Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 481 WINNIE IS IN THE HOSPITAL

Brian wondered if Wendy had anything to do with it, or if she was an insider. But she should not have so much ability to instigate the police or bear the consequences of this matter. "I will thoroughly investigate it when I am back, you continue to eat." "Morgan, confirm whether the rainstorm warning has been lifted after dinner. It doesn't rain now." With that, he got up and went to the window to see if the sky cleared. As he was observing, his phone rang. The number showed the city where Winnie lived, and it was a foreign number. Brian hesitated for a moment before he picked it up. Before Brian could say a word, Oscar's voice was heard. "Mr. Brian, where are you? Why don't you come to the police station? Come on, Winwin has a high fever and has been taken away by the police. It is not safe for a woman." Oscar directly told Brian that Winnie was taken away before he told the whole situation. "High fever? Winwin has a high fever again? I'm trapped in another city because of the rainstorm. I can't go back." Winnie was taken away with a high fever, he was more worried. "You can't come back, then send someone here. It has been ten hours till now from afternoon. Have you not noticed that Winwin is missing? They locked us up. No one came to ask. They just left us here without giving us food. It's cold and humid here at night, Winwin can't take it with her condition." Oscar was incoherent. He did not know what to say, but just said what it had occurred to his mind. "I've been trying to find you. The driver who picked you up did not know which police station took you away. I've got someone connecting with the embassy. A few hours ago Luke found your specific location. I have asked the hotel manager to come to you, but he was not allowed to go in." "I will tell the details when I go back. Now the most important is Winwin, how is she?" How could Brian not look for her? It was only that he could not go back and there were something which could not be dealt with easily. While he was on the phone, Morgan heard him and ran over. "Morgan, confirm again and see if we can leave." After giving orders to Morgan, Brian heard Oscar's answer. "She is sick badly and has just been taken away by the police. They may take her to the hospital, but I'm afraid that someone is trying to do something to her, because the way the police treat us is abnormal." Oscar showed his concerns. Before he could see Winnie, he was worried. "Damn the police, I'm going to hold them accountable. I'm going to get them out of that uniform. Oscar, don't worry, I will send someone to the nearby hospital to look for Winnie." Brian was to go crazy. He could not leave now and did not know the situation of Winnie. Now he wished he were the Monkey King and could fly to Winnie with a somersault. "If you know someone in the embassy, ask the embassy to look for her. Even if we find her, we may not see her." Oscar gave his opinion, because the embassy was more powerful. At least they could meet Winnie and it could ensure her safety. "Ok, I arrange it now, contact me when you have news." Brian hung up the phone and then called the friend in the embassy. Then he called Manager Lee and asked him to look for a larger area. After arranging everything, Morgan gave him good news. "Mr. Bennet, the warning is lifted. We can leave immediately." Brian marched out of the room without hesitation. He wanted to see Winnie now. He wanted to hold her in his arms and apologize to her because it was his bad. Half an hour later, Brian successfully returned to the city of Winnie. After asking the hotel manager to take care of Wendy, he joined to find Winnie with Morgan. As he returned to the city, he felt anxious, afraid that Winnie might have an accident. After looking for her like a headless chicken for a while, he met a friend from the embassy in a hospital a little far from the police station. After they communicated for a while, they came to the nurse. "Was there a woman brought in by the police..." Before Morgan finished asking, a nurse pointed in the direction of the emergency room. "There's a woman over there getting infusion, and the police are there." Brian ran along the direction of the nurse's fingers before the nurse finished her words. Morgan and the friend from the embassy followed him. Brian ran to the emergency room, and sure enough, he saw Winnie lying there with her eyes closed and her face flushed as if she was still in a high fever. However, when Brian walked to Winnie, he was stopped by two police. Brian was angry and punched at them. Before he could punch at the police, he was stopped by his friend. "Brian, calm down; if you hit them, we can't give explanation." "Winnie is here, you don't have to worry. I'll communicate with them." At this time Morgan also stopped Brian. While his friend was speaking, he had pulled Brian aside. The friend of the embassy first showed his work permit to the police, and when the police saw it, they were timid. "This lady is from our country and we have the right to see her." "You have the right, but this is our country, and you have to cooperate before the investigation." The police encouraged themselves to confront the man at the embassy. Now they knew it became big, but their self-esteem would not allow them to give up. "We are cooperating with the investigation. We have proper documents. But you detained them for more than ten hours. Have you conducted an investigation? Have you questioned the people involved? Your enforcement seems unfair and I will go through the proper channels to hold you accountable." The friend of the embassy was a formidable character, with a tough attitude and no sign of fear. "We are doing our work. We have not done with our investigation. Please cooperate." The attitude of the police apparently relented, and they were somewhat afraid of the embassy's involvement. "Yes, you are doing your work, but you should have regular procedures, and I would like to see what your regular procedures are. Police, I am not satisfied now, please ask the leader of your police station to show your handling procedures." The friend at the embassy had been through many of these things, but the police's response was out of the norm. And they were already showing signs of guilt. Just after the friend of the embassy showed his attitude, Brian spoke. "I will pursue this matter, but my wife is the most important right now. I want to know how she is, and if she is in danger?" Since she had been found, he could investigate the responsibility gradually. He was worried about Winnie who was quietly lying there. "She has a fever, the doctor has given her medicine. Don't worry." One of the police answered Brian. But Brian could not accept his understatement. "Don't worry? What if it was your family lying there? Will you not be worried? Let me in, and I want to make sure myself that she is all right." Brian could only see Winnie, but could not touch her. Before he could confirm that she was ok, he would be always worried. "Sorry, she's under investigation and you can't get close to her." The police insisted, though he was nervous, which made Brian go furious. Again he swung his fist at the police, but was stopped by Morgan and his friend. His friend was sensible and knew what the punch would do. So he had been alert to the impulse of Brian. "Let me go." Brian shouted angrily. "Calm down, Mr. Bennet. We can't turn a good thing into a bad one." Morgan persuaded Brian. Brian still angrily shouted at the police. "Listen, I'm not going to spare you. If you insist on not letting me see her, I will escalate this conflict into a diplomatic conflict between the two countries. I will pull back all my investments in your country. If you can afford it, keep stopping me." Brian was angry, like a mad lion. Even if the hunter aimed his gun at him, he could not calm his persistent heart that he wanted to see Winnie. Brian's angry warnings seemed to have worked, as the police officers stood looking at each other. They did not know what kind of character Brian was, but if he had no background and strength, he would not be so arrogant. One of the policemen walked over to Brian. "Sir, please show your ID card." "I have it." Morgan took out Brian's ID card and handed it to the police. The police scanned it with a device in their hands, which revealed the information about Brian, including his many investments in the country. After the policeman finished reading, his face changed slightly and he looked back at his colleague. After several police officers made eye contact, the officer turned around and handed the ID card to Morgan. "You can go and see by yourself, Sir." The police compromised. As his voice fell, Brian strode to Winnie's bedside. "Winiwn... Winwin... I am Brian." "Winwin, wake up." Brian's voice was so urgent that his voice was like a fire. "I'm fine, don't worry." Winnie's depressed voice shocked Brian's heart. He held Winnie's hand excitedly and then asked with concern. "Are you all right? Do you feel any uncomfortable? Did they beat you?" "No, don't worry, I'm fine." It was the same sentence. Winnie pacified Brian with her weak voice. She heard Brian shouted at the police. This man wanted to escalate the conflict into a diplomatic conflict between the two countries for her. He wanted to withdraw all his investments for her. It had no doubt that at this moment this man loved her, which made her feel warm and loved. It was Brian, whose voice sounded even more worrisome, who desperately needed reassurance. "Are you really all right?" Brian looked at Winnie in disbelief. Her face looked bad and rosy. She opened her eyes slowly which was red, she must have a high fever.

CHAPTER 482 JONNY, A FOREIGN MAN

Brian touched Winwin's head with his hand. It felt hot, but, to his relief, she began to sweat, which proved that the fever was beginning to subside. After checking, he was still not at ease. "Morgan, arrange a whole body examination for her now." "Yes, Mr. Bennet." Morgan went to find a doctor, and the friend of the embassy was still negotiating with the police. "We'll take care of her, you can watch here. Also, tomorrow morning, on behalf of the embassy, I will formally talk with your leaders. The device in your hand can check out the basic information of our people, but it has been delayed for such a long time that our people could not bear and fell ill. You are clearly intentional, and I would raise objection to everyone involved, you station and your leaders." After the embassy staff said that arrogantly, he walked directly to Brian. Now the police were obviously afraid. If it went big, they would lose their jobs, and it would affect a lot of diplomatic matters. Therefore, they did not contradict the embassy staff. So Winnie was left in Brian's care, but two policemen were left to guard her. Winnie did not confront Brian, she was finally relieved after a thorough examination. In the hospital's advanced ward, Winnie's fever had subsided, but she was still lying in bed weakly. And Brian had been sitting on the bed to watch her. It was at this moment that Brian's nervous heart calmed down. "What happened, Winwin?" Brian asked softly when Winnie got better, now he looked different from himself just now like a crazy lion. "Alas....." Winnie described it roughly. "It's my fault. I thought the police would get it back sooner and Oscar didn't have to reapply for his ID card. There would have been less hassle if we had asked the embassy for help directly." Winnie felt it was her moment of oversight caused such a situation. "Did the police make a hard time for you and Oscar?" Brian repeated questions, afraid that Winnie would not tell him the truth. "They locked us up in a temporary cell without questioning or investigating. They didn't even give us water to drink. At supper time, they got off work directly and the ones on duty ignored us. We have not had food yet." Winnie was not beaten, but the torture was crushing. Two policemen were in the hospital room, but Winnie did not fear them and continued to tell what happened to her. "I have asked Morgan to get some food for you, and also asked the friend from the embassy to meet Oscar." Brian said gently, but he had scolded the police in heart for countless time. He wanted to lock up all the policemen and starve them for ten days and nights to see what they could do. "It is ok to be hungry,, but I couldn't stand the damp and cold nights, or I wouldn't have had a high fever." Winnie still felt it dark and bleak, like a hell. "Winwin, I will vent for you. I'm not going to let it go." Brian said angrily staring at the two policemen. The two policemen looked around, obviously they were afraid. "Is Oscar all right?" Winnie asked anxiously. "Don't worry, he'll be all right." "How about the children, did they cry?" When Winnie asked about the children, her voice began to shake. She did not dare to imagine what the children should do if she was missing. If Brian did not come to her, would the children live in a lifetime with expectation? "Megan cried, but Luke was tough. He's been taking care of his sister. But don't worry, I told them I found you. Take a rest, eat and sleep and you will be all right." Brian felt at ease after confirming Winnie was all right. He would take care of the police and the one behind the scene. Wendy was arranged by the hotel manager to stay in his hotel, but she did not know it was Brian's hotel. She kept fidgeting in the hotel. If it could not be handled well, she would be in trouble based on Brian's attitude. She did not know how long she had been worried in her room, only that her heart had been agitated, and that it had been hanging there with a torturous feeling. Just when she didn't know what to do, someone called. As soon as the phone was connected, there was an urgent voice from the other side before Wendy could speak. "It's a bit of a mess. Now the embassy is involved and they may lose their jobs. When it comes to diplomacy between the two countries, it's even more troublesome." The man spoke, but Wendy was terrified. "What, how could it be so serious?" What she had been worried happened, Wendy did not know what to do now. "I don't know what to do. If they investigate it, you and I will be exposed. The buck will fall on us." The man was nervous, too. As his voice fell, he began to complaint. "Why didn't you tell me this woman's husband has such a background? If you had said it earlier, we would have warmed her with a few words and let her go, and we would not make it big." "This is a foreign country. Can his power extend abroad?" Wendy thought that these two were not related. Brian was powerful, but he was in foreign countries, and he had not privileges abroad. "He is abroad, but his company has invested in many highly profitable enterprises in our country, especially in this city. Can the country not take such people seriously?" "He has threatened to escalate the matter into a foreign conflict if no one is in charge. He said he would withdraw all his investments if he gets no explanation." "Even the government of our city cannot afford such a big loss, let alone us personally." The man was more and more nervous. He did not expect that a small thing would end up like this. "What should we do? I can't be exposed. Jonny, help me. Make sure they don't know I did it." Wendy begged the foreign man named Jonny. Jonny sighed, and then paused for a moment before speaking. "Wendy, I'll try my best to help you with this. But money is needed to keep the police' mouths shut." "How much is it?" Wendy asked eagerly. "It needs a lot of money, otherwise things won't be settled down. They're doing me a favor at the risk of losing their jobs. If money can solve it, it is the best outcome." Wendy was silent, as she understood what that meant and she probably could not afford it. But if it could not be handled well, she would have nothing in the future, what was the use of money? "All right, you help me think of a way to solve it, I will pay for it." Wendy had to agree, no matter what, she did not want to give up."There's one more thing you should agree with me."Jonny continued."What?"Wendy frowned, afraid of Jonny's questions."Remarry with me. If it is solved, remarry with me."Sure enough, what Jonny said was what Wendy had been worried about. She had not contacted Jonny, because she did not want to remarry him."Jonny, we..."The kid keeps looking for you, and I can't do anything about it. If you agree to remarry me, I will take care of it, if you don't agree, let nature take its course. If you're lucky, it might be resolved and you will not be exposed even if you don't spend a penny."Jonny made a threat to Wendy who did not know what to do.Wendy really wanted to scold him. Based on Brian's character, he would certainly pursue it. As long as he pursued it, there must be results. And she would lose.But what choice did she have now? No one had given her multiple choices. There was only one path, and she had to go, even though it was full of thorns. "Well, I agree. But I have to go back to my country first. I will come back when I take care of everything." Wendy could only reply Jonny like that. At the moment she had no choice, the most important thing was to solve the problem. Winnie looked better after eating some rice porridge. Other than weakness, there were no obvious symptoms. "Have some sleep. I will take care of everything." Brian said softly. Looking at Winnie who was weak at the moment, he was distressed. Winnie would not be in the hospital if he was around her and it would not be delayed. "I can't sleep, I am worrying Oscar." Winnie was weak, but not sleepy. It happened so suddenly that she was completely unprepared. And there were other things bothering her, too. She couldn't possibly be sleepy. "Although he hasn't been released yet, he's been fed and sheltered, and now he's sleeping. Winwin, don't worry. Oscar will be all right. I'll get him out tomorrow." Brian promised so that she would not be worried. "Alas.....I didn't expect it would happen. I've been here for years and I've never encountered anything like this. I'm really disappointed now." Winnie was not going to come to this city again. It was unsuitable for her. She must have done bad things here in her last life and she had never met good things here this life. "No one would have expected that, otherwise, I wouldn't have left you alone." Brian was guilty that he could not give Winnie timely help. If Oscar had not tried to make a phone call to him, he would not have met Winnie now. When his woman needed him most, he was with another woman. He ate with other women when his woman was hungry and sick. Such a man should go to hell and suffer inhuman torment. Brian's words made Winnie think of Wendy. And then she gave a bitter smile and remembered why Brian did not come to her immediately.

CHAPTER 483 THE POLICE APOLOGIZED

No matter what Winnie was thinking, she would not ask a single word. She should experience it and accept it and should not complain. "It is ok, don't take it in your heart." "Winwin, I'm sorry I didn't find you in the first time." Brian could not help but say sorry. He knew Winnie did not like to hear that, but he had to say sorry. "Nothing to be sorry about." Hearing "sorry", Winnie felt uncomfortable. But this time she endured it because he still did a lot of things he was sorry about, though she required him not to say sorry. In other words, even if she asked, he still couldn't do it. "I was on the plane at that time, both Morgan's and my mobile phones were turned off," He said. Brian intended to explain clearly. When it came to plane, he had to mention Wendy. "Winwin, besides Morgan, Wendy was with me. Based on the time, Oscar and Wendy should have come by the same plane." Brian paused and wanted to continue. At this time Winnie felt more bitter and then said. "I know, Oscar told me. But I didn't know you were on a plane again." Winnie really did not expect that. She thought Brian did not go to find his memories, but to see Wendy. So, Brian wanted to take Wendy to find his memories back. That explained everything. Brian did not know that she was taken away by the police. Brian was not in the same city with her, so he could not appear at the first time. Since so, even if he didn't show up, she should not complain. "We flew to another city. I told you I would go to see the accident site. I planned to drive there, but I wanted to have dinner with you at night, and if I drove, I couldn't come back, so I took a plane, but I missed the best time to find you." Brian was sorry. He wanted to explain it clearly, so that Winnie would not have wild thought. "No, I don't blame you. I'm all right now." "Brian, I want to ask you a question. If this didn't happen to Oscar and me, will you tell me that Wendy is here too?" Winnie knew that this question had no meaning at all. If he wanted to tell her, he would have told her when he left the hotel. Why wait until now when it was difficult to explain? Brian did not expect Winnie would ask such a question. Since she asked, it proved that she minded, and he could not lie. "No, I will not tell you that Wendy is here. I did not tell you not because it was shady, but because I was afraid of affecting your mood, afraid of affecting Luke's competition." Brian was honest and he gave the candid answer. But hearing such an answer, she felt uncomfortable. Human being was strange. She did not want to be deceived by her man, but sometimes when she could not face the reality, she wished him lied. "I understand, don't worry, your memories will come back sooner or later. Take your time. I can't help you in this matter and only Wendy can help you." Winnie pretended to be ok. If he came to get his memories back, why did they met when they were home? 'Oh, Brian, you're crushing me, you know? Do you love me or not, why you are worried about me when I have an accident, but after that, you are still on your way.' 'Can only Wendy help you with your memories? Can't you get your memories back without her? Can't you keep distance from her and not meet her frequently?' 'My heart hurts, you make me lose the ability of judgment.' Winnie could only say that in her heart. Even if she said it out, no one could understand her mood. "I asked Wendy to come with me. I wanted her to help me remember..." "All right, are you trying to explain for Wendy? Or are you afraid that I would argue with Wendy? No, I can understand everything you do. You don't have to take it so seriously." Brian wanted to explain more specifically, but Winnie really did not like to listen to Brian again and again called the name of Wendy. She did not care about their affairs and had no right to care. If Brian said he still liked Wendy, she would give up without hesitation. With this realization, Winnie felt that it was enough. She had no expectation of the future, and had been ready to lose him at any time, otherwise she could not bear the pain when it came. "Winwin, thank you for your understanding." Brian did not explain anymore. As long as Winnie did not get angry, he was at ease. "I feel sleepy and want to sleep, so do you. It must have been a day of worry and fatigue. Lie down and get some sleep, or else you'll be back to work." Winnie used the excuse of being sleepy and tried to end the topic, which made people feel bad. As she said, she moved her body, indicating Brian to lie on the bed. As for the two policemen, let them stand if they were not tired and sleepy. Winnie did fall asleep, and Brian closed his eyes to sleep. But they woke up after only a few hours of sleep. They were woken up, but they didn't know by whom, because there were a lot of people, except Oscar and Morgan, who were all foreign policemen. It was the first time Winnie and Brian got up in this situation, they didn't know what was going on. "Mr. Bennet, I told them you were sleeping, but they insisted on coming in." At this moment Morgan walked over to the bed and explained. Brian got out of bed, but did not let Winnie get out of bed. He let her sit on the bed. "Oscar, are you all right?" The first person Brian said to was Oscar. First, he wanted to make sure he was OK. "I'm fine. How's Winwin?" After answering Brian, Oscar asked Winnie. "I'm all right, too." Winnie smiled faintly. After seeing Oscar, her mental condition was much better. It was the best that both of them were all right, but there were so many police there, it seemed the thing had to be settled now. Brian became serious, and his face became cold with his imposing momentum. "So many of you come here, do you want to take them away from me?" Brian asked angrily. His king like momentum frightened the police and then police gave a smile. "Sir, I'm the leader of the police station. I would like to begin by apologizing for what has happened to your wife. It was our staff who made a mistake. Today....." "Made a mistake? Can such a simple sentence explain? You detained them without questioning or investigation, and you even did not give them water. Do you think it is a mistake?" Brian angrily interrupted his words. He could not accept such an understatement of the explanation. "I am really sorry, Sir, it does not comply with the regulations. It was because we were too busy to notice them." "Your wife and your friend's jobs are special, we suspected that they were hacker, so we wanted secret investigation and can't disturb anyone." "That's our rule, too, we have to abide by it. Again, I'm sorry." As the leader said that, the police bowed deeply to Winnie and Oscar and said sorry. "Their work is special, and I know you are right to be cautious. But you will never have such treatment in our country. You talk about human rights, do you think there are no human rights for us foreigners? Do you think our country is not strong enough and you can trample on our dignity?" Brian still could not accept such an explanation and questioned the police angrily. "We didn't mean to trample on our dignity, Sir. Your country is strong, we never look down on it. It is dereliction of duty of our staff. What do you want to solve it? The police involved can make a public apology, and we will compensate for the medical expenses of your wife and friend. We will apologize to the embassy." "Which solution do you find satisfactory?" The policeman said humbly, as long as not to make things big, he could do anything. "Brian." Winnie called Brian, and Brian looked towards Winnie. "Now that they have admitted dereliction of duty, let's forgive them." Winnie didn't want to make it big. They had better keep a low profile so as not to affect their children's mood, since they were there for a competition. "Winwin, you are softhearted again, do you forget how they did to you?" Brian had guessed what Winnie would say, but he hated the police thinking of what happened yesterday. "Well, we are in a foreign country, we'd better not to make it big. Oscar and I are all right, but it was the best result." Winnie insisted on her opinion. Seeing so many people standing in front of her and apologizing, she felt that this was their sincerity. Brian sighed, and did not know what to do. "I don't need you to pay for mental damage or medical expenses, and I don't care if your jobs are lost or not. But an apology must be made publicly to my wife and friend in the press." Brian could not just let it go like that or lose his morale in another country. "Sure, as long as you are satisfied, we can apologize in front of the media publicly." No matter what request Brian put forward, the police would do their best to agree. It was better than escalating things to diplomacy. The police apologized repeatedly. Before leaving, they gave back the ID card to Oscar, so this storm was over. Winnie returned to the hotel, only to know that Luke invaded the police monitoring system, and accurately found their location. Although she was happy that her son could complete such a difficult hacking technique, Winnie was worried that there would be traces left behind. So she had to access it to see if all Luke's browsing traces had been eliminated and she would erase it if any. To her relief, Luke did a good job and did not leave a trace. "Luke did a good job, but no matter happened in the future, don't let him do such a dangerous thing, especially when we are in a foreign country, or he might end up under arrest if there is any mistake." Winnie reminded Brian. "I thought of it. I was really worried that I couldn't find you. I won't risk him anymore."

CHAPTER 484 WENDY IS JEALOUS

Brian knew the danger and he had tried to stop him, but Luke was confident. He did a perfect job under the situation that he was eager to find his mother, which proved that his skill was mature, and he was composed. It was unusual for a child to do this at his young age. Even Brian could not manipulate high technology sitting there when he was anxious. "By the way, how did the police find Oscar's ID card?" Winnie continued to ask questions about the matter. It was like a dream. His bag was stolen suddenly, and they were arrested. Before they did anything, the police came to apologize, and Oscar's ID card was found so easily. Was the police efficient, or did she really have a dream? "The police said they did their best. They checked the surveillance of the oil station, targeted a few suspects and went through them one by one." Brian explained to Winnie with what he heard from Morgan. "They seem to make up for what they have done wrong. If it has not had happened, Oscar can't have his ID card back, so I did a right thing." Winnie comforted herself for her unwise move. "No, don't take any more risks. You'll scare my heart out of me. Contact the embassy if you need help, even if the ID card is lost..." "Well, well, after this lesson, do you think I will do it again? I won't come to this city again." Winnie was very guilty. If Brian continued to say it, she would be ashamed. In order to make Brian shut up, Winnie came to Brian and sat on his lap. "It won't happen again, and I won't give you a chance to worry about me again." Winnie said mischievously, to avoid nagging, and to appease Brian. Brian looked at Winnie with affection and tried to punish her in the most primitive way, but the door of the room was suddenly pushed open. "Sorry to bother you." Wendy's voice was heard, but it sounded gloomy. "It is ok." Winnie said calmly, and then stood up from Brian's legs. Seeing their intimate move, Wendy's expression was obviously stiff. And she said "Sorry" with jealousy. She should leave the room immediately after she spoke, which was polite. But she stood there and said words against her heart, as if to catch her husband in bed with another woman. "I knocked at the door. Maybe you didn't hear me." Wendy explained, but still had no intention of leaving. There were intimate in the daytime, and had not heard that she knocked at the door. Did Winnie want her to see how much they loved each other deliberately? Although it was normal, it was enough to arouse Wendy's jealousy. She and Brian had not had such physical contact in years. Since her return, Brian had been so respectful to her that he seldom held her hands. Such a comparison made her jealous. "It's all right, it doesn't matter." Winnie remained indifferent. At this time, Brian stood up. He was not in a hurry to speak with Wendy, but took Winnie's hand and let her sit on the bed. "You have not got well. You can't stand." Brian's consideration made Wendy have more jealousy. Brian turned to look at Wendy. "What's up?" "Oh, I came to see Winwin. I wonder if she's all right." Wendy stopped her jealousy and pretended to be concerned about Winnie. "I am all right, it's just a fever. I am fine now." Winnie answered Wendy's question in a kind manner and did not show any discomfort in her heart. "Good, be more careful in the future, to avoid it happens again." Wendy's words were the duplicity. There was no look of concern on her face. "I will be careful. Oh, by the way, I thought you were trying to get Brian's memories back. Brian, I'm all right now. You go and do your own thing. You can't let Wendy make this trip for nothing." Winnie said generously. She knew that even if she complained, she could not stop them. "No, I'm not in the mood to think about memories. Let nature take its course, it will come back to me one day." Brian temporarily gave up. Winnie had an accident, how could he have the mood to find back his memory? If he hadn't left her alone, it would never have happened. With that, he looked to Wendy and then spoke. "Wendy, thank you for your help. I will ask Morgan to book a flight for you and find someone..." "You are very kind, Brian. I was in your life at that time, and it was my duty to help you recover your memory. I'll help you again when you need me. You won't feel at ease until you get your memory back." Wendy interrupted the words of Brian gently and deliberately mentioned the past. "Brian, you don't need to book me a flight. I'll be here for a few days, I haven't met some of my friends yet." Wendy did not mean to leave. Even if she did nothing, she was annoying person to Winnie. "All right." Brian said coldly. He did not want Wendy to stay there to affect Winnie's mood. But he couldn't say anything now. After all, she had come to help him, and he couldn't feel disgusted about her when he didn't need her. "Brian, I think I'll stay at this hotel for the time being. The cost....." "Wendy, stay as long as you want, and we'll pay for it. You came here to help Brian. How can we let you pay for the hotel?" Before Wendy finished, Winnie knew what she wanted to say and directly interrupted Wendy's words. It was a trifle for Wendy to stay and see her friends, but it was important to annoy Winnie, otherwise she would not have offered to stay at this hotel. Since Wendy wanted to make her sick, why didn't she give Wendy a chance? Since she liked acting so much, Winnie gave her a stage to see who would be sick in the end. "I'd better pay it myself. It's too much trouble for you." "Never mind. It's just one room." Winnie cooperated with Wendy's affectation. She would like to see what Wendy could do. "All right, thank you, Winwin." Wendy seemed to accept it reluctantly, but had no intention of leaving. "Brian, bring me the thermometer, I'm not feeling well again." Since Wendy did not leave, Winnie could only let her see her and Brian's daily life and let her see how an awesome man take good care of her. "You don't feel well again?" Brian was worried. He didn't take the thermometer at the first time, but went directly to Winnie. He bent down and raised Winnie's face with his hands and tested her temperature with his forehead. It was a simple move. insipid concern, which made Winnie feel warm in heart but Wendy chill in heart. Seeing that Brian was so concerned about Winnie, she had heartache and felt jealousy. It had belonged to her, but now Winnie had it. She was not convinced and must take this man back. Wendy couldn't stand it and walked out of the room without even telling them. "I'll get you the thermometer. You go to bed first." Brian only paid attention to Winnie at this moment and did not notice that Wendy had left. When he returned with the thermometer, he remembered Wendy. "She's gone?" "Yes, but I don't know when she left, she did not tell me." Winnie lay in bed, looking no long indifferent. "Why do you still keep her in our hotel? You're not bothered to see her?" Brian did not understand Winnie's intention. When Wendy said she would stay for a few more days, Brian knew she would live in this hotel, so when she raised it, he did not ask Wendy to stay, but Winnie agree. "She made it very clear that she wanted to stay. How can you ask her to go out and find a hotel by herself? Even if we don't want her to live here, how can you let her go? I might as well give her a favor." Winnie said only the surface, but she had seen the plot of Wendy. If Brian did not see it and she said it out, it would be a slur. "My family wouldn't be at ease with her around. Both the children hate her." "We will leave here as soon as Luke finishes the competition and we will go to another country to play together. It's just a few days to go." Winnie appeased Brian. Even if Wendy was not there, she would not continue to stay in this city, which was not suitable for her. Wendy returned to the room, feeling irritable. Thinking that Brian was so considerate to Winnie, her heart was in pain like being pricked by a needle. When she hated Winnie and cursed Winnie, Jonny's phone came. "It's all settled, you should give me the rest of money." "I...Jonny, I don't have enough money right now. Can you give me some time?" Wendy was in trouble. She had limited money and she had given it all to Jonny. She really could not get the rest out for the time being. "Wendy, did you trick me? I settled thing for you, and now you said you don't have money. You have a rich family, how can you have no money? If you play a trick on me, don't blame me to be cruel. You know the public apology has not yet made, and it can be reversed at any time." Jonny was dissatisfied with Wendy's refusal. In his eyes, Wendy was rich. That money was nothing to her. She said she had no money, she was to fool him. "No, Jonny, I'm short of money, so you..." "Why didn't you say you were short of money when you promised me that? If you had said so, we would have thought of another way. Now I've promised them to appease them with money, what should I do if you have no money?" Jonny forced Wendy with his efforts. If Wendy could not come up with the rest of the money, the thing would continue.

CHAPTER 485 ASK ZOE FOR HELP

Hearing what Jonny said, Wendy was completely panic. It had come to this far, how could she give up? At any rate, she wanted to carry on and could not let it be exposed. "I have it, but I don't have it in my hand. When I have..." Wendy explained, but Jonny didn't give her a chance. "Stop it. When you have it, these policemen will tell the whole story. I can't take the responsibility for you, and if I don't get the money tonight, you'll have to face the music." Jonny said angrily and hung up the phone. Wendy was at a loss and did not know what to do. When she was with Brian before, money was not a problem. But now it was related to Brian and she could not ask him for help. What should she do? Who could help her? Wendy thought for a long time. She had thought of everyone, but none of them would come up with such a large sum of money for her. Finally, she had to call her mother. Zoe picked up the phone and heard her daughter's voice sobbing. She was distressed and worried. "What is going on? Why are you crying? Who bullied you? Winnie?" "No, but it has something to do with her. Mom, save me. Only you can help me now." Wendy cried even harder when she heard her mother's voice. "What's the matter? I can help you only after I know what happened." Zoe was confused, it was not Winnie and it was related to Winnie. What was she talking about? "I..." While crying, Wendy told her mother the whole story. Her mother felt hateful now after hearing that. "Are you stupid? Why did you contact Jonny again? Wendy, can't you be sensible before you do something? It's abroad, not at our doorstep." "No matter what happens to Winnie in foreign countries, Brian has the ability to smooth it out. But what about you? Have you ever thought about who would help you when it fails? Do you not think of your exit plan before you do it?" Zoe was almost mad. Wendy wanted to frame Winnie, but she had no ability and now was in a mess. Who did she get the retarded brain from? "Don't scold me, Mom. I have never thought it would end up like this? I did not expect Winnie got sick. It wouldn't have been so bad if she hadn't been ill." Wendy did not expect the consequences would be so serious. "You didn't expect that? Jonny is not a reliable man. How far do you think Jonny can go? Now, you can't fix it without money, right?" "Mom, it's my fault. But if I want to deal with Winnie, I can only come to Jonny abroad. I thought it was a simple thing, but it turned out to be so bad. Mom, help me with this. If I get Brian back, I'll pay you double back." Wendy was crying and pleading. If she was exposed, all the things could not be hid and she would have no hope to be with Brian. She had been putting up with it for so long, preparing for it for so long, she could not give up because of it. "You... what can I say? Why didn't you consult with me before you did it? Now you remember me." Zoe was gasping for breath, but now it was too late to say these. What she should consider now was whether she wanted Brian or not. If she did want him, she had to fix it. If you didn't, she would not pay a penny. After much thought, Zoe decided to help Wendy. If Brian returned to Wendy, their family would make rapid advance. "How much does it cost?" "Ten million." "What?" Zoe was shocked, not expecting to spend so much money. "Ten million? Are you going to ruin our family? Your father will know if such a large sum of money has been given away. How shall I explain to him?" Zoe was angry again. Ten million was a big number for her family. The Yup Group had been developing very well for so many years, and it seemed to worth a lot, but only they knew that they were only a substitute. They did not have that much money and they were not as rich as others thought. "Mom, help me. Conceal it from Dad first. I'll try to get the money back to you when I get back." Wendy knew that the amount was large, but at the moment there was only one way to go, and she had to take out the money. "What can you do?" Zoe was desperate. Wendy did not have a job. She had been with Brian for so many years, but she did not get too much property. How could she have that money? "I can find an excuse to borrow it from Brian, but I can't borrow it from him now. He'll be suspicious. Mom, help me, I will discuss with you when anything happens." Wendy cried more and more sadly, Zoe felt hateful and distressed about her daughter. "Don't cry, I'll give you the money. You must keep your mouth shut and don't let your father know." Zoe finally agreed. In addition to give Wendy money, she could not think of any other way. In the evening, Wendy received the money from Zoe and went to Jonny's house. Anna was the first person to greet her when she entered the house. "Mom..." She flushed into the arms of Wendy and could not help crying. "Mommy, why did you go away so long and never come back to see me, Mommy...Mommy, I love you." Anna cried and said. Wendy squatted down and picked up her daughter. She wanted to be tough with her daughter at home so that her daughter wouldn't miss her. But when she saw her daughter, the mother's nature ran rampant. She could not be indifferent to her. Holding the child, Wendy also cried. Hearing her tender voice, hugging her small body, listening to that "Mommy, I love you" Wendy could not control her emotion and cried together with her daughter. "I love you, too, Anna." Wendy sobbed and said to Anna, feeling her heart broken. "Mommy, I love you, I love you, I am the one who loves you the most in the world. Mommy, don't leave me alone, Mommy don't go." Anna cried so hard. She missed her mother during the time she could not see her mother. "Don't cry, my dear. I love you too." Wendy could not give her commitment, because everything was still unknown. She could not consider her daughter not and could not handle the troubles her daughter gave her. They cried for some time before they stopped. Wendy sat down with Anna in her arms and looked carefully at her daughter's little face. "You have grown up, and became beautiful and taller." Wendy unconsciously praised her daughter. Jonny brought a cup of coffee. "Wendy, have some coffee. It's your favorite flavor." "Don't go away since you have come back. I was wrong. Give me a chance for the sake of Anna. I will be good to you from now on." Jonny tried to retain Wendy. For such a long time, he made a lot of phone calls to Wendy, but was rejected by her. This chance was rare and he must seize it. "Jonny, don't talk about it in front of the kid. I came to give you the money." Wendy handed Jonny a bank card she had just got. If Jonny really had feelings for her, he wouldn't have forced her to give the money. Such a man had no sense of responsibility and no sincerity. He had nothing comparable to Brian, she could not stay with him. If the kid was not there and if she was not afraid her kid would be disappointed, she would refuse him directly. Jonny took the bank card, and then explained to Wendy with regret. "Wendy, I can't do anything about it. So many people are going to have to bear the consequences, and there's no way to deal with it without money. It has already alerted the foreign ministry and it has to make a public apology in front of the media, which is related to both countries." "It is in our country, there are some things that the embassy could not get involved in the investigation, so it has been pressed down." "I haven't any money, and if I have, I'd settle it for you. I didn't do a good job and made you worried. Sorry, Wendy." Jonny apologized sincerely, trying to make his relationship closer with Wendy. "Don't talk about it anymore. I have given you the money and you'll be in charge of appeasing everyone. But don't forget to take the last step. There's no point I lost so much otherwise." Wendy calmed down now and urged Jonny to continue to finish the work. "Rest assured, I will get this done." No matter what Wendy put forward, Jonny would agree, so that Wendy could be happy and stay. Since she could come up with such a large sum of money, her family must be rich and he did not want to give up on her for the sake of her rich family. The two chatted for a while before Wendy left. But Anna cried and refused to let Wendy go. Wendy could only stay, and intended to leave after Anna fell asleep. She stayed up late with Anna and went to bed with her. Lying in bed, Anna still pleaded her Mommy. "Mommy, please don't go, don't leave Anna alone." Anna was afraid that her mother would disappear again after she slept, so she tried her best to retain Wendy. "Anna, sleep first and we'll talk about it tomorrow, ok?" Wendy comforted Anna heartily, but did not dare to give her a promise. "Mommy..." Anna did not hear what she wanted to hear and cried again. "Honey, I have some things to deal with, and when it's done, I will come back to you." Winnie had to lie to Anna seeing that Anna cried sadly and pitifully. "Really, Mommy? if you come back, I will wait for you obediently at home." Anna smiled, but had not stopped crying. "Good girl, you are the best." Wendy communicated with Anna feeling sorry. She would not come back and would not live with Jonny again. She would have Brian back and then thought of the kid. For now, she could do nothing about her kid.

CHAPTER 486 LUKE'S REWARD

Anna was tired of crying and fell asleep. Wendy stroked her tender little face with a full heart. But for her now the most important was Brian. As long as she got Brian back, she would have a chance to reunite with her child. Wendy kissed Anna with tears in her eyes, and reluctantly walked out of her room, with tears streaming down. 'I'm sorry, Anna. I have to do this.' Wendy repeated her apology in hearts but she had not courage to say it out. As she was sad, she was held into Jonny's arms. "Don't be sad. Come back to us. We're still family." Jonny said with deep feeling and hugged Wendy more tightly. Wendy had not been hugged for years, this hug made her fear in the past, but now she felt warm as she was helpless. However, she was sensible and regarded as fake. If she cared about it, she would be trapped in those painful days again. She adjusted her mood and then lightly pushed Jonny away. "Take care of the kids, don't make her cry and make her feel hurt. I have a lot of things to and I have to go back." with that, she was to leave, but Jonny stopped in front of her like a wall with his tall and strong body. "I know you have things to do, but it is not urgent. Stay tonight, I miss you, I miss your body, I miss..." "Jonny." Wendy stopped her. She did not know if Jonny missed her for real, but she did not miss him, but felt painful. He was a man would torture her in bed. How could she miss him? "I can't stay. My friend is waiting for me." Wendy whispered. She dare not refuse him loudly. She knew Jonny well, if she refused him emotionally, he would want to possess her. Wendy was afraid of his desire of possession like a beast. "I will see you see when we finish." Jonny did not agree, he would like to try every mean to let Wendy stay. "You... Jonny, I really have things to do. I will come another day." Wendy was to lost her temper, but she was afraid to provoke Jonny, so she suppressed her flame of angry and said to him softly. "Wendy, since the moment you entered the door, I could not help but want to have you. So it must be today, it must be now." There was evil and sinister desire in Jonny's eyes. he did not allow to be refused. As his voice's fell, he did not give chance to Wendy to refuse, but embraced her into his arms and then kissed her lips violently. "... No." Wendy struggled in panic, pushing Jonny away. But in the arms of Jonny, Wendy was like a weak chick, her pushing and punching were just like rains falling from sky to Jonny a strong man. It was not painful, but it was fun to him. Wendy continued to resist, but in the next second, she was picked up by Jonny and her mouth was covered by his hand, for fear that Wendy would make a sound to wake the kid up. When they came into the room, the door was locked. Jonny came to the bedside and threw Wendy into the bed. Seeing that Wendy was controlled by him, Jonny was excited wans had stronger desire to get her. Regardless Wendy's oppose, Jonny began to take of his clothes. "You bastard, we have devoiced, you can't do this to me." Wendy shouted angrily and want to slip away when Jonny was taking off his clothes, but as she got down on the ground, she was once again thrown into the bed again by Jonny. "Wendy, have you forgotten that if you resist, I have to get you. Can't you feel more desire or you think the atmosphere is not good enough and try to make it better?" Jonny said in an evil voice, which made Wendy fear and her body shake. "Fuck off, don't say that again. We are not husband and wife, if you rape me, I will sue you." Wendy knew it was useless to refuse, so she began to threat. Naked, he stood on the bedside, seeing Wendy who was shaking. The desire had occupied his brain and he was not afraid of her threat. "Never mind, I don't care. Nothing is important to me now and I just want to have you." With that, Jonny tore apart Wendy's clothes with force. "Jonny, you..." Before she said bastard, she was pressed down on Jonny's body. "Let go... Jonny, you can't do this to me." "I can't let you go. No men could let go at this moment. Darling, I will be gentle, you can just enjoy." Jonny's evil voice made Wendy panic, but her resist was useless, she could only rebuke him loudly. "You asshole, you bastard, let go of me. I hate you. Don't touch me, you hear me?" Wendy shouted hysterically, but it did not work. "Wendy, you are unique in crying in bed. I like it. Louder, louder." Jonny laughed out loud and then his next move made Wendy cried out because of pain. "Ah...You bastard." In the hotel, Brian and his family had fun together and no one noticed that Wendy was not present. Luke would have the competition tomorrow, so Winnie let him relax this day so that he would not be nervous about the competition. Mom, Dad, we should be happy forever." Megan had a head of sweat because of playing, but she was happy. It had been a long time she did not play with Dad and Mom and did not have this high spirit. "Ok, as long as you like it, we can be happy forever." Winnie answered Megan, satisfied. Seeing that two kids were happy, she felt her suffering worth it and the status was not so important to her now. It was a wise decision that she did not ask Brian about his relationship with Wendy, or they could not be happy together like now. "But it will have an end, Luke has to go to bed early so that he can have energy for the competition tomorrow." Winnie said a real problem, and then Brian added. "Let's go to bed together, I will reward the one who fall asleep first." "Ok, let's sleep together. Dad, you are awesome, I love you." Megan said excitedly and raised her hands over her head to make a heart shape to Brian. "I love you too. Go to bed now." Megan was to go to bed holding Megan's hand, but was stopped by Winnie. "Wash hands first." So Brian took Megan and Luke go the bathroom to wash hands. After washing hands, they lied on the bed. "Brother, sleep, if you fall asleep first, Dad will give you award." Megan remembered Dad's promise and urged her brother to sleep. "You must be the one who fell asleep first, you will get the award." Luke said sensibly and then looked to Brian. "Dad, if I win the competition, can I have award?" "Sure, Luke, I don't require you to get the first prize, as long as you do a good job, I will award you." Brian agreed readily. "But I want to the first prize. A soldier who does not want to be a general is not a good soldier. If I don't want the first prize, it will be meaningless. I have to try to get the first prize, but I can't assure the result." "Luke, it is right to have this thought, it means that you have dreams and ambitions, but you should not only focus on the result, we just want you to work hard. Brian was afraid that Luke would have too much pressure and pursue too much, so that the result would be too bad for him to bear. As he said this, he realized that educating children was not an easy job. "Dad, Mom, don't worry. I understand and I can bear the failure, but I have to set a goal for me and work hard for it. I may fail once or twice, but I will make it as long as I tried hard. Luke said seriously and Winnie was pleased to hear that. "Luke, you have grown up, I can feel at ease not. I am proud that I have you and sister, you are the perfect work of me. I love you." Winnie felt her kids were sensible and self-motivated. "Luke, I love you too. You are a good boy, let me what award you want. If you get the first prize, I will give you bigger award." Brian decided to give Luke's award taking the first prize as goal. But he was guilty at this moment. Luke was sensible and excellent, but he was different to him before. If not the appearance of Winnie, he would have destroyed such a smart boy. "If I get the first prize, I want we stay together and never separate forever." Hearing that, Brian and Winnie were stunned. They did not expect that Luke would want such award. So Luke had minded it always and he had never felt at ease. "I promise you. We will stay together and never separate forever." Brian did not hesitate and wanted to give him this award. Even if Luke did not raise it, he would work hard for it and give the children a stable family. "Thank you, Dad, thank you, Mom. If I win the first prize, please keep your words." Luke gave a happy smile. He had wating this award and had working for it and it would realized one day. After two kids feel asleep, Brian got up silently and Winnie could not fall asleep. For Luke was to take the competition, she was more neverous than Luke and did not feel sleepy at all. They walked out of the bedroom quietly and came to the living room. Winnie threw herself into the sofa and wondered why she was so nervous. "It is weird. I have attended countless competitions, but I had never been nervous. But I am so nervous that Luke is to take the competition."

CHAPTER 487 I AM YOUR CURE

Brian gave a smile. He thought Winnie felt nervous because she was a mother. He was nervous too, but he was not as nervous as her. "It is normal to be nervous, because you care about someone. But don't show it off in front of our son, or he will be nervous too. Brian then gave a glass of red wine to Winnie. "Drink some, and you will not be nervous." "What if I can't wake up on time because I drink?" Though she said that, she took the glass. "I will be with you, don't worry." With that, he took a sip. "Why do you drink, aren't you afraid of headache?" Winnie asked with worry, she was afraid that Brian would have a headache after drinking. Brian did not answer Winnie immediately, but sat next to her and pulled her up. "Since I was with you, I have less headache, as long as I don't drink too much, I will not have a headache." "You are my cure, curing my disease bit by bit." Brian felt weird about it. He felt he was in a good mood, so he did not have a headache, because the science could not explain it. "So you can't leave me, or you will have a headache." Winnie said jokingly, she did not believe that she was so magical. "I have no plan to leave you, how can I leave such a woman who can cure me?" "Come on, drink some." Brian raised his glass and clinked Winnie's glass and then they took a sip. "It is the first time we drink together." With that, Winnie gave a smile. "Winwin, I feel indebted to you this life. You probably have not felt romantic ever." Brian had the same thought as Winnie. Love was romantic and beautiful, but Winnie had never felt it. She had no one else to expect for pain. They had no real love ever and had not dated once holding hands. They had not walked by the seashore, there were no flowers and presents, they had not been in a cinema and had not ridden a bike. They had ever done a thing that a couple would do, but they tangled together. She did not know what they did that for. "All women want a romantic love, but there were many women who could not feel romantic like me. Never mind, it is good now.: "As long as you remember that I am your cure. Come on, drink." Winnie raised her glass. There was a faint bitterness in the corner of her mouth but she pretended to be sweet. She was not sure about love, how could she dare to expect romance. She could not see the future, how could she expect to be the cure of this man? As they drank. Brian wanted to tell her that he would make her up in the rest of his life, but Morgan called. After he hung up the clothes, he began to put on clothes. "Don't worry, go to sleep after this glass." "Do you have work to do?" Winnie put down the wine glass and helped Brian put on clothes. "Yes, I have to deal with it now." "Go to sleep early, so that you have spirit to accompany Luke to attend the competition." Brian said, for fear that Winnie was not sleeping alone. "Ok, don't worry. You must finish the work tonight, so that we can accompany Luke to the competition tomorrow." "He relies on you, with you around, he could feel at ease." Winnie said to Brian. They had to accompany Luke tomorrow. "Don't worry, I will put everything aside tomorrow and I will accompany our son to attend the competition." With that, he had put on his clothes. He cupped Winnie's face and kissed her on the lips lightly. "Go to bed, I will be back soon." Brian left and Winnie was not in a mood to drink, so she went straight to bed. After dealing with the emergency, Brian and Morgan went back to the office, it was 3 o'clock in the morning. "Go back to sleep, Mr. Bennet, you still have a few hours to sleep." Morgan urged Brian. "Ok, by the way, how is Wendy?" Brian asked Morgan feeling uneasy. He was afraid that she would make troubles to annoy Winnie. "There is nothing wrong, the manager said she had not been back yet since she was out at night." Morgan got the news from the manager just now when they were back. If Mr. Bennet did not ask, he would tell him tomorrow. "She hasn't been back yet? Did she go to visit a friend?" Brian did not think too much, because Wendy had lived there for four years and she got friends there. It was normal that she went to visit them. "Probably." "Mr. Bennet, what did Wendy think of in the site of the accident?" Finally Morgan had the chance to ask. "She had thought of something, but was different with my memory. She said I had reconciliation with the other pay, but I remembered that I gave a thing to a girl and then I ran away." "it is different, so I don't know if there was a mistake about my memory or Wendy lied to me." Since it was spoken of, Brian told him what his thought was. "I think it is likely that Wendy lied to you." Morgan said without hesitation. "Why?" Brian was sensible and wanted to have evidence, but Morgan was emotional. "I can't believe Wendy. I don't think real about what she said and what she did. Anyway, I don't trust her." "Mr. Bennet, Albert asked me to tell you something. When you talked to Wendy at home, she said her friend did not take keys and left, but Wendy lives in a high grade community, the lock could be opened with finger prints or password, it is necessary to use key. Albert thought she lied and avoid the conversation. Morgan knew this new from yesterday. But he did not have a chance to tell it to Brian because it was mass yesterday. Brian then thought of a thing that was not fit to his memory. "The site of the accident Wendy said was different from my memory. She said it happened on this side of the road, but I remembered it was across the road." "I have messy memory, but I don't think I will make a mistake in the position." Brian had doubts. He was confused by Wendy and did not know who was right. "I knew Wendy had a problem." Morgan still thought Wendy lied. "But she could find the site of the accident. On the way, I said nothing and let her guide the drive to there, and she found it and she was sure about it." Brian felt it unexplainable about it. "It has a problem. She said she could not remember since it has been years, but why she could remember the site of the accident. And it had changed a lot, why she could find it exactly. Did she check it in advance?" No matter what Brian said, Morgan did not believe Wendy, he felt it was not Wendy who save Mr. Bennet. Hearing what Morgan said, Brian was more confused and did not know who to believe. "Mr. Bennet, don't think about it, put it aside. Now the most important thing is Luke's competition and Winnie needs you to comfort." "Go back to sleep, I will call you tomorrow morning." Morgan saw that Brian was blank. If he pursued only the result, it was bad for him to get his memory back, and now it was late, Brian should go back to sleep. Wendy did not know how long she had been tortured, only to find that she was fainted. She wished she could die like this, she felt ashamed to face Brian, but she woke up. As she opened her eyes, she saw Jonny's disgusting face. "You are up. Do you want to do it again?" Jonny said dirty words, which made Wendy felt sick. "Asshole, bastard." "Asshole? I am an asshole? But I think you enjoyed it. For how long no man had love you, you were thirsty." With that, Jonny could not help but laughing. Wendy resisted at the first, but soon she began to enjoy it. She was lubricious and now she called him asshole? "Shut up, never wish I will come back to you." Wendy was angry and her face flushed. She continued to confront with Jonny. But this sentence aroused Jonny's desire. At the next second, she was pressed and almost suffocated. "Since you won't come back, I will play you till I am satisfied." Jonny did not want to let go Wendy and waited her to comprise. "Wait, Jonny, we were couples, I am not fresh to you. You can find others to vent your desire and you can feel fresh." Wendy stimulated Jonny, hoping that she would not be tortured again. "Wendy, you know I like women in your country. Take the initiative and don't refuse me again." Jonny lowered his head to kiss Wendy, and Wendy at this moment got an inspiration. "Winnie is from our country, don't you like her?" Jonny seemed to be interested in her words. His restless hand on Wendy's body stopped its move at this moment. "Winnie? That woman got locked?" "Yes, she is more beautiful than me and she had a better body shape than me. She had tender skin, big breast and butts. That feeling will make you crazy. Wendy did not think too much at this moment, she only wanted to have a chance to escape, so that Jonny would move his attention away from her. It was the only time she admitted that Winnie was more beautiful than her and that Winnie was perfect in every aspect.

CHAPTER 488 THE INTERNATIONAL GAME WAS ON

Hearing Wendy's description about Winnie, Jonny lost his interest to Wendy, sat on the bed and then said. "Winnie had a strong background, her husband was capable, she did not seem to be easy to deal with." Jonny began to think this problem seriously. "But she has money. She is rich and rich, sure she is not easy to deal with. If you take her seriously, you will make it." Seeing that Jonny was serious, Wendy continued to entice him, as long as she could get rid of Jonny. She did not know if Winnie had money or not, but Brian has money, so she would have money. Expect for women from her country, Jonny liked money, and Winnie had both. Jonny did not continue to speak but raised the corner of his mouth and sat there thinking about it. Luke was the first to get up in the morning, because of his father's promise, he had a sound sleep, and now he had high spirit. "Luke, are you nervous?" They had been ready, Winnie asked Luke before they set off. She wanted to comforted Luke but she found she was the one needed to be comforted. "A bit, but not really." "Don't worry, Mom. As long as I put myself into the competition, I will not be nervous, I was so in the previous competitions." Luke comforted his mother. "I know you are the best and will not be panic in the important occasion." Brian encouraged Luke with a smile. Seeing Winnie and Luke's expression, he was not sure who would attend the competition. "Let's go and arrive the scene in advance, so that Luke could get familiar with the environment." Oscar came and urged. Then they left. Seeing people from different countries at the scene, Luke was curious and not nervous anymore. He looked at the competitors carefully and wanted to see how confident they were. In his eyes, if they were skillful, they would be confident and if they were not skillful, they would be nervous and worried. And it was detectable. It was his tragedy, he wanted to see who was good. After looking around, he was sure several of them were confident. But he had to pick among these people. "Mom. Do you think confidence is good and if they are confident, they will be confident?" Sitting next to Winnie, Luke asked her. "Not necessary, some confidence are swanking, while some are low-profile. I think low-profile will be better and more capable. The swanking kids would neglect something and once he is not careful, it will have effect on the result of the competition. But the cautious kids are potential." Winnie analyzed to Luke. When Luke asked her, she knew that Luke looked around was to explore the situation. "Ok, then I will know who is more capable among those confident people." Luke felt what his mother said was reasonable. The confident people were capable but the swanking one would be easy to neglect something and the people who were confident and cautious was the best competitors. Luke classified the competitors and knew what his position was in. "Luke, try to restrain your ability in the competition, so that you can make a breakthrough in the final." Winnie told Luke what should be paid attention. It was an intellectual competition, but strategy was also important. "I know, Mom." Luke answered calmly. Hearing their conversation, Oscar could not help but laughing. "It is a competition, are you talking about art of war?" "I appreciated Winnie about this, she takes the competition as was. Like her, Luke was serious too." "Yes, Winwin is serious, or she would not be good in study and would not have made her career successful. A woman grows up rapidly under pressure is related to her attitude." Oscar knew Winnie well. And he knew her past better than Brian. "So I think she is tired. When I finish my work, we should have a vacation so that we can relax." Brian had long had this thought. As Oscar mentioned it, he had stronger desire. A woman could not be always nervous. She could lie in bed lazily and spend her weekend without washing face and brushing teeth, and dress casually and go shopping without a make-up. That was a woman should enjoy, and it was a kind of lazy beauty, which showed that she was loved. Winnie was tough and had to finish many things alone, in this way, she would be more and more tired. "She should relax, or she will be break down." From Brian's words, Oscar knew that Brian cared about Winnie. But since so, why he went to meet Wendy without telling Winnie? Oscar did not get it. The competition was soon on. Luke walked into the scene, Brian and Winnie sat in the audience. It was the preliminary competition, there were many people, so it was a little messy. Luke could not hear the noisy and see the mess, he was focused on the competition. In the audience. "Oscar, how do you think Luke's performance?" Brian asked Oscar in a low voice. "Luke can deal with it. As long as he doesn't make a mistake, he can go to the next round." Oscar was sure with that, because he had taken Luke to do similar topic. As long as he made a slight change, it would be perfect, but it was just piece of cake of Luke. "Ok, I will be relieved." Brian saw hope. He knew this field but he was not good at it. He wanted to know the result, so he asked Oscar. "You are nervous." Oscar teased Brian. He and Winnie was confident about Luke, only Brian was worried. "Yes, I am quite nervous, I told him the result is not important, but I hope that he can get prize." This was the real thought of Brian. It was normal, every parent had such thought. "Luke can have a prize, but I am not sure which prize he will get." Oscar was confident, because he knew well of Luke's ability. Others tried every effort to learn soft, but Luke was a talent, plus Luke worked hard and was low-profile confident. Oscar thought Luke had his advantage in the international competition. The competition came to an end. Luke got into the next round raking 40th. Brian was satisfied about this result, so Winnie and Oscar. Luke felt relaxed. When the had lunch in the hotel, they talked about the competition. "Mom, the competitors I thought good ranked front of me. only a few who were overconfident made a mistake ranked behind me, but they were ranked first 80th, they did not get sifted out." "I will go to the scene ahead of time to observe the state of the 80 people." Luke was not nervous and said his plan out relaxedly. "Ok, do what you want." Winnie agreed with Luke's strategy, but she had to remind Luke. "Luke, there are 100 people in the competition, and 20 people have been sifted out in the first round, take 80 of them as competitors because they had their respective advantage and disadvantage." "I know, Mom, don't worry." "Uncle Oscar, what shortcoming do you think I have in the competition? Please correct it for me, so that I can play better in the afternoon." At this moment, Luke was an individual with his own thought. He was not like a child, what he thought was more careful than an adult. "Nothing, but you are too conservative." "But the 40th is good, don't make yourself too many enemies in the first round." Oscar meat Luke only used a bit of his efforts and did not use many of his skills. Oscar then continued. "In the next round, you just need to promote 5-10 ranks, the five competitors..." Oscar analyzed the ability of the competitors in the first round for Luke. Hearing that, Brian could not understand, but he knew that Oscar had strategy. "Megan, eat more, so that you have energy to watch brother's competition." Brian shifted his attention to Megan. With Winnie and Oscar, he had nothing to worry about. The competition continued in the afternoon, as expected, Luke advanced eight places. In this way, Luke could keep his position and will not cause others' attention. When they were back to the hotel in the evening, Luke talked about the competition excitedly, Megan did not understand it, but she still listened to her brother happily. It was morning at home. After breakfast, Rufus went to the old house. He made a call in face of his father. "How is Luke's competition?" He called Brian. "Good, he did a good job. He ranks 32nd today..." Brian told the result to Rufus excitedly and proudly.

CHAPTER 489 MEET JONNY

With a smile, Rufus hung up the phone, and not Felix was worried. "How is the competition?" "He ranks 40th in the first round and 32nd the second round, today's competition is over..." "32nd? It is not good. Only the first prize wins." Thomas interrupted Rufus and wondered why Rufus was satisfied about the 32nd prize. Rufus ignored him and then continued to speak composedly. "There are 100 people in the competition, 20 people have been sifted out in the first round, Luke ranks the 40th, it is good." "20 more people have been sifted out in the second round, Luke ranks the 32nd. It is an international competition, it is not easy to rank the 32nd in the world." Rufus said with dissatisfaction to Thomas. "Yes, there is only one person ranks the 32nd in the world and it is Luke. He is so small, it is already extraordinary. Even if he will be sifted out in the next round, I am satisfied now." Felix said contentedly. When he was 6 years old, he could not speak fluently, while Luke had attended an international competition, there was nothing that he felt dissatisfied. "He will be sifted out. Brian said Luke was confident and he can enter the next two rounds." Rufus believed what Brian said and believed Luke's ability. He came here to tell his father for that he wanted to his father to be happy. "Luke is smart, I think Winnie educates him well." Thomas changed his attitude and praised Winnie. "Winwin did educate him well. If Luke is raised by Penny, he will be destroyed." Rufus mentioned Penny suddenly, which made Thomas nervous. "Why you mentioned Penny? She deserves to be death. She mistreated Luke and she is our enemy forever." Thomas cursed Penny angrily, as if he held resentment to Penny. His exaggerated behavior made Rufus had doubts, but he said nothing. He mentioned Penny was because he wanted to warm Thomas. Since Thomas understood, he had no necessity to say anymore. "It is good that you know that." Rufus was silent, but Felix spoke. He hated that Thomas was sinister to his family. Rufus companied his father to have a walk. Seeing that Thomas was not around, he asked Rufus to make a girlfriend. "Dad, don't make it hard for Brain. I don't want a girlfriend, I am fine." Rufus said. He did not want his relationship to become worse because of it. "How long will you be single? The kids can't always be around you, and you will have no one to speak to." Felix did not agree with Rufus. "I can speak to Paul. I used to be alone and don't want to be bothered." Rufus knew he was lonely and wanted to have woman to be with her, but she could only be Isobel. But now he dare not mention her name, how could he be with her? "You used to it? Have you really got used to or have you not got over Isobel?" Felix stopped and looked at Rufus sharply. Rufus was silent. He did not say yes or no. "It's been over 20 years, Rufus, these 20 years are the best time for a man. Haven't you waited enough?" Rufus' silence was tacitly approval to Felix, he still had Isobel in his heart. "Dad, she missed her best years for me too. I lied to her and I can't make her up for a lifetime." Rufus did not avoid the problem. He admitted that it was his fault in face of anyone, so there was no pity that he was single for a life time. "You lied to her, she lied to you too. How do you she was with you for nothing? How do you know that she did not know you have family? You were in your 40s, she would have known that a man in his 40s would have family, but she was still with you..." "Dad, I told her I was divorced, and I have not ever told her I have children." At this, Rufus took a sign. "It is in the past, don't talk about it. I don't want a woman, I will tell you when I want to." If it went on, he would have a quarrel with his father. It had been years, but the Bennet family did not understand Isobel and felt she had motives, as now they thought about Winnie, who was unacceptable. When the family of four and Oscar were to have dinner downstairs and walked to the first floor, they met Wendy and a foreign man. "Where are you going to?" Wendy greeted them with a smile. She looked at Brian, but Winnie answered her. "We are going to have supper, will you join?" Winnie said politely. "No, I ate out with my friend. Right, this is my friend, Jonny." Wendy took the chance to introduce Jonny to Wendy. "Jonny, there are my friends from my country. This is Oscar and this is Winnie, they are both talented. This is..." As Wendy was to introduce Brian, she was interrupted by Brian. "I am her husband and the two kids are our kids." With that, he held Winnie's hand and told Jonny that Winnie was his woman.. Why Brian interrupted Wendy was because this foreign man had been fixing his evil eyes on Winnie at the moment they met. His eyes were so evil when he first time saw Winnie, which annoyed Brian. However, Brian's words stunned Wendy. How could he say he was her husband so easily? It had been a short time since they broke up and now he became Winnie's husband. Wendy gave a bitter smile. "Hello, I am Wendy's friend, we have known each other for years." Jonny greeted them and finally moves his eyes away. He looked up and down at Winnie careful, she was indeed beautiful and charming, who fit to his taste. If she really was rich, he would like to have a try. "Hello." Brian said briefly. The voice of this foreign man made him uncomposed. Why Wendy had such a friend? "You go and eat. We will not take your time." Wendy was awkward. Brian was so indifferent and she could not accept it. Then she said to Jonny. "Jonny, you go back too. I am safe. Don't worry." "Ok then, see you tomorrow." After saying goodbye, Jonny turned and left, but before that, he took a look at Winnie. After supper, Brian took Winnie and kids back their room. He asked Luke to go to bed early so that he could be energetic to face the competition. After the two kids fell asleep, Brian and Winnie came to the living room again. Brian remembered the man next to Wendy. "Wendy's friend is Jonny, right?" "Yes." Winnie answered lightly, watching the video of Luke's video of his competition. She tried to see if Luke's analysis was right about his competitors. "He is not a good man, why does Wendy have such a friend?" Thinking of his eyes when he watched Winnie, Brian knew he was frivolous and annoying. Hearing that Brian kept talking about Wendy, Winnie moves her eyes from the screen. "Don't you know her friends?" Winnie realized a problem. They were boyfriend and girlfriend, why didn't he know about Wendy's friends? "No, I never asked her life abroad and she never told me about it." Brian had never cared about Wendy, probably he was too busy and believed that Wendy could deal with her connection. Winnie felt strange, but she did not know what was wrong. "At the beginning she went abroad, we contacted a lot and asked about the life of each other, but later I got busy and I called her less and less. She was angry and did not call me. And after that, as long as we were on the phone, I asked her when she would be back." They seemed to have nothing to talk to, that feeling was different with that when he was with Winnie. "You are special, and you have been waiting for her for four years? It is true love." Winnie said in an ironic way and then he could not help but smile. Hearing that, Winnie finally felt better because there was more miserable love than hers. And she was not the most miserable one. At the same she envied Wendy. With a few calls, Brian had been waiting for her for four years. Even if she tried all her efforts to say sweet words to Brian, Brian might not be with her for four years. Wendy was admirable, probably no men could resist Wendy's charm. "I was busy to communicate with her. I thought we can get married when she was back, it was natural, but I have never thought if I loved her or not." "Since we did not communicate, so I didn't know she had a bad friend, he is disgusting." Brian did not think four years is long or he was lonely. In the past four years, he had been focused on his career, and waiting for Wendy was incidental. "He is not that bad. He is handsome and enthusiastic. You hate him is because you are worried about Wendy, or you are jealous..." "No, I am not worried about Wendy or jealous of that man. I hate him because of the way he saw you was wretched. Brian hurried to explain for fear that Winnie would overthink.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 490 DON'T WANT TO REMARRY

Winnie was not in a good mood now. No women would like to hear her man talking about his ex-girlfriend. Anyway, she did want to hear that Brian said about things related to Wendy. She felt she was normal to have such thought, because she loved him and cared about her. Because she loved him, so she wished her man only had her in his heart, his mouth and his brain, instead of that he kept talking about another woman. But she did not say it out and could only think in heart and only she knew she was upset. "So you are worried about me and care about me." Winnie did not know whether she had thought too much. She had not notice any wrong the way Jonny looked at her. She only took a look at Jonny. "Yes, you are my woman, I sure care about you. What? Do you like foreign men?" With that, he sat next to Winnie and held her in arms and asked with jealousy. Winnie sneered out. If Brian was jealous or not, she felt him cute. "If I like foreign men, I might have married for many times. I studied here and I contacted with foreign men. Many of them like women in our country." "Go home, go home now. Luke quits the competition, or he will lose his mother." Brian said jokingly. Seeing that Winnie smiled, he felt happy, but he believe that Winnie was favored. In Wendy's room. She was exhausted because of being tortured last night and now she wanted to have a rest. After bath, she went to bed, put the phone away and turned off the light. As she was sleepy, she was bothered by her phone. It was Jonny calling. Wendy felt sick, but she had to pick it up. "I am going to sleep, why you call?" Wendy was angry. "I have something to ask you." Jonny did not care if Wendy was angry or not. "We will talk about it tomorrow." Wendy did not want to talk to Jonny at this moment, for fear effecting her mood to get some sleep. "Can you remarry me?" Jonny continued to say. "Jonny, I don't want to lie to you, do you think it's possible. I am not used to the life style here now and I don't want to come back." "Jonny, don't force me, I don't want to remarry you." Wendy had determined that she would not remarry Jonny and she was sick of him. "How about the kid? Don't you think of her?" Jonny asked. "I am sorry for her. After I finish my work, if you agree, I will pick her up. That is what I can do." Speaking of the kid, Wendy was guilty. But there was nothing she could change, and she could only be sorry for the kid. "You like Winnie's husband, right? When you were with me, did you contact him secretly?" Jonny asked a question that made Winnie shocked. "No, I don't like him. I did not contact anyone when I was with you. It was you overthinking. If you were not suspicious, I would not leave you." Wendy denied at the fast speed, but Jonny did not believe her. "You are lying that you did not contact him secretly. If you don't like him, why you deal with Winnie? If you don't like him, why you went back to your country leaving the kid here?" "Wendy, don't lie to me. It is obvious that you like that man. And don't say it was my fault that we separated, don't say I suspect you. Because you did that, I did not believe you." Jonny hated Wendy that she pushed the responsibility to him. She was not responsible but self-righteous. Winnie was composed and smart. He only met Winnie once and had not much communication with her, but from his eyes, he knew she was smart. "I wanted to give Winnie a lesion because of our work, it has nothing to do with men." Wendy defended, she did not want Jonny to know about her stuff. "Humph...you can deny it, but I believe my judgement. You told me to get close to Winnie because you want me to have her and you will have the man. You want to hide this from me? You are too naïve."

Jonny thought it was related to Winnie's husband, no matter what Wendy said, he would not believe her. "This man is Brian Bennet, a capable entrepreneur with his industry all over the world. He invests a lot of projects in our country. He is rich, handsome, tall and domineering, will you let go such a man?" Jonny said out Brian's basic information. He was not surprised that Wendy liked such a man, but Wendy had not better tricks. "Even if he has the whole, it has nothing to do with me. Jonny, don't think too much. I have punished her and vent my anger out, it is enough. As for you want Winnie or not, it is up to you, I don't care." Wendy was nervous and wondered if Jonny had investigated her, but she would not admit it. "I want to have Winnie, she is rich and pretty, sure I want to have her. Wendy, you took me there deliberately and I liked her at the first glance." "Pursue her then, I am ok with it." Wendy did not realize the danger of it but felt happy secretly. It was good that Jonny liked Winnie, so that she did not need to get rid of Jonny deliberately. "But she only stays here for a few days and some one is with her. I don't have a chance, so I need your help." "What can I help you?" Wendy said reluctantly. She wanted Jonny to stay away from her, if she helped him, she might get into troubles. "Wendy, you don't cooperate with me now. Since this is your attitude, I will go the point. If you can't help me to have Winnie, you stay, or Brian will know what you have done." With that, Jonny hung up the phone angrily and did not give Wendy a chance to refuse. Wendy was angry and did not expect that Jonny would have tough attitude. It was good to her to help Jonny have Winnie, but Brian was alert, she could do nothing about it. Winnie would not like Jonny, and he could not force her. But if she could do something, Brian would not spare her and she could not get Brian back in the end and she could not reach her goal. Wendy was afraid and felt it a mistake to contact Jonny. She regretted, but what did it help? She was afraid, but she could do nothing, so she booked a flight back to the country. When Winnie got up in the morning, she got new that Wendy went home. At the table. "She is back? Why so sudden? She did not tell us." Winnie asked Brian with curiosity. "I don't know why, I heard it from the hotel manager just now." Brian felt weird too. It was not Wendy's style. "It is weird." After saying that, Winnie lowered her head to eat. Wendy stayed there because of Brian, but Brian was still there, why Wendy was back. She did not understand. Everyone was confused, but now Luke's competition was the most important, so no one continued to care about Wendy. The competition went on. 40 people were sifted out yesterday, and today 30 people would be sifted out, 15 in the morning and 15 in the afternoon. Oscar advised Luke to rank about 20th, even if he was capable, he should not tank the first ten. "Your total score is ok, and you can get more score tomorrow." Oscar said to Luke and wondered if he could control his position. "I will try my best." Luke answered in a low-profile manner. "Luke, you have to be prepared for the last park. In the final, if there is fifty-fifty, it will have extra task." Oscar said that because he believed that Luke could enter the final. "Skill of hackers?" Luke asked. "Yes, but don't worry. They will give you a fixed attack range, it depends the time to break it. As long as you are fast, you will win." Oscar knew Luke's ability in hackers, plus he had accessed in the monitoring system of the police station, he was more confident. But it was Winnie told Luke the skill of hackers, and he only taught Luke a bit. Luke nodded, he was not confident about the improvised part, but as long as he could enter the final, he would try his best. Luke did a good job today and ranked 19th. "Luke is potential. It is beyond my expectation that he could control his result." Oscar praised Luke during the dinner. He felt it was his luck that he could meet such a talent. "He is potential, but Winwin's education is important. If Luke can have a good result, the person I am most grateful was Winwin." Brain recognized Winnie's efforts. If it were not Winnie, Luke's talent would be buried, and he could not attend an international competition as he was 6 years old. "Luke studied hard. Every kid is potential, it depends on if the kids can use it. No matter what the result is, I am satisfied." Winnie felt warm in heart. With Brian's recognition, she felt her efforts worth it. But she could not let Luke be haughty now. He had to be composed, adjust his mood so that he could do a good job in the competition.
