death had been deeply rooted in his mind, which was unlikely to be removed. Rufus's depression came from Vanessa, but Stella did not discover that he was pleased too. He was pleased that Vanessa was his child, until now he could not calm down and believe that was true. At the beginning, he really felt that she was very similar to Stella, and he liked her from the bottom of his heart. But he did not expect that she was his own child. But it undoubtedly increased obstacles between Winnie and Brian, and it would be more difficult to solve the problem. How should he do? How should he persuade Isobel? If he did not recognize this daughter, he would have regret for a lifetime till he was dead. But what Isobel said was very reasonable. If it made public it would cause irreparable harm to Winnie and Vanessa. Rufus felt it difficult to deal with it. The Paul knocked on the door and walked in. "You haven't been out all day and haven't had dinner. The kids are worried about you. If you keep doing this, they will guess the clue." Paul slowly walked to Rufus. He had heard the conversation between Brian and Stella in the living room. The Bennets were clever, and they were always pondering, sooner or later they would figure out the truth. Rufus sighed. He also wanted to manage his emotions, but it was very difficult. There were a few people who can keep a straight face when they knew something like that. "I want to reveal Vanessa's identity. Sooner or later, everyone will know it." Rufus finally gave such a sentence, but it could not solve any questions. "You have to be methodical. Try not to hurt too many people." Paul knew Rufus was disorderly in heart, so he came over to chat with him and made him relaxed. Paul continued. "You must be happy that Vanessa is your daughter. This means that you and Isobel are in love, at least your broken love gets comforts from Vanessa." "Rufus, I know how you feel, but you should ask for Isobel's permission. And remember, once it becomes public, it's not just Vanessa who's affected." "Stella, Vanessa, Isobel, Winwin, Brian and even two children. You can't let so many people get hurt for your own sake." Paul told Rufus that he had better weigh the pros and cons, if Vanessa's identity went public, Brian and Winnie could not be together, two children were completely without hope and they could not feel the warmth of the home for a lifetime. "I've thought about that, and I know that no matter what I do, someone's going to get hurt. It's inevitable." "But Paul, can these things be hidden for a lifetime?"

Who can guarantee that Brian and Isobel will never see each other in his whole life? Who can guarantee that Brian will never know that Isobel is Winwin's aunt?" "Sooner or later they will know about it. And it is dangerous even it has brought to grave." Rufus asked the question and gave the answer himself. His idea had never changed, no matter what the outcome was, the truth is the truth, no matter how to escape, no one could escape. "Yes, you're right. No one escapes fate. But you have to think about how you're going to do it." Paul approbated Rufus's words that the harm could not be avoided. If the matter was concealed until the death of Rufus and Isobel, it would still be resolved. Though Rufus and Isobel escaped punishment, the other people would be in unbearable painful. It seemed that it was an irresponsible behavior. "I don't know what to do right now. I'm so anxious and worried. I am trying to get everything sorted out as soon as possible and live in peace." Rufus himself was a contradictory whole. No matter how he tried, he could not come up with the best solution, but he had to solve it. "Why don't you tell Stella first? In this matter of Isobel, Stella would be calmer than Brian. You talk Stella first, let her help you." Paul suggested and did not want to see Rufus in dilemma. "I've thought the same thing, but I don't know how Stella will react. Because she is older than Brian, she could understand me better. But that doesn't mean she can accept another sister." Rufus want to have Stella's help, but the first to be hurt would be Stella. "Say it tentatively little by little, I believe Stella can help you." Paul felt that it was the best method, there was no second solution. Rufus did not speak again. If he decided to solve all things, the first to persuade should be Isobel. If Isobel cannot be persuaded, he would encounter more obstacles on the way to solving the problem. Vanessa finally started school and got into a busy university life. On the first day of school, in the school gate she met Brian and Winnie. Vanessa was surprised. It was so obvious that they were there waiting for her. She came to Brian and Winnie and greeted them. "Brian, Sister, why did you choose to date here?" Vanessa made a mischievous joke. "We came to see you." Brian gave a rare smile. "Thank you." Looking at such a harmonious atmosphere between them, Vanessa sighed in heart. They should be together, her sister should get happiness, but why did she have to go through so many hardships? Why her sister had to bear things that she should not bear? Did Brian really love her sister, as much as he loved his life? "Don't be so polite with me. We are here today to cheer you on. You're the pride of your sister." Brian encouraged Vanessa with a light smile. It was his idea to come over today. He wanted Vanessa to feel that she was concerned though she had no parents. "Yes, I will study hard." "But you have to word heard too, be good to my sister and don't let other do better than you." Although Vanessa's words listened like a joke, but everyone could hear that it was a kind of dissatisfaction to Brian. Without giving others a chance to speak, Vanessa continued. "Brian, I have only one family member, and my sister has suffered a lot. It has been a difficult life for her. I sincerely hope that you can give her happiness. If you can't, don't hurt her. Just give her back to me." Vanessa became suddenly serious. She said in a euphemistic way. If she wasn't at school, and if she wasn't with her sister today, she might have spoken more sharply. "You have grown up and have the awareness to protect you sister. You may rest assured that I will take good care of your sister, and that there will never be a day I will give her back to you." For a moment, Brian was stunned by Vanessa's words, and he was somewhat embarrassed. But he quickly resolved the problem and gave Vanessa a satisfied answer. But he did not understand why Vanessa said that, because she had been very supportive of him. Brian and Winnie were on the way to the company. Brian thought Vanessa said that was because Winnie had some problems. "Why are you silent?" Winnie spoke to break the silence in the car. "Nothing." Brian came to his senses and gave Winnie a faint smile. "Do Vanessa's words made you think much? She's a nerd. She doesn't know anything. Don't mind her." Winnie considered Brian silence might be related to Vanessa's sudden words, because at that time she noticed the embarrassing look of Brian. "She wasn't a nerd. I was thinking what was she getting at me? Do you have any troubles?" Brian asked. "No, You know everything for I am with you all day. Do you think I have troubles?" Winnie asked. She didn't think she was having troubles, but at the end of the conversation, she remembered that she didn't have enough money to buy the house. Vanessa might mind that it was not Brian but Leo to help. This girl seemed not a nerd. "I asked you because I don't know." Brian could not guess. He only knew that since he came back from a business trip and snubbed Winnie, Winnie did not seem to come out from the low spirit completely, once again put her heart on the fence. "It's all right. I'll tell you if I have troubles." Winnie appeased Brian. She did not want him to think about it and did not want him to know that she needed money. The most taboo topic between her and Brian was money.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 428

After Winnie came to the company, she began to work, but soon an unexpected visitor came. "What are you doing here at this hour? Are you not busy?" Winnie put down her work and looked at Jack, who was standing at her desk. "I have just finished the report. I am not busy." Jack replied in a low voice, as if he was in a bad mood. "Winnie... I don't even know what to call you now. I can't believe you're Luke's mommy, and Luke and Megan are twins." Jack could not express his mood at the moment, and he was depressed. He went on a business trip the day after he learned the fact and had just got back today. These days he had been trying to accept the fact, but he was still uncomfortable, especially when he saw Winnie in the company. "It's very sudden to you, but it's the truth and nothing can be done about it. As for my address, you can call me Winnie." Winnie said politely with a light smile and she got up. "Sit here." She didn't know why Jack came, but she really didn't like to contact him from the bottom of her heart. Winnie knew Jack's mind, so even if she was not willing to get along with him, today she would talk to him. After that, they would get along as a colleague or as a friend. Jack came to the sofa and sat down, looking sad. He looked down, sighed, and looked up again. "Winnie, actually I like you very much and always tried to get close to you. It's a pity you never gave me the chance. Now I finally understand why you didn't give me a chance. This relationship is really awkward, and now I can't like you." Jack thought about the scene he confessed his love to Winnie for countless times, but he never thought that confession and abandonment would be carried out at the same time. It never occurred to him that he would give up before starting the relationship. Winnie had been silently listening, until Jack stopped speaking, and then she spoke. "Thank you for liking me, and for understanding that this relationship won't work. To tell you the truth, my heart has always been in Brian and I never gave anyone a chance." Winnie told the truth. Only in this way could Jack feel better. "But the chance of you going with brother is very slim. You should know that my grandfather insisted that his granddaughter-in-law must be a match for our family." Jack seemed not to give up, because he found that even if Brian and Winnie had a complex relationship, he still liked Winnie. Winnie was different from all the women he knew, she was like a lotus out of the silt but not dyed, making him showed awe and love. Her quiet elegance, her calmness, her wisdom and her deep and lovely smile dimples appearance easily conquered Jack's nerves. He wondered why he had not met such a woman earlier, and why it was Brian instead of him who had met such a woman. As Winnie heard Jack's "kind" reminder, she felt uncomfortable. Her elegant face then leaked a trace of embarrassment. "Yes, I know it. I never intended to marry your brother. I never thought it would work out with him. I just love him without any selfishness." "Two children are enough for my life. No man will ever come into my life.” “Now that you know it is awkward, give up your love and put it into someone else as soon as possible.” Winnie rejected Jack's love, which was why she talked to him. She didn't want to make any man misunderstand, so she spoke so directly. “I...Do I hurt you by saying this? I know you're good, I know you're good enough for Brother. I was saying what Grandpa thinks, not what Brother and I think. I'm sorry if I have offended you.” Jack realized that his words seemed to look down on Winnie, so he hurried to explain. “No, I've heard it so much that I don't care.” Winnie forced a tiny smile. “Alas.....I just hope my brother cherishes you.” Jack was helpless. Even if Brian did not cherish Winnie, he could not be with Winnie. Winnie made an appointment with her father's friends. She had been busy in the New Year, now she should take time to see Uncle Romeo who had helped her. Winnie and Romeo were sitting in a quiet corner of a Chinese restaurant. “Uncle Romeo, you are in good mental condition recently. Do you still insist on exercising every day?” Winnie helped Romeo with dished while chatting with him. “Yes, I take exercise all the time. If you don't exercise when you're old, you'll get sick. Life is so good now that I want to live a few more years.” Romeo said jokingly. He was happy that Winnie treated him as a family member, and had been thinking about him. “You're right. Life is so good that you must cherish it.” “Uncle Romeo, are things all right at home?” Winnie continued to care. She was very gratified Uncle Romeo had such a state of mind. “Yes, it is all right. You are not too young, have you considered marriage?” Romeo's family was all right, now he was worried about Winnie. He hoped that she could be good so that her parents could rest in peace. “No, there are a lot of things I haven't done yet.” Winnie was perfunctory, she was most afraid of others talking about it. She could not get married in this life. “Winwin, since we are talking about marriage, there is something I want to say.” Romeo suddenly became serious and his smile disappeared. “I heard you're dating the present of the Bennet Group. Is that true?” For Romeo's question, Winnie was somewhat surprised. She did not expect Uncle Romeo to know it. Winnie, however, did not know how to reply and could only keep silent. From Winnie's silence, Romeo knew that the so-called gossip was actually true, but he had to remind her. “Winwin, your father and I have known Felix since we started the company. We don't know him personally, but we know he is aggressive.” “That kind of family is not suitable for us ordinary people. We'd better not have anything to do with them.” Romeo reminded, but what he said was not the reason for the opposition, he did not dare to say the truth, for fear of Winnie would be hurtful again. “Don't worry, Uncle Romeo. I have discretion and know that kind of family is not suitable for me.” Winnie knew well Romeo's concern. She had the same attitude when mentioned it, and it would have no results. It was a situation she never tried to change, for it was impossible to change anyone in the Bennet family. The only thing she could change was herself, and she could only manage her heart by all means. After hearing Winnie's words, Romeo could not rest assured, but that was all he could say. “Uncle, there's something I want to ask you.” Winnie changed the subject. “What is it?” Romeo looked up at Winnie and did not know what she wanted to ask. “I want to know why my father's company suddenly went bankrupt. I never heard my mother mentioned that it was in crisis.” This matter had been hidden in Winnie's heart for many years, and she had never had the opportunity or ability to ask this question. “The company encountered crisis was for affirmation, but your parents did not want to worry you, so they did not tell you. I don't know exactly why, because by that time we'd been separated.” Romeo said perfunctorily, because he did not know whether or not he should tell Winnie. “I don't think Dad has ever done anything untrustworthy. But I never thought the company would fall into my father's hands. Uncle, I still don't understand.” Winnie mentioned the company with others for the first time. She was consumed and didn't know who could give her a convincing reason. “It's normal that you don't know and can't accept it. Your parents died before they could tell you. Only they knew."Hearing that, Romeo was embarrassed, and did not know how to continue this topic.Winnie took a deep breath. Seeing that Uncle Romeo really did not know the truth, she thought perhaps she was overthinking and it was likely to be a simple bankruptcy."Uncle, who bought our company?"Winnie turned the conversation back to the company."I don't know who bought it, but now Alfred Yup is running the company."Romeo did not conceal, and there was no point in concealing it."Alfred Yup?"Winnie was puzzled. She felt that the name was familiar and she did not know whyAfter dinner, Winnie still had not got any idea who Alfred was.On the way back to the company, Winnie has been thinking about this person called Alfred. Suddenly the household registration data of Wendy's family jumped into her mind. Alfred was Wendy's father.When Winnie thought of this, she felt puzzled, so she turned the car and pulled over.Alfred was the father of Wendy. Did he buy her father's company?But she had never heard her father mentioned this person, how he bought her father's company?Winnie could not understand, so she turned around and went to the place she had been afraid to go.She came to her father's company, parked the car and stood at the door of the company.So many years had passed, and the company had changed too much. It was much more magnificent than before, much more majestic than before. The image that remained in Winnie's mind had vanished, and the company was entirely new and thriving.Was this company really managed by Wendy's father? If so, Wendy's father should be a leader with exceptional ability, much more outstanding than her father.Although there was no previous appearance, Winnie missed here, because her parents had worked their whole life there.Winnie returned to the car, before driving, she took the last look at the company, but found that Wendy walked out from the inside.Then Winnie was sure that this was Wendy's company, the Yup Groups in Brian and Felix's mouth.The Yup Group was not strange to Winnie, but she did not expect that her own company was actually the predecessor of the Yup Group.If her father and mother had not died, if their family had developed well, would they be able to become the Chambers Group now?At this thought, she felt sad. How her family went to the point of ruin.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 429 DISGRUNTLED DAENERYS

Winnie was in a bad mood and could not be happy during the whole afternoon. Brian found something wrong with Winnie and asked her, but she said nothing. After work, Brian took Winnie to Kevin's home, hoping that Winnie can change her mood because of Jelly Bean. Seeing Jelly Bean, Winnie was in a better mood, and had no longer hesitation and doubt. Her heart was only on Jelly Bean. "She is still sleeping. She hasn't woken up since I've been here for a while." Winnie looked down at Jelly Bean in her arms, talking to no one. "She likes to be held, and if you hold her through the night, she'll sleep through the night." No matter who Winnie was asking, Daenerys gave the answer. "She is cute, I love holding her." Winnie leaked a dotting smile, the little baby in her arms reminded her of her own children. "Megan liked to cry when she was small. Once the sound woke her up, she cried. My aunt and I were tired to bring her up." "Luke is very obedient, like Jelly Bean, did not cry." Although she had got along with Luke for only a month, she remembered his obedient and cute appearance for a lifetime. At that time, Winnie thought that the memory of that month would be the only memory she had with her son. She never thought she would meet him again. In fact, God might care for her, all the suffering was nothing compared to reunion. As the saying goes, you win something, you lose something. God will not let anyone live a perfect life, anything experienced the suffering others did not know. "Actually, Winwin, you are very lucky. At that time, you knew nothing about Brian, but you still met your own child. You are lucky compared with those who have lost their children and have searched for them all their lives.” Daenerys felt Winnie had no regret since the child had returned to her. “Well, that's what I thought, so I couldn't ask for more. I cannot be too greedy, for contented people are often happy.” “Is it right, Jelly Bean? You must grow up happily.” Winnie teased Jelly Bean, but unfortunately she was still sleeping soundly. “About the two children, hasn't Felix given any explanation yet?” Daenerys had been concerned about this question for a long time, and today she finally got the chance to ask it. “No, no news yet. Rufus has said everything he needs to say, so has Brian, but there's no news.” Winnie answered bitterly. “It's not bad for the time being. My children are going to school and go back to my house at night. I can meet them every day.” Winnie consoled herself. “That's not the way to do it. You don't know which day the children will be taken away. How Brian said to his grandfather? He only mentioned the children and not that he wants to be with you?” Daenerys worried about a lot of things. She felt that since the children's identities had been made clear, Felix should compromise and accept Brian and Winnie to be together. After listening to Daenerys' words, Winnie felt bitter and the original smile disappeared. “Rufus mentioned it and Brian only mentioned custody of the children and did not mention whether we could be together or not. Perhaps he was afraid that the allusion of the two things at once might have the opposite effect.” Winnie once again comforted herself. Although she did not know whether Brian's idea was as she thought, Winnie could only face it calmly and expect to be with the children. “What is Brian thinking? This is the only chance. Felix will not accept it if he mentions it in the future. I.....I don't know what he's trying to do...No, I'll ask him if he's keeping you in his heart.” With that, Daenerys got up and went to the living room to ask Brian, but Winnie stopped her. “Sit down. What do you want with him? He'll think I said something to you if you go to him. He's not a fool, and he must have had some idea. Don't ask, it'll make me like eager to get married.” Winnie held the baby in one hand and pulled Daenerys with the other. If it were not for her situation at the moment was not right, if not afraid to wake up the baby, Daenerys would go out to ask. Daenerys gave a sigh of resignation and sat down. “Do you think you can marry? Get married now.” Daenerys was angry that Winnie repeatedly endured it. She was angry that she always considered others' feelings at first. “I can't marry now, now only Oscar will be willing to marry me.” Winnie made a joke, wanting to let please Daenerys and calm her down. But she carefully recollected her words, now it was truth that Oscar was willing to marry her. “Why Oscar marry you? You are good friends, even if you get married, you are good friends. Think for yourself, think for the children, try to fight for it, OK?” Daenerys' character and Winnie were completely different. She was not composed and had to solve the problem, or she would be uneasy. But Winnie was the kind of person who did not change face even when the mountain collapsed. No matter what thing it was, she could deal with it calmly, but Daenerys worried that she would miss the opportunity. “Well, don't worry. I'll fight for it.” Winnie was perfunctory. She didn't want Daenerys worry about her. However, she did not fight, why she waste energy and emotion to do some meaningless things? “You always say so, but so far I haven't seen you try. You've got a lot of hurt. You should be able to resist. Have you been frightened by something like that?” Daenerys did not believe Winnie's words, so she was still persuading Winnie. To solve the problem depended on Brian and Winnie, no one could help. “I've said I'll try my best, so don't worry. The best I could do is to talk to Brian about it. I don't have a chance to talk to Felix. Don't worry, I'll talk it over with Brian. I'll let him try to fight for it.” Winnie's attitude looked more sincere, but she was still perfunctory. She had experienced a lot of pain, but the pain for Winnie was experience and training. The relationship between her and Brian was difficulty that she cannot overcome. She was really afraid and she did not hold any hope. This time if she was hurt, she could not recover. "Then go for it now, don't waste time here. Earlier to work, earlier to have the result, so that everyone feel at ease." Daenerys reached out to hold the baby. Her attitude was tough. She wanted Winnie to solve the problem as soon as possible. "Go now, go home and settle it. If you can't think of a way out, go ahead and have children. The doctor said your chances of having a baby were low, but he didn't say it was impossible. Try to have ten or eight children, then Felix would not object." Daenerys gave her idea, and she was very determined to let Winnie settle down as soon as possible, so that she could feel what happiness was for the rest of her life. "You're crazy to think of such an idea." Winnie was amused by Daenerys. If Jelly Bean was not sleeping, Winnie would laugh out loud. However, she was very grateful to Daenerys, only Daenerys really was worried about her. "Yeah, I'm crazy. Get out of here." Daenerys went to Winnie holding the child, pulled Winnie's clothes with two fingers and walked out of the bedroom. She handed the baby to the babysitter and then went to Brian. "Mr. Bennet, stop sitting in my house and take your woman to find a solution. I haven't seen people oblivious like you. The problem has not been solved, and you have mood to chat." Daenerys said with resentment. She really wanted directly asked Brian why he ignored the existence of Winnie. But she feared Winnie would be embarrassed, so she held back. "Why are you driving him away? Brian and I are thinking what we are going to have for dinner." Kevin was surprised by Daenerys' move. When they heard that Winnie and Brian were coming, they were very excited. Why did she change after chatting for a while? "Let them eat out and we will serve them when Jelly Bean is one month years old. Come on, Mr. Bennet, I'm giving you a chance to be alone with Winnie. Why, Winnie belongs to you now and you don't cherish her now?" Daenerys was making insinuations, so Brian could only get up. "Then we're going to eat out. Don't blame us for not taking you." Brian did not become anger because of Daenerys' direct words, it seemed that he had been used to her straightforward manner. He walked over to Winnie and naturally took her hand. "Thank you for creating opportunity for us to be together. Winwin, let's go." With that, Brian left Kevin's home holding Winnie's hand. "What's the matter with you today? You don't look like you're joking. What is wrong with Winwin?" Kevin knew Daenerys well. Seeing his wife's sudden change, he knew there must be a reason. "I am worried about them. What are they doing now? Both of them don't fight for it, I wonder when can have a result." Daenerys continued with a sigh. "Brian only talked about the custody of the children to his grandfather and did not talk about marrying Winwin. I wonder what he's thinking, and whether the tender words of his mouth are true." She was angry when she thought about it, but she could not let it out. Daenerys was helpless about it. "Well, they're not kids. They know how to handle it, so you don't have to worry about it." Kevin appeased her, but his heart was disturbed. Could that woman in the picture be the reason Brian did not mentioned it? Wouldn't he be with Winnie if he did not figure it out the truth? Winnie and Brian left and went directly to Stefan's hot pot restaurant. After greeting with Stefan, they were placed in a position by the window. "I regret coming here as you required." After sitting down, Brian said so.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 430 EAT HOT POT

Hearing that, Winnie was confused. "Why, you like hot pot, I also like hot pot, isn't that just right?" "I feel that Stefan is not right looking at you." Brian said sourly, but Winnie could not help but laugh. "Am I that good, men don't look me right? I had no idea I am so popular." "If a man pursues me, or proposes to me, I'll marry him." Winnie was on a whim. She did not control her mouth and made a joke. Who would chase her? Who would marry her? With Brian around, all men could not attract her, she would not take fancy on anyone. "Are you suggesting that I should propose to you?" Brian joked too, but if

Winnie agreed, he would turn the joke into reality. "No, no, I was joking, but I didn't suggest anything." Winnie explained, afraid that Brian had a burden because of her words. Winnie never asked Brian about their relationship. One reason was that she dared not hope, and the other was to give him enough time to remember and determine who he really loved. As Winnie's voice just fell, the waiter sent the hot soup over, coincidentally it was that waiter fell and scalded Megan. "Miss, it's you. I make a formal apology to you." The waiter put down the hot soup, then stood up straight and bowed to Winnie. Winnie got up and caught the waiter who wanted to bow. "What are doing? There is no need to apologize." In Winnie's view, the waiter was also the victim, and he did not need to apologize. "Miss, if I had been more careful, I would not have scalded your child. I'm so sorry." The waiter apologized sincerely. "I said no need to apologize. What happened that day has nothing to do with you. It is all over, and the child has long since recovered. Don't mind it." Winnie continued. "I'm glad to see you here. Your boss seems to be a kind man." "Yes, my boss is very kind to us..." Before the waiter's words had finished, the voice of Stefan and a woman spread over not far. And this female voice was familiar to Winnie and Brian. Wendy came to the hotpot restaurant today to apologize, although the purpose of the apology was not that she had realized she had done something wrong, but someone would watch it. "You are the boss here, aren't you? I am the one who ate here the other day and hurt the little girl." Wendy gave self-introduction. Stefan was very surprised. In the video this woman was arrogant and domineering, which was different the present woman who was gentle and quiet. "Hello, I'm the boss here." Stefan was calm and polite. "I come here today to apologize. What happened that day has nothing to do with your hotpot restaurant. I did not manage my emotions, and made the child injured, but you shared the responsibility." Wendy continued. "I'll pay for the damage to your store that day and the medical bills for that child." With that, Wendy took out a bank card to Stefan from the bag. "Here is a hundred thousand as my compensation for you and the child." Stefan looked at the bank card handed over by Wendy, suddenly he became serious. This woman was to apologize, but why there was no guilt in her eyes? Instead, he thought he was throwing money at him. "The matter has been settled. The medical bills are not much, and it doesn't matter who bears them. We did have some damage, but not a hundred thousand." "Madam, I accept your favor. You'd better take the money back." Stephen rejected Wendy's compensation. Maybe he saw the video and saw that she was not a kind person, so he did not have a good impression on this woman. "I apologize to you from the bottom of my heart. Although the loss was not so large and the medical expenses could not be used up to a hundred thousand, but it had a negative impact on your store after all. Do you think it is not enough? If so, I can compensate you more." Wendy insisted, and then stuffed the bank card into the hand of Stefan. It was impossible for Stefan to take the money, so he stepped back to avoid Wendy's forced kindness. "I don't mean to think the money is not enough. I know you are kind, but I can't take the money. I don't have much lose, and if you really want to make up for it, come here more." Stefan still politely refused. He did not need a lip service apology. The money would sting on his conscience if he took it. "Well.....All right, I'll come more often. You are so nice. Thank you for your understanding." Wendy had no choice but to awkwardly took the bank card away. Money was not a big deal, the important thing was that someone had watched it. Wendy continued. "By the way, is the waiter I tripped over still here? I also want to say sorry to him." Wendy asked. Stefan remembered that Winnie and Brian were there, so he looked over and saw the waiter was next to Winnie. Stefan suddenly felt that Wendy hurt Winnie and her daughter, she should apologize here. "Yes, the waiter is still here. The mother and father of the injured child are also here. If you really want to apologize, then go and apologize to them. After all, the child was scalded that day and the mother was scalded as well." Stefan's words made Wendy embarrassed. She came just to let Brian see her true repentance, trying to make up for this thing. But she was rather sheepish about apologizing in front of so many people. "Oh, what a coincidence. I'll go and apologize to them." Wendy had no other choice but to head toward the direction of Winnie. Stefan and Wendy's conversation had been heard by Winnie and Brian, as well as the waiter. Seeing Wendy coming over, to tell the truth, Winnie was unhappy. Like that day played all over again, there seemed to be psychological shadow. She did not feel sincere about Wendy's apology, and she did not know what was Brian thinking. By this time, Wendy had gone to their side and first apologized to the waiter standing there. "You must have been scared that day. I'm sorry it was on the spur of the moment. I'm sorry. It won't happen again. I beg your pardon." "Don't apologize, it's all right." The waiter was a kind person. With that, he left. Wendy, however, lowered her head and raised a sarcasm that could not be easily detected. The attitude apologized to the waiter seemed to be rigid, which proved that she did not put the waiter in eyes, but Winnie and Brian were there, she had to say sorry. "It so happens that you are here. I.....I came to apologize...I didn't expect to meet you." Wendy said hesitantly with a face of embarrassment. "Am I interrupting you?" Before Winnie and Brian answered, Wendy continued to find another topic. Winnie did not look up at Wendy and answer her. She wanted to see if Wendy would apologize to her in front of so many people. Wendy owed her an apology, since everything was exposed, Wendy or Klara should apologize to her. What did it suggest? It suggested that they cared only Brian not her. No apology, no confession, no correction. The fact that they were together in collusion was a proof that they were still plotting against her. She did not know whether Brian had this awareness and whether he still remembered what they had done to her. "No, we just stopped by to have dinner. Have you eaten? If you haven't, sit down and eat together." Brian noticed Wendy's embarrassment. He did not want there were rumors about them. He could only ask Wendy to sit down and avoid that. Brian spoke, which made Wendy's embarrassment ease. She obediently sat down next to Brian. Winnie did not expect that Brian would treat Wendy with this attitude. He was no longer fiery and furious. Perhaps it was because of their several conversations that they had a good effect. Brian had long forgotten that Wendy had hurt her and the children. Winnie raised her head and did not conceal her feelings. She looked at Brian with dissatisfaction. "I don't want to eat with the people who hurt my child. I'm going home." Winnie said angrily and then got up directly, picked up her bag and then strode to leave. "Winwin..." Brian called after Winnie and then followed after her. Winnie didn't drive her car, so she went to take a taxi in a hurry. However, in her anger, she forgot that she had a shadow over the taxi. When the taxi approached her, she suddenly screamed and sat down weakly on the ground. At this time, Brian ran over just to see Winnie sitting on the ground. "Winwin." Brian came to help Winnie up. Winnie tried to bear it but was still in cold sweat. "You can go back and have dinner with Wendy. You can forget the children's suffering and don't care about my suffering. You can have dinner with her. You can forgive her, but I can't." With that, she pushed Brian away. She could not take a taxi, but she could take bus. After pushing Brian, she walked directly toward the bus station, but was stopped by Brian. "Winwin, I don't forgive her. Anyway, I'm in the public eye, and there are already a lot of people in this hotpot restaurant shooting pictures with their mobile phones. If I don't behave generously, the rumor will spread everywhere." "I know you feel uncomfortable in heart, can't you stand it for me?" Brian was helpless. He thought Winnie might not be happy, but he did not expect that she would have such reaction. "So I'm wrong? Am I the one who has made it difficult for you? Am I the one who does not understand you enough?" "Well, if you say I'm wrong, I'm wrong. I shouldn't embarrass you in front of so many people. I should endure the hatred in my heart and eat together with my enemies. I should wrong myself to support you."