Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 611 THE MAIN CHARACTER OF THE SONG

Brian watched the video of the hotel, but it was taken out of context. Wendy had been following her all the way, but he did not see the whole video. Since Brian found an excuse to break up with her, she should give up. Winnie drank up another glass of wine, feeling bitter in heart. She continued after that. "I drank with bottles that day. But today it has been poured out. You may feel uncomfortable since I can't interpret that day perfectly, but I'll drink with bottles when these are finished." "But don't come to me again when these drinks are finished. If it's about the kids, call me on the phone." With that, Winnie drank up the third glass, but she had no mood to taste the wine. Brian sat there not drinking and not talking, Winnie thought he was fooling her, so she drank like she did the other day. Since he wanted her to get drunk, she would do it "Don't you have something to tell me? Go ahead." Winnie said while pouring wine for herself. She then showed a bitter smile. It was Stefan who poured her wine that day, but Brian just sat there, motionless. "Today at Stefan's hot pot restaurant..." "I know you went there on purpose, but why? It's normal I am there, since I even got a room with him." "You can do whatever you want to do to me, just leave Stefan alone." "Yes, you promised me, and I believe you can keep your words." Brian frowned and finally spoke, but Winnie interrupted his words. Winnie wanted to silently listen to Brian's accusations, abuse or humiliation. But maybe because of the alcohol, she couldn't keep her mouth shut. Since so, she would rather drink and she would shut up when she was totally drunk, so she took another glass up. Hearing what Winnie said, Brian gave a black face. She was not with him at this moment, but she was concerned about Stefan. "Don't talk about him again. Or I will not keep my promise." "You can't keep your promise?... That's understandable, because you have never wanted to do anything for me." "Drink, keep drinking. It is up to you whether you can keep your promise or not, but I will protect innocent people with my life." Winnie loudly called the waiter. "Do you need anything, Miss?" The waiter said to Winnie. "Get me a bigger glass." The waiter hurried to get it. "With a bigger glass, I can drink faster. I have to go home and sleep early, because I need to work tomorrow." Winnie said to Brian, and then she remembered an ironic thing. "When I get drunk, you can take me to a hotel and see what I can do in a drunken stupor." After that Winnie gave her smile, but there were tears in her eyes. Fortunately, she could hold in back. The waiter gave her a bigger glass and she filled it herself. "Go ahead, what do you want to say?" Winnie drank up a big glass of wine after saying that. At this time, Brian had impulse to grab the glass, but he did not. Winnie asked him to continue, but he had no mood to explain. Winnie had never drunk so much wine, she was torturing herself. Why did she torture herself as she did something wrong? Why did she defend Stefan? She should be happy, but why she looked so sad? "Go ahead." Winnie urged him. "You can scold me in the hot pot restaurant, but Gloria can't. Even if she were your lawful wife, she has no right to scold me. I put up with it not because of her, I was afraid..." Winnie controlled herself with the last hint of reason. She was afraid that Brian would be embarrassed, but she could not say it out, or Brian would think she had motives. "Drink... Drinking is best." Winnie got really drunk and she felt she could not speak smoothly, but she would not stop until Brian felt it was enough. Winnie drank up again and then she remembered another thing. "Right, I sang for Stefan that day. I'll sing one for you. You don't seem to have heard me sing before. It's very good. Wait." Winnie got up, although her legs were weak, she could go to the stage to sing. Brian did not stop her and did not get up to help her. He was always wearing a black face and frowning. Winnie chose a song that suited her mood. It was the same stage, the same chair, the same microphone. Everything did not change, and even the mood was still low. As the music sounded, it followed by Winnie's sad voice. From the first sentence, Winnie fell into sadness and helplessness of the song. She was wrong, so was Brian, they should not meet and should not fell in love. She just couldn't understand why she had to make something so complicated when she knew it was wrong. Other people's relationship was simple and decisive. They could decide to love or part, but her love was so different. When they were together, they had considerations and worries, and when they broke up, they tortured each other. Brian was listening carefully to her song. This was the first time he heard Winnie singing and he admitted that she sang well as a singer. But Winnie's frown and sadness caught his attention. She was so wrapped up in the song, as if she was the character of the song. Winnie continued to sing, but she could not control her tears finally, and when she felt that, she turned around. She could shed tears, but Brian could not see it. She was sitting in a chair with his back to Brian and holding a microphone. This was the first time since she left Brian that she cried for breaking up. However, she would rather attribute her tears to alcohol than the sadness of leaving Brian. Toward the end of the song, Winnie wiped away tears with one hand. She believed that the light was so dim that Brian could not see any trace of her crying. At the end of the song, the whole bar gave a warm applause, but Brian clenched his fist. Through Winnie's song, Brian knew that Winnie was painful even if she loved him, but he didn't want to believe it. "Well, is it good?" Winnie said as she poured wine into a large glass. She would keep drinking if Brian did not stop her. Winnie raised a glass of wine and drank, as if she was extremely thirsty. "When are you going to marry Gloria?" Winnie put down her glass and then sat down, because she could no longer support her body. "You and I are strangers, and my business has nothing to do with you." Brian answered in a cold voice. "Yes, I agree with you. Actually, I asked you that because I was afraid you'd choose Wendy. Oh... Brian, under no circumstances can you marry Wendy. Even if... You and Wendy are the only two people left in the world. You can't..." "Understand? If you marry Wendy... I..... I wouldn't give you a good life even if I die." Winnie poured wine again and then found that five bottles of wine had been drank up. "Boss, bring me five more bottles of wine." Winnie shouted loudly, and then looked at Brian. "Instead of a glass, I'll drink straight from a bottle." "Stop it." Brian finally stopped her. Winnie could not drink too much and now she was not sober. She could not speak smoothly and even shook sitting there. "Stop it? Can you vent your anger if I stop? I tell... Brian, just this once... I'll give you, I'll give you a chance to take revenge. If you don't kill me this time, no matter how much you hate me, next time...I won't give you a chance." Winnie knew she was drunk and could not speak smoothly, but her brain was sober. "Brian, I am telling you...I..... I don't owe you anything from now on. I.. have nothing.. to do with you." "Stop it. I'll send you home." Brian ignored what Winnie said, got up and went to her. "I don't need you to send me home, you just say..." At this moment, the waiter had brought five bottles of wine over. "Open it. If I don't drink as much as I did the other day, this gentleman will cause me trouble again... " Winnie ordered the waiter, but she knew that the amount of drinking today had exceeded that day. "I'll send you home."

CHAPTER 612 THE TRUEST VOICE IN MY HEART

Brian did not let Winnie drink, but stretched out his hand to pull Winnie up. Winnie, however, refused. "I don't need you to send... No... You have to send me back. Stefan sent me back, so you should do the same." "You must see if we were followed on our way to the hotel deliberately or accidentally..." Winnie got up, but stood unsteadily. She almost fell but was caught in time by Brian. "Don't you touch me. I can walk myself. Everyone knows your relationship with Gloria... if I'm photographed... I'm going to be misunderstood again." Winnie was not afraid of misunderstanding actually, she was afraid that she would cause troubles to Brian. Now in the public eye, Brian and Gloria was an unmarried couple. If she was exposed, she would bring trouble to Brian. They had broken up and it was not good to cause him troubles. Winnie refused the help of Brian and tried her best to support herself. She found it difficult to walk steadily for the first time, but no matter how difficult it was, she insisted on paying the bill and stumbled out of the bar. She felt the breeze as soon as she stepped out of the bar. For people who were not good at drinking, it was fatal to breeze wind after drinking, so Winnie vomited. After vomiting, Winnie felt uncomfortable in stomach. She'd been drinking all night and had not had any food, so that was wine she vomited out. She felt so uncomfortable that she gasped for breath. Although uncomfortable, Winnie was aware of one thing. Brian used to pat her on the back and bring her water when she threw up. However, Brian just stood by and did nothing now. She felt her heart cold and sour. But rationally, he was right to do so, because they had broken up. "You go home first, I can go back myself." Winnie vomited again after saying that. She even got tears when she vomited. It felt worse than death. After this wave of vomiting, Winnie knew that vomiting had not end, but she could not squat anymore. She managed to get up and walked to the curb and sat down. No sooner had she sat down than she began to vomit again. Although uncomfortable, Winnie did not say a word. She placed her arms on her legs, and then she lied on her arms. Her mouth was full of the smell of vomit, which made her want to vomit even more. She knew she couldn't go home in such a state and wanted a bottle of water to wash her foul smell in mouth. Brian might have already left. Who could she turn to for help? Winnie did not know who to call at this time, but she needed help. Reluctantly she took out the phone from her bag and made a call. "Pick up the phone, or I'll die in the street." Winnie soliloquized and she did not know who she was calling to. No one answered the phone, Winnie spoke again. "Are you a friend or not? Can you come and pick me up? Did you not answer my phone on purpose?" Winnie felt abandoned by the whole world. She just lost Brian, why everyone ignored her? Winnie hung up the phone and was going to call another person, at this time Brian behind took her phone. "....." Winnie thought she met a bad man, as she was to cry out, she saw the mobile phone in the hands of Brian. "Why are you still here?" After that, she vomited again. After a burst of vomiting, Winnie was gasping for air and tearing. Brian handed her a bottle of water. "Rinse your mouth." The cold sound seemed to freeze the water, but Winnie was grateful, because this bottle of water was very important to her. "Thank you!" Winnie took the water and rinsed her mouth. When she felt better, Brian handed her the antialcoholic drug. "Drink this." "What? Drink more? Ok... I'll drink it if you ask me." Winnie didn't see what Brian gave her and thought that Brian let her drink, so angrily she drank it up. But it made her vomit worse. The antialcoholic drug was thrown up before it even reached her stomach. "I'm sorry, but I really can't drink anymore. I will drink after a while." Winnie said and rinsed her mouth, and then got up by the support of the tree. "Will you take me home? If no... call me a cab." Winnie felt unable to support herself, but she really did not want to expose her ugly side in front of Brian so that he laughed at her and felt disgusting about her. She had tried her best to control it. "Get in." Brian stretched out his hand to help Winnie. Winnie did not refuse because she had no strength. Winnie got in a car and vaguely saw Albert. She should greet him, but she did not. "Where should we go, Mr. Bennet?" Albert asked. He received a call and came immediately, only to see Winnie was so painful. "Go to her house." Brian sat sitting in the back. Winnie had fallen asleep on him. Fortunately, Winnie was asleep all the way and did not vomit again. Brian held Winnie upstairs. He did not know the password, but he did not want to wake up Winnie. Fortunately, this lock could read fingerprints. Brian used Winnie's fingerprints to open the door. He put Winnie on the bed, but Winnie suddenly got up, rushed to the toilet and vomited again. She vomited until her stomach was empty, but she still felt sick. Winnie was again held to bed by Brian, and at this hour, Winnie became sober. "Go back. Marry Gloria and live a good life." Winnie was still concerned about his marriage, but it angered Brian. "Do you want me to marry Gloria?" Brian asked angrily. "Yes, I want you to marry her, so that everything will be over." Winnie just wanted everything to be plain, and the only way was that Brian got married. "Good, since you are so eager, tomorrow I will tell Gloria about it. I'll marry her so you can settle down." Brian said angrily and then walked away. However, he stopped at the door, because he was worried that Winnie had no one to take care of her. He stood at the door of the room before he returned to the bedroom, only to find that Winnie had fallen asleep on the bed. Brian felt distressed that Winnie was tortured by alcohol. He dared not touch her, for fear that she woke up and continued to vomit. So he sat aside, silently looking at her. But Winnie couldn't help herself and ran to the bathroom again and again. She did not fall asleep until four o'clock in the morning. Brian left at six o'clock till Winnie did not wake up again. He went straight to his office and fell asleep in the break room. He did not wake up until Albert called him. When he woke up, he remembered that he had a meeting this morning, so he washed his face and changed her clothes. Then he went to the conference room. Unconsciously he looked at the position what Winnie used to sit, and found she was there. Brian was surprised, because she thought Winnie would not come today, at least not in the morning. She looked pale on face and her eyes were red and swollen. It could be told that she did not sleep well. From the beginning to the end of the meeting, Brian always looked at Winnie. While Winnie focused on work, even if she felt uncomfortable, she endured. And she only took a glance at his finger. Looking at his swollen and bruised fingers, she felt sorry. At the end of the meeting, Winnie went out and then came back with a bottle of medicine. "Alice, give this to Mr. Bennet. Don't tell him it is from me, just tell him you saw his hand was injured." Winnie said. She wanted Brian's hand got recovered to relive her guilty for him. "Why should I give him?" Alice asked, puzzled. "Don't ask why, do as I tell you." Winnie did not tell her the reason. "All right." Alice did not ask again, but took the medicine to Brian's office. When she came to his office, Gloria was there. Alice said hello and then passed the medicine to Brian. "Mr. Bennet, I saw your hand was injured during the meeting, so I went to the drugstore and bought some medicine you." Alice left after that. She did not know why Winnie did so, but she still did it as she said. "You are injured?" Gloria came to Brian's desk and asked with concern. Brian had been sitting at the desk, so Gloria did not see Brian's injured hand till Alice said that. "I am fine." Brian said indifferently and then took back his hand. He looked at the medicine on his desk and felt bitter. He knew it was bought by Winnie. "Are you sure?" Gloria still asked in a soft voice. "Yes." "I have something to tell you. Sit here and we'll talk." Brian put the medicine away and sat down on the sofa. "Ok." Gloria also sat down. "Grandpa wants me to get married." Brian said coldly, forcing Winnie out of his mind. "To get married? You and me?" Gloria asked in surprise. "Yes."

CHAPTER 613 GOT INFUSION

Brian said yes after a moment of hesitation, because he had promised Winnie that he would only marry her. And now, he wanted to marry another woman. "Do you mean we're going to fake it?" Gloria was surprised, though she had doubts. "No, it is real." Brian said in all seriousness that he had never mentioned marriage in such a formal way. Even Winnie..... Forget it, don't think Winnie, she was no longer in his scope of consideration. "A real marriage? Are you kidding?" Gloria said with a smile. Only she knew she was happy or not. "No kidding, Grandpa said we should get married." Brian said. Grandpa wanted him to marry Gloria, Winnie also wanted him to marry Gloria, so he would not reject it and he wanted them to be happy. "But the person you like is Winnie, and I have a boyfriend, how do we get married?" Gloria was still smiling, and she felt unreal. "I have taken care of my thing. If you are willing to, I'll give you time to think of it." Brian said simply. "I.. I can't give you an answer right now. I have to think about it." Gloria would show what her intention was if she gave an answer now. She had to use her boyfriend as an excuse to put it off. Alice went back to Winnie's office after she left Brian's office. "Winnie, I have completed the task you give me." "Thank you." Winnie took a sigh, because she felt better now. "Gloria is in Mr. Bennet's office, I do not know why she came." Alice could not help but say it. "Never mind. Help me get this document out. I have such a headache that I want to lie down." Winnie ignored Gloria, because it didn't matter to her. She felt so uncomfortable and her stomach was burning like fire. After Alice went out, Winnie lied on the sofa to have some rest. If it were not too much work, she might rest at home. In such a state, she could not go to shooting practice at noon, nor could she work. She could not go to practice shooting, Winnie felt it necessary to tell the coach. As she pulled out her phone to make a call, she felt sick and ran to the bathroom. And after some time, she came out from the bathroom. She looked worse and her stomach hurt. Winnie couldn't help it so she could only go to the hospital. Winnie came to the hospital where Penny stayed She went to see her doctor first, who advised her to get infusion to relieve her stomach pain and vomiting, so Winnie took the doctor's advice. As she was taking the infusion, she pushed the infusion stand to Penny's ward. Two prison police were on duty and they did not know Winnie and stopped Winnie from going inside, so Winnie could only show then her police certificate. "Why are you here... And you are sick. Should I be moved?" Penny was pleased to see Winnie got infusion and felt better. "I just wanted to see how you are doing." Winnie tone was not cold but calm. At this time she could not said sharply to Penny. She looked worse, but she did not know she got a cancer, Winnie felt pity for her. "I am good and much better than you. You get infusion, but I lied here comfortably." "But don't worry, every day I will sincerely pray that you die here." Penny gave a vicious curse, but Winnie felt she was sad, she did not know if Penny could walk out of here again. "If my death makes you happy, I wish your curse come true." Winnie was not angry but let Penny enjoy cursing her, so that Penny could be better when she died. "You are sick, this is a hospital, go and check if you got stimulated by something." Penny felt Winnie weird, like she was hiding something or she had a plan. She must be careful not to fall into the trap of Winnie. "I am sick. I am going to see a doctor. You have some rest, and if you need anything, contact me." Winnie looked at Penny thoughtfully and then pushed the infusion stand to leave. "What is her trick? Is she being nice or trying to use me? She must have her plan, she can't be benevolent." Penny said to herself. She believed that Winnie would be good in the past, but now they hated each other, how could she say such good words? She must be vigilant. After Gloria left, Brian finally decided to marry Gloria after thinking. Now they would get married, the kids should know about it, so he wanted to talk to Winnie. Brian asked his secretary to bring Winnie, but it came Alice. "Mr. Bennet, Winnie is in the hospital." "In the hospital?" Brian asked in surprise. "She had severe stomach pains and vomited repeatedly. So she went to the hospital. She just called saying she is having infusion and won't be back until this afternoon." Alice reported Winnie's whereabouts. "Which hospital?" Brian could not help worrying. "She didn't say that, so I don't know it." "Mr. Bennet, do you want me to call and ask her?" Alice asked Brian's opinion. "No. When she comes back this afternoon, tell her to come and see me." Brian did not continue to ask, because he would not go there After Alice left, he still felt worried, but he could endure it. He went to the French window and looked at the distance. He was so uncertain. Last night Winnie said a lot when she was drunk and she seemed expressing something in her song. She said: You watched the video of the bar, but you didn't watch... what was she talking about, was there something he missed in the video? "See if someone followed me deliberately or accidentally?" Did Wendy deliberately let him know that? She said, Take me home and see what I can do when I'm as drunk as a lord. Did they really do nothing in the room? Did he misjudge her? But why she wanted him to marry Gloria? The more he thought about it, the more he felt his decision to Gloria hasty. Finally he decided to continue his plan. In the hospital. After Winnie left, Oscar came to the hospital to see Penny. Penny was surprised to see him. "How did you know I am here? Winnie told you?" Seeing Oscar, Penny felt better. The only person she could talk to was Oscar. She had been out for a few days, but she dare not call Oscar, because she had her purpose to come out. "Yes, Winwin told me." "How are you? You looked good last time we met. How come you fell ill?" Oscar pretended to know nothing, but he could not pretend to smile. "My stomach has been bothering me and I have an occasional stomach ache. I think it is a minor illness, but it gets worse." "But it's no big deal. I'll be fine after treatment." Penny said, although feel cheating Oscar was evil, but her plan could not be ruined because of guilty. "You should get treatment early. How are you feeling now, better?" Oscar continued to ask, but felt upset. Penny was probably in the best shape now in the rest of her life. If she found out she had cancer, it would become worse. "Much better. The doctor has been giving me medicine these two days. My stomach doesn't hurt so much now." Penny said her true feelings. She looked relieved, but she was guilty as Oscar cared about her. She knew her condition well and she knew why she came out. Although there had been a problem in her stomach, it was a minor thing. But Oscar didn't think so. Oscar thought that she could not come out of the prison if she did not have serious illness, so he was worried. "Now that you feel better, listen to the doctor. Don't worry, you will be fine." Oscar did not know how to comfort Penny, so she could only comfort Penny in this way. "Don't worry, I will be ok, I listen to the doctor." "Oscar, sit down. I have something to ask you for favor." Penny could trust only Oscar, and only Oscar could help her. Oscar sat down on bedside. "Go ahead." "My half sisters and brothers don't want to come and see me. Can you persuade them to come? There has been misunderstanding between us for such a long time. After all my time in prison, I realized that, as families, we should better relieve the misunderstanding."

CHAPTER 614 WONDERFUL

Penny once again took advantage of Oscar's kindness. She knew it was wrong, but it was the only way to see her half sisters and brothers. "I'll help you with that. It is right that you think so, when all misunderstandings are removed, you can feel the warmth of family." Oscar was pleased about Penny's change. If she had better relationship with her family, her mood would be much better, and it would have a great help of her illness. "That's what I think. Oscar, thank you for helping me." Penny saw hope. She had been out of so many days, but she could do nothing, so she was restless. "You are welcome. Don't worry, I can persuade them to come." Oscar was determined to ask her brothers and sisters to come for the sake of Penny's illness, so that she would not have regret in the rest of her life. "Ok, I'll wait for your good news. By the way, how's Daenerys and others?" Penny changed the subject. "Good, Daenerys is the happiest of us all. Her husband is capable, and their parents and parents-in-law have good jobs, who do not weigh them down at all. They love each other, and her husband spoils her like a child. Do you think she's happy?" Speaking of Daenerys, Oscar felt gratified. Her life was perfect and she was happy. "Alas..... Now I most envy a plain and happy life. Oscar, I thought a lot in prison. If I had been satisfied with the status quo, if I had not been so ambitious, I could be as happy as Daenerys now." Penny did mean it. If time was back to the time when she just met Leo, she had no regrets. Leo was a good man and he spoiled her. But she lost him and came to this end. However, she never regretted it, because she meant to compete with Winnie and must defeat Winnie "You are right. No need envy others. Get married when you are out and you can have a happy and satisfactory life." Oscar was gratified that Penny thought so. "Yeah, I hope so." "How is Leo?" Penny continued. "Leo is good, his business develops rapidly, but he has setback in relationship. He quarreled with his girlfriend recently and has not got forgiveness yet, but I think they'll get back together." Oscar smiled as he spoke, and the topics lifted his mood. "Good. I feel indebted to Leo. I am glad that he is good." "How is Winnie? Is she good?" Finally she spoke of Winnie. The other two were foreshadowing, and she just wanted to know how Winnie was going. Since Wendy stopped contacting her, she knew nothing about Winnie, but she prayed that Winnie had a suffering life. "Well... she is good in career. She has been working hard and had brought herself and the company much profit. Her company has cooperation with the Bennet Group and she was sent to work in the Bennet Group. She works in the same office that she used to work in. She has good performance at work, but..." "But what?" Penny asked nervously. "She broke up with Brian, but I don't know why, I think Gloria is the reason." Oscar did not say in details, but Penny was pleased to hear that. She believed that it was true and that Brian and Winnie had broken up because of Gloria. But she could not show that she was pleased, or the conversation would come to an end. "Gloria, that model?" "Yes, it is said that she has a powerful background." Oscar did not know Gloria and he heard it from Emily. "I know her. She tried to break me up with Brian. She is a simpler person and she has not given up on Brian." Penny said, pretending that she hated Gloria. "You know her?" Oscar did not know much about Gloria and he believed that Emily and Daenerys did not know about what Penny said. "Yes, she messed around with Brian. She was sinister. I don't know if you have seen her. She spoke in a charming voice and she is good at flirting with men. No one could refused to her charm, including Brian." "Winnie will fail this time, she is not a match to Gloria." Penny was happy secretly, but she said that in a serious tone. "Winwin doesn't want to fight with her, so she broke up with Brian. It has been two months, and Winwin is good." "She knew that she could not be with Brian. If not for the two kids, she would have left. Besides, Felix doesn't accept her." "Winwin has not let the breakup affect her life." Oscar told her about Winnie's situation. She knew Penny hated Winnie, so it did not matter he said these. Actually he knew that Winnie was not as good as she acted on surface, she just endured the pain. "Good, I knew it would happen. The Bennet family will not accept Winnie, because she has not status and power. It is good that she have broken up, or she will get hurt." Penny said kindly, but she was happy that Winnie and Brian had broken up. It was so wonderful. "Right, since she has broken up with Brian, did Brian give her anything?" Penny wanted to know if Winnie got more money than her. "She did not want a cent but the custody of the two kids." Oscar sensed that Penny's attitude had changed, but he had to say this. Winnie was that kind person who only worship money. Even though she had no money, she would not want his money. She was with Brian for the sake of kids and love. It was pure. "She did not? What is wrong with her? She needs money." Penny did not believe that. Everyone loved money, what was more, Winnie suffered for many years for money. "Penny, money is not omnipotent. Even if she needs money, she will not accept Brian's money." Oscar explained for Winnie. But Penny "You are kidding. She surrogated for money, why should she refuse money? Oscar, you think Winnie is simple. If she has the custody of the kids, she will have everything, because they are kids of the Bennet family. They will bright her anything." Penny said angrily. She did not believe that Winnie would not want a cent. Winnie must have her motives. With the kids in hands, Winnie would get more. "Felix agreed the kids to be with Winwin, for fear that Winnie would leave the Bennet Group because they broke up. Winwin makes huge money for the company, so Felix wants to use the kids to make Winwin stay. "I don't know what the kids can bring Winwin, but I know Winwin did not accept the money to raise the kids. She said she is their mother and she has the responsibility to raise the kids." Oscar refuted Penny. "And, you should know why Winwin surrogated. If not Leo broke up with her, she could settle the problem with the support of Leo." "She had many ups and downs." Oscar said in a serious tone, it was the first time he spoke for Winnie in front of Penny. Because Penny was wrong to despise Winnie. He did not like that. Penny was speechless, because she knew why Leo refused to help Winnie and she had been making troubles to Winnie. But she did not feel wrong, she just was fighting for her life. If Felix really agreed the kids to be with Winnie, Winnie meant something to him, regardless of work ability or kids. "Everyone has ups and downs, but it will be helpful for her life." "Never mind, how about you? How are you going?" Penny asked, but she would not admit that it was her fault. "I worked hard and sometimes gathered with friends." Oscar felt he could not be entangled with Penny because she got a cancer, though he did not like her attitude. "Don't you have a lover yet?"

CHAPTER 615 BEYOND DISPUTE

Penny again spoke of Oscar's relationship, she knew Oscar did not want to mention it, but she was concerned about it. Hearing that, Oscar was said, he dare not face it, but it could not be changed. He dare not tell anything and his parents, so he could only face it alone. "No, it is hard." "You can't be single all your life. Think a way or see a psychological doctor. I hope that you can have a happy family." In face of Oscar's problem, Penny was nice. "It is not useful. Never mind, I can be single all my life, I have no regrets except that I am sorry for my parents." Oscar refused her proposal. He never visited a doctor for his condition and he dare not to do so. He looked forward to a beautiful life, but if the doctor gave his diagnosis, he might lose his love to life. "Well, what should I say, you dare not face it. But I think you should fight for it." "Thank about it, if you dare not face it alone, you have Winnie and Daenerys. Take your guilty to parents as courage." Penny knew Oscar dare not fact it, so she encouraged him, but she dare not give him too much pressure seeing that he was gloomy. "Forget it, talk about Winnie." "She left soon after you came and she came to me with infusion stand." Penny said, but she had a good attitude now. "Why she got infusion?" Oscar was surprised to hear that. "I don't know. Go and see her, I think she is still here." She asked Oscar to leave, so that he could stop being upset. Penny believed that Oscar would think about her words when he was alone. "Ok, I go and see her. You have some rest. I will come to you again when I have time." Then he left and made a call to Winnie. Knowing that she was in the infusion room, he went downstairs. When he arrived, Winnie almost finished the infusion. "What is wrong with you? You don't look well." Oscar was worried about her and confused that Winnie did not go to Kevin's hospital. "I drank too much last night and I felt sick when I got up and I vomited, so I came to see a doctor. The doctor said infusion could make be feel better soon, and I have works to do in the afternoon, so I got the infusion." Winnie explained, she did not want to worry Oscar. "Why do you come to this hospital?" Oscar asked. "I want to see Penny." It was true, because she was worried about Penny. "Penny did harm to you, but you still care about her." Oscar felt that Winnie was kind, if Penny was as kind as Winnie, she would not come to this end. "It is the past, and she was sick, how can I mind it?" Winnie did not think she was kind, but she could not be cruel to Penny since she was close to death.

“Did she say anything bad to you?” Oscar understood Winnie’s mood, not matter how much resentment Penny had, she did not have much time. “Do you think she would not say harsh words? But I did not mind it, because she has cancer now.” Winnie could forgive Penny’s harsh words, but she could not say those words, it meant that her life had ended. “I went to see her and she did say something bad. I don’t why she became lie this. If she were not sick, I would have scolded her.” Oscar said angrily, making sure that Winnie would mind it. He thought that Penny should think Winnie, if it were other women, she would have died. “It is expected, when you called me, I knew she must have scolded me. It doesn’t matter and you don’t need to be angry. We don’t have ability to change her. And she is close to death, she can do anything bad.” Winnie preferred that Penny could live a few days longer if she was scolded. What could Oscar say? Since Winnie did not care about it, he could no longer be angry. He felt into silence and then a question occurred to his mind. “You did not drink much last night, why did you need infusion?” If he remembered right, she was sober when he sent her home and she did not drink too much. Winnie was silent. Looking at him, she did not know if she should tell him the truth, for fear that he would be worried. “I went to drink more after you left last night, so I got like this.” Winnie pretended to be carefree, so that Oscar would not be so worried. “With who?” Oscar was confused. “Brian.” Winnie did not want to say that, because she remembered everything last night. She drank a lot, but she did remember what happened last night. She thought she would forget it, but she did not. “Why did he come to you? Did he make it hard for you?” “No, but we have something to talk about, and I could not help but drink.” “I will not drink too much again. It is too painful, after a night, my stomach still hurts.” Winnie said in an easy tone, but she was bitter in heart. “Did you make it clear?” Oscar could understand that she needed to release when she was sad, but she chose alcohol. “Yes, we will not have anything to do with each other except for the kids.” Winnie had a clear attitude. “Good, I will support you. Without Brian, you can still have a good life. It may be good that you have broken up with him. you must keep distance with him in the future, and don’t sway again.” Oscar comforted her and reminded her. He agreed that Winnie broke up with Brian, but he was afraid that Winnie would be sad, but she had to get it over and start a new life. “I know, don’t worry. When Brian marries Gloria, I think Gloria will drive me out of the Bennet Group, when the time comes, I will have nothing to do with Brian except for the kids.” Winnie knew she could do that and she would have a wonderful life. After the infusion, she had lunch with Oscar. She had no appetite, so she went back to company after having some congee. It was not time to work yet, so she lied in the break room because she did not feel well. She vomited all night last night, so she was sleepy now and she soon felt asleep. Brian saw her back and went to her office after a moment of hesitation. He wanted to talk with her about the kids, only to find that she had fallen asleep in the break room. He sat silently next to her, looking at her, who was frowning and covering her stomach. She did not look well and did not have a sound sleep. Brian wanted to hold her in arms so that she could sleep well, but he could not do that, because he decided to marry Gloria. He loved deeply this woman and had been fighting for her, but he was so disappointed at her. Stefan had been worrying about Winnie, so he came to Caro at noon. “When did you come back?” Caro was surprised to see Stefan in her office when she was back from lunch. “It’s been days. It is not the first time I came, why so surprised?” Stefan said and did not think much about Caro’s reaction. “I had something to tell you, but you are not around. And you had not contacted me, you did not know what happened.” Caro said as she sat on her chair and then she took out a paper bag with money in it. She threw it on the desk, which caused Stefan. “What is this? What do you want to say?”

CHAPTER 616 STEFAN WAS GUILTY

Stefan opened the paper bag. "Your money?" Stefan did not know where the money came from. He took a look at it. "Someone gave it to me, to be exact." Caro was not nervous when she said that, which made Stefan ease down. "Someone gave you dowry?" Stefan could only guess this possibility, although it was a joke, but he felt it was the most likely. "I wish so, but it was a woman who gave me the money to keep my mouth shut." Hearing that, Stefan felt wrong about the money. "What's the matter? Who gave you the money?" "I have never met the person before and didn't know her name. I asked her but she didn't tell me, but it is related to you." Caro successfully made Stefan nervous. "What? Tell me what happened." Stefan asked anxiously. "Remember the day you took Winnie to get the room? that day..." Caro finally told him the whole story. "A man named Albert also came here twice. It was not me received him the first time, and in the second time my colleague was absent, so I helped him copy the video." Stefan was surprised to hear that and finally knew what was wrong between Winnie and Brian. "So I'm not helping Winnie but hurting her." "What do you mean? What happened to Winnie?" It was Caro who was nervous this time. "I said you should have contacted me earlier. You didn't call me after coming back for several days. If you had known earlier, you could have redeemed yourself. I've been restless these days, and I'm afraid it might affect your work. Alas..... It's my fault. If I had called you earlier, nothing would have happened." Caro was in remorse. Stefan was silent and she thought Winnie had something wrong. "I don't know what happened, but Winnie must have been going through something during recently." Stefan explained. "Albert is an assistant of Brian Bennet, president of the Bennet Group, and one of his most trusted right-hand men. What he did was told by Brian himself." "Brian and Winnie are boyfriend and girlfriend, and they have two six-year-old children. That is to say, that Albert came out to find the video was commanded by Brian. Brian suspected the relationship between Winnie and me so he sent people to check about it." Stefan explained clearly, but it shocked Caro. "Winnie is Brian's woman and has two six-year-old children. My god, the woman who gave me money is Winnie's rival in love." It was not difficult to infer. There was no way she was paid a hundred thousand to shut her mouth. "Yes, you are right. But do you remember what the woman looked like?" Now Stefan was eager to find out who the woman was. "I have a monitor in my office. I keep everything from that day." Caro said and took out her mobile phone and showed the video Stefan. "Wendy." Stefan saw at a glance and knew it was Wendy. "Right, right, she is Winnie's rival in love, but I didn't expect she could do something so dirty." Stefan did not know what words to describe Wendy's behavior. She was so stupid and how did she live? If she paid to delete the video, he wouldn't think she was stupid. "She is indeed stupid. She left the money here and I don't know how to give it back to her. She did not know the relationship between us and threw the money here confidently. Maybe I don't understand the capriciousness of the rich." Caro ridiculed, she had no money, but she would not be so stupid. The video was taken away, how could she keep her mouth shut? "It is my fault, it might not have been so much trouble if I came back earlier." Stefan sighed, now he was concerned about Winnie. "What happened to Winnie? Should we help explain it?" Caro was worried and felt unease with one hundred thousand in her hand. "We must explain, but I want to find out what happened." Stefan got up. He must understand what happened to Winnie and Brian before he explained. "Where are you going? What about the money?" Caro asked Stefan. "Keep it, and save the video of the woman coming to you, for us to explain." Stefan said and hurried away. Now he was guilty. He offer her help but it was a blow to Winnie. Although he liked Winnie, although he hoped Winnie and Brian broke up, he could not see Winnie be wronged, and could see Winnie separated with Brian in this way. Stefan called Winnie as he walked out of XX hotel, but Winnie did not answer it. He wanted to go to the company to find Winnie, but was afraid of bringing unnecessary trouble to her. Stefan sat in the car and thought for a while and then he thought of Vanessa. He felt that Vanessa should know about her sister, so he drove to Vanessa's school. In the student dining hall of B University, the students for dinner had already almost gone. And Vanessa was still eating, because she came late. "Vanessa." Vanessa looked up to the source of the sound. "Stefan, why are you here?" Vanessa asked in surprise. She never thought it was Stefan who called her. "Come to meet a friend, so I come to see you." Stefan did not rush to ask about Winnie. He was afraid that Vanessa did not know it and she might be worried. "How did you find me?" Vanessa asked with a smile. "You are an excellent student. Anyone in the school knows you, so I asked them." Stefan jokingly said, but he did use this way to find her. "Stefan, you are a joker." Vanessa smiled, her popularity seemed not so high and Stefan exaggerated. "You haven't been to my restaurant for a long time, so I stopped by to see you. How are you and your study?" Stefan said and sat on the opposite Vanessa, and let Vanessa continue to eat. "I'm busy studying these days, and my sister is busy, too, so we have time to get to your restaurant. I am tired of studying, but I have gained a lot." Vanessa was not afraid of being tired. Now she wished that she could find a good job after finishing school and buy back the houses. "That's good, as long as you can learn something, it doesn't matter to be tired. And how's your sister these days?" He spoke of Winnie at this hour. "Oh, I see. You came to see me because you want to know how my sister is." Vanessa said with a smile. Seeing that Stefan was concerned about her sister, she knew that Stefan liked her sister. "Do you like my sister? Now's your chance. My sister is single now." Vanessa said mysteriously, but Stefan got the answer he wanted. "Single? What do you mean?" Stefan had just thought it might be the reason, but he could not come conclusion before he figured it out what happened. "My sister broke up with Brian more than two months ago. Now my sister has nothing but two kids. So I say you have a chance." Vanessa was gratified, but she was sad for her sister. She knew that they would break up, but her sister was so in love with Brian that she didn't know if her sister could get over. "Why did they break up?" Stefan was not happy but guilty. Because of his negligence, Winnie broke up, how could he go for his own opportunity in this situation? "I don't know the exact reason. My sister did not tell me. She said I'd find out one day. Stefan, don't care why they broke up, if you don't mind my sister has two children, go after her. You can trust I will take care of my aunt, we won't be burden to my sister." Vanessa felt the reason to break up was not important. Her sister would be happy after she got it over. "You're talking too far. I'm not good enough for your sister. She has two kids, but that doesn't hide her brilliance." "Eat well, study well, and take good care of your sister. I gotta go. Let me know if you go to my restaurant." Stefan disguised to be relaxed. Since Vanessa didn't know the reason, he would not tell her. After saying goodbye to Vanessa, Stefan walked out of B university. When he got to the car, he called Winnie again, but there was still no answer. He could only go back to his restaurant. Winnie woke up when it was three o'clock in the afternoon, only to find that her phone was muted and Stefan gave her several calls. But because sleeping too long affected the work, Winnie did not call back to Stefan immediately. She asked Alice to come. "Why didn't you wake me up? I have so much work to do." "I didn't know you were in the break room. I thought you were at the hospital." Alice answered, but she did not seem to care. It was Brian told her to say so. Brian did not let her wake up Winnie. Alice knew that they might have had quarrel, but she did not expect that she had to convey his words to Winnie.

CHAPTER 617 SOLEMN WARRANTY

Hearing Alice's answer, Winnie took a sign and then braced up. "I will be back by noon. Help me, or I will stay up late again today." Now that time was limited, Winnie did not want to waste time anymore, so she threw herself into the work. But just as she was about to work, a sick feeling came over her. Luckily, she didn't throw up. "Winnie, Mr. Bennet wants to see you." "Did he say what it is about?" Winnie had concerns, because she did not want to see Brian in such a state. "No, but he said you have to see him." "Ok then, you help me with the paperwork, I'll be right back." Winnie went to Brian's office after saying that. When she came to the office, Albert was reporting his work. Winnie asked when he had done. "What do you want to see me about?" Brian looked up at Winnie coldly and felt distressed when he saw that she did not look well. But only after a moment, he said sharply. "I have decided to marry Gloria and have discussed it with her..." "Mr. Bennet..." Albert interrupted Brian. He couldn't believe what he was hearing. He couldn't believe that Brian decided his marriage in such a hasty way and that he was not going to marry Winnie. "Get out." Brian commanded in an angry voice, not wanting Albert to destroy his psychological preparation. "Mr. Bennet..." "Get out." That Albert did not give up angered Brian. Albert had no put down the documents and walked out of the president's office. After Albert went out, Winnie finally opened her mouth. "That's good, congratulations." "What can I do for you?" Winnie knew that Brian was not only taking about his marriage, there must be something else to warn her. Winnie's indifferent attitude angered Brian, and it intensified his determination to marry Gloria. "The kids, now that I am going to be married, we must take care of the kids." "Go ahead, I'll cooperate with you." Winnie was still indifferent, but she felt extremely uncomfortable in heart. And her stomach hurt again. Maybe because of mental tension, her stomach felt painful and she had a feeling of vomiting. However, she endured it and tried to settle everything with Brian. After that, everything would be over and they would begin their new life. "The custody is yours. After Gloria and I get married, we will live in the old house. If you have no time to take care of the kids, you can send them to the suburbs. I don't want them to have too much contact with Gloria." Brian spoke in detail. "When I want to see them, you send them to the suburbs, and when they are in trouble, you contact my sister. Don't disturb my life..." Before he could finish, Winnie suddenly covered her mouth and rushed to Brian's break room. Then she threw up in the bathroom. She had tried to endure it and thought she could wait until Brian finished speaking. However, she overestimated herself and she had to use Brian's bathroom. Brian hurriedly followed behind. Seeing that Winnie vomited, he regretted saying those words. He didn't know what he could do, so he brought a bottle of water. "Didn't you get infusion in hospital? Why you still vomit?" Brian asked Winnie while Winnie gasped for breath. "It's not a panacea, how can it be..." Before she could finish, she vomited again. The porridge she had for lunch seemed to have been thrown up. Winnie got tears in eyes and felt better when her stomach was empty. She took the water Brian handed over and began to rinse her mouth. "You get out first. I've got this place dirty. We'll continue to talk about the kids after I clean it up." Winnie threw the empty water bottle in the trash and began to clean the toilet. After that, Winnie felt better and when she walked out of the bathroom, she found Brian still standing in the break room. "Let's talk outside." It was no longer her place. She had no right to stay. She wouldn't have rushed in if she could help it. Winnie stepped out, but when she reached the door, she came back. She went to the closet and opened it, found a paper bag and put her clothes in it. "It will make Gloria misunderstand, so I take it away." Then Winnie left the break room. She even did not take a second look at Brian. Brian's attitude was clear. He had chosen Gloria and he would be faithful to Gloria, and Winnie would have nothing to do with him and even could not talk with him about the kids. Well, being cruel was good for everyone. Winnie came to the office, standing in front of the desk, like reporting work. "I agreed to all the conditions you have just proposed, and I solemnly promise you that I will not use the kids as an excuse to disturb your life." "I will discuss with Stella and Rufus about the kids, and I will get your opinion from them." "Mr. Bennet, there's one thing I want you to think about. You and I were together and Gloria must mind it, so you'd better let me go back to my company. I..... I can do the job well in my own company." Winnie raised her opinion. She believed Gloria certainly did not want to see her, and she did not want to see Brian, so she wanted to go back to her company. "You don't have to worry about that. Whether you go or stay depends entirely on Gloria. If she minds it, I will transfer you to go back to your company." "We'll talk to the kids some time." Brian returned to his cold face and his usual cold tone. This was his real side. "I can spare the time, you arrange it." "Mr. Bennet, I'll be waiting for your call." Winnie took a last look at Brian and then walked away with her own things. The last glance contained too much emotion. It represented the end, represented a new beginning, represented that they would live their separate lives and represented that he must be happier than her. After Albert was kicked out of the president's office, he went to see Calvin. Calvin was working in his office. Albert suddenly broke in, which surprised him. "What's the matter? Why are you in such a hurry?" Calvin asked Albert. "Mr. Bennet decided to marry Gloria." Albert was in a hurry, as if Gloria and Brian would have kids if he was late. "What? How can Mr. Bennet marry Gloria? What is in his mind?" Hearing such news, Calvin was nervous. "I don't know. If we don't find out the truth, Winnie and Mr. Bennet will be over." "Haven't you finished your video yet?" Albert took the video back and handed it over to Calvin, but several days passed and there was no news from him. "Not yet. The workload is so heavy these days that I have to work overtime during my rest time. I only watched part of the video, and I didn't fast-forward it at all so I won't miss something important. I watched it second by second." Calvin took out his laptop. Work was not important, they needed to finish watching the video and find out important information. They both started checking the video together. "You fast forward and we'll watch it together." Albert reminded, staring at the screen. After ten minutes, they noticed something unusual. "Hold on, who is this? Why is she in the room?" Albert felt suspicious and asked. "Zoom in and let me see." Then Calvin zoomed in the video. "Caro." Albert recognized her. "Who's Caro? You know her?" Calvin asked, puzzled. "It's the hotel manager who helped me copy these videos." Albert explained, but he did not know why Caro entered the room. Did she frame Winnie? The video continued to play, and it fast-forward ten minutes, Stefan and Winnie were in the room, but Caro had not come out. "Caro knows Stefan? Did Stefan and Caro do it together?" Albert raised a question. "If it really was Stefan, we did the right thing by not asking him, otherwise we would have alerted him." Calvin and Albert had always believed that Winnie would not cheat on Brian, so they had suspected that someone was behind scene. At first, they wanted to call Stefan to find out the cause directly, but they didn't call because anyone could be suspected. "We're not sure yet. We'll see." The two continued and found that until the next morning Caro did not come out, even after Winnie and Stefan left. "What's the matter? Did Caro never leave, or didn't we saw it when she left?" The video continues to play, and Albert was more and more confused. "Keep watching. If we can't see she leave until the next customer comes in, we'll start over." Calvin put forward his suggestion, and then the two began to watch it in silence. Finally, when the video showed it was at noon, they saw Caro. "She is out, she out." Albert was in inexplicable excitement. "Caro went in the night and came out at noon the next day, and she never left the room." Calvin was also excited.

CHAPTER 618 EMILY'S FAMILY

Calvin realized something, and before he said anything, Albert thought of the key to the problem. "So, there were three people in the room, not two, as Mr. Bennet thinks." "Yes, Mr. Bennet misunderstood Winnie. Let's go and tell him now." Calvin was excited, hoping Brian give up marrying Gloria. "Wait, that's not going to convince Mr. Bennet. He felt it complex and always thought a lot about Winnie's things. I'd better find out what's going on first." Albert had to be cautious and tried to find out the truth through Cora in order to make Brian realize that he misunderstood Winnie. "How can you check? We don't have time." Calvin was worried. Although they might fail to convince Brian, but they had to try. "I will ask Caro what happened. I'll go and see her now and the result will come out soon." Albert thought Brian and Gloria would not hold the wedding immediately, and he, if there was no accident, would know the real situation this night. "Hurry up then and I'll take care of your work." Calvin said and he must support Albert. There would be a meeting, if Albert was absent, Brian would be furious. But there was no choice. Even if Brian blamed, he had to take it. As his voice fell, Albert had run out. They must find out the truth, at least to prove that Winnie was innocent, though Brian was suspicious. When Albert came to the hotel, Caro had come home from work and she had no answered his call. He found her home with the help of Caro's colleague, but she was not at home. In this case, Albert could only go back to the company for a meeting. After work, Carp's phone died, so she charged it in the car and then went to Stefan's restaurant. So, Albert could not find her. Winnie slept at noon, so she had to work overtime. She did not finish till seven o'clock at night. As she closed the door of the office, she found Klara was waiting for the elevator. "You are still here, Director Chambers." It was the 30th floor and it was close to the president's office. Brian was still at work, so Klara must be polite to Winnie. "I've just finished my work." Winnie gave an indifferent answer. She did not ask Klara why she was there so late, but Klara told her. "We just had an important meeting, and Mr. Bennet invites us to dinner after it. I'll go back to the office and get my bag, and then we'll have dinner." Winnie didn't say anything but gave a faint smile. She knew that Klara said it deliberately. Speaking of food, she seemed to have eaten nothing but porridge since morning, but had vomited it. Two people entered the elevator together. As the elevator door closed, Klara's face changed. "Director Chambers, I heard that you broke up with Mr. Bennet. You are so scheming, why didn't you ask him to stay?" Klara said sarcastically, even her eyes were sinister. Winnie took a look at her. "Klara, you are so hypocritical. I think you just pretended to be polite because Brian was there. "Hum... You changed your face as soon as you stepped into the elevator. "You must hear from Wendy that I broke up with him. No. you two made us part." Winnie had given up any hope for Klara. Since Klara caused endless trouble to her, she would not endure it. But now she could not expose the fact, she would deal with Klara after Brian and Gloria married. "Director Chambers, that is not true. You can't keep Mr. Bennet yourself, how can you blame me?" Klara calmly answered Winnie, it could be seen that she was ready. "Klara, you need not pretend innocent in front of me. Wendy does not understand my professional, but you do. I know a lot more than you think. There are monitors all over, I can get to know the secrets of your cell phone. Do you think there's anything I don't know?" "Again, it is not easy for you to get this job, and you should work hard. Don't provoke me. My patience is limited." Winnie warned her. She gave Klara chance again and again, if she did not stop that after Gloria and Brian married, Winnie would be cruel to her. "Winnie, you are against the law. If I find someone more skillful to find out what you have done, you will be in prison." Klara said angrily, but she knew that it was difficult to find people more skillful than Winnie. "Let's see if you can protect yourself until you find someone more skillful than me." As Winnie's voice fell, the elevator stopped. "You should go out now." Winnie said confidently. She was not afraid of someone more skillful, because she did not break the law. Klara glared at Winnie and got off the elevator. Winnie's car parked in the underground parking lot, when she came to the parking lot, Brian stepped out of his exclusive elevator. Winnie did not like to see him like this. She nodded to Brian as greeting. Without saying a word, she walked toward her car. And then she heard the voice of Calvin from behind. "Mr. Bennet, isn't that Director Chambers? She just got off work, too. Would you like to have dinner with her?" Calvin wanted them to have dinner together, so they could have a talk. "No." Brian said coldly. Winnie did not stop walking because of it. She pretended she heard nothing, and walked straight to her car. Now her heart ached, but she thought of nothing. When Brian called her, they would tell the kids what happened. Leo went directly to Emily's house after work, regardless of that Emily wanted to see him or not. Since he learned that Penny suffered from cancer, he truly realized the impermanence of life. He did not want to continue to waste time, did not want to take it slow, he just wanted to leave the time to Emily and enjoy happiness together. "Leo, you are here, with presents!" Seeing that Leo walked into the house, Emily's mother Christine smiled from ear to ear. And she was gratified to see Leo's presents in his hands. Christine said while walking up to greet Leo. "Christine, it's heavy, let me take it." How could Leo ask Christine for help? Leo walked to the kitchen, while talking to Christine. "Here are the ingredients for tonight, I've got them ready. Today I am free and I will cook for you." Leo was not eager to know if Emily was at home, because he did not plan to go tonight. Even if Emily was not at home, he could wait until she came back. "Really, that's great. I'll call Charles and make sure he comes back for dinner." Christine said and ran to call her husband. And then she ran to the kitchen. "I help you, it is hard for you." "No need, Christine, you go and rest, I can do it alone." Leo took out the ingredients from the bag one by one. "Look at me. I'm all thumbs. I'll call Emily down to help you." Christine said that, and quickly went to Emily. Hearing that Emily was at home, Leo smiled happily. Emily came downstairs and saw Leo. "Why are you here?" Emily asked with displeasure. "I am free today, so I come and cook some dishes to see if your parents like me." Leo joked. He wanted to change Emily's attitude, to comfort her injured heart with his real heart. "Ok, then, do it yourself and don't ask me for help." Emily turned around, but was stopped by Christine. "You are rude, Leo is not your boyfriend, you can't do that." Christine did not like her daughter's attitude towards Leo. And she supported Leo. "He's not my friend, I don't have to..." "He's my friend, you can't have that attitude. Leo doesn't know where the oil, salt, sauce, vinegar and sugar are. If you don't help him, should I help him? I have trachea inflammation and I cannot smell the smell of lampblack, don't you know that..." "All right, all right, don't nag, I will help. You can threaten me for the rest of my life with your trachea inflammation." Emily had heard it for many days. If she didn't give in now, she'd get blow in the ear. "I would not have nagged if you said yes earlier. Give this to Leo, otherwise it will get clothes dirty." Christine gave a pink apron with cartoon patterns to Emily. Emily glared at the apron. "It's a woman's apron. How can a man use it?" "As long as the clothes will not get dirty. If Leo's clothes get dirty, you wash it, so it doesn't matter." Christine's provocative method was effective. As her words just fell, Emily grabbed the apron. Then she went to Leo. He gave the apron to Leo and let him put it on, but Leo would not miss such an opportunity. "Help me put it on. My hands are dirty." Leo was cutting vegetables, so both hands were dirty. Emily could only help him. "Bow your head." Emily ordered, because Leo was higher than her, only Leo bowed his head could she put it on.

CHAPTER 619 LEO FALLS ILL

Leo was obedient, not only lower his head but also bend down the whole upper body. So his nose touched Emily's face. "You..." Emily blushed instantly and retreated a small step. "Sorry, I didn't mean to." Leo apologized, but not sincerely, and he showed a bad smile on his face. "Chicanery." Emily ignored Leo's apology, but help him put on the apron. Leo continued to cut vegetables. Standing aside, Emily could not help laughing. A handsome and indomitable man wore a woman's apron. Funny, but cute. "What you laughing at what? It looks good on me." Leo smiled, because Emily smiled. He did not see Emily smile for a long time, regardless of her smile was mockery or joy, Leo felt wearing this apron was worth it. "Nothing, go and cook." Emily immediately stopped her smile, she did not want to have too much communication with Leo. "All right, I will cook. Do you like these? If not, I can go out and buy something you like." Leo stopped smiling too and did not want to destroy the rare opportunity. Emily looked at these ingredients, which she liked, and knew Leo bought them for her. Emily was touched, but she could not express it. She finally spoke. "Let me help you." So two people worked together in the kitchen. Charles received a phone call from Christine and hurried back. When he was home, the food had not been ready, so he had tea sitting in the living room while watching the two cook in the kitchen. "It is good." Charles couldn't help but praise what he saw. "Yes, Leo is good, but your daughter is capricious. If she had forgiven Leo early, we would have a grandson now." Christine unconsciously nagged. She liked Leo and she could forgive what he had done before. "What do you mean? You educated her since she was a kid, even if she is capricious, you made it." Charles said, unconvinced. Looking at such a warm scene, he felt Emily was too pretentious. Or he'd have a son-in-law. "Well, it is my fault then. Now it's up to you to deal with the problem. I will see if you can do it." Christine did not argue, but threw the problem to Charles. "What problem?" Charles looked stunned. "Ask your daughter to forgive Leo and let them be together as soon as possible. If this opportunity is missed again, Leo will be others' son-in-law." Christine let Charles deal with the problem. She had been worried for Emily. If Leo met another girl who liked him, Emily would lose him. "What can I do? Why can't you think of a way?" Charles could manage a big company, but he could not convince his daughter. "I have helped. If I didn't pretend to be sick, Emily would have gone abroad. I made a sacrifice for her, and you can't just sit idle." Christine had done all she could except send her daughter to Leo's house. "What do you want me to do? I can't pretend to be sick and force my daughter to get married, or let her get pregnant. That's not what I should do as a father." "You deal with it, if Leo becomes others' son-in-law, I... I will not want this daughter." "Neither will I." Christine and Charles quarreled like kids. Now they valued son-in-law more than their daughter. After a moment of silence, dinner was ready. The family sat down at the table and began to eat. "Emily, bring me some wine. Good dishes can't go without wine." Charles commanded, it seemed he had to have wine. Emily did not object but went to get wine. Emily poured two glasses of wine, and then put them down, but Leo poured two glasses too, so everyone got one glass. Leo raised his glass. "Christine, Charles, Emily, cheers, and then you can give me suggestions on this meal." "Ok, cheers." Charles said deliberately and he thought he was helping. Emily glanced at her father, but did not object. She exchanged wine for water and drank with everyone. The reason why she didn't drink wine was because she was afraid she could control myself speaking of her relationship with Leo. Christine picked up chopsticks and took a bite, and then she praised. "MMM, good, very good. Leo, I've never cooked as good a meal as you. If you marry Emily, I can have delicious food every day." Christine mentioned Leo and Emily's relationship, which made Emily grew black on her face. "Emily, we don't have sons, finding a good son-in-law is the best." "Come on, Leo, have another drink." Charles found that Emily's mood changed, afraid she walked away, so he had to remind Emily. Emily was speechless to her parents who spoke for Leo. Today they were happy, Leo's food was good, so she endure it even if she was the topic of them. After drinking wine, Leo was dizzy and said. "I'm off my game today. I can't drink anymore." Leo stopped not because of he drank too much, but continuing to drink would have a negative impact on the next thing. He stopped drinking so that he could stay awake and do what he planned to. However, he did feel uncomfortable today. "Do you get tired from cooking? Then don't drink and have some rest upstairs." Christine was worried and wanted to ask Leo to stay. "I am fine, Christine, how can I get tired from cooking? I just. I just have a headache today." Leo was guilty in the face of Christine's concern, but to marry Emily, he can only temporarily let them worry. "You must have got a cold. Go upstairs and have a rest. Emily, find some medicine for Leo." Charles said. He drank, but Leo did not seem to be uncomfortable. However, he still spoke for Leo. "No medicine. He had wine, it will make it worse. Emily, take Leo to your room and let him have sleep." Christine got more and more worried and her tone seemed to be anxious. "Why go to my room? There are guest rooms upstairs, let him go to guest room." Emily saw the intention of her parents. They wanted Leo to stay. "No need for your help. I'll walk him upstairs." Afraid of Emily's objection, Christine got up and came to Leo directly. "Christine, I'd better go home." Leo said deliberately, in fact, he did not mean to leave. Even if he left, he would find a way to take Emily away. As for whether to leave or stay, it depended on how Christine and Charles cooperated. "How can you get home? You're drunk and not feeling well. If you go home alone, I will be worried about you. Go upstairs with me." Christine pulled Leo up, Emily stopped her. "Mom, you can go upstairs but don't go to my room." "You can't take care of him if he doesn't go to your room, or you can drive him home and make sure he's okay." Charles said, trying to create a chance for Leo to stay with Emily. "I'll send him home." Emily felt Leo could not stay and wanted to send him back, or she could sleep all night. Leo did not expect that it depended on Emily whether he stayed or not. Emily had offered to send him, so he could not stay. "Charles, Christine, I am leaving." Leo said and followed Emily out. On the way home. Leo had been looking for the topic, but Emily was silent. Leo shut up because of the effect of alcohol, so he took a rest. Leo fell asleep, and did not realize the car was parked in his own yard. Emily wanted to leave after she parked the car, but Leo was asleep, she was afraid that it was not safe. So she woke up Leo. "You are home, go inside, I gotta go home." Emily reminded him and was to get off the car, but Leo was still sleeping. Emily thought Leo had a sound sleep because he drank, so she stretched out to push Leo. But she found Leo was hot and realized that Leo had a fever. "Leo... Leo, wake up." Emily shook Leo hard, anxious. Leo woke up, bleary. "We are home." Leo felt dizzier than before. And he felt the coldness coming from his body. "It's raining or the air conditioning is too low? How can it be so cold?" Leo did not realize he was really ill and had a fever. "You have a fever. I'll take you to the hospital." Emily restarted the car, but Leo held Emily's hands on the steering wheel to stop Emily. "It is just a fever. I don't need to go to the hospital. I will be fine after having fever-reducing medicine."

CHAPTER 620 EMILY'S COMPANION

Holding Emily's cold hands, Leo was sure that he really had a fever. But he felt steadfast holding her soft hands. "I'll walk you in." Emily was worried about Leo, so she could only send Leo in. Two people together got into the villa and went directly to Leo's bedroom on the second floor, because the medicine box was in his bedroom. But for a long time she failed to find it, she was anxious. "There is no fever-reducing medicine, I go out and buy for you." Emily was to leave but once again stopped by Leo. "No need, I can't have it because I drank. Do me a favor and get me some hot water, I will be fine." Leo was dizzy and felt his temperature getting higher and higher. But he thanked himself for his fever, or Emily would leave. "I'll get you some hot water." Emily did not know how to do, she had never experienced such a thing and she did not know how to take care of a patient, so she had to listen to Leo. Emily went downstairs to get hot water. When she was back, Leo lied in bed covering with a thick quilt. He curled up in the quilt, looking pitiful. "Here is the hot water. Get up and drink some." Emily sat on the bed holding the glass of water. Then Leo sat up. Leo's face was rosy because of a fever. Leo took the water and began to drink it bit by bit. "I should have been sick a long time ago, knowing that I can be taken care of by you." Though dizzy, Leo was still joking. "Don't talk nonsense. Drinking water won't stop your mouth." Emily was upset, but she could not show it though she was worried about Leo, but Leo was still joking. "Drink water, I won't say anything." Leo stopped it and then continued to drink water. "I go out and buy some medicine for you. If your fever doesn't go down, you must take medicine." Emily said and got up, but was again pulled back to bed by Leo. "You don't need to go out. I've already called my private doctor. He'll be here in a minute." Leo still took Emily's hand when he finished speaking. "Then drink some hot water." Emily's mind was now in her hand. Leo had been holding her hand, which made her both embarrassed and shy. She tried twice to pull it back but failed. "The doctor also told me to drink hot water first." Leo drank another mouthful of hot water. "Let go of my hand." Emily finally could not help but ask Leo to let go. Leo was a good man. He reluctantly let go and then said with disappointment. "I am sick, and I just want to seek comfort, alas..." Leo deliberately showed that he was poor, hoping Emily would pity him. He could feel that Emily was concerned about him since they got off the car, which was proof that she still loved him. It would keep him going after his true love. "You don't need comfort. Drink more water and talk less." Emily got up and stood away from this sick but talkative man. Leo drank more three glasses of hot water until his private doctor arrived. After the doctor inquired Leo's condition, he confirmed that it was acute respiratory infection. "Get infusion, or you'll have a persistent fever." The doctor gave the cure and Emily opened her mouth. "He drank. Isn't it dangerous to get infusion?" "He drank?" The doctor confirmed. "Yes." Emily answered while nodding. "It's okay. It will be fine without some pills." "Did he drink the water?" The doctor asked Emily. "Yes, five glasses of water." Emily remembered it clearly, because she gave hope on every glass of water, hoping that Leo would be better after drinking water. "Did he get sweat?" The doctor felt it funny because of Emily's careful observation. "No." Emily gave an affirmative answer, because she had been watching Leo, but he got little sweat. "Well, I see, I will add some antipyretic into the infusion. And I will give him some antipyretic to eat, and you let him eat it if his fever doesn't go down after the infusion. If you can, you'd better physically cool him down by wrapping an ice pack around his forehead with a towel. It will help him cool down a lot." "Also, you need to keep an eye on him after I leave and call me if he feels anything wrong." The doctor told Emily, his last sentence made Leo happy, because Emily would had no excuse to leave. "Aren't you here to observe, Doctor?" Emily asked with worry, because she could not stay and would delay Leo's treatment if she could not do a good job. "I have other things to do, this task is yours. You are careful, you will do a better job than I do." The doctor did not want to affect Leo's precious opportunity. Before he came, Leo told him to give them a chance to stay together. After the doctor left, Leo still had high fever covering with a thick quilt, only exposed his head and an infusion hand. "I'll get some ice." Emily said and went out again. Leo had not cooled down, he was afraid that Leo would have a problem in brain because of the fever. So she took the doctor's advice to get Leo physical cooling. She then wrapped the ice in a towel, came to Leo and placed it on Leo's forehead. "If it's too cold, let me know, I will remove it." Emily said, afraid that it would be too cold. "Ok." Leo answered feebly, and did not want to open eyes because of the fever. "You go to sleep. I will sleep." Emily felt that she should give Leo such an answer. Hearing Emily's words, Leo did not answer but gave a smile. Emily had been observing Leo's condition, afraid of delaying Leo's treatment. And Leo confirmed that Emily would not leave, he fell asleep. He didn't wake up until Emily pulled out the needle after the infusion. Emily sorted out the infusion bottles and then came to the bed to remove the ice pack. He touched Leo's forehead with her hand to make sure it was not hot. Then she touched Leo's hand to confirm it again. Leo had reduced fever. However, when she wanted to withdraw her hand, Leo held her hand again. "Thank you, without you, my life would have ended..." Leo joked, but before he could finish, Emily covered his mouth with hands. "Don't talk nonsense. You are strong, I'm sure you'll be all right." Emily said emotionally. She suddenly thought of Penny, thought of the impermanence of life, the weakness of life. She did not want Leo get a cancer like Penny. "Being sick has nothing to do with being strong. Emily, people really do not know when they will be haunted by illness. Like when I was at your house, I was fine, but when I got home, I had a high fever. That's why I say illness is unpredictable. Emily....." "Stop it, Leo, get well soon." Emily did not let Leo continue to say, she had known what he wanted to say. She was distressed for his fever, but she had not yet decided to forgive him. If Leo proposed to be with her, she really did not know how to answer. If she agreed, she felt wronged, if she refused, Leo would be more pitiful. She did not want to face such a difficult choice, so she interrupted Leo. As her voice fell, she pushed Brian's hand away and wanted to get out of bed. However, Leo refused to let Emily leave and pulled Emily close to his arms. "Leo, you..." "Don't go. Stay with me. I won't say anything you don't want to hear." Leo said softly, because of his fever, his voice was low and hoarse. "I..." Emily was caught in a dilemma. She could accompany him, but they could not be so close. She wanted to break free, but Leo embraced her more tightly. Holding Emily tightly in his arms, he kept promise not to say a word. However, he was aroused. A man without any physical defects sure would have reaction when a woman was in his arms. Leo's hormones again and again hit his reason. He tried to control himself, but it didn't seem to work, and his male lust still charged at his every nerve. At the same time, Emily felt the subtle change of Leo, listening to his breathing, which got more and more heavy, feeling his body got more and more tense, and his restless hands moved on her back. Emily knew that they had been on the edge of danger, although it was not their first time, Emily was still nervous, feeling that her heart was to jump out. Emily told herself it could not be like this, or she could not escape. "Leo....." Emily wanted to ask Leo to let her go and wanted to keep a safe distance between them. But as she only called Leo's name, her mouth was swallowed by Leo. Emily only issued a sound of resistance, but then completely she lost herself in his kiss... The next day, Winnie had not yet change clothes after having breakfast and then she heard the door bell. "Who came so early?" Winnie soliloquized, and then went to the door and saw Albert and Calvin in the video. Winnie opened the door and asked directly. "Why are you here so early?" Two people walked in slowly, changed shoes and went to the living room and sat down. Then Albert opened his mouth. "Director Chambers, we have something to ask you." "It's urgent." Calvin added. He saw the Winnie's doubt – They could talk in the company, why came so early. Calvin gave his answer, so she had to be ready to answer the question. "What is it?" "Calvin and I watched the video of you and Stefan in the hotel from beginning to end. There were not two people in the room, but Caro was there too. Am I right?" Albert said certainly.
