Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 451 FELIX'S FINAL DECISION

Although Winnie was not angry, she did feel uncomfortable. She rarely intervened in Brian, but she needed to tell him what she should say. She told herself that seeing was not believing. She couldn't let herself trust the wrong person and didn't realize it until she left. It's better for her to be cautious. "Well, everything is clear now. Don't care about anything. I'm going to drive. Calvin just called to ask me to come back. Bye, have a good trip." Winnie hung up the phone directly. And the two people behind her began to blame her again. "Are you crazy? Why did you explain to him? You didn't cheat on him. We didn't stalk him. You don't have to explain anything to him." Even Wendy couldn't annoy Daenerys before, but Daenerys was angry with Winnie now. "He will feel uncomfortable after I explained to him. He will think about it later." Hearing what Winnie said, Daenerys became silent. It was true that Brian would feel uncomfortable after Winnie explained it to him. However, they had quarreled with each other many times. It would hurt their relationship. Brian put down his phone. He did feel uncomfortable when he heard Winnie's words. Winnie said that she was not angry, but he felt ashamed than being accused by her. He did something wrong. But he just wanted to talk about the car accident with Wendy and see if he could think of anything. He didn't expect that Winnie would meet them. He was caught unprepared even if he had been very careful and cautious. Brian received a call from his grandfather on the night when he was on his business trip. Knowing that he was on a business trip, Felix only told him to come back to the Johnson's villa when he finished his business trip. Brian felt uneasy when he heard it. He thought that what Felix wanted to say was about the kids and Winnie. Thinking of this, he called Winnie again. "Hello, did you get off the plane?" Winnie's voice was slurred on the phone. "Have you drunk?" Brian recognized what Winnie was doing at this time. "Yes. I... I'm drinking with Daenerys and Emily. It's only the three of us." "Well, I... I want to explain to Emily that I have nothing to do with Leo. And she believes my explanation. Do you believe me or not?" Winnie was drunk. She was not coherent and her words were disorganized, which made Brian be worried about her. "I trust you. Don't drink. You are girls. What if all of you get drunk? I'll ask Calvin to pick you up." Brian sighed worriedly. "No, Leo will come here. But I want to tell you that Leo comes to pick up Emily. It has nothing to do with me. I'll call Oscar. He is my knight all my life." After Winnie finished her words, she hung up the phone in a daze. Then she called Oscar. Brian was even more worried. He called Winnie again, but the phone couldn't be connected. He found that he couldn't let Winnie drink without his company. Otherwise, he would be worried about her when she got drunk. Finally, Brian called Kevin. Knowing that Kevin would take care of Winnie, Brian felt relieved. Only then did he realize that he had not told Winnie the most important thing. Brian planned to call Winnie the next morning. However, before he woke up in the morning, he was woken up by a call and then began to work. When Winnie woke up the next morning, she felt pain in her head. But she kept working until noon. Then she went to take a rest. As soon as she was lying in the lounge, the phone rang next to her. When she found it was Felix, she felt very nervous. "Mr. Bennet, is something matter?" "Come to my office now." Felix ordered and then hung up. Winnie had a headache. She felt more uncomfortable now. But she had no choice but to go to Felix's office. It was the first time for her to go to his office. As an employee and a member of a team, she came here not for the work. She felt it ridiculous. Winnie didn't look around the office. She just focused on what Felix was going to say to her. Felix sat in the office chair. He was not as serious and sharp as she thought before. He spoke to her in a low voice. "The reason why I asked you to come here is that I want to talk to you about the kids. For the sake of the two kids, you can raise them. But you have to promise me one thing." Winnie didn't expect that Felix would agree that she could raise the kid. But she knew that Felix must have a request. "If I can do it, I will promise you." Winnie was not sure whether she could meet Felix's request, so she could only blur her words. "If did it only for your children and don't have other purposes, you can meet my request. I have told you last time. Now it is a different condition for you. You'll accept my request this time." Felix didn't give Winnie the chance to refuse. Then he continued to say, "You can live with Brian and raise the kid as their mother in the suburbs. But you can't interfere with Brian's marriage. Before he got married, you can bring your children to the Johnson's Villa. After he gets married, you can't go to it anymore. You are not allowed to destroy his marriage." Felix told Winnie about his request. He didn't think it was very demanding for Winnie. Winnie listened to his words patiently out of politeness. What Felix meant was that she could live with her children and have to be a mistress of Brian. If she didn't accept his request, she would be supposed to have ulterior motives for Brian and didn't care about her children. However, Winnie could accept to be Brian's mistress. Otherwise, she had already become his lover. "Mr. Bennet, you did have told me about this, and I refused at that time. I still can't accept it this time. Sorry." Winnie answered calmly. Brian had promised to her that no matter what happened, he wouldn't let her leave his children. With his support, Winnie didn't fear anything. "I've underestimated you. You are not satisfied to be Brian's mistress. But you want to be his wife." Felix didn't expect Winnie to be so stubborn. Even if he gave her the custody of the children, she refused his request. Did she have moral integrity? Or was she more ambitious than he thought before? "Mr. Bennet, when a woman falls in love with someone, she must want to live with her love forever. It would be a lie if she said that she didn't want to marry him. I have never said that I want to be with Brian. It was not because I don't love him, but I know it is impossible for me to marry him. I want him, not for his wealth and social status. I know I can't be with him." Winnie emphasized her love for Brian. She didn't have any ulterior motive for him. She had told Felix everything. It was the choice for Felix to believe it or not. "I know I can't meet your standards for Brian's wife. I have no personal ambition. I won't accept to be his mistress." "I know that you wanted the kids to have a warm family in their childhood. But it's too difficult for me. I can stand Brian getting to another woman and I can only be his mistress all my life." "I can pour all my love to my children and take good care of them. And I can break up with Brian. What I can do is to give all my love to take good care of my two children. What I can do is to We will be friends and take care of our children as their parents." "Mr. Bennet, I hope you can understand my mind and allow me to stay with my kids. I like Brian, but I won't be with him out of my selfishness. I only want to stay with my children." Winnie showed her attitude to Felix. Although she had so many words that Felix could feel impatient, she had to clarify that she didn't have ulterior motives for Brian. Felix listened to Winnie carefully. If what she said was true, she did have a backbone. However, she couldn't meet his request. It did no good to the Bennet family. And they would lose the two children if he agreed to her request. Felix wouldn't allow it to happen. "If you can't meet my request, you can't ask me to do anything and you won't be able to see your kids in your life. Brian is on his business trip these days. You can think about my request. You have to give me your answer when he comes back. If you still refuse my request at that time, I'll send my men to pick up the kids. You can either leave by yourself or be sent out. If you let Brian help you, I'll teach you a lesson." "Get out." After that, Felix asked her to leave. Winnie panicked, but had to leave the office. She had thought that Felix would talk to her. But she didn't expect him to threaten her friends and even her company. If she didn't accept his request, he would do harm to her and her friends. Winnie felt helpless. She didn't expect Felix to so ruthless. Brian didn't find that Felix was domineering. She didn't know what to do. If she accepted his request, she would be an illegal mistress in her life. Otherwise, she would never see her children. It was so difficult for her to make a decision. After Winnie returned to the office, she received a call from Brian. "How are you? Do you feel pain in your head after getting drunk?" Brian was worried about her. "Well, I feel much better now." Winnie didn't tell him what Felix said to her for the time being. "You can't drink without my company in the future. Otherwise, nobody could take care of you when you get drunk." Brian advised her. He was very worried about her last night. "Emily came back and I explained everything to her. I was happy, so I got drunk last night. I won't drink much wine in the future. It was really uncomfortable after getting drunk." Winnie was absentminded. She felt relieved after clarifying everything to Emily. However, now Felix came to her and forced her to make a decision about her kids. She was very bothered. At this time, she needed Brian to comfort her and give her advice. But he was not with her. She could only bear it herself. "It's right. No matter how happy you are, you can't drink too much." Brian was finally relieved when he heard Winnie's words.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 452 LEO

Brian didn't forget the reason why he called Winnie, so he continued to talk to her. "Winnie, my grandpa called me last night and asked me to come back early. I think that he wants to talk to me about our kids. If he comes to you, you should follow his words and don't annoy him. I'll deal with him after I come back." If Winnie hadn't been drunk, he wouldn't have to tell it to her until now. Hearing Brian's words, Winnie knew that he didn't know that Felix had come to her. Therefore, she chose not to tell him about it. She didn't want Brian to feel worried about her. "Okay, I will wait for you to come back." "I feel sick now and I want to have a rest. Remember to come back early. Bye." Then she hung up the phone. After that, Winnie lost in her thought. Felix came to her without telling Brian. It was obvious that Felix looked down on her and didn't care about her feelings at all. Felix would only pay attention to the interest of the Bennet family. She was an outsider, so he wouldn't care about her. Was she doomed to live humbly in her life? Would she have to accept that Brian gets married to another woman? Did she have to bear these things? She should not blame fate. She could only blame herself for taking the wrong way and falling in love with a person that she couldn't marry to. Otherwise, she would feel pain at this time. Winnie came home after work. Vanessa was not at home and the children were doing their homework in the room. Winnie came to the room of Isobel and talked to her. She didn't dare to tell others about her things. She was afraid that she would get them in trouble. Winnie told Isobel about what Felix said to her before. "Isobel, what do you think I should do?" Isobel was angry. She knew that Felix would force Winnie to satisfy the request of the Bennet family. "They are very selfish. They don't consider your condition at all. Winnie, I have never agreed that you fall in love with Brian. I don't want you to be a mistress. You would be criticized by others in the rest of your life if you became a mistress. Have a good talk with Brian. It is best to leave with your children." Isobel couldn't accept Felix's request either. If Winnie accepted it, she would be painful in her life. Isobel didn't want to see Winnie being painful. Besides, Winnie's parents would accept that she chose to be a mistress if they were alive. "I have talked with Brian many times. He won't allow me to leave with my children. Unless Felix forces me to leave my children." Winnie was eager to leave. But it seemed impossible for her to leave now. Felix had agreed that she could stay with her children, so it would be less likely for Brian to let them leave. "You can refuse Felix. He will be angry and separate you from your children. At that time. Brian will agree that you take the children to leave." Although it was dangerous for Winnie, Isobel thought that it would be better for Winnie than being a mistress. "Felix wouldn't let me get away if I left with my kids. He has threatened that he would let my friends off and he will attack my company. Although it is a small company, I won't make any of my friends feel better, and will attack my company. Although the company is small, many people will be implicated if the company goes bankrupt because of me." Winnie had to consider to these people. She couldn't take all of them to leave. It would be very easy for Felix if he wanted to destroy her company. "Does it mean that we have no choice but to accept Felix's request?" Isobel lost hope when she heard Winnie's words. She realized that Felix was serious and he could destroy them. If Winnie left with her children, he would threaten her friends and force Winnie to come back. "I'll talk to Brian when he comes back. I want to know if he will agree with me to take the children away. Or I won't have to leave here, but I can't stay with my children." Winnie could only come up with this way. Brian was her last hope. Emily was lying alone in bed, playing with her phone absently. She was thinking of Leo. Now that everything was settled, she ended the cooperation with Leo. From now on, she had to forget and began to deal with her visa. At this time, the door of her bedroom was pushed open. Emily looked at the door and found it was Leo. She got up quickly, looking a little surprised. "Why didn't you knock on the door?" It was the first time for her to meet Leo after they had sex. She couldn't help but think of what happened between them that night. Emily felt nervous and didn't know what to do. "If I knocked on the door, you would ask who was knocking the door. You wouldn't let me in if you knew it was me, so I had to enter the room impolitely." As he spoke, he sat beside Emily. "Let's have a good talk." Leo was gentle and sincere. He loved Emily deeply. "I want to talk to you." "Winnie has known our affairs. We have talked about it. This thing has been settled. And I can't help anymore. Now we have ended our cooperation, so don't come to me again." Emily thought that they should end everything between Leo and her. After everything was settled, they wouldn't be friends and only be strangers. But Leo didn't think so. What he thought was totally different from Emily. "Since you have talked with Winnie, you should have known that I don't like Winnie anymore. You are the one I love. From now on, I want to pursue you and make you be my girlfriend again." Leo said in a gentle voice. He was very firm. Everything was settled and he expressed his love to Emily. Then he would pursue Emily. "No. I don't like you. Don't waste your time." Emily refused him directly. It seemed that she was used to not believing Leo and refusing him. "I'm not wasting my time. If you don't give me a chance, I'll tell your parents that we have slept and I'll take the responsibility to marry you." Leo could only choose to do so. Otherwise, Emily wouldn't stay away from him. After that, Leo stood up and walked to the door. At this time, Emily got up and grabbed him. Said "Are you crazy? How can you tell my parents? Even if I had sex with you, it doesn't mean that I must marry you." Emily said angrily and hurriedly. She was really afraid that her parents would know it. She was brought up strictly. Her parents were very conservative. If they knew that she had sex with him, she would have to marry Leo. "Well, I want to ask your parents to see if they agreed with me to marry you." Leo said these words deliberately. Emily couldn't stop him, so he continued to walk out. "You can't go." Leo was tall and strong, so Emily couldn't control him and could only block the door. "Why?" Leo raised his eyebrow and asked her. He felt a little sorry when he saw her tension. "Because... Because I'm shy. It is a secret between you and me." Emily couldn't find an excuse and didn't dare to let her parent know it. She could only put him off that she was shy. "I think that you are afraid that your parents will know we have sex, right?" Leo ignored Emily's excuse and directly pointed out the truth. "I... I'm not afraid." Emily was getting nervous. She couldn't calm down herself. At this time, Leo stretched out his hands and held Emily in his arms. Then he opened the door. "What are you doing? Let me go. My parents will find us." Emily was in a panic. But the door was open. She did not dare to shout at him. She could only say to him in a low voice. But her argument was weak. "I just want them to know our relationship." Leo held her shoulder and walked downstairs. Her parents were sitting on the sofa in the living room. They had already seen them coming down together. Emily did not dare to retort, but struggled in his arms. However, Leo had great strength, and she couldn't resist it at all. "What are you doing?" Emily's mother looked at them holding each other. She thought that they had been reconciled, so she felt happy. "Mrs. Jones..." "Mom, we're going to visit a friend." Before Leo could speak, Emily spoke to her mother instantly. After that, she grabbed Leo's hand and left directly. She didn't want him to say anything to her mother at this time. Leo smiled and didn't choose to embarrass her. When they went out of the house, Emily released his hand. But then Leo held her hand again. "Since we have come out, you have to follow me. Or we'll go back to talk to your mother." "You..." Emily was angry. She didn't expect that Leo would be so knavish. She didn't want to follow him but she was afraid that Leo would tell her parents that they had slept. Therefore, she had no choice but to let Leo hold her hand and left. Leo came to his car, opened the door of the passenger seat. Then he forced her to get in the car. He knew that Emily didn't like to sit in the passenger seat. But from now on, as long as he drove himself, this seat would only be hers. "Where are you going? I..." Leo fastened his seat belt when Emily spoke to him. Before she finished her words, she found that the pendant sent by Winnie had been changed. It was replaced by the one Emily sent to him before. Emily was moved when she saw it. But she was not sure if Leo did it out of his heart. She instantly looked out of the window. She was still afraid that Leo would hurt her again. "I'm wearing pajamas now, so I can't go anywhere. Let me go home. We can talk about our relationship later." Emily was not angry. She had calmed herself down. She spoke to him in a very low voice. "If I let you go home, you won't let me meet you again. I just want to make everything clear today." Leo also calmed down. He insisted on talking to her. "Leo, we just had sex once. If I knew that you would take it as a burden, I wouldn't have slept with you." Emily was so afraid that she didn't dare to face his love. She just thought the reason why Leo pursued her was that she had sex with him before. "It has nothing to do with the sex. I just love you. Emily, you can't think it in this way. Otherwise, you won't take seriously with my love for you." Leo explained that he didn't regard their sex as a burden, but he felt happy for it.

CHAPTER 453 DIGNITY

Emily didn't agree with Leo. Instead, Leo's words were very ironic in her mind. Their relationship was impure at the very beginning. What baptism could make them pure? "Your love for me is never pure. How can I trust you?" Emily turned around and asked Leo, with pain in her eyes. "Sorry, I did something wrong. Please give me a chance. I will let you know that I cherish you. If I couldn't make it, you can leave me again." Leo could only beg her for giving him a chance. He knew that Emily had no confidence in him and was extremely disappointed with him. But he couldn't give up. He had to pay the price. He would stick to it for his love. Emily ironically smiled. "Winnie once told me that she hated Brian to say sorry to her. Because it means that Brian didn't care about her at that moment. Now I also hate you to say sorry. Because I find that you cared about another girl at that time." Emily's voice was breaking with emotion. Then she sighed and continued to speak. "Leo, give me some time. I need to think about it." After that,

Emily turned to push the door and then turned back. She took off the pendant she gave Leo before. "I gave it to you before, and now you finally hung it up. But I found it didn't fit this car." "Now I take it back." When Emily pushed open the door, she heard Leo's sad voice. "Emily, I hope you could hang it back as soon as possible. If you throw it away, this position will always be empty. If you don't want to be my girlfriend, I will wait for you forever. If you don't marry me, I will be single all my life." Emily got out of the car. She paused for a while after hearing his words, and then strode away. All his life? Who dared to promise all his life to another one? After going out for three days on his business trip, Brian returned as quickly as possible. He didn't go back to the company. But he went directly to the Johnson's villa. Felix told Brian his decision, but he didn't say that he had come to Winnie. "Really? Grandpa, did you really promise to give Winnie custody of our children?" Brian couldn't calm himself down. He was not sure what he heard was true, so he had to ask Felix again. "I'll give custody to Winnie. But my request is that you must live together. I want to give your children a warm family." Felix explained to him impatiently. He was surprised when he saw Brian's reaction. Since Brian's mother died, he had become extremely cold and aloof. He had never seen him being so excited and enthusiastic. Was he so excited because of the children or Winnie? "Thank you, Grandpa. You are so nice to my kids." After confirming what Felix said was true, Brian felt relieved. Winnie could finally stay with their children. "Don't be too happy. I have another request." Brian was nervous when he heard Felix's words. "Grandpa, just say it." Brian tried to calm himself down. But it was a little difficult for him. His voice was still full of excitement. "I allow Winnie to raise the kids. It doesn't mean that I accept her as your wife. You can live together, but you must find a wife of your class." Felix looked aloof and detached. He wouldn't allow Brian to refuse him. "Grandpa, Winnie has always been with me. Nobody will want to marry me." Brian couldn't refuse him directly. Because Felix was very firm. He had just agreed to let Winnie live with him. If Brian refused his request, he would go back on his word. "It's up to you. You can try your best to convince the girl that you are going to meet on your blind date." Felix had taken a step back and wouldn't allow Brian to refuse him. He had been thinking about the girls that he planned to introduce to Brian. "I was angry last time. I've already canceled the blind date this time. I won't meet that girl." Brian took the chance to clarify the relationship between Emily and him. He could no longer use Emily to hurt Winnie. "You..." Felix didn't expect Brian to cancel the blind date without telling him. However, it wouldn't affect Brian's marriage. He could continue to meet other girls. "I'll arrange it for you. You can meet the girl next time." Brian felt helpless when he heard Felix's words. But he couldn't do anything. He could only look for opportunities. "Besides, after you get married, Winnie won't be allowed to go here anymore. She could only live alone or in the suburbs. She can't be close to you in the public." Felix continued to tell him his request. Brian felt that it was unfair to Winnie. Winnie was of high self-esteem. She wouldn't accept it. After Brian left the Johnson's villa, he went to the company and found Winnie. Entering her office, he told her Felix's requests excitedly. But Winnie looked very calm. "Have you already known it?" Brian asked Winnie doubtfully. "I have just known it, but I'm not happy." Winnie still didn't tell Brian that she had met Felix. "I am very grateful to Mr. Bennet for allowing me to raise the kids. But I don't know if I can live with you. If I didn't care about my dignity, I would have been your mistress." Winnie was reluctant to say the word of mistress. But she knew that she was Brian's mistress when she heard Felix's words. "Winnie, I know you can't accept his request. Don't think too much. It's just a temporary thing. I'll find a way to get Grandpa to agree with me to marry you" Brian promised Winnie. He had hope for the future. It was a great change for Felix to allow Winnie to live with her kids. It was only a matter of time before he accepted Winnie to be Brian's wife. Brian thought that that the biggest problem at this time was not his grandpa, but Winnie. He was afraid that she would finch away if she couldn't accept the present situation. Brian was right. What Winnie said next proved his thought. "He won't accept you to marry me. We have no chance. Brian, please let me leave with my children. I want to preserve my dignity. I'll take the kids away, and I'll take them back when they grow up." Winnie begged Brian. She couldn't do anything to stop Felix. Brian was her only hope. "What about me? You want to leave with the kids, so you could bear to leave me, right?" Brian felt bitter and helpless. He felt abandoned by them if Winnie took their kid to leave him. He could only live like a walking corpse for the rest of his life. "Don't dwell on this problem, okay? You can't leave with me, and I can't live with you without dignity. It is meaningless to know if we love each other. We are not willing to sacrifice for each other nor to give up for each other. In fact, we do not love each other as deeply as we think." Winnie didn't want to talk about who would go and who would stay. It was a problem that would never be solved. "Because of my existence, everyone lives in an unstable life. If I leave, everyone will be fine. Why don't I leave?" Winnie insisted on leaving. She knew that she loved Brian very deeply. However, it was meaningless to be Brian when she knew they couldn't get married. If she didn't love Brian as she said before, she wouldn't be so painful at this time. Brian couldn't accept Winnie's words. Although Winnie said that she didn't love him and didn't trust him, he loved her more deeply than anyone else. Brian approached Winnie and held her tightly in his arms. "No, I won't be fine. You can't leave me. For the sake of children, please tolerate it for the time being. I will solve everything and comfort everyone as soon as possible. Then we can get married and live together happily." "Please don't try to leave me. If you and the kids left me, I wouldn't have any motivation to spend the rest of my life." "Winnie, I'll compensate you." Brian tried his best to keep Winnie. He wanted to solve everything to let everyone including Winnie believe in him. He must fulfill his promise to Winnie. Winnie didn't ask him to let her leave again. But she didn't promise him that she would stay. She was at a loss. For the sake of her kids, she should stay and give them a warm family. But it meant that she had to be a mistress all her life. She could be comfortable before Brian got married. But once he got married, she would be painful. Although Winnie did not ask to leave, Brian was still worried. After dealing with some urgent matters, he called Kevin. He told the thing between him and Winnie generally to Kevin. Then he asked Kevin, Daenerys, Leo, and Emily to persuade Winnie to stay. Now Brian could only rest his hope on them. It was on the weekend again. Vanessa was free this week. She felt bored at home, so she came to the suburbs with her kids. Rufus was surprised when he saw Vanessa. He was very happy and excited. "Vanessa, you can come to visit here more often in the future. This place will be your another home." Rufus was so excited that Stella felt surprised when she saw his reaction. It was not the first time that Rufus met Vanessa. Why was he so enthusiastic? Stella just thought about it and didn't take it seriously. "Okay, Rufus. It is a warm place. I'll often come to visit you and Stella." Vanessa spoke to him cheerfully. It was a really comfortable place. Rufus was nice and Stella was friendly. She felt warm here. "Good. I'll tell the cook to make something delicious at noon." After that, Rufus went to the kitchen. Stella still felt strange when she saw it, but she still didn't doubt anything. At this time, Paul came over and looked at Vanessa and Stella meaningfully. "You are not relatives. But why do you look alike?" Paul was giving Stella a hint. He wanted Stella to know the fact gradually. He was afraid that she couldn't accept it if she suddenly knew the truth.

CHAPTER 454 PERSUASION

After hearing what Paul said to them, Vanessa and Stella looked at each other and then they all laughed. "We do look similar, but I am old. Vanessa is still a young girl." "Stella, you're not old at all. You had beautiful skin and a great figure. You looked about the same age as me." Vanessa said sweetly. Stella was felt happy when she heard her words. Paul had intended to make Stella doubt Vanessa's identity. However, they joked with each other. "If you were at the same age, some people would believe that you are twins." Paul continued to say. "Paul, you're right. If I wear the same as Vanessa and have the same hairstyle as her, we will look like twins." Stella began to look at Vanessa carefully. "No, Stella is more graceful than me." Although Vanessa found that she looked similar to Stella, she didn't take it seriously. The world was very big. It was not strange that someone looked like her. They kept talking with each other. Brain and Winnie went to the sea to play together. It was the first time that they had come out to play together. It was arranged by Brian. He wanted them to persuade Winnie to stay with him. The three women sat on the sofa on the deck of the yacht, looking at the vast sea. They felt relaxed when the breeze blew their faces. "We have been busy all the time. It is not easy for us to come out and play together." Winnie suddenly said to them with emotion. Since her parents died, she had been busy. She was always tired and exhausted. And she had never come out to enjoy herself like this. She had to make money to pay the debt. There was no extra money for her entertainment. She was so tense that she never spent her time in relaxing. "It's good to be busy. I want to be busy and forget other things." Emily was thinking differently from Winnie. She had been stayed at home and kept thinking about Leo every day. She couldn't drive him away from her head. Emily was going crazy about it. "Haven't solved the matter between you and Leo? Why do you keep ignoring him?" Daenerys turned to ask Emily. After getting on the yacht, Emily had been avoiding Leo. She didn't want to approach nor talk to him. They could tell that she stayed away from him deliberately. "Yes. I haven't decided yet. No matter what he says, I always think that he is lying to me." "Forget it. Don't mention him again. Don't let him influence my god mood." Emily answered her frankly as if she deliberately said it to Winnie. Winnie did feel uncomfortable when she heard Emily's words. She thought it was because of her that Emily couldn't trust Leo. "What could he have to do if you can trust him?" Winnie looked at Emily. It seemed that she could solve it if Emily said it. "... I don't know. Maybe it will take time for me to consider it." Emily hesitated and looked very embarrassed. Then Daenerys suddenly gave Emily a choice. "If Winnie gets married, you'll feel relieved and trust Leo, right?" Hearing Daenerys' words, Winnie and Emily looked at each other at the same time. Winnie was surprised. She did feel guilty, but she didn't destroy the relationship between Leo and Emily. Was it real that Emily felt insecure because of her? Emily looked at Daenerys with a different expression. She praised Daenerys in her heart and even needed to give her a thumb up. They didn't answer Daenerys, so she could only continue to speak. "Let me analyze it. You think that if Winnie couldn't settle down, Leo would keep paying attention to her." Before Daenerys finished her words, she stopped herself. Then she became serious. "Don't mind it and don't hold grudges against each other because of my words today. I just want to solve the problem. Only when we make things clear can we come up with a solution." Daenerys had to clarify her intention. Although it was planned by her and Emily in advance, what she said was a fact. They must be psychologically prepared to avoid any suspicion. Then Daenerys continued to analyze for them. "You think two people who have loved each other couldn't be friends. Winnie doesn't get married and hasn't settled down. Her relationship with Brian is unstable now. They could break up. If Winnie gets in trouble, Leo will help her. Besides, you don't believe Leo is only her friend." Daenerys repeatedly emphasized that Winnie hadn't settled down in her words. which made Winnie feel ups and downs. After that, Winnie turned to look at Emily. At this time, Emily lowered her head and didn't say anything. She didn't admit it nor deny it. In Winnie's eyes, it meant that Emily thought that what Daenerys said was right. But Emily didn't want to say it directly so as not to hurt her. Winnie felt guilty about Emily. Because of her and her unstable relationship with Brian, Emily didn't dare to trust Leo. The conversation of the three ended in Emily's silence. Winnie went to find Leo. Only Daenerys and Emily stayed on the deck. "Will she be more stressed?" Emily asked worriedly. "I can't help it. We could only force her to figure it out. It's better than persuading her directly. She is so stubborn that she will not listen to anyone." Daenerys had no choice but to do so. She knew that Winnie would regard her words as a burden in her heart, but she had to force Winnie to be with Brian. "I felt sorry when I saw her being silent. If she chooses to be with Brian and he couldn't persuade his grandpa, she will be a mistress at that time. She is of high self-esteem, so she won't tolerate it. It will be a mess." In fact, Emily didn't believe Brian. "We couldn't know what will happen in the future. Just take it easy. Brian is not married yet. Winnie is not his mistress now." "She is too proud. Men like the women being delicate. It is not a bad thing for her to be with Brian. At least it will be good for their children." "She will have the chance to marry Brian if she is with him. Brian and the Bennet family will protect her. Only then Wendy couldn't do harm to her. Besides, don't forget Felix. He won't let her and her company go away if she takes her kid to leave. Even if Brian protects her, Felix could take revenge on her. Therefore, it is safe for Winnie to stay with Brian." Daenerys knew Felix from Kevin. T After hearing what Kevin said to her that day, Kevin and she went to look through the information about Felix. They finally knew that Felix was cruel and sinister. Because she knew Felix well, Daenerys thought that Winnie should stay with Brian. No matter where Winnie went with her children, Felix wouldn't let her go forever. "I hope that everything will be okay. Don't let Winnie suffer pains anymore." Emily couldn't feel eased, and she was worried about Winnie. "We can believe Brian this time. We can help him keep Winnie. If he can't make it this time, we will never trust him." Daenerys was also worried. But she hoped that Winnie could be with Brian so that Winnie would be happy with her love and her kids would have a warm and complete family. Winnie came to Leo. The three of them were playing cards. Winnie thought that it was no need for her to hide it from Brian and Kevin, so she asked Leo directly. "Haven't Emily accepted you?" Winnie sat between Brian and Leo. She faced Leo and asked him. "She is more distant from me now. When I met her last time, she took back the gift that she sent to me before." Leo said bitterly. Winnie felt sorry for him. "If she keeps refusing you, what will you do?" Winnie continued to ask him. "I'll wait for her. I'll keep waiting for her to accept me. Anyway, I love her and I'll wait for her for my life." Leo was determined to marry Emily. Hearing Leo's answer, Winnie finally collapsed. She couldn't be selfish and ignored others' feelings. She couldn't let her kids leave their father. She couldn't make Leo keep waiting for Emily because of her. Besides, she had ignored that Brian could protect her and her kids when they left. But he couldn't protect everyone. If she left, her friends would be in trouble, and her company would be destroyed by Felix. Winnie didn't want innocent people to be implicated because of her. She'd rather suffer it by herself. After that, she asked Brian to walk with her alone. She wanted to tell him her decision before she went back on her word. Winnie stood on to the deck on the yacht with Brian. She looked at him seriously and took a deep breath before she spoke. "I decided to accept Felix's request. I'll live with you in the suburbs." Winnie sighed with relief. When she finished her words, it meant that she had to suffer anything she met in the future. "Really? Do you accept grandpa's request?" Brian asked Winnie with surprise. He didn't expect that they would persuade her so quickly. "Yes. But don't be too happy now. I need to talk to my aunt about this matter. And I have a request." Winnie looked very calm. She also laid out her conditions. "Just tell me. I promise you that I can make it." He didn't know what Winnie would ask him to do, but he agreed with her happily. His heart began to beat very fast. He was very excited. The thing that he had been thinking of for a long time had been achieved now. He was cheerful and inspired. "If you marry another girl, I'll take the children back to my home. We'll live there as now. When the kids grow up and don't need me anymore, you will take care of them. At that time, you can't stop me when I leave." Winnie made such a request because she didn't want to be considered a mistress. "I won't marry another woman. I'll only marry you. You won't have the chance to leave." Brian held Winnie in his arms. At this time, he was excited and sad. He felt distressed for everything she had done for him and their kids without getting anything in return.

CHAPTER 455 COINCIDENCE

Vanessa went to visit the Bennet family living in the suburbs. The lunch was all served. Everyone sat around the table. Rufus deliberately arranged for Vanessa to sit beside him. During lunch, he helped her serve the dishes and looked at her lovingly. Stella thought that her dad was a little strange. But Vanessa was the guest, so it was normal that Rufus being hospitable. The other two children also found that Rufus was very hospitable to Vanessa. Megan said bitterly, "Grandpa, why do you only serve the dishes to Vanessa? I want to eat this one." "Okay, let me help you." Rufus began to serve the dishes to Megan. Meanwhile, he comforted Megan with a smile. "Vanessa is our guest. We should be hospitable to her. In this way, Vanessa will feel warm and like our home." "But you have said that we are a family. We don't too formal. Why do you treat Vanessa as a guest, not a family member?" Megan had a sharp tongue. She was not convinced by Rufus. But Rufus laughed when he heard Megan's words. "Megan is right. We don't have to too formal with each other. This is Vanessa's home. I won't serve dishes to Vanessa. I'll let her help herself." Although Rufus stopped serving dishes to Vanessa, he kept staring at her lovingly. He hadn't even looked away. Stella didn't say anything, but she thought that her dad was too much hospitable. She didn't whether it was because of Winnie or Vanessa herself that Rufus liked Vanessa very much. She felt something different this time. In the evening, Vanessa was sent back by Paul. The two kids went back to their rooms to sleep after playing all day. Stella also went back to her bedroom. She made a video call to Joshua, lying on the bed. She inadvertently mentioned Vanessa to him. "They said that Vanessa looks like me. Paul has said that we are like twins today. Do we really look like to each other?" She looked at the handsome face of her husband in the video. She deliberately asked him this question. Stella wanted Joshua to come back early. When she brought the two kids of Winnie, she became eager to have her own kid. Therefore, she wanted Joshua to come back. "You two do look alike. Paul is right. You do look very similar to Vanessa, but you are more mature than her. She is young and immature." Joshua thought that Paul was right. Stella and Vanessa did look like each other. And there were similarities in their character. They were both positive, diligent and sensible. But Stella was more reserved. Vanessa was more outgoing. "Is it real? We are not related. How could we look so similar to each other?" Stella thought that they seemed to be exaggerated. After all, they were not sisters and were not related. There would be differences between her and Vanessa no matter how similar they were. "Of course, when I first saw Vanessa, I felt that you were very similar. She looked like you when you were twenty." When Joshua first met Stella, she was just twenty years old. He fell in love with her at the first sight. She was more reserved than the girl at the same as her. But he was an ordinary person. Stella was from a powerful and rich family. He didn't dare to express his love to her at that time. "Honey, I'm just kidding. You two may be sisters." "It is not funny. How can I be related to Vanessa? We are from different families." Stella didn't take his joke seriously. But she suddenly remembered that Rufus had cheated on her mother when he was young. It had been twenty-one years since her family broke up. Rufus cheated and her mother died. Brian hated Rufus and broke up with his father. Stella had been hated Rufus for a long time. But seeing Rufus being so lonely and miserable, she couldn't bear it and chose to forgive him. Now she had grown up and got married. Although Joshua was loyal to her, she could understand Rufus after seeing the unhappy marriages of many people. Rufus had been lived alone for twenty-one years. He suffered a lot and nobody could touch his heart. Stella knew that Rufus was lonely even with their company. Where was the woman Rufus cheated with now? Had she married? Or had she been as lonely as Rufus? Coincidentally, Vanessa was twenty-one years old. Although it was a coincidence, Stella didn't connect the two things. After Brian came home, his father was downstairs. He asked Stella to go downstairs. After that, he told them Felix's decision and Winnie agreed to live with them. "Winnie will talk to her aunt when she comes home. But she won't change her decision," Brian told them with excitement. It was a surprise for him that Felix agreed that Winnie could live with him and the kids. Therefore, he was in a good mood. "After all, Grandpa is not so cruel. At least he agrees with Winnie to live with the kids." Stella was also very happy. Although Felix couldn't accept Winnie for the time being, at least their plan had been half successful. "I have been argued with Felix for you to marry Winnie. It seems that he is still very firm. It is unfair to Winnie, but we have no choice at this time." "Brian, be nice to Winnie. Try your best to convince your grandpa to accept Winnie." Rufus was not happy nor excited. It was good for everyone except for Winnie. She had to take all the grievance by herself. It was obvious Felix only considered the interest of the Bennet family. He didn't think about Winnie at all. When he wanted to go back on his word, Winnie was the one to pay the price. Rufus was worried that Felix would go back on his word. Meanwhile, he was also worried about the relationship between them and the Chambers family. He was afraid that Brian would know the existence of Vanessa. It seemed that he had to have a good talk with Vanessa. He couldn't make him in the passive position. At the same time, Isobel also knew Felix's decision after Winnie told her. Winnie was very helpless. Winnie had been in a worry for several days. She knew that it was impossible that she could take her kids to leave this place. Although Brian could protect her and her kids, she couldn't be selfish and make trouble for others. She had to consider others' conditions. "The kids are the member of the Bennet family. It is selfish if we take them away." Vanessa sighed helplessly. "Winnie, you have to tolerate it for the sake of your kids. But Isobel couldn't meet them. She would be exposed if she went to visit them." Isobel couldn't stop anything. What she could do was to delay meeting Brian as much as possible. As Rufus said, they couldn't escape from this matter and they had to solve this matter sooner or later. But she wanted to put off the time as much as possible. As long as they could solve this matter, it wouldn't be late at any time. When the kids grew up and became independent, they could understand Winnie. At that time, Vanessa could make a living. It wouldn't affect her career if her identity was exposed at that time. They took everyone into consideration except for Winnie. She was the only one who had to sacrifice herself. Winnie had to be with Brian secretly as a mistress. If she were forced to break up with Brian someday, she would suffer pains and never be happy in the rest of her life. "Isobel, I understand you. I couldn't have any pride and dignity in front of the Bennet family either. I won't let Brian and his family meet you." "I'll move to the suburbs and take a day off on weekends to bring my children back to visit you. Vanessa and you..." "Please help take care of Vanessa. I want to go out on trip. I've been tired all my life. I want to relax." Isobel stopped Winnie before she finished her words. She knew what Winnie meant. When Winnie moved to the suburbs to live with the Bennet family, she must hide from them. Otherwise, they would find her sooner or later. If she went out to take a trip like before, nobody would find her. Therefore, they could hide the truth for a long time. As for Vanessa, as long as Rufus didn't expose her identity, no one would know it. She would live a happy life and go to school without being disturbed. "Isobel, won't you come back?" Winnie asked her worriedly. She was afraid that Isobel would never return just like what she did many years ago. If it hadn't been for her parents' accident, Isobel might not have come back to take care of her. "I'm just going to relax. I can't stay at home all the time. Help me take care of Vanessa. I'll be back soon." Isobel didn't dare to tell Winnie that she wouldn't come back. Otherwise, Winnie would fall out with the Bennet family and wouldn't allow her to leave. She was old and had a kid to care about. She loved her family and didn't want to leave. But she had no choice but to leave for Winnie and Vanessa. "You can go out for a break. But you must come back. You are the only relative of mine and Vanessa's. If you don't come back, we will become orphans." Winnie was still worried. After all, Isobel had left them for a long time before. Moreover, her heart was filled with secrets and loved Rufus. It was very likely that she would choose to leave them forever. "Okay, I'll be back. Just help me take good care of Vanessa for the time being." Isobel entrusted Vanessa to Winnie, hoping that they could take good care of each other. She would come back when everything was solved. Thomas had been secretly planned to find Isobel. After knowing where Winnie and Isobel lived, he waited in the neighborhood to see if he could see Isobel. He waited from the early morning till ten o'clock, Thomas finally saw Isobel coming out from her house. Thomas, sitting in the car, kept staring at her. Although he hadn't seen her for more than 20 years, he recognized Isobel at the first sight. Her figure didn't change and she looked older than before. But she was still as kind as that of he met for the first time. It was Isobel. She was back. really her. She was used as a tool to help him more than twenty years ago. It seemed that she could help him again this time. After Thomas confirmed that it was Isobel, he knew that Richard didn't lie to him and was sure that Winnie was Dominik's daughter. He would use Winnie and Isobel to achieve his plan. This time. Winnie seemed to be more valuable than Isobel. Isobel disappeared from Thomas' sight. He smiled evilly. He would defeat Rufus with the "help" of Isobel and Winnie. He wouldn't give the chance to turn over.

CHAPTER 456 RESTRICT EACH OTHER

Thomas drove away and went to the tea-house where Wendy and he had an appointment. Seeing Wendy, Thomas still looked gloomy, but Wendy was a little timid. "Uncle Thomas, you are here." Thomas frowned and did not respond. He sat opposite Wendy. His gloomy look made Wendy nervous. "Uncle Thomas, what do you want me to do?" Wendy spoke again. "What is going on with you and Penny? You shouldn't know each other." Thomas must confirm it. He couldn't just believe Penny alone. "I...actually, I wanted to ask her if she had a better way to deal with Winnie. Uncle Thomas, my purpose was still Brian, and I didn't mean to target anyone. When she asked me to investigate you, I didn't know it was you. If I didn't tell her, she wouldn't help me." Wendy thought that Thomas had come to her for this matter, so she didn't dare to lie and could only tell the truth. Thomas heard the same statement as Penny from Wendy, and then he took Penny's words with a grain of salt. "What advice did Penny give you?" Thomas' tone was still indifferent. Wendy's value to him was not very high, so he didn't have to treat her politely. "She asked me to check the dope on Winnie. She said that Winnie was of unknown origin. If some dirty on her was found out, she would have to leave Brian." "And Penny taught me a very old-fashioned way, which was to let them misunderstand each other. She didn't say anything else." Wendy might have been frightened by Thomas's cold attitude, telling him everything without concealment. When Thomas heard this, he also understood that Penny did not know Winnie's true identity. If she knew it, this matter would have been exposed long ago, and he would have been left no chance. "Don't contact Penny this frequently. Penny is the person Brian hates most. If Brian knows that you have contact with Penny, even if you figure out a way to deal with Winnie, he will not accept you." Thomas warned Wendy not because he cared about her, but because he was afraid that she would say something against him to Penny. If what he just said was considered as a warning, then the following should be a threat. "You'd better act like you don't know about my meeting with Penny. If you tell Brian about it, I'm afraid your plan will not be implemented." Thomas had to threaten Wendy. Once she let the cat out of the bag, his plan would not be completed so smoothly. This time he wanted to catch Brian unprepared, and never show up until the moment he succeeded. "Uncle Thomas, you can rest assured. I only want Brian, and I don't care about other things. I have been with Brian for so many years, and I am resentful that Winnie took him away. My prey is Winnie, and I won't get too close to Penny." Wendy made a quick promise. She was also afraid that Thomas would leak her meeting with Penny. Since both of them were afraid of things, they could be regarded as restricting each other. After listening to Wendy's assurance, Thomas suddenly snorted sarcastically. "Well...you have to work harder to deal with Winnie. My father has given Winnie the custody of the children, and he has agreed that Winnie and Brian live together." Having said that, Thomas stopped and saw the shocked look on Wendy's face, he thought Wendy was a joke. Such news could perturb her. How could she compete with Winnie in the long game? Thomas continued, giving Wendy a little hope. "Fortunately, my father does not accept Winnie as Brian's wife. So you still have a chance. But there's only one chance. You have to seize it." After Thomas finished speaking, he got up and left. He couldn't talk too much with Wendy. Given her muddle-headedness, she might let it out otherwise. Thomas left, and Wendy was still in a daze in the tea-house. Winnie had taken an important step, and it became more difficult to deal with her. It seemed that she had to speed up, or she would really miss the opportunity. But then again, how could she speed up? She did use Penny's method before, but it didn't work. The investigation had been going on for days, and there was no result yet. What could she rely on to speed up the progress? Wendy was stumped by herself again and didn't know what to do. Winnie finally moved to the outskirts of the city to live with Brian and her children. Everyone except her was happy and excited. Especially the two children. "Grandpa, grandpa. Now I have a family, with my dad and mommy. From now on, no classmate will dare to say that we are wild kids." Megan danced with excitement and ran to Rufus to show off. "Well, congratulations, Megan, congratulations, Luke. Finally you can live with your Mom and Dad. From now on, you are also the happiest children in the world." Rufus responded to Megan happily. Looking at Megan who couldn't be more excited, he thought of the sadness and pain of Megan several times, and felt heartache. Children were children. They were easy to feel satisfied. They didn't have any requirements. As long as daddy and Mommy were around, they were happy. Megan ran to Stella's side happily again, just like her aunt didn't know the news, she showed off again. "Auntie, you're happy for me, right? I finally have a family. Dad loves me, Mommy loves me, my brother loves me, and my aunt and grandpa love me. I will never be lonely anymore. I can also be self-willed and fractious." "If there are classmates who dare to bully my brother and me, I dare to confront them. Because I have a dad, and my dad is my big tree, I am not afraid of anything with his support." What Megan said were things she had long wanted to do, the things she admired most, and the things she couldn't do. Because she knew she couldn't make her mommy worry, or cause trouble to her busy mommy. As long as she was better-behaved, her mommy would be less worried. "Okay, Megan is the most sensible. You can't be too ostentatious in the future, but your daddy must be the one who protects you when bad things happen." Although Megan said very happy, Stella was a little sad. Only children themselves could understand what kind of inner torment they had experienced. "I am also happy, happy to have mommy by my side and a complete home." Luke was a little bit reserved, but he was as happy as Megan. He had been snuggling in Winnie's arms, feeling the different atmosphere today, feeling the warmth of a complete home. For today's happiness, he and Megan cried together, made trouble together, and worked hard together. But he didn't expect to succeed. Now he realized that not only the suffering came suddenly, but also happiness would appear in front of him unexpectedly. Winnie looked at the two extremely happy children, and Brian, who had been silent but had a smile on his face. She felt that her helpless choice finally got a touch of comfort. No matter what difficulties she would encounter in the future, it was worthwhile to give her children a chance to feel warmth and happiness. No matter how long this happiness would last, at least they would have a complete home in their memories, and they experienced the happiness themselves. "Since Winnie is here and the children are taken care of, I should go home too." Stella's words brought back Winnie's thoughts. "Stella, I'll be upset if you leave as soon as I come. Live here, more people, more excitement." Winnie thought that her arrival made Stella leave, and she blamed herself. "It's because of you that I have the opportunity to leave. I should also go back to my own home to accompany my parents-in-law. My husband is not here, I have to take care of his parents for him anyway." "I have to thank you for coming, otherwise I will not leave at ease. It's a deal. I'll go back after dinner." Stella paused for a moment, then spoke to Winnie again. "Winnie, here will be your home from now on. Don't feel stressed out. Don't treat yourself as an outsider. Don't carry anything on your own. Brian and daddy will share it with you." "Don't think too much about your relationship with Brian. Grandpa doesn't accept you now, but our family admits that you are Brian's wife. You don't need to take Grandpa's opinion to heart. Brian will solve it and persuade Grandpa." What Stella said was what Brian and Rufus wanted to say. They were afraid that Winnie would be stressful and be wronged, so they had to say some comforting words in advance. And these words made Winnie feel warm. Although she was familiar with living here, she still had a sense of strangeness and restraint. This might have something to do with her identity. But Stella's words moved her especially and made her grateful. It was like she was standing in a very cold place and suddenly came a bunch of warm sunshine descending on her like hope. "Thank you, Stella. I will treat here as my home and love everyone here." That's all Winnie said. As for what she would encounter in the future, she didn't know whether she would ask others to help her solve it. Maybe those difficulties and obstacles were given to her by Brian, so she could only face them by herself. "You're too welcome. We are now a family. By the way, should we meet your aunt again? You have come to our family, we should express our gratitude to her." Stella mentioned Winnie's aunt suddenly. In her opinion, this was a kind of etiquette, which must be done. But Rufus was nervous when he heard it. Finally Isobel was mentioned, was it the time they had to face it? Rufus put his uncertain gaze on Winnie's face to see what answer Winnie could give. Winnie was also surprised by this topic, and then became a little embarrassed. She looked back at Brian, and finally decided to tell the truth. "My aunt said that she didn't want to meet you in this kind of relationship and it would not be late to have a meeting when I get married to Brian." As soon as Winnie finished speaking, the original lively atmosphere instantly calmed down. Stella looked sideways at his father, not knowing what to say. It might be that Winnie's aunt was not satisfied with the current relationship between Winnie and Brian, and couldn't bear to disappoint the two children. Seeing that everyone was silent, Winnie quickly explained. "My aunt didn't mean to force Brian to marry me. She is very traditional, and she has always opposed my association with Brian. But for the children, she would not have allowed me to come here." "It's okay, just according to your aunt's wishes, we won't go to visit her for the time being. I must meet her satisfaction before I see her, and I will definitely give you an upright identity." Brian comforted Winnie, holding Winnie's hand tightly.

CHAPTER 457 WE ARE NOT FELLOW TRAVELERS

Brian understood what Winnie's aunt thought. Winnie had no parents by her side, and she was the parent of Winnie and Vanessa. No parent could see that their children live with man in this capacity. "No, my aunt didn't say anything that forced you to marry me. She..." "Winnie, there is no need to explain. We all understand your aunt's thoughts and know that she has no other meanings. You can live here with peace of mind. We won't cause trouble to your aunt and Vanessa. When she wants to see us, we are very glad to visit her." Rufus spoke, alleviating Winnie's embarrassment. He knew what Isobel was thinking better than anyone else, and knew how scared she was to meet them. "Thank you for your understanding. When my aunt figures it out, she will come to see us." Winnie sighed. The relationship did make her nervous. "Rufus, there is one more thing I have to trouble you. My auntie has to go out to relax these days, and I'll be worried if Vanessa stays at home alone. I want Vanessa to come and stay here for a few days, and wait for my aunt to come back..." Winnie still treated herself as an outsider, and asked Rufus for advice very politely. However, to his surprise, Rufus happily agreed before she finished speaking. "Well, she is your family. She can live here as long as you want." Rufus couldn't restrain his excitement, but his mind was full of Isobel. He was worried about whether Isobel would leave again. After all, she had such an idea before, after all, she asked him to take good care of the two children. If she left, would she never come back? If she left for another 20 years, would it be in another world when they met again? No, he couldn't let Isobel go. He couldn't endure not seeing her for twenty years. After the happy family had dinner, Stella drove home. Rufus found an excuse to go out with Paul. Only Brian, Winnie and the two children were left at home. In the living room, the two children were sitting on the floor and playing. Brian was lying on Winnie's lap, watching the TV while feeling the woman next to him. "Winnie, I feel so at ease now. When you come here, I feel it more like home. Thank you, thank you for your sacrifice for me and the child." With that, Brian took Winnie's hand and kissed it. "I have nothing to sacrifice, as long as you and our children are happy." At this moment, Winnie didn't know how she felt. She was happy but was also inexplicably wronged. However, she thought that she should not feel aggrieved as she made so many people happy. "My wife is becoming more and more humble. You don't have to be so polite with your husband." Brian said happily. It was the first time he used words like wife and husband. Although he felt unfamiliar, he said it smoothly. "Don't talk nonsense. I am not your wife, and you are not my husband." Winnie refused in a low voice. She could not bear such a call. Even if she could, she was afraid that she would not be able to accept it when she became Miss Chamber again. "I didn't talk nonsense. People nowadays call their lover that way. Moreover, we have two children. There is no problem with our calling like this." Brian knew what Winnie was thinking about, but he just wanted to call her that way, a way that announced their relationship. When Brian's voice fell, he turned to look at Winnie, with sexual thoughts in his eyes. "Let's rest, go to bed early and get up early for good health." Brian smiled, but his smile was also unkind. "You... the children haven't slept yet, be serious." How could Winnie not know what Brian's intentions were. It was still early, the children were having fun, she couldn't bear to ruin the atmosphere. "Raya will take them to play, let's go to bed first." While speaking, Brian got up and took Winnie's hand. At this moment Megan came over suddenly. "I want to sleep with you too. Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise." "No, it's just me and Mommy tonight. We have something to study, you can't disturb us. Tomorrow, Daddy will get you a super big bed and sleep with you." Brian restricted anyone to disturb him at the moment. He hadn't been excited for a long time. Even his own children couldn't spoil his "plan". Brian didn't give Megan a chance to refute, and directly took Winnie's hand and walked upstairs. "Daddy learned something bad." After Megan gave her daddy a comment, she returned to play with Luke. Now for them, it didn't matter who they slept with. The important thing was that they could live happily with their parents under one roof like other children. Rufus came out and went straight to Isobel's house without going anywhere. Just like last time, Isobel was forced out. This time Paul gave up the space in the car and waited outside. Isobel and Rufus both looked embarrassed in the car. "Winnie said you are going to travel, do you want to leave me again?" Rufus asked very directly, now there was no more time for him to speak tactfully. "I just want to go out and travel, and I don't mean to leave anyone." Isobel denied it, regretting that she had told Winnie about leaving. "I can't believe what you said. Twenty-one years ago, you left without even calling me. You had been away for 21 years. This time you can't leave again. I don't have another 21 years to wait." Rufus frankly expressed his feelings at this moment without concealment. He admitted that he had been waiting for Isobel for so many years, and had been hoping for her to return to his side. Finally, Isobel was back, but their relationship was so terrible that he couldn't express his feeling after waiting for many years. What he said caused Isobel's heart to jump up irregularly after years of silence. This feeling was both familiar and unfamiliar. The familiarity was because she was tempted by this man. The reason why she felt strange was that she hadn't been touched for anyone for 21 years. "I didn't let you wait for me, you have your life, and I have mine. We are irrelevant to each other. You don't have to care if I disappear or not." Isobel forced herself to say relentless words, the pain he gave had been with her for a lifetime, and she didn't want to have anything to do with him. "It is impossible for us to be unrelated to each other, and I also know why you want to leave. Avoidance is not the solution to the problem. We should face it together and solve it together. Do you think that things will not be exposed if you leave? If the Brian knows it, what Winnie and Vanessa can do? Do you think you are doing it for them?" The reason for Rufus's words, in the final analysis, was that he did not want Isobel to leave. Isobel said nothing, Rufus continued. "Even if you can hide for another twenty years. Winnie's best years will have passed after twenty years, and she will enter middle age. Do you want her to suffer another injury at that time." "Stay here, we will settle the matter together, so that the children can live a stable life sooner." Rufus had always thought so, not wanting the children's youth to be wasted in hatred. "What you think is too simple. You are the biological father of Brian. He has resented you for more than 20 years. If he knew Winnie's identity, could he easily let it go?" "You don't need to know where I go and whether I'll come back. If I can hide for 20 years, children will have been grown up and Winnie will be able to leave. It won't cause any harm to anyone." "It's impossible for your family to accept Winnie. Brian couldn't marry Winnie even without us. I can't allow Winnie to live with Brian in the name of home wrecker. I don't want her to be like me, to be criticized for her reputation as a wrecker all her life." In any case, Isobel did not agree with Rufus's approach, and she had thought carefully about making things clear. But she also anticipated that once the truth emerged, Brian and Winnie would become enemies. They could bear it anyway, but how could the children live without their parents. They were still so young. She wanted to hide, not afraid of reality. Even if she spent her life to bear all this, the Bennet family would not accept Winnie, and the final result was still bad. "Are you insisting on leaving? Well, I will go with you, so that they're less likely to know. Even if they encounter problems, they have to solve it by themselves." Rufus saw that Isobel was too persistent and he couldn't persuade her. He could only use such a rogue trick. "You can go, but don't go with me. We are not fellow travelers." Isobel didn't care about Rufus's rogue behavior, she had already booked the flight ticket for tomorrow morning, no one knew it, and no one would find her. "Yes, we are."

I have been waiting for you for so many years. I waited for you from forty to sixty. Finally you came back, and I will definitely not let you leave alone." "The children are all grown up, and I can have my own life. Let them take care of their own affairs. I don't have to sacrifice for them. I also want to have my happiness and want to be with you again." Rufus couldn't help expressing his heartfelt thoughts for many years. Isobel was his true love, a woman he couldn't forget after twenty years, and a woman he had waited willingly for twenty years. Now she was about to leave again, and leave him alone. He would never give her a chance to do so. "Can you calm down? We are all old. Forget the things that should be forgotten, and don't think about the unrealistic things. Our meeting is a mistake, so don't continue to make mistakes." Isobel directly refuted Rufus's words without thinking. Although her heart felt warm after listening to Rufus's words, they had already made a big mistake. They couldn't be together, let alone hurt innocent people. "Isobel, how can you think that way? Even if it's a mistake for us to be together, it's not your fault. You've been cheated by me, and you've suffered without knowing it." "Isobel, give me a chance. I must find a way to solve everything, and I will definitely make you happy for the rest of your life. You can go out to relax, but you can't leave without returning." Rufus humbled himself and pleaded. Isobel's current attitude was the same as Winnie's. Both of them were so persistent, so independent, and didn't want to cause any inconvenience to anyone. Even if they were wronged, they would endure everything silently, and would never cause harm to others. However, the more Isobel was like this, the more Rufus couldn't let her go, and the more he wanted to make up for the damage caused to her. "There are no chances between us. Everything, including the relationship, had ended twenty years ago. The rest of my life is destined to pay off debts. How can I dare to ask for happiness." Isobel said helplessly.

In Isobel's view, she was no longer worthy of happiness, because she had destroyed the happiness of others. She did not deserve to have love, because she robbed other people's love. Isobel paused for a moment and continued. "Now that I can live quietly with my two children, it is already a great gift to me. I don't expect to gain happiness." It was not that she didn't want to, but was that she dare not want Rufus' so-called happiness. Which woman did not want to have a complete home, or a man who loved herself? But if they made mistakes in love, they should suffer pain and be tortured. Although Rufus lied to her in this matter, it caused great harm to others after all. And she hadn't forgotten that love for so many years, and guilt had haunted her. The evasion and the timidity of Isobel made Rufus not know what to do. He had explained many times that their business was not Isobel's fault, but Isobel still couldn't forgive herself. "Isobel, don't lie to yourself or me. If you really don't care the feeling between us, why did you give birth to Vanessa? If you really forget the love, why didn't you marry for so many years?" Rufus couldn't control his emotions and raised the volume to ask Isobel. He didn't want to embarrass Isobel, and didn't want the tragedy to continue. He wanted to face it with Isobel, he wanted to solve everything, and he didn't want her or himself to harbor regret for the rest of their lives. "Vanessa is a life, I have no right to deprive her life. Don't talk about the past, and don't worry about my things in the future. We don't have the energy to talk about love at such an age." "I don't have any extravagant expectations of you. I just hope you will protect Winnie and Vanessa as much as possible, and don't let them suffer too much." Isobel was unintentional and couldn't continue talking. She had gone through a hard time getting herself strong, but under Rufus's interrogation, she softened little by little, and she might break down if she continued talking with Rufus. After Isobel entrusted the two children to Rufus, she got out of the car and left. It was necessary for her to leave, and whether she would come back or not depended on the development of things. If nothing happened, she would never come back, if the matter was exposed, she would come back and bear all. Rufus failed again and still did not change Isobel's mind. He was very depressed, but he didn't chase her. When Isobel left, Rufus' first reaction was to ask Paul to send someone to follow Isobel, fearing that she would never return. The next morning, Isobel only called Winnie and left by plane. As for where she went, Winnie didn't know. After Isobel left, Winnie became busy. Although she did not need pick up the children, she had to take care of Vanessa. Every day, she went to work earlier and sent Vanessa to school on the way. When she came home from work, it depended on the situation. If Vanessa had an evening class, she had to pick her up. Rufus felt a little distressed when he found Winnie was so busy, so he offered to help. Over the dinner table. "Winnie, you will rest at home for a while, I will pick up Vanessa." "No, Rufus, Vanessa's stay here has caused you a lot of trouble, so I should pick her up. If I really don't have time, I will ask you for help." Winnie rejected Rufus's kindness very politely. She was afraid of causing trouble to others and owing favor to others. As long as she could do it, she never asked for help. Brian would say to help her pick up Vanessa every day, but she refused, so how could she bother the elders. "Winnie, we are a family now. Your words make me feel uncomfortable. You are my child, and so is Vanessa. I don't think picking up my own child is a problem." For Rufus, these things should have been done by him. He owed Winnie, he owed the Chambers family. Now what Winnie said made him feel guilty. Rufus refused to give Winnie a chance to speak, and continued to speak. "Winnie, you don't need to be so polite when you talk to me. Don't stand on ceremony, it makes me think that you don't treat me as a family. I will pick up Vanessa in the future, and you are not allowed to refute it." Winnie was moved by Rufus' enthusiasm and showed a smile. Someone thought for her, and someone loved her, which was one of the warmest things Winnie felt. Rufus was like a father to her and Vanessa from beginning to end, helping them as much as possible. Winnie felt that what he did was enough and she couldn't cause him any more trouble. "Rufus, you have to pick up two children. The time they go to and from school was different from Vanessa. It is too troublesome for you to send and pick up Vanessa. It's a lot easier for me to have you to pick up my children. I will pick up Vanessa by myself." "No, it is not troublesome at all. Paul picks up the children, and I'm responsible for picking up Vanessa. You and Brian just focus on work. That's it. No need to say anything. Let's eat." Rufus had a firm tone, no matter what reason Winnie gave, he would be responsible for picking up Vanessa. One was to compensate Vanessa as much as possible, and the other was to help ease Winnie's burden. "Rufus..." "Don't refuse, let him pick up Vanessa. I will arrange for a car and a driver. With two cars, it won't be a problem." Brian finally spoke. He had been persuading Winnie, but she just didn't listen to him. Today, just taking this opportunity, he could solve the problem. "This is too much trouble..." "No trouble, there is no trouble in the family. Have you forgotten that you are now a member of the Bennet family? Your business is our family's business." Brian interrupted Winnie to prevent her from giving any more reasons. "Brian is right, so it's settled. With me, you don't have to worry about it, just do your work well. After dinner, Paul and I will pick up Vanessa. You will help the children with their homework and spend more time with them." With Brian's support, Rufus was more confident to take care of the children and Vanessa. Even if Winnie and Brian had time, they should spend more time with their children. Winnie looked embarrassed, but didn't say anything to refuse. It seemed that she had to owe Rufus the favor, and she would pay him back in the future. After dinner, Winnie and Brian played with their children in the living room. "I'm most afraid of owing favors. You know it, and you asked Rufus to pick up Vanessa." Winnie looked at Brian a little dissatisfied, and then mentioned the matter in a low voice. "This matter has already passed, so why do you mention it again. It is all right for a family to help each other, and why you owe us. In other words, don't always be afraid of owing favors. We can pay them back. With this kind of thoughts, how tired you are." Now that this matter had been mentioned again, Brian also said a few more words. If Winnie's opinion didn't change, she would be very tired all her life. "Also, you can calculate favors with others, and if you want to talk about favors with me, I have to doubt whether you love me or not, whether you treat me as a family member." Brian's words were a joke, because he didn't want Winnie to have a psychological burden. Now with Winnie, he had never been so steadfast before. There was a feeling that the ship drifting in the sea finally docked. Because of this, he cherished Winnie even more and hoped that she could also feel at ease. "Is there a relationship between the two? I just said a few words, and you contradict me with so many words." Winnie glanced at Brian, not angry, but dumbfounded by what Brian said. Brian smiled happily, he reached out his hand and pulled Winnie to sit down beside him, and then he responded to Winnie. "I say these things for your own good. Since we live together, we are a family. Don't always treat yourself as an outsider, don't prevent yourself from integrating into this family. This will always be your home, and the people here will always be your family." "Also, you don't need to buy any foodstuffs or daily-use things in the future. You obviously treat yourself as an outsider by doing this." "Do you have to get a marriage certificate to admit that here is your home? If so, let's get officially married tomorrow without considering anyone's thoughts." Brian's tone was soft, but these words were not a joke. He really hoped to give Winnie a marriage contract now to calm her heart. "I don't have that kind of thought, and I didn't force you. From now on, I will consider myself a member of this family." In this case, what else could Winnie say? She could only obey Brian and integrate herself into this home. It was not that she didn't want to think of herself as a member of the family, but she was afraid that she would not want to leave after getting used to this model. The matter between her and Brian was uncertain. Once they were separated, and they had to bear the pain of parting from their loved ones. "That's right. Everyone in this family, even Paul and Raya, treat you as a family member. If you don't integrate yourself in, they should be sad." "Winnie, don't worry and leave everything to me. I will definitely give you a perfect ending. You don't have to worry about anything in the future, don't worry about anyone. I will do everything, you just need to be happy." Brian expressed his feelings affectionately, and he hoped from the heart that Winnie could let go of all the burdens and live a life of her own. "Okay, everything is up to you." Although Winnie couldn't be as cool as she said, she also wanted a happy memory that could accompany her for life. She also wanted to feel the warmth and steadiness from her lover during this time. She didn't know what would happen in the future, but she really wanted to grasp the current family reunion. Seeing the happiness of the two children, the rare comfort of Brian, and the enthusiasm of the whole family, Winnie's embarrassing identity was insignificant. Wendy had been very depressed after knowing that the relationship between Winnie and Brian had changed qualitatively, and had been looking for opportunities to meet Winnie. Now she couldn't care too much, but was anxious and afraid that Felix Bennett would officially accept Winnie. At that time, even if she used her life to change Winnie's position, it was useless. Wendy didn't find a chance to meet Winnie, so she could only call Winnie to make an appointment. Wendy sat on a bench in Haibin Park and waited for a while. The scenery in front of her was so beautiful, but she was not in the mood to enjoy it. Wendy had been stabilizing her emotion, thinking about how to talk to Winnie.

CHAPTER 459 IF YOU CAN, GRAB HIM

"I'm sorry for being late." Winnie's words broke Wendy's thoughts. She turned to look at Winnie, with indifference in her eyes. "Sit, please." Winnie raised her lips coldly, and then sat down. "If you have anything, just say it, I don't have much time." "Okay, then I'll just say it." Wendy was also blunt. "I just wanted to tell you that Brian and I were together because I saved him, so no matter what I did, he wouldn't hurt me." Winnie felt Wendy's words were ridiculous. She knew Wendy was not the one who saved Brian, but Winnie didn't expose it. That she didn't reveal it was not because she didn't care about Brian, but because it was unavoidable. After revealing it, Wendy would use other things to show off to her. The corners of Winnie's mouth raised slightly, and she spoke mockingly. "Then, what's the point of what you said to me?" "What's the point? Don't you understand what I said?" Wendy saw Winnie's sarcasm, and asked Winnie in reply. And Winnie responded to Wendy fearlessly, with a calm tone. "What do I need to understand? Brian told me this a long time ago, you just repeat it, I don't think there is anything special." "Brian still loves me. You are just his momentary fun, and one day he will abandon you. You are a smart person. Why do you want me to say it so clearly?" Wendy's voice was irritable, with a little anger. "So that's what you mean. It doesn't matter. You don't need to tell me whether you are still in love with him or not. You can go to Brian. If he accepts you, I will believe you that he still has feelings for you." "But I want to tell you, I don't care about the past, and I don't want to waste my time thinking about what will happen in the future. What I pay attention to is now, and now he is mine." Winnie's words were sonorous and powerful, no matter what her mood was at this time, she must not lose her momentum in front of Wendy. Since the grievances between her and Wendy hadn't ended yet, she would never flinch, even if in the end she would be bruised, even if Brian might leave her, at least for the moment she had to hold it arrogantly. "You....." "Winnie, I didn't expect that you are so shameless. He doesn't love you. Does it make sense for you to pester him? Can you live with a little dignity? Can you not belittle yourself for money?" Wendy didn't know how to respond to her words, so she could only accuse Winnie angrily. She didn't expect that Winnie didn't care what she said, she didn't expect that Winnie's feeling for Brian could not be shaken. But this was what Wendy was most afraid of. Winnie didn't care emotions but only at material things. If Winnie was really like this, she would hold Brian tightly and do everything possible to stay by his side. After Wendy finished speaking, Winnie laughed unscrupulously. Wendy's words were so ironic that Winnie thought it was appropriate for Wendy. But Wendy used it to mock others. "Brian always says that he loves me. When he says he doesn't love me, you can come to mock me." "Is there anything else? If not, I'll go to work." Winnie stood up as she spoke, and when she turned around, Wendy said another word of resentment. "I won't give up on Brian. I don't believe that the love between me and him for so many years is not as good as you." "Whatever, if you can, come and grab him, I'll be waiting anytime." Winnie didn't look back, and after leaving these words coldly, she left. Wendy looked at Winnie's straight back and her haughty back, and her resentment became more intense. At this moment, she hated that she was not as cruel as Penny and couldn't kill Winnie directly. Winnie didn't tell anyone about Wendy's appointment, let alone Brian. She knew that Wendy was provoking her relationship with Brian, so there was no need to say it. But she would remember these things, and they might be useful one day. In the evening, Daenerys' house. To celebrate Brian and Winnie being together, Daenerys and Emily prepared a small celebration dinner early. Only their best friends participated. This was also the first time Winnie had brought Megan and Luke here. In other words, Luke, Megan and Jelly had met for the first time. Megan and Luke were very happy after seeing Jelly. Especially Megan, she was extremely excited. "Mommy, give me a younger sister too. Jelly is so cute." Megan's love for Jelly was obvious. She always wanted to reach out and hug Jelly, but unfortunately her strength was limited, and Winnie didn't allow her to hug Jelly for fear of hurting Jelly. "No, it's difficult enough for Mommy to bring you up..." "You must give birth to a younger sister, let you experience what it's like to be a sister." Brian interrupted Winnie before he could finish her refusal. He had the same idea as Megan, and wanted Winnie to continue having babies. And he had been working hard and had not taken contraceptive measures. Now he only expected his little princess to come soon. "Keep your words, daddy." Megan took Brian's words seriously. She remembered that her daddy and mommy owed her a sister. "I want too, I want a brother." At this time, Luke also put forward his own request on the side. "You want a brother too. It seems that we have to have boy-girl twins to meet the requirements of you. Okay, I will work hard." Brian laughed at himself, as if what he said had become a reality. "Look! How good the atmosphere is and how happy the family is. You should have been together long ago." Daenerys looked at such a harmonious and happy scene, and said with emotions. The faces of the two children were filled with happiness from the heart. Just for the happiness of the children, Daenerys felt that it was all worthwhile. "Yes, they should have been together a long time ago. Mr. Bennet, who never laughs, is full of smiles now, which is really enviable." Emily also agreed on one side, and now it's not just Brian who was happy, everyone in his family was happy. "Don't talk about us, how are you and Leo. Everything on me is settled, shouldn't you also accept Leo?" Winnie in turn questioned Emily, making Emily's envy disappear instantly. "My business is not in a hurry, Leo will be here for a while, don't mention it." Emily had to warn in advance that she was not ready to accept Leo again, and she did not dare to fall in love with Leo. She didn't want others to put pressure on her. "It's impossible not to mention it. Winnie gains her happiness, and the rest is you and Leo. You said you want to have a wedding with us, I don't want you to hold back." Daenerys knew Emily's feelings, and was still teasing Emily. She wanted to quickly facilitate Emily and Leo's relationship, so that Leo could focus on work. "Hey, today's protagonist is Winnie and her family, so don't tease me. Next time, let's talk about my business another time." Emily found an excuse for herself and helped herself out. She had an urge to flee immediately to avoid being teased by the two women. "The supporting role is often happier than the protagonist. Don't think about it anymore. The relationship with Leo should be determined quickly. Everyone will be at ease, and your parents will not force you to go on a blind date." Winnie was not so urgent to push Emily, love still depended on two people to experience it carefully. She just reminded Emily not to miss Leo. "Well, I will have a good talk with him. You don't have to worry about it. What is mine is mine. Why should I be so anxious?" "You go on talking, I'll go to the kitchen to help. It will be very hard for Kevin alone." Emily turned around and ran after speaking, as fast as possible. "I'm going to help them, you guys go ahead." Brian also went to the kitchen, only Daenerys and Winnie were left in the living room. "How do you feel?" Daenerys cared about Winnie. "There was nothing I can't get accustomed to in life, after all, I lived there before. Now the only thing I feel burdened with is about Vanessa. Rufus picks up Vanessa, which makes me feel guilty and always feel that it is not good to trouble others." Winnie still took this matter to heart, just like now, she came out for fun, but Rufus had to take her work. Thinking about it, she felt guilty. "Don't think too much about these. Rufus is also afraid that you will be too tired. He treats you as a family and wants to share the burden for you. Don't disappoint him." "Even if you owe a favor, you can pay it back later. This favor can also be paid by Vanessa. Don't always worry about these things." Daenerys knew Winnie and knew she didn't like to trouble others. But Winnie thought too much. "Why do you say the same as Brian? I want to do that too, but I am not innocent enough. To be honest, the relationship with Brian makes me unable to take everything for granted. "Winnie hadn't said anything like this in front of Brian, for fear that Brian thought she was a greedy woman. But in front of Daenerys, she could nag." Winnie, I can understand you. Anyone will care it. I think this is temporary. Brian will definitely be able to give you an identity recognized by the Bennet family. Take it easy, give him some time, and trust him." Daenerys persuaded Winnie, hoping that her words would make Winnie feel better. She paused for a moment and continued talking. "Winnie, there is one more thing you need to give him a little time. He has lost a large part of his memory and has been trying to find it back. In the process of retrieving memory, he will be confused sometime. You should think more for him and stick to it. Even for the children, you have to stay with him." Daenerys didn't understand what she said, because these were what Kevin told her. Kevin didn't say why Brian would be confused, and she didn't know what exactly it meant. It was just that she thought that she should tell Winnie these words to make her mentally prepared, so as not to shrink back when facing it. Winnie didn't respond to Daenerys' words, just smiled faintly. She knew Brian's amnesia, and she had her own understanding of being confused—it must be about the woman who was unknown. Apart from feelings, there was nothing in Brian's memory that conflicted with her. Winnie also wanted to stay with Brian forever, and also wanted to give more love to the children with all her heart. But the key to the problem didn't seem to be on her anymore.

CHAPTER 460 CONTINUOUS QUESTIONING

If that woman was Brian's true love, she would be kicked out once. She couldn't control this kind of situation, and Brian's love was not something she could keep with the word "believe". "I don't know the future. All I can do is cherish the present. As long as my children can be happy for one more day, I will do my best." Like Wendy said, all Winnie could do was cherish the present. "By the way, there is one more thing I need your help." Winnie saw that the attention of the two children was not on her side, so she changed the subject. "I just learned that Wendy's company actually belongs to my family a few days ago... It's not appropriate to say it, it should be said that it belonged to my family before. I asked Brian about the Yup Group, but he avoided it. I also simply checked. But I can't find any information. Can you help me ask your husband on the side? He may know it." The more Brian avoided this, the more suspicious Winnie felt. Her desire to figure it out was getting stronger and stronger. "It's been so many years, what's the point of checking this? Wasn't it bankrupt and had to be sold? There is no doubt, don't think about it." Daenerys persuaded Winnie. Regarding the past, she didn't want Winnie to touch it again. It was the haze that Winnie had gone through after so many hardships. Reminiscence would only make Winnie hurt. "I don't have any doubts. I just think it's such a coincidence, why my family's company has become the Yup Group and the Yup family at the time seemed incapable of acquiring it." Winnie said in a calm tone, but she still couldn't understand it, and she didn't believe that all coincidental things in the world were encountered by her. "It's possible that someone else bought it and sold it to the Yup family. It's normal to resell several times during this period. Winnie, let bygones be bygones. Now is the most important thing." "For so many years, you have been so hard, and now you can finally enjoy your life. I will ask Kevin, but you can't take this matter seriously." "By the way, did Auntie Isobel contact you? When will she come back?" In order not to let the past affect Winnie's mood, Daenerys also changed the subject. "Yes, we called each other every day. She didn't say when she came back. She only told me that she wanted to travel for a little longer." Speaking of her aunt, Winnie felt at ease. Before, she thought that once her aunt went, there was no news, but now it seemed that she was wrong. Her aunt just wanted to go out to relax. "Then let Isobel play as much as you want. After so many years of suffering with you, she finally has the opportunity to relax." "Well, I think so too. As long as she doesn't disappear, she can travel as long as she wants." As long as the Isobel did not disappear inexplicably, Winnie would support her no matter what Isobel did. She just didn't want to lose this strong backing, she didn't want to lose her spiritual comfort. After Leo came, what Emily was worried about still happened. It was not so much a celebration of Brian and Winnie being together, as it was more like a persuasion meeting for them. Everyone's words were directed at them, very clear and firm. It was too much for Emily. "Don't talk about it anymore, I promise I will consider it. If you go on talking about it, I have to leave." Emily finally couldn't stand it, protesting loudly. She admitted that she still loved Leo, but she also knew for sure that she still couldn't accept Leo. She had been deceived once and she was bruised. Being deceived once had made her have no courage in the beginning. "Stop, I will work hard for my own affairs. I will let her see my true heart, and let her accept me again." Leo saw that Emily was indeed embarrassed, and he opened his mouth to help Emily. He was pretty sure that Emily still needed time. At this time, he needed to show his most sincere love attentively in exchange for Emily's love. But the premise was that he must determine whether Emily still loved him. "Cheer, for Brian and Winnie. Your hard-won today, you must cherish it." Leo turned the topic off, and although toasting, he showed a depressed side. His depression came from Emily's avoidance, and he wanted to use this to make both himself and Emily drunk, and it would be best to if Emily spoke the truth. "Thank you, I must drink this glass of wine." Winnie accepted Leo's glass of wine with a smile, and then Brian also drank a glass of wine. "For the last time, I hope you and Emily also have a happy ending." Brian remained silent and did not speak, he added only after everyone else was stopped. He said that sincerely. "I hope so. I will try my best, but I don't know if Emily will give me a chance. Let's stop the topic, don't embarrass Emily. Let's continue drinking." As Leo said, he poured himself another glass of wine, and then turned to Emily. He spoke affectionately and apologetically. "Emily, before I am drunk, I apologize to you. I'm sorry that I failed your love for me, and I hope you can give me a chance." After Leo finished speaking, he drank again. Everyone in the room realized that Leo was at bad mood, knew that Leo was full of guilt, and knew that Leo felt helpless because of Emily's repeated rejections. "Come, I'll drink with you. We can't help much with your affairs, but we must support you to the end." Oscar got up and poured the drink for Leo, and then drank with him. After three consecutive drinks, Emily felt a little distressed, but she couldn't show it. She felt that if she was drunk, she would not feel sorry for Leo, so she also started to look for all kinds of reasons to drink. In the end, everyone was quite sober, only Emily and Leo were drunk. Brian and his family went home, Oscar called a taxi and left. Daenerys would naturally leave Emily to Leo, even though Leo drank a lot of wine, she was still relieved. After Kevin sent everyone away, he couldn't help sighing. "Brian and Winnie have finally settled down, now it's Leo and Emily's turn. When can we stop worrying them? Fortunately, our love is not so troublesome, everything is so smooth and simple." While talking, Kevin joked. He encircled Daenerys from behind, feeling happy for everything he had. "Things between Emily and Leo are not that difficult, they will be together. And Leo can handle it without our help. The relationship between Winnie and Brian is what worries me the most. Winnie has no certain status, and her heart will never settle down." No matter how, the situation now was much better than before, and Daenerys also a little more relaxed. As for what would happen in the future, she was not unpredictable, and could only help them as much as possible when unexpected things happened. "Don't worry about them anymore. Brian has the ability to manage the Bennet Group. He also has the ability to manage his relationship problems. I believe that his lover is Winnie, and no one can ever replace her." Seeing the smile on Brian's face hardly disappeared since he was with Winnie, Kevin was sure that Brian still loved Winnie, and Winnie was the only woman who could walk into his heart. "Managing the company well is a problem of ability. There is no doubt about it. But I don't think Brian is good at relationship problems. If he is, it will not be delayed until now." In Daenerys' opinion, feelings and ability were completely different things. Brian's ability to deal with emotional problems was far less than his ability to manage the company, so she was worried. "That's Brian's memory has not fully recovered, if everything is clear and transparent, he will be at ease." "By the way, did you tell Winnie what I told you?" Kevin let go of Daenerys and came to Daenerys. Although those words sound trivial, they could be regarded as an early warning for Winnie. When she really encountered it, she would not be too unexpected or unbearable. "Yes, by the way, she seems to be mentally prepared, she is not surprised at all. She also understands what I mean." "Who is this woman, does Brian love her or not?" Daenerys asked with curiosity. "I don't know who it is. I have seen the photos, but I can't remember it after a long time. I don't know what kind of feelings Brian has for her. I don't know how much he knows about her. Before he had time to explain to me in detail, there was an accident and he had amnesia." "But I think even if he admires her, it's impossible for him to love her now. One is that Winnie is there, and the other is that the woman may have been married a long time ago. Finding that woman is just trying to find his memory." "You have to persuade Winnie not to take this matter seriously. Otherwise, there will be a gap between them." Kevin said in more detail this time, but there was almost no valuable information. There were so many things, but he just knew a little. Only Brian himself knew what was going on. "It is useless to persuade Winnie, I feel that the key to the problem lies in Brian. If he is transparent in every step he takes and does not hide it from Winnie, there will be no gap between them, and Winnie will understand." "The thing Winnie hates most is that being cheated and teased like a fool. It depends on whether Brian can do it well." Daenerys was still the one who knew Winnie best, but what she was not sure was how much Brian cared about Winnie. What Kevin said was only his analysis. Maybe there was love between Brian and that woman, maybe that woman had been waiting for Brian. If this was the case, then she did not what Brian's choice would be. "Don't worry, I will stare at Brian. I think the person he loves most is Winnie, there will be no other people. Since his mother passed away, I have hardly seen his smile. You see now, he smiles all the time. And his relationship with Rufus is getting better and better. These changes are all because of Winnie." "A man's love for a woman is his willingness to change himself for her, so I am sure that Brian loves Winnie so deeply, and their ending will be as good as ours." Kevin said so confidently, as if he were Brian, as if Brian would go on according to his thoughts. Daenerys still partly recognized these words, which was Brian's change. It was true that the greatest performance of a man's love for a woman was that he changed for her, but how long this change would last, Daenerys was not sure.
