Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 71 FOUR PEOPLE OF TWO FAMILIES

At this moment, Brian opened the door of the ward and walked in. He saw the two children and frowned, but in the next moment he eased because of distress. Megan, whose mood had just lightened, collapsed once again at the moment she saw Brian. She rushed to Brian's side, hugged Brian's thigh and cried. "Uncle, Mummy is hurt, Mummy is so pitiful." Brian started to feel distressed when he heard Megan's cry, and squatted down and hugged Megan in his arms. "Megan, don't cry. Your mummy is fine." "Mommy is in trouble, no one cares Mommy. Mommy was hit by a bad guy, and no one is guarding mommy. Mummy is too pitiful." Megan cried and said clearly, this skill may only be controlled by Megan. At this moment, she didn't use her scheming plan, but simply believed that if there was a man guarding her mummy, her mommy would definitely not get hurt. However, what the child said made Brian upset quickly. He raised his bright and dark eyes and looked deeply at Winnie who was lying on the hospital bed, not knowing how to comfort the child. Every time Brian was silent, Winnie knew the reason, and it must be Megan's words that made Brian embarrassed again. "Megan, Mummy is okay, don't worry. Daenerys, send the two children home." Winnie couldn't drive Brian away, and couldn't embarrass Brian, she could only let Megan go back, lest she would embarrass Brian by talking nonsense. "I won't go back. I want to stay with Mummy here." Megan refused. Then she struggled to leave Brian's arms and stood by Winnie's bed again. "Mummy, don't drive me away, I have to accompany you more. I will never talk nonsense again." Megan finally realized that she had said the wrong thing and annoyed Winnie. Winnie, who was lying on the hospital bed, had a terrible headache, and couldn't bear to say anything while looking at Megan's poor appearance. At this moment, Brian unexpectedly spoke. "Both Megan and Luke can stay here, but you have to be obedient and take good care of your mummy." Brian's tone was sure and cold. But this time Megan wasn't afraid, but rather overjoyed. "Thank you, Uncle Brian. I must be obedient and I will take good care of my mummy." Seeing Megan happy, Luke was also very happy. At this moment Brian noticed Winnie's frowned eyebrows, and hurried forward to ask. "Do you have a headache again?" Brian asked in a deep voice, his handsome face full of worry. "Yes." Winnie replied softly, now the headache tormented her no longer had the strength to speak loudly. Brian quickly raised the bed to give Winnie the medicine again. Several other people in the ward saw Brian's careful appearance in surprise, as if they saw something incredible. Especially the two children, they had never seen Brian be so gentle with Winnie. Winnie took the medicine and lay down again, closing her eyes and not saying a word. She had to bear with it for a while until the medicine worked to relieve her headache. Seeing Winnie's painful and unbearable look, their spirits drooped. Brian called them to the rest area to make the ward as quiet as possible. He also let the two children not make noise. During this time Daenerys answered a call and had to leave. There were only four people of two families left in the ward. "Aunt Daenerys has something to do know, and so does Albert. I'll send you to my house in a while and let Luke's mum take care of you." Brian still had important things later and didn't have time to take care of the children. At this time, only Penny could take care of them. Unexpectedly, when he finished speaking, two voices of opposition were made at the same time. "I'm not going to Mommy's house." "No, I don't need Penny to take care of them." These two voices were made by Luke and Winnie. Luke insisted, and there were also on room for negotiation in Winnie's tone.

"If you are busy, I will look after them by myself." Winnie spoke softly, but obviously, she was dissatisfied with Brian's arrangement. She finally rescued Luke. Wasn't Brian trying to make both children be in danger. She disagreed, firmly disagreed. Winnie tried to sit up as she spoke, and she wanted to tell Brian with practical actions that she could take care of the children as long as she did not die. Brian was so frightened by Winnie's actions that he took a breath, and hurried to Winnie and asked angrily. "You are crazy. The doctor let you not move. You have bleeding spots in your skull and you can't move." Brian was so anxious and nervous, for fear of another accident for Winnie. "I'm okay, not so weak." The anger in Winnie's words became more and more obvious. "Do you have to use this method to protest against me? If you don't want Penny to take care of the children. I can send them to grandpa. Why are you so excited?" Brian's voice was cold, and he tightened his handsome eyebrows. Just because he was worried about Winnie. Winnie didn't speak any more. She was more relieved to let the Chairman take care of the children. Although she only saw the Chairman once, she could see that his love for Luke was genuine. "Dad, don't be angry with Auntie. My sister and I are obedient. Let's go to great grandpa." Luke hurriedly finished the game, fearing that Dad would lose his temper. When Luke spoke, and Brian and Winnie were silent. After a moment. "I'll let Butler come over to pick you up..." Brian finally broke the silence, but before he could finish his instructions, Kevin walked into the ward. Seeing Kevin, Brian's anger soared. He vented out the anger he had just endured. "You still know to come back. When I have something to do and need you, you are not here. Is it so good abroad? You don't come back after going there for so many days. You're against me, aren't you?" Brian screamed angrily. His anger erupted suddenly, which made Kevin confused. "I've only been there for four days. I come back as soon as you call me." Kevin said innocently and came to Winnie's bed. "I called you last night, and you only came back tonight. It has been a day and a night. Did you go to the moon?" Brian's anger was unabated. On the one hand, he couldn't directly scold Winnie because of Winnie's stubbornness. On the other hand, it was because Winnie could get a better treatment and wouldn't suffer too much if Kevin was here. But at that time Kevin was not here, Brian's anger naturally couldn't hold back. "Brother, I come back soon enough as I didn't get a ticket, okay? You called me back because of this woman, and you lost your temper with me. Never say that you have nothing to do with her in the future." Kevin was not angry at Brian's angry questioning, but instead saw the clues from it and began to tease. However, Kevin's inadvertent sentence was caught by Winnie. It turned out Brian told others that they had nothing to do with each other. Winnie though, 'That's right, they didn't have a relationship, so why should she care about what he said?' Winnie laughed at herself. Brian saw the dull expression on her face. "I will block your mouth sooner or later. Now, talk about your..." Brian's dark, cold eyes shot at Kevin warningly, but Kevin ignored it at all. "Do you still use me to treat her? If you don't, I have other patients." Kevin knew that he would stop the annoyed Brian by saying this, because he had already seen that the beautiful woman in this hospital bed had slowly become Brian's weakness. "Treat her" Brian gritted his teeth helplessly, squeezing two words out of his mouth. Kevin leaked a triumphant smile and began to check on Winnie. "Miss, we meet again. I think we are familiar, don't we...?" "Be serious, don't talk nonsense." As soon as Kevin teased Winnie, Brian stopped him coldly. He looked up at Brian's possessive and murderous eyes, and stopped asking. But he really thought this woman was very familiar, and every time Brian wanted to remember it, Brian interrupted. "Okay, be serious, or I will die at the hands of this vicious man. Miss Winnie, right..." "Talk nonsense again." Brian stopped Kevin again. "Okay, no nonsense. Miss Chambers, let me help you lie down. It is more convenient to lie down and check." Kevin reached out to help Winnie as he spoke, but was pushed away by Brian at this moment. "Go away, I will help her." Brian carefully supported Winnie to lie down, for fear that Winnie's head would be shaken. "Wow,

I'm so knowledgeable today. This devil actually cares about others. Come and let me take a closer look, if you have been bent over by a kind ghost."Kevin couldn't believe what he saw with his eyes. Had this man, who was as cold as ice cube, finally started to melt?"Check, stop talking nonsense. If you cannot solve her headache, I will..."Tear down my hospital."Kevin said Brian's next words teasingly. Brian was going to tear down his hospital for the second time for this woman.Kevin started to examine Winnie, and the result was no different from what the attending doctor judged, but the attending doctor might not think too much about the medication."No problem, it's all trauma. She can leave the hospital within a few days of staying. Don't take that medicine. I'll prescribe it again later."Kevin gave the result, and Brian was completely relieved."Go and prescribe medicine now."Brian said indifferently, then pulled Kevin forcibly."Brian, you are ingrateful? Give me a chance and let me ask Miss Chambers that where we have met."Kevin didn't seem to give up, refusing Brian's push.At this moment, he noticed the two little babies sitting on the sofa, and suddenly his eyes lit up and avoided Brian and went straight to the two children.Kevin squatted down to look at them, feeling that the two children have many similarities."Hello, Uncle Kevin."Luke greeted Kevin politely.Just now his dad, Brian had looked gloomy, he and Megan had to be careful about breathing, so they didn't say hello to Kevin."Hello, Luke!"He knew Luke, but this little girl made him very curious."Hello, Uncle Kevin!"Megan greeted him happily, but she didn't understand why this handsome uncle was staring at her.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 72 AGGRIEVED AND DISAPPOINTED MEGAN

Kevin looked at cute and beautiful baby in front of him and felt happy. So, he started to play with Megan. "How do you know that I am Uncle Kevin?" "Brother Luke just called you Uncle Kevin and I heard him." Megan replied wittily while her big quirky eyes were turning around. "Oh, I didn't expect you to be so clever." "Thank you for the compliment!" Megan was praised by Kevin and showed a sweet smile. The dimples of this smile were so cute, just like her mummy. When Kevin thought of this, he suddenly thought of something and looked at Winnie on the hospital bed. He naturally thought that this child was Winnie's. "Is that your mummy?" Kevin asked Megan. "Yes, it's my mummy." Megan replied proudly. Mommy was the most ostentatious person in her life. No matter who mentioned her, she couldn't help showing off. Kevin thought it was amazing, he guessed it right. But everyone could guess it. The little looked so similar to her mother. It was like the similarity between Luke and Brian. However, Kevin found that not only the two children had similarities, but there were also many similarities between children and Brian and Winnie. This little girl... Oh, he hadn't asked the little girl's name yet. "What is your name?" "My name is Megan Chambers." "Megan Chambers? With your mummy's last name." Kevin continued the analysis. This little girl named Megan Chambers had a nose and ears shaped like Brian. And it could also see Winnie's shadow from Luke's facial features. How was this going? Could it be... "Brian, how great you are. You even hide it from me. She has babies for you, and you have hidden her for so many years. The most hateful thing is that even the child is not allowed to have your surname? You are great. Parbleu." Kevin suddenly turned around and started teasing Brian. After all this was connected, it was not difficult to guess the truth. Brian must have been in love with Winnie for a long time, if it weren't for two consecutive accidents, he would still be kept in the dark. "What are you talking nonsense? Have you used your imagination again? Don't mess around here, and quickly prescribe medicine." "Ah, why don't you dare to admit it. Those two children look so similar, and Megan also has you..." This time Brian no longer gave Kevin a chance to stay. He just picked up Kevin and pushed him out, so that Kevin had no chance to finish his words. And Winnie, who was lying on the hospital bed, also broke out in a cold sweat. If Kevin continued to talk about it, Brian would definitely be suspicious. Brian was worried and followed Kevin directly to get the medicine. When he returned, he called Felix outside the ward. Brian told Felix about Winnie's car accident and the fact that the children were left unattended. "You're still in touch with her?" Felix asked in deep voice, seemingly dissatisfied. "No, she has no relatives here. She can't leave it alone, and she is still taking care of Luke." For Winnie, Brian could only lie to Grandpa. "You can let Penny take care of the children, why should you send them to me?" Felix asked puzzledly. There was no problem with the children coming to him, but he didn't understand why Winnie didn't let Luke contact his "natural mother". "Grandpa, there are some things that I will tell you when I have time. Luke's care is something I promised her. I have to do what she wants. She won't let Luke go home. Now she trusts you to take care of the two children." What Brian could say was only a rough idea, he hoped his grandpa could understand it. "Where are you going? When will you leave?" Felix suddenly changed the subject, but he didn't let go of Winnie's doubts. "Go to M Country. I will leave right away. There is a problem on the branch office and I must solve it." Brian was talking while looking at his watch. He was a little anxious. He wanted to tell Winnie about some things, and he wanted to spend as much time with Winnie as possible. "OK, I will let Butler pick up the two children." The call finally ended, and Brian hurried back to the ward. "Remember to take your medicine on time and don't wait for it to hurt." Brian said in a low voice, not as angry as he was just now. "I've already called Grandpa, and Butler will be here soon. Don't worry that you leave the children with grandpa during this time." "Call Kevin for anything. He will be in the hospital these days." The phone rang after Brian finished speaking. "I'm coming." Brian glanced at Winnie, his gaze included reluctance and worry. Then he came to Megan and Luke and continued to speak. "You can't be naughty, and you can't make your great grandpa angry. Luke, you are the older brother, take care of Megan." "I know, Daddy, I can take care of Megan." Luke had the spirit of his brother and gave Brian a responsible answer. "Uncle, where are you going?" Megan knew that Brian was leaving, and her expression began to be anxious. "I have to go to M Country, there is an urgent business to deal with. Megan, you have to take good care of your mummy." Brian didn't forget to enjoin again. "Official business? Is business really that important? Is it more important than my mummy's injury? Mommy is injured and no one is with her. Can you stay and take care of her, Uncle?" Megan's expression changed from eagerness to expectation. She was betting herself that if Brian could stay, it meant he really cared about her mummy, and he must like her mummy. "...". Brian was speechless when Megan asked again. He didn't know how to answer her. He also wanted to stay, and he was reluctant to go out. It was just that the responsibility on his shoulders is great, no matter how he felt, he must leave. Brian watched Megan's gaze change from expectation to disappointment, and his whole heart was pulled together sorely. "Uncle....." "Megan, did you forget everything I said?" Winnie spoke in time to stop Megan. "Don't listen to her, you go and work." Winnie was also upset. She really needed someone to take care of her at this time. However, she couldn't bother Brian and rely on him anyway. Brian got up. Megan's disappointed and aggrieved look made it extremely difficult for him to get up. In the end Brian left, and Megan's big moist eyes made his heart hurt. Brian left on a business trip, and soon the two children were taken away by Butler. Only Winnie was left in the ward. At this time, she really felt loneliness. Megan and Luke were taken to the Johnson's villa by Butler. Felix, who had always been serious, smiled unconsciously when he saw the children. "Welcome Megan." "Hello, Great grandpa! How are you?" Megan greeted him very politely. "I am fine. You go and wash your hands. After washing your hands, we will have dinner together." After Felix said, the two children were taken to the bathroom by the servant. Only Felix and two children were on the table. "Megan, who is taking care of your mom in the hospital?" Felix asked casually. "Yesterday, my uncle was taking care of her. Today, my uncle is gone and Mummy is alone." Megan answered while eating. "Oh, so no one in the hospital?" "Yes, no one. But uncle let the doctor uncle take care of Mommy before he left?" Megan didn't think much about it, but felt that this grandfather was very kind, and she could rely on him. "Uncle Doctor?" Felix asked incomprehensibly, and Luke answered him. "It's Uncle Kevin." "Oh. How does your father take care of the aunt?" Felix started asking Luke again. "It's nothing, just take medicine for the aunt, and water for the aunt. I heard the doctor say that the aunt has bleeding points in her skull and her head is temporarily unable to move. So, Dad feeds her." Luke explained in sufficient detail, which surprised Felix. Since the death of his mother, Brian had become indifferent and withdrawn. He had never opened his heart to anyone. Even marrying Penny was a perfunctory, let alone caring for others. But he did something to Winnie that he never did. How much magic would Winnie have to make him change, and what else could Winnie change Brian? The next night, Felix arranged for the two children to go out. In the hospital, Daenerys had just left, and Winnie was left alone. Brian hadn't called her since he left yesterday, but Winnie was still expecting it inexplicably. She followed Brian's instructions to take medicines and infusions on time, and her head no longer hurt so much. The injuries on her body have also healed a lot, except that she still needed to rest and not shake her head. She hoped Brian would call her so that she could tell him that she was much better. However, she kept looking at the phone, and she was constantly disappointed. Just when Winnie was thinking about it, Penny opened the door and walked to Winnie's bed. "Does an employee need such a high level of treatment? I think Brian is crazy." When she came to the bed, Penny didn't look at Winnie but paid attention to this luxurious VIP ward. How could Winnie live in such a high-end ward? It was because of her relationship with Brian. "Go back, I should rest." Winnie spoke in a low voice. She was upset looking at Penny and she didn't even bother to argue with her. And she couldn't be emotional now, couldn't argue with Penny. "Go back? How can I go back? I'm here to take care of you. I will see how you hurt and whether you are dead." Penny suddenly became vicious and gritted her teeth as if she was about to kill Winnie. And those vicious eyes all showed her hatred for Winnie. "I let you down, I'm still alive." Winnie was not surprised that Penny could say such vicious words. She told herself to bear it, and it was only herself who would be in trouble if she got angry with this kind of person. "So what? Who can guarantee that there will be another accident? Who can guarantee that you will be alive next time?" Penny spoke domineeringly, her entire face twisted with resentment because Winnie was not dead. Her words seemed to be warnings, and also seemed to explain the facts, which panicked Winnie. Winnie never thought that her car accident was man-made, she thought it was just an accident. But wasn't Penny alluding to her? Wasn't it a simple traffic accident? "How did you know that I had a car accident? Klara told you or Brian told you? How did you know I live in this ward?" Winnie asked suddenly, she wanted to be sure of something before she could doubt it further.

CHAPTER 73 SHE ALMOST SUCCEEDED

Maybe Winnie's tone was not so sharp, maybe Winnie didn't show doubt in her eyes. Penny didn't think too much, she just answered Winnie's words soon. "Is it so difficult? I can hear it easily in the company." "Easily? You can't enter and leave the company casually. Moreover, my accident hasn't spread to a large area in the company at all. The people who know it are just a few people in the president's office. Where did you hear about it?" Penny's answer failed to satisfy Winnie, but she was more suspicious.

"You... It's none of your business that how I knew it. You have affected my family. This is retribution. God can't see it and he punish a shameless woman like you." Penny was not calm, obviously a little flustered. She didn't expect Winnie had another question after it. "I asked you who told you that I just wanted to confront that person to see if you lied. If you lied, I have to doubt you, and I have to ask the police to reopen the case for investigation." Winnie said lowly, but there was inviolability in her eyes. "You...what do you mean by this? You were condemned by the God. This is what you deserve. How could you blame it on others? Winnie, you are talking nonsense. Be careful that I tore your mouth." Penny was in chaos. She was so panicked that her defense was about to collapse, and she leaked out of her nature and began to speak unscrupulously. The panic on her face was obvious, which didn't need a close observation. It allowed Winnie, who was originally only skeptical, to be basically certain. Winnie widened her eyes and glared at Penny in disbelief. If Penny really did this thing, then she was no longer as simple as sinister and vicious, she had become a devil, a devil who ignored other people's lives. "Penny, don't hide it anymore, your eyes have betrayed you. How can you be so ruthless, don't you know that this kind of thing is illegal?" Winnie started to blame Penny, she wanted Penny to break down, she wanted Penny to tell the truth. It was just a pity that there was no way to turn on the recording mode now. "Don't talk to me about law there. Don't show off to me just because you took a law course in university. Winnie, don't forget that I am a top student who graduated from the law department." Penny was flustered, but tried to calm down. The expression on her face at this moment was indescribable. "Knowing the law and breaking the law is doubly guilty! Penny, you found someone to hit me with car, and you deliberately covered it up as a traffic accident. Is this the way you, a top law student, use the law? Last time, if the last time Brian didn't push me away, did I have been killed?" Winnie said coldly, thinking of the last time again, and directly questioned Penny. Penny's face was instantly pale and bloodless, and the panic in her eyes could not be concealed. "You, you are talking nonsense, you are framing. Winnie, do you believe I will call the police and arrest you right now? Deceitful bitch!" Penny said angrily, a high flame of anger quickly appeared in her eyes, but she panicked in fact. She told herself that Winnie was just skeptical and she could do anything without evidence. "Call the police now. It's no big deal for calumny. I will stay in prison for a few days and come out. If you are found out that you intentionally kill someone, I will let you stay in prison for the rest of your life." Winnie said without fear, she just used the aggressive method to see Penny's reaction. "You....." What Winnie didn't expect was that when Penny was about to collapse, there was a knock on the door. The knock on the door was loud and anxious, as if someone outside was deliberately saving Penny. There was hatred in Winnie's eyes, just a little bit before she succeeded. However, the panic in Penny's eyes was no longer at this moment, she adjusted her emotions as quickly as possible, and the next moment she showed contemptuous look. The person outside the door walked in, calmly, and walked towards Winnie's bed step by step. When Winnie and Penny saw the person coming, they both showed surprised expressions. "Grandpa....." Penny's heart twisted tightly, and her eyes erratic. She didn't know why Felix was here, and she didn't know whether the conversation between the Winnie and her was heard by him. Thinking of this, Penny was even more at a loss. "Why are you here, Chairman?" Winnie and Penny's performances were completely opposite. They were both surprised at first, but Winnie came calm. People who had no guilt in their hearts were naturally at ease. Felix's eyes were deep, he looked at Penny and then at Winnie, and he could see into their hearts through the expressions of two people. In a moment, the seriousness on his face disappeared, and it changed to relaxation and indifference. "I heard that the most important engineer of the company was injured. I come to see Winnie on behalf of the company. Why are you here, Penny? You also expressed condolences for the company?" Felix deliberately said that in front of Winnie. He must show that the Bennet family valued Penny to avoid Winnie's delusion. "Well...Yes, I have a responsibility to visit Winnie as Brian is not at home." Penny was startled first, then eased and echoed Felix's words. "Good girl, you are doing the right thing. Helping Brian in these things will also make him a lot easier." Felix continued to praise, deliberately telling Winnie. And Winnie was not stupid, knowing that he was squeezing her out, letting her retreat in the face of difficulty and not disturbing Brian's family. Winnie was silent, listening indifferently to their conversation. She didn't want to disturb Brian's family. Warnings or hints didn't make any sense to her. If she were to know that Penny really used vicious means to deal with her, even if Felix was protecting Penny, she wouldn't care. Therefore, their act in front of her were just superfluous. "Well, it's late, you go home and rest first." Felix's tone was soft, but was firm. "Okay grandpa. You should also go home early." Penny didn't even hesitate to agree immediately. She had long wanted to leave here for fear that Felix would see the clue. This was also considered Felix gave her a chance. But what Felix would say to Winnie seemed to be unknown to her. Penny walked out of the ward after saying goodbye to Winnie politely. This act was enough. Penny walked out of the ward and breathed a sigh of relief, thinking that she could escape as soon as possible, but Butler came to her. "Hello Madam, please follow me." Butler said respectfully, but the seriousness in his eyes was obvious. "Follow you? What do you mean?" Penny was inexplicable, with a dazed expression on her face. But she gradually had a bad feeling in her heart. "The chairman ordered you to wait for him." After speaking, Butler directly looked at the bodyguard guarding the door of the ward and continued to speak in an orderly manner. "You send Young Mistress to the car and wait." "Yes." Two of the bodyguards walked to Penny's side and directly invited Penny, who was already panicked. Inside the ward. "Chairman, sit down and talk." Winnie raised the bed with the remote control, and Felix sat on the chair beside the bed. "I'm here to see you on the one hand, and to talk to you about Luke on the other." Felix said calmly, but his mightiness in his tone could not be ignored. "Thank you for coming to see me Chairman. Let's get to the point." Winnie said softly. "Your current physical condition is not suitable for taking care of Luke, so Luke will not be with you in the future. And I will take care of Megan for you these days and you can pick her up when you are discharged." Felix didn't equivocate but was straightforward. Winnie couldn't accept what Felix said, but she just frowned and didn't panic. About Luke, she made a deal with Brian and she didn't think others could change it easily. "Chairman, I can be discharged from the hospital in a few days and I can take care of the two children. Luke likes to be with Megan, and he is learning software programming with me. It is not convenient for you to take him back." Winnie was still talking softly, or she would be rude to the senior. "There is no inconvenience. The children of the Bennet family should be taken care of by the Bennet family." Felix's tone was no longer gentle this time, he was obviously possessive. Winnie heard the firmness in his tone, and began to realize that things were not as simple as she thought. Felix didn't come to see her at all, nor did he really want to separate her and Luke. What was it for? Or was it for her a surer promise? "Chairman, I appreciate that Mr. Bennet helped me when I get hurt. But you can rest assured that I will never use this to destroy his marriage." Winnie swallowed and continued. "Luke is with me because I like this child, and he is very fond of my daughter. I have no intention of using Luke to approach Mr. Bennet. I also hope you can let Luke with me because he likes me very much." Winnie said very sincerely, handling this matter with a sincerity. She only hoped that the matter would be resolved without disturbing Brian. "You think too much, Miss Winnie. Since you have promised me, I will believe you. I brought Luke back is not for the reason you said. Even if I don't bring back Luke this time, I will bring him back in a few days. He has a family and a mother, and his surname is Benne." Felix's tone was more serious, but the signal from his eyes was not as firm as his tone. "But I don't think your family's environment is suitable for children's growth, and you also agreed to Luke to stay in my house last time. Now..."That's our family's business, and you shouldn't comment on it. The last promise was not permanent. How could our child stay with you for a lifetime? Just do what I said."Felix's tone was firm and majestic, and didn't give Winnie a chance to keep Luke.Then he got up and left.Winnie began to panic. She didn't expect Felix to be so strong and didn't expect him to interfere with Luke's stay.If this matter was considered in another way, the Bennet family would definitely not put Luke by her side forever. But Winnie was different, Winnie was not the outsider Felix said.She was a little calm now, and didn't know how to solve this matter. So, Winnie called Brian, but Brian's call was unanswered.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 74 KEEP YOUR MOUTH SHUT.

Outside the hospital. Penny had been waiting in Felix's car. The bodyguards next to the car had been guarding her. It felt like she was under house arrest. After waiting for a while, Felix finally came back, but his look turned gloomy after seeing Penny. "Grandfather....." "Let's talk about it, what happened to Winnie being hit?" Felix asked in a cold voice. "Grandpa, I don't know about this. Isn't it just a simple traffic accident?" Penny had been restless, and finally found the reason. She thought that Felix could not leave her for no reason. "A simple traffic accident? You know whether it is a simple traffic accident." Felix suddenly raised his volume and glared at Penny. "I'm giving you a chance now. Winnie has already begun to doubt you. If you don't tell me the truth, no one can save you." "Grandfather....." "Don't be sophistry, I heard everything at the door of the ward just now." Felix reminded sharply. When Felix came to the hospital, Butler knocked on the door twice, but there was no respond. Felix pushed the door and walked in. However, they focused on argument and didn't realize that Felix had opened the door and entered. Felix was standing at the door, listening clearly to the conversation between them. Winnie had heard what was wrong with Penny's words, how could Felix couldn't know it. Just when Penny couldn't hold on to blurt out, Felix hurried out and knocked loudly on the door. This allowed Penny's emotions to be eased, so as not to expose what she did. This incident also made Felix know Penny again, her IQ was not at the same level as Winnie's. So, he must come forward to solve this matter. If Brian knew it, it would affect some of the cooperation between the Bennet Group and Penny's family. Penny looked at Felix in surprise. She didn't expect him to hear the conversation between Winnie and her. "I did it." Penny admitted in a low voice. She had no choice at the moment. If she refused to admit it, Felix would be wary of her from now on, which would be even worse for her. Felix was not surprised at all. He had guessed that Penny must have done it when he heard the two people talking at the door. It was just that he didn't expect Winnie knew the questionable points from Penny's words. "Tell me what is going on with Winnie?" Felix asked in a deep voice. "Winnie and I were girlfriends when we were at college..." Penny repeated what happened between her and Winnie, just as how she lied to Leo back then and how she lied to Brian some time ago. It didn't matter to her that one more person was deceived. And now that Felix knew it, she was even more fearless. As long as Winnie was discredited once, Felix would help her and drive Winnie away. It was not a bad thing to think so, instead was better for her. "Grandpa, I just didn't want to see more people being cheated by Winnie and told the truth. She has hated me for so many years. This time, everything she did when she came back was aimed at me. She threatened me, and said she was going to take everything from me." Penny paused for a while and continued speaking with a sigh of relief. "Although I am not Luke's real mother, Luke grew up with me. I have regarded him as my own child. However, Winnie came here and snatched Luke away. Luke was gone. The feeling like part of my heart is stolen away. How can I bear it? I asked Winnie to negotiate. Not only did she not return Luke, she also said that the next person to be snatched would be Brian. I was forced to do so." At the end Penny squeezed out a few tears to prove that she was really sad. She did it because she had no other way. Felix pondered silently, thinking about whether Penny's words were true or false. But on another thought, he must protect Penny for the time being no matter what. "Go back, keep your mouth shut and don't talk nonsense." Felix gave this answer after pondering for a moment. He didn't keep asking, knowing so much was enough. Winnie stayed up all night, thinking about how to get Luke back. But no matter how she thought, she couldn't achieve it without Brian's help. Winnie kept checking the time, and finally it was past eight o'clock. She picked up the phone and wanted to call Brian again, but saw the headline on the phone. Winnie frowned when she saw the picture. Winnie saw that the man in the photo was Brian and couldn't help but click on it. The headline title was like this. "The most powerful and rich man and well-known actress" Below the title was a picture of Brian entering and leaving a foreign hotel with a well-known actress. The picture was very clear, and Winnie recognized the actress was Stella, who was shooting a mobile ad, at a glance. Winnie's heart was pulled together, and it hurt. It turned out that Brian left her alone to have a date with another woman. It turned out that he didn't answer the phone last night because he was dating a woman. Winnie turned off the phone and didn't plan to call Brian again. But she couldn't calm down for a long time, and she was always in pain. Looking at the close behavior between Brian and Stella in the picture, Winnie felt aggrieved inexplicably. The reason for the grievance was that she felt like she had been cheated. Being deceived of the body, of the feelings, deceived of all. Feelings? Winnie's eyes were moist when she thought of it, and she couldn't help but wept. At this moment she suddenly realized that she didn't know when she had fallen in love with that devilish indifferent man. Realizing that her heart had fallen, Winnie burst into laughter. That smile was too bitter, and was full of helplessness. How was it with love or not? There would be no change in the result. So, this love could only be buried forever. Four days later, Winnie was almost well, and she asked to be discharged from the hospital. She had no one to rely on, and she could only rely on her own strength to hold Luke. But Winnie's request for discharge was rejected because the hospital would not let her go without Brian's consent. Winnie tried to sneak out of the hospital again, but there were bodyguards outside the ward, and no one would dare to let her out without Brian's order. Winnie was angry, standing in front of the window and looking down. It was higher than the thirtieth floor, if she escaped from here, she might fall into fragments. Fortunately, Brian finally returned on the night of the fifth day. Winnie thought she could go home this time, but she didn't expect what happened next. "No, you haven't fully recovered yet." After listening to Winnie's request for discharge from the hospital, Brian refused directly. "I have no problem, my head no longer hurts, and the bleeding points have recovered. The trauma is all crusted. What's the else matter with me?" Winnie asked unconvincingly. She couldn't be calm when seeing Brian. She couldn't be alone with this man. She wanted to let her feeling for him die quickly. "There are still blood clots that have not been completely absorbed. Wound scab is the most dangerous time, scars will leave if you are careless. Don't you know your own constitution? You are covered with scars and ugly. If there are scars on your face, you will be ugly woman and no one wants you for a lifetime." Brian said coldly. If it was Leo said in a warm tone, Winnie would definitely think it was a joke. And when Brian said it ruthlessly and coldly, it turned into disgust. "If I can't get married, I won't be entangled with you. Don't worry about that." Winnie said stubbornly, with anger evident in her tone. "Don't argue, I said you can't be discharged, then you can't." Brian insisted on his thoughts domineeringly, and there was anger in his black eyes. He was tired for a week and was busy day and night. He solved everything in country M in the shortest possible time, and came back non-stop. The eagerness was all because of Winnie. After getting off the plane, he did not go home, to the company, change clothes, or have dinner, but went straight to the hospital. Unexpectedly, it was Winnie's stubborn look waiting for him. He told himself that she was a patient and he had to endure whatever she said, so he could only suppress the anger. "Okay, I'm hospitalized. I will live in the hospital all my life. Anyway, someone will pay for me and someone will take care of my children, so why not do it." Winnie became more and more angry. There was no solution, so she could only compromise unwillingly. Winnie glared at Brian, not talking. It was late, and the hospital was very silent. But Brian didn't mean to leave yet, and Winnie couldn't help but ask him. "Aren't you going home?" "No." Brian answered coldly. "Don't you have a date?" Winnie didn't believe that he could not be driven away. "No." Brian was still stingy and only said one word. "No? In a foreign country... Well, if you don't have a date, you can go home. I have to rest. You will affect my recovery if you stay here." Winnie bit back the words and asked him to leave directly. Winnie's words made Brian raise his eyebrows and went directly to Winnie's bed. "Have you seen the report on the Internet?" "It's hard to not see it with such a big title and such a prominent position even I don't want to." Now that Brian heard it, Winnie had nothing to avoid. "What do you think about it?" Brian asked in a deep voice. "What do I think? How could I have opinions about things that have nothing to do with me?" Winnie's answer was simple and deliberate. Now that she had decided to bury the impossible love in her heart, she must always pay attention not to reveal it. However, Winnie found that this was not a simple matter. "You don't care about me, do you?" Brian's voice suddenly fell cold, and Winnie's answer made him feel heartbroken. "... Winnie's eyes wandered, not daring to look at Brian. She was afraid that her eyes would betray her. "There are people caring about you. You don't need me. Mr. Bennet, you must be very tired. Go home and rest." Winnie seemed to say indifferently. She wanted to see Brian, but when she saw Brian, she had to drive him away. It was too contradictory and unacceptable. Winnie's words were not the perfect answer for Brian. All he wanted was two answers, yes or no, and Winnie's answer was too vague.

CHAPTER 75 REINVESTIGATION

After being driven out by Winnie several times overtly and secretly, Brian just pretended not to hear, and endured it with patience. Because he didn't want to leave at all. Brian said nothing with a serious look, staring at Winnie's oversized hospital bed. "Is this bed comfortable?" Brian suddenly said such an inexplicable word, which made Winnie confused and look up at Brian. "... Winnie didn't know what kind of emotion Brian was expressing in his eyes. She only knew that when she met those deep dark eyes, her heart jumped again, and she could only shut her mouth tightly without saying a word. "Finally, you are willing to face me squarely." Brian said coldly, but his eyes were full of anger. Since he came back, he found that Winnie was not strange. She always avoided his gaze deliberately. She didn't dare to look at him once and kept driving him away. Brian was puzzled by Winnie's performance and felt uncomfortable. He just wanted to figure it out and solve it. Winnie knew only that Brian said this just to make her look up at him after hearing Brian's words. "Mr. Bennet, I don't understand what you said." Winnie didn't know how to reply Brian's words. She could only look away and pretend to be deaf and dumb. "It's okay if you don't understand, we'll talk about this later. Answer my question just now. Don't you care about anything about me?" Brian asked coldly, but there was expectation in his eyes. "No, I don't care." Winnie gave a decisive answer. She told herself that she should be so decisive to give up the illusions that shouldn't be there and to not hurt herself. However, Winnie's answer made the anticipation in Brian's eyes vanish in an instant, followed by bitter anger. "Since you said that, you don't need to answer my question just now." Brian couldn't bear Winnie's indifference to him anymore, and Winnie turned a blind eye to him. He left after said the angry words. Winnie saw Brian leaving angrily, feeling incomprehensible. Why was he so angry, she was just telling the truth? What was he expecting, expecting her to say that she cared about everything about him, expecting she, the woman he called a liar, would fall in love with him, and then he would have the opportunity to trample on her feelings wantonly? If she got hurt because of this kind of thing, Winnie thought it would be another suffering for her. Forget it. There would be nothing between them at all. Just let him leave. Only his leaving could keep the distance between them, and let her calm down. It was just that Luke's affairs may be more troublesome. However, whether Penny was really hiring a murderer, these two things could only be done by her herself. After Brian left, Winnie couldn't fall asleep. She got dressed and got ready to sneak out, because the ward had become so dull after Brian left that she can't breathe. However, when Winnie pushed open the door of the ward lightly, Winnie found that she was too worried. The bodyguard outside had been evacuated by Brian, and the ward was empty. Winnie felt bitter again. This was the signal that Brian allowed her to leave the hospital. This was the message that Brian was not taking care of her. She was free, no one was restraining her, but she felt extremely empty in her heart. The next day. Winnie came to the police station and asked to re-investigate the incident. At her request, the police had to investigate again. Now she could only pin her hopes on the police, and no one could help her. Winnie walked out of the police station and received a call from Leo. "Where are you? Why are you not in the hospital?" Leo's voice clearly showed his anxiety, and it was inevitable that he was anxious not to see Winnie and didn't know what was going on. "I was discharged from the hospital last night, and I didn't tell you because it was too late." Winnie's tone was low and she didn't dare to speak loudly. Because she didn't sleep all night last night, her head started to feel uncomfortable again. "Discharged? Are you at home?" Leo asked, but he was puzzled. "Outside, I am going home now." While talking, Winnie walked forward. She walked to the side of the road and stopped a taxi and got into the car. "Wait for me, I will pick you up." Leo also walked out of the ward and quickly walked into the elevator. "No, I'm already in the taxi. It's late, you go to work." Winnie rejected Leo's kindness, but it still made her feel warm. When Winnie came home, Leo was already waiting for her at her door. "Why did you come?" Winnie asked in surprise. "I worry about you. I just come and have a look." Leo said softly, but when he saw Winnie's face looked pale, he was worried. "Nothing to worry about, it's all right. Otherwise, the hospital won't let me out of the hospital." Winnie pressed the password while talking. Both of them sat on the sofa. "Are you all well? You look bad." Leo broke the silence first. His tone was still gentle and his eyes were full of worry. "Okay, I'm all right long ago. I look pale because I didn't sleep well last night." Leo's worry made Winnie feel at ease, but there was no reason to accept it unconditionally. After all, they were just friends. "Since you didn't sleep well, why didn't you have a rest at home? Why did you go out?" Leo didn't believe Winnie's answer. Now Winnie not only looked pale, but was also in bad mood. Leo guessed there must be something troubled her. "I went to the police station. There are some things that must be confirmed by me." Winnie downplayed, not wanting to say anything about suspecting Penny. "I can drive you there. You are weak just after you left the hospital. Why did you go there alone?" Winnie's visit to the police station had nothing to do with her depression, but she avoided answering, and Leo couldn't help it. At this moment, besides worrying, he had no other feelings. "You are so busy. I can do such a little thing myself." Winnie raised the corners of her mouth, showing a thankful smile. No matter if it was in the past or now, Leo had always been a warm man, the kind of man who made women feel safe and allowed women to live unscrupulously. But the relationship between her and Leo was only a pity. Leo was silent. He felt that Winnie still had a certain sense of distance from him, like a friend he had just met, with a tentative presence in her heart. Or what happened four years ago hurt her too deeply, although the heart knot was open, but the pain had not been erased. Leo stopped talking about this matter. It would take time to let Winnie to open up to him little by little. "Dare you drive?" Leo changed the subject. "Yes, there is nothing to be afraid of." Winnie didn't want to answer directly. "My car is reserved for you. It's easier to drive if you go out." Leo put the car key on the coffee table as he said, then got up. "I have nothing to do, I don't need it. You still have to go to work, which will affect your work..." Winnie tried to refuse, but Leo interrupted her before she was finished. "I still have a car. It won't affect my work. You use it first, and you can return it when your car is repaired." Leo left as he said, Winnie could only accept Leo's kindness. The fact that Winnie went to the police station to request a re-investigation was soon discovered by Brian. Brian came to Winnie's house angrily, which Winnie expected. Seeing Brian who was so domineering without speaking before, Winnie felt bitter and cold. She didn't understand why she fell in love with such a man who was colder than ice. "It seems that you came to criticize me. Do you also suspect Penny, or do you already know the truth?" Winnie asked indifferently, no matter what the possibility, she could understand Brian's attitude towards her. After all, Penny was his wife, while she was just a trivial liar. "Winnie, you are too much." Brian scolded loudly, with his eyebrows furrowed. He was inwardly furious. "Am I too much? I almost lost my life when I was hit. Is it not too much? I just want to find out the truth of the matter. Is this request too much?" Winnie asked in a deep voice, not understanding why she was too much. "You need evidence to suspect others. If there is no evidence, you are framing, do you know?" The flames of anger in Brian's eyes kept rising. It wasn't that he didn't want Winnie to find out the truth, it was just that Winnie would make the murderer be aware by doing so. Brian had sent someone to investigate this matter. If Winnie interfered in this way, the clue was likely to be interrupted. "Who have I framed? I didn't tell the police that Penny did it. Why are you doing so excited? Even if I frame someone, it is the driver. Does it have anything to do with you?" Winnie asked Brian, the stubbornness in her eyes appeared again. "Mr. Bennet, this is my business. I can do whatever I want. Even if I frame someone else, it is me who bears the responsibility." Winnie's voice was cold, and the man let her down. "Winnie..." "Mr. Bennet, I am not feeling well and I need to rest now, please help yourself, Mr. Bennet." Winnie interrupted Brian nonchalantly, then turned around and went straight back to the bedroom. She was disappointed in Brian. If they kept talking, the disappointment would turn into despair. Brian watched Winnie disappear in the crack of the door, and his anger was even stronger. But he held it back, because of Winnie's embarrassed look and Winnie's disappointed and sad eyes. He realized that his attitude was really not good enough. But the anger was not only because Winnie broke his plan, but also because she was really disobedient and discharged. The next day was the weekend. Winnie drove the car Leo left for her, and came to Felix's villa that she only found out after she inquired. This villa was also a hilltop villa, but it was not on the same mountain as Brian's. Standing in front of the unopened door of the villa, Winnie was nervous, wondering what the result would be waiting for her. When she came to the living room of the Johnson's villa, Winnie became nervous when she saw Megan alone. "Chairman, I'm here to pick up the two children. Thank you for helping me take care of them for so many days." Winnie said calmly, restraining her inner tension. But she emphasized the words "two children". "It is all right. It is reasonable to help take care of your children so that you can work well in the company."

CHAPTER 76 A MATTER OF PRINCIPLE.

Felix said in a low voice. Although his tone was not very sharp, but his look revealed something strange, and then he changed his attitude. "But Luke won't go back, you take Megan back." After speaking, he was about to leave, but was stopped by Winnie. "Chairman, we should have a talk. I don't understand why you don't let me bring Luke back?" Winnie was obviously a little anxious, and she felt she couldn't help it. Felix stopped and turned back. "I don't understand why you insist on taking care of Luke. Can you give me a reason to convince me?" Felix didn't answer the question. "I... Chairman, I have already said the reason. I think Luke will be more sunny and happier on my side, which is of great benefit to his healthy growth. We have to consider it from the perspective of children." Winnie was stunned for a moment, and finally responded. "Why are you worrying about our child from the Bennet family? You can't judge where the better place for his growth is. You can't convince me with your reason, please go back, Miss Winnie." Felix gave her marching order indifferently. Without giving Winnie a chance to explain, he went straight back to the study. Winnie had no choice but to leave with Megan even though she was desperate. After exiting the gate of the villa, the two got into the car. Winnie was still thinking about how to persuade Felix, when Megan suddenly spoke. "Mummy, Brother Luke was sent to his mummy in the morning." A word from Megan caused Winnie, who was anxious, collapse instantly. She was taken aback for a second, and quickly took out her phone and looked through the video. In the video, Luke was doing homework alone in the bedroom. Seeing Luke was safe at this time, Winnie was relieved. She began to check the security tape, and put the phone away when there was nothing unusual. "Mummy, what's wrong with you?" Megan sat behind and couldn't see Winnie's video. She just felt that her mummy was suddenly silent, so she was a little worried. "It's okay, we will go home now." Winnie answered perfunctorily and drove away. The only person who can solve this matter now was Brian, and she needed to see him. However, Brian didn't answer the phone, and he was not in the company. She called Albert to find out that he was at home. But she couldn't go to find him even if he didn't answer the phone. After all, Penny was at home. But it was okay for Brian to be at home, at least Luke was safe. On Monday. It was Winnie's first day at work after being injured. She came early. She was dealing with the backlog of work during this time, as checked the time and waited for Brian's arrival. The waiting time was agonizing, and finally it was time for Brian to go to work. Winnie knocked on the door of Brian's office with files. After getting permission, Winnie pushed the door to enter. First, she put the files in her hand on Brian's desk, and then she spoke. "Mr. Bennet, Chairman does not allow Luke to stay in my house. I want you to persuade him." Winnie didn't talk about official business, and went straight to the subject. "This is working time, don't talk about personal matters." Brian refused indifferently, then sat down and began to look through the documents. Just seeing Winnie still look embarrassed, his anger ignited inexplicably. He didn't explode because of his patience. "I won't see you during get off work hours, so I can only say it during work hours." Winnie was firm. No matter what Brian's attitude was, she would take up working time. Brian didn't say a word, but his dark bright eyes shot at Winnie sharply. But his warning had no effect at all for Winnie, and she was not afraid at all. "Mr. Bennet, this is something we have gotten agreement. Luke must stay with me." Winnie's tone remained firm. Even if Brian's eyes were like a sharp sword that could behead her, she was not afraid for Luke. "Yes, we had a deal. But it's not me who broke the agreement. Go to Chairman and don't bother me here." Brian was annoyed at Winnie's disobedience, increased the volume and said in a very indifferent tone. "I have already found Chairman, and he didn't agree with me before I came to you. Although you did not break the agreement, but I have given you the newly developed software, you have the obligation to help me." Winnie knew that she was a little unreasonable. However, she was not the only one who was unreasonable, and she had no choice but to speak like this. "How much the software is, I'll give you money. Don't always use software to threaten me." Brian threw the file in his hand on the table, the sound piercing his ears. "Mr. Bennet, it's not a matter of money. It's a matter of principle. You can't go back on your word." Winnie held the attitude of seeing death as home, even if Brian demolished the whole building, she would say what she should say. "Winnie, don't push your luck. No one dares to talk to me like this." Brian finally couldn't help it, and didn't know how to fight back, so he could only make himself angry without restraint. However, his words were like icebergs in the Arctic, not only cold but also capable of piercing people's hearts. Winnie showed mocking chuckle, and she only saw Brian's purpose now. He didn't help her because he didn't want Luke to stay with her. "Mr. Bennet, in this case, I have nothing to say. Our current contract has not been signed yet. I can only resign and return to the original company." Winnie saw no hope, and could only threaten him. "Whatever you want, you are not the only person who can program software in such a big country. You are not the only talent. Without you, the Bennet Group will continue to develop." "Get out." Brian scolded furiously, unexpectedly Winnie threatened him with work because of this matter. He hated the threats of others most, and it was his kindness that he didn't make Winnie pay the price. Winnie was completely disappointed and desperate for Brian. Looking at his face like an iceberg, looking at the dismissal in his dark and cold eyes, Winnie knew that Brian would not help her, and knew that Brian didn't care about her in any way. "Well, since Mr. Bennet said that, I have nothing to say. Mr. Bennet, since you don't care about anything about me, you shouldn't ask me if I care about you that day." Winnie left such a disappointing sentence and turned and left. Back at the office, she left the company with her own bag. She was filled with pain, and there was no one who could help her. Winnie drove to the beach to avoid suffocation. The infinite breadth of the sea could accommodate all her troubles. Winnie had no way at all at this time, and Brian refused to help her solve it. This matter was even more difficult to handle. Luke's safety would not be guaranteed if time delayed. Luke's mood had only improved a bit recently. If he was being abused, he may not be able to hold on to it. But Winnie could only be in a hurry and couldn't find the next person who could help her. Now she had a fight with Brian and lost her job. It was even more difficult to protect Luke. Winnie was annoyed that she shouldn't went against Brian directly. As long as she said something soft and nice, the situation may be different now. Winnie was at the beach and didn't go back until the time to pick up the child. She looked forward to seeing Luke in the kindergarten, and then asked Luke to go home and fight with Brian. However, Winnie's hopes came to naught once again, and she did not see Luke. "Mummy, Brother Luke was picked up at noon." Megan saw Winnie, the first thing she said was about Luke. It could be seen that Megan was also very sad. "Was he picked up? Who picked him up?" Winnie couldn't calm down and asked in a flurry. "His mummy picked him up. She said she wanted to take Brother Luke to go shopping for some company celebration." Megan repeated what she had heard. "Celebration?" Hearing what Megan said, Winnie remembered the invitation letter she saw at the company in the morning. During her stay in the hospital, the phone had been successfully launched and sold well. In order to celebrate a good start, the Bennet Group prepared a celebration banquet. Did Penny take Luke to the celebration party? Thinking of this, Winnie hurriedly opened her bag, rummaging through the invitation card. Fortunately, the invitation with hope lay in Winnie's bag. Even if she resigned, she would attend this celebration banquet because this was the only chance to meet Luke. Taking Megan home, they both were listless along the way. When they got off the car and closed the door when she arrived at community, she saw Daenerys getting out of the car. "Are you busy today?" Winnie took Megan's hand and came to Daenerys' car. "No, I come to you to dinner after getting off work on time." Daenerys said happily. She had been working overtime for many days. Today she could finally have a rest. It was natural to be happy. But the next moment she discovered that the emotions of Winnie and Megan were not right, and one person was missing. "What's wrong? What about Luke?" "Brother Luke..." As soon as Daenerys asked, Megan couldn't help crying, and couldn't say anything next. Winnie handed the bag to Daenerys, bending over to pick Megan up. "Okay, don't cry, Mummy will definitely get Brother Luke back." After comforting Megan, Winnie told the matter to Daenerys. She didn't say it carefully, because she was afraid that Megan heard something that she shouldn't know. Today's dinner was a bit simpler than usual, because Winnie felt upset because of Luke's matter, and had no intention of making a big meal. Dinner was on the coffee table in the living room, and the two women chatted while drinking. After Megan finished eating and went to the study to do her homework, Winnie explained the matter in detail. "How can Brian break his promise?" After listening to Winnie's account of the whole thing, Daenerys was angry. Although Brian was indifferent, Daenerys thought he was a real man. She would inevitably be disappointed as he did such a thing. "He can say whatever he wants, no one can control it." Winnie looked at the wine glass and sighed, helpless. "Winnie, just tell Brian about Penny's abuse of Luke. I don't believe that he will let the Luke stay with Penny after he knows that Luke is abused." Since Brian was so unkind, Daenerys felt that this was the only way to solve the problem. "No, one is that Luke won't let me say it. The other is that it may not be effective." Winnie directly denied Daenerys's opinion. She sighed again and continued. "Penny seems very important to Brian. Even if I tell him, Brian may not punish Penny. If this is the result, Luke's future will be even more difficult."

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 77 STUNNING

Winnie didn't dare to use Luke to make the bet. She couldn't be more careful in the matter of fighting for Luke's custody. Only by being cautious could she conceal the whole thing and then she could stay with the two children for the rest of her life. Hearing Winnie's words, Daenerys was helpless. She couldn't help Winnie. "Then there is no other way. Now that your child has taken away and you are facing unemployment. We have to think of a solution. Do you really want to return to the original company?" "Impossible. I have to guard Luke here. Even if I come back, Daniel won't treat me well. There is always a way." Winnie just said casually at the time. It was impossible for her to return to MT. "By the way, this house is provided to you by the Bennet Group. If you don't work for them, do you have to move out?" The question that Daenerys thought of also seemed to be very important. "Yeah. When I finish my resignation letter, I will move out." Winnie hadn't considered this issue yet. Anyway, the final result was that she had to move out. "Fine. Don't go to Vanessa's house this time. If Brian drives you away mercilessly, you just go to Leo's house." Leo was looking forward to it. This time, if Brian gave up Winnie, Daenerys would believe that he would regret it. "Even if I want to move to Vanessa's place, there is no room for me to live in. Her son has come back. I can't go to Leo's place, either. I can rent a house." Winnie didn't want to trouble anyone. As long as she could solve it, she would solve it by herself. "You're in such a hurry. Where can you go to find a house? You don't have to worry about this. I will arrange it for you." Daenerys didn't want to miss this opportunity. If Brian really drove Winnie out, she would definitely let Winnie move to Leo's house. She could take advantage of this opportunity to either let Leo and Winnie start again, or let Brian confess his love. Three days later, the celebration banquet of the Bennet Group was held in the super-luxury banquet hall of the hotel of the Bennet Group, which started at 8 pm. Winnie was ready. Because the banquet was relatively large and the guests at the banquet were all people from the upper class. Winnie had to dress more grandly. When Winnie came to the venue, the guests and friends were already present. Winnie didn't know anyone of these business giants in the industry. But when she walked into the venue, she attracted everyone's admiring eyes. Everyone's eyes shot towards Winnie, arousing countless exclamations. Brian noticed something wrong. He followed everyone's gaze to look over. Then he couldn't help but stare at Winnie surprisedly. Winnie's hair was simply tied to the back of her neck. The hair on her sideburns fell naturally. Black and white earrings hung on both ears, which matched her today's dresses very well. Looking at the delicate makeup on Winnie's face, her charming eyes, and her sexy lips, Brian felt amazing. He had never seen Winnie like this before. Also, he didn't expect that she would attract the attention of so many men, including him of course. Brian couldn't look away. He continued to look at her, with greed and appreciation in his eyes, as well as a strong desire for possession. Winnie wore a white strapless dress. Her shoulders and two sexy upper arms were exposed to the air. From the upper arm to the wrist, it was exaggerated puff sleeves, which made her look like elegant and generous. Although her chest did not expose too much, it was on the edge of the clothes, which made people's heads in the clouds infinitely. The sleek buttocks were tightly wrapped by the dress, which showed her good figure. The skirt of the small fishtail on the lower body was exquisite and elegant. The design with high slits was sexy. When Brian saw that the slits of the dress had reached the position of her thighs, he couldn't help but darken his face. Brian frowned. His face became cold and angry. But there were so many people here, so he couldn't take Winnie away directly. He could only hold back his anger and looked away. Everyone's attentions were attracted by Winnie. They were all amazed by her noble beauty, and began to inquire about Winnie's information. The focus of everyone was Winnie, but Winnie's attention was not on these burning eyes. From the moment she walked into the venue, she was looking for Luke. In the process of looking for Luke, when she made eye contact with Brian, she could not help but tremble indifferently. This trembling was not because of love, but because of heartbreak. Winnie quickly looked away and continued to search for Luke. Finally, she found Luke who was held by Penny among so many women. At the same time, Penny also noticed Winnie's arrival. Seeing such stunning Winnie, Penny's eyes were also full of anger. Today she was the hostess. She should be the most dazzling person among the women. But Winnie's arrival undoubtedly stole her thunder. She was so angry. Penny was so mad and unconsciously held Luke more and more tighter. Luke didn't see Winnie's arrival. A pain suddenly came from his hand. He did not dare to speak. So he could only endure the pain and frowned. His handsome little face was a little pale and moved his big eyes in panic. This scene happened to be seen by Winnie. She walked over quickly. She snatched Luke's hand directly from Penny's hand. "Mrs. Bennet, I can help you look after your child." Winnie spoke mildly, but the warning in her eyes was unusually obvious. Only then did Penny realize that she made Luke hurt. Then she quickly put on a smiley face. "Thank you, Miss Winnie." Penny showed an unprecedented mild and good temper, but the coldness in her eyes did not lose to Brian. Winnie looked at the hypocritical Penny and smiled mockingly. "Mrs. Bennet, you are so busy. I can take Luke to play." After finishing speaking, Winnie took Luke away, and then came to a corner where no one noticed. "Luke, did Mommy embarrass you?" Winnie squatted down and asked, while checking whether Luke was injured. Luke did not answer. But he opened his arms and directly put his arms around Winnie's neck. He pressed his face to Winnie's. "Auntie, I'm fine. Don't worry about me. Auntie, I miss you and Megan. I want to go back to our home." As Luke was speaking, tears welled up into his eyes. In the past few days, he had been living carefully. He was afraid to speak, for fear what he said would anger Penny. He didn't dare to play in the living room, for fear that he would bump into Penny. Luke could only shut himself in the room, silently missing Winnie and Megan. This kind of life was too tormenting for him. He felt that he would collapse soon. "Hey, Auntie misses Luke too. I'm so happy to see that you don't get hurt." Winnie couldn't help but want to cry. Only by holding Luke like this could she feel at ease for a moment. "Auntie, are your injuries healed? I have been worried about you." Luke asked worriedly. "Okay, I'm all right. Don't worry about me." Winnie hugged Luke in her arms, for fear that he would be taken away by the devil, Penny, in the next second. "Auntie, can you take me home today? I don't want to go to Daddy's house." Luke begged again, which almost made Winnie collapse. Winnie didn't speak at first, pulled the child out of her arms, and then spoke very seriously. "Luke, I have encountered a little trouble recently. I can't pick you up yet. You stay at Dad's house for a few more days. Remember not to annoy your Mommy. Also, when you have the opportunity to be with your Dad alone, you beg your Dad and let him agree you to come to Auntie's house. You have to fight for the opportunity, but remember not to let your Mommy hear." In this limited time, Winnie tried to put the question briefly and concisely so as not to be heard by Penny. She kept telling Luke not to irritate Penny, for fear that Luke would be hurt. "Well, I will do what you said." Luke said confidently, thinking that he could do a good job. "Also, when Dad is not at home, you have to take the doll that Auntie gave you with you wherever you go." Winnie said to Luke. In this way, she could know the situation in time and could rescue Luke in time if something bad happened to him. "Well, I'll definitely take it with me." Although Luke didn't know the secrets in the doll, he was willing to bring the doll with him. Because in that bleak and fearful home, the doll was his only partner. As soon as the conversation between the two was over, Penny came over. Then she took Luke away again. Winnie stared at Luke. No matter where Luke went, Winnie kept watching him from a certain distance. "Winwin?" Leo's voice came from behind Winnie. Winnie turned around after hearing the sound. "Leo." "Winwin, you are so beautiful today. I can't believe my eyes. I thought I had admitted the wrong person." Leo smiled happily. When he saw Winnie, his smile was more brightly. He was also invited to attend today's celebration banquet. He came a little late for work reasons, but he didn't expect to hear some men talking when he walked into the banquet hall. When he listened to what they talked about carefully, he found their topic was Winnie. Then he started looking for Winnie again. "I'm flattered." Winnie wasn't happy, but still spoke to Leo. All her attentions were on Luke. "You're the most stunning one tonight." Leo held back his smile. But he still looked at Winnie. "Really? Am I that good?" Winnie asked bitterly. Since she was the most stunning one tonight, why Brian couldn't see her beauty? Why did he stare at her with disgust as if she was an unexpected guest? Just after Winnie finished speaking, the host announced that today's ball had officially started. The opening dance was undoubtedly Brian and Penny. Winnie glanced at Luke unconsciously. She was relieved when she saw him next to Albert. Winnie's gaze fell on Brian. There was no indifference on his face and no anger in his eyes, either. Winnie knew Brian cared about Penny so much, otherwise he wouldn't protect Penny like that. Watching the ice on Brian's face melt for Penny, Winnie felt so heartbreak. "Let's dance together." Leo's warm voice came into her ears. Winnie did not refuse. After looking at Luke, she followed Leo into the center of the dance floor.

CHAPTER 78 BEING ABUSED AT THE BANQUET

Winnie was not only beautiful, but also more beautiful when she danced. Once again, she attracted everyone's attention. These gazes were envious, or jealous, or appreciated, or worshiped. Only Brian looked angry. From the beginning of dancing, he had been paying attention to whether Winnie was invited by anyone. What he was worried about still happened. Brian couldn't remain his coolness as before. He looked so cold now. But in public, he could only endure his anger. He could only watch that Winnie was held by Leo and danced with Leo. They smiled so brightly and looked like really matched. The more Brian saw it, the more angrier he was. The anger in his eyes became stronger and stronger. Finally, the song ended. When the people in the center of the dance floor hadn't left yet, the second song had already begun. Brian directly blocked Winnie. "Miss Winnie, may I have a dance with you?" It seemed that he was asking, but the looks in his eyes looked so domineering. Winnie hesitated. She could not refuse Brian in front of so many people. Besides, this was also an opportunity for their relationship to ease. After Winnie signaled Leo to go back, she was taken to the center of the dance floor by Brian. Brian held Winnie's waist a bit tighter, as if he wanted to embed Winnie into his body. "Who are you trying to seduce when you dress like this? Those who are here today are all high-ranking officials. No matter which one you hook up, you will have no worries about your life anymore." Brian was attached to Winnie's ear and said sarcastically with a voice that only they could hear. Winnie last hope disappeared suddenly. What could she expect from such a man who didn't care about her? "I lose my job, but I have to live. Finding a rich man to cheat more money will definitely be better for me. By the way, I will send you my resignation letter by email tomorrow." Winnie changed her breath and continued talking. "If you are in a hurry, I can move to Leo's house first. If you are not in a hurry, I will return the house to you after I find the house." Winnie didn't really want to move to Leo's house. The reason why she said this was deliberately to let her look less pitiful. She wanted to let Brian know that even if she had no job, she would have someone to take her in. Although what she said was not her real thoughts, she just said it out. She thought she would feel less angry. "Just give up Luke like this?" Brian suddenly became a little confused and panicked. It was as if Winnie was saying goodbye to him, as if she would soon disappear out of his world. Had he gone too far? Shouldn't he indulge his grandfather to force Luke to stay? If Luke was with Winnie, he still had a reason to let Winnie stay. "What if I don't give up?" Winnie's hatred gradually rose. She was completely disappointed with Brian. No matter how he tempted her, she would not believe it. "Then quickly hand in a resignation letter. Don't affect the future of the Bennet Group." Brian finally said the hurtful words again, but he still did not have the courage to let Winnie move out immediately. He was afraid that Winnie would really move to Leo's house if he forced her too much. "Don't worry. I won't affect the Bennet Group." Winnie answered Brian sadly. When she finished speaking, she suddenly found that Luke next to Albert was gone. Winnie panicked immediately. She tried to leave to find Luke, but was stopped by Brian. She couldn't walk away at all. "So many people are watching us. Don't embarrass me." Brian said in a very cold voice. He thought that Winnie would leave him alone again. So he warned. "I have something urgent to deal with." Winnie frowned and said anxiously. "Hold it on." Brian insisted. He couldn't be embarrassed by her in public. Although he had seen the anxiety on Winnie's face, she was a liar whose acting skills were even better than those actresses. Even the look in her eyes might be fake. "You..." Fortunately, just when Winnie was about to continue to refute, the dance music ended. After Winnie glared at Brian angrily, she quickly left. Winnie eagerly looked for Luke while holding the mobile phone. She turned the mobile phone into the video mode. She had a bad feeling. Penny must be torturing Luke. Winnie not only wanted to rescue Luke, but also wanted to get all the evidence. Winnie looked for the entire hall but couldn't find Luke. She became more and more anxious. She walked out of the hall to look around, but she still didn't find Luke. When she was passing the door of a safe exit, Winnie heard Penny's deliberately lowered voice coming from the corridor. Although the voice was low, it couldn't conceal Penny's hideousness and mania. Winnie gently opened the door to a gap and saw that Penny was hitting Luke's head with her hand, and her other hand began to pinch the inside of Luke's thigh. "Your Dad is dancing with your shameless aunt. Since he doesn't care about my feelings, I won't care about your feelings. You will be responsible for everything your Dad does." Penny said viciously, and hit Luke on the head fiercely. Seeing the scene, Winnie was furious. She felt so heartbreak. She pushed the door hard, came to Penny, raised her hand to slap Penny. "Penny, you actually hit such a small child." Winnie couldn't care so much, and shouted angrily. Then she squatted down and hugged Luke trembling body. "Auntie." Luke's voice was so small, but he dared not cry. Because Penny was there. "Are you okay? Does it hurt?" Winnie checked Luke's head, and then checked the inner thighs. There was no trauma to the head, but the inner thigh had been bruised. Winnie could not stop her tears. "Penny, damn it. Are you crazy? You dare to abuse such a small child in such a public place." Winnie angrily scolded Penny. "Winnie, what's wrong with you? I'm helping the child tidy up the clothes. Don't slander me." Penny was startled with Winnie's appearance. She was so startled that she didn't react even after being slapped by Winnie. Later, she forced herself to calm down. Even if Winnie saw it, there was no evidence. Winnie couldn't do anything with her. "You don't know what you are doing? A slap is not enough, isn't it?" After Winnie finished speaking angrily, she quickly got up and slapped Penny's face again. Winnie would feel a little better if Penny admitted it and apologized. But Penny still pretended to be innocent, which made Winnie so mad. "You..." "Penny, you deserve these two slaps. You are so mean." Winnie's anger did not fade away because of two slaps. Her eyes were scarlet because of anger. She felt that her heart ached because of seeing Luke's bruises. Seeing Luke being abused, these two slaps could not calm Winnie down. "Winnie, don't go too far. You slander me. I'll let Brian avenge me." Penny said viciously. Then she picked up the phone to call Brian and was about to ask Brian to hold justice for her. Penny thought that there was no surveillance and no evidence. If she said Winnie framed her, Brian would surely believe it. As for Luke, he dared not tell the truth. Although this idea was a bit risky, it could let Winnie be taught, and let Brian see Winnie clearly. Penny felt it worth. The she took out the phone and started dialing the phone number. "Auntie, don't make a scene. Today is a company celebration. Dad will be embarrassed." Luke hurriedly said. Every sentence he said was for Brian, but every sentence hurt Winnie. No matter who Penny looked for, Winnie was not afraid. Even if Brian came here, she could expose the matter. However, Luke's remarks had to make Winnie reconsider. If the matter was getting worse, would it cause psychological harm to Luke? Penny turned on speakerphone. She wanted Winnie to listen to how she explained the "facts". At the same time, Winnie also took out her mobile phone. She showed the video she took just now, and spoke angrily. "Open your shit eyes and see if this is evidence." At this moment, the phone was connected. Brian's cold voice came from the phone. "What is the matter?" Penny couldn't hear Brian's voice. She just looked at the video in Winnie's phone in a panic. No! How could Winnie have evidence? Winnie came prepared and deliberately wanted to set Penny up. "Speak." Brian's impatient voice came from the phone again. "Honey, I have a toothache. I have to go home first. I let Miss Winnie take care of Luke. You'll take him home later." Penny made up a reason as quickly as possible, and then hung up. "Winnie, I didn't expect you to be so insidious. I really underestimated you." Penny gritted her teeth bitterly. If Winnie had the evidence, she would always worry about it, and it would be not good to her. "I have no ways. To deal with people like you, I have to get the evidence by myself. Otherwise, you'll go too far." Winnie was mad without showing any fears. Looking at Penny's angry and gloomy face, she also knew that the war between them was getting worse and worse. There was no room to ease. "Well, Winnie, that's not over." Penny wanted to leave quickly and re-planned what to do next. After four years, Winnie was no longer the original Winnie. Penny must be cautious. "Wait, Penny, I warn you, if I know that you abuse Luke again, don't blame me for showing this to Brian. You know what will happen to you better than anyone else." Winnie warned Penny. She used the video to ensure the safety of Luke, and used the video to curb Penny's viciousness. After hearing it, Penny didn't speak. She just looked at Winnie in disgust and then turned and left. After Penny left, Luke finally couldn't help crying. "Auntie, I'm so scared. Auntie, I want to go home with you." Luke said while crying. The crying sound made Winnie feel heartbreak, as if her heart being held by a hand. "Luke, don't cry. There won't be such a thing happening again in the future." Winnie hugged Luke and comforted him. She clearly felt that Luke's body was still shaking because of fear. She felt ached again. Until the end of the banquet, Winnie held Luke's hand all the time. Only by holding Luke's hand like this did Winnie feel at ease.

CHAPTER 79 SUBMITTING THE RESIGNATION LETTER

Winnie and Luke had been sitting in the corner until Brian walked all the guests out before coming to pick up Luke. "Let's go home." Brian said coldly. "Daddy..." Luke said timidity. "Let him go back with me." Winnie was still fighting for it. "No, Grandpa won't agree." Brian coldly refused, reaching out to hold Luke's hand. "It's so important to explain to Grandpa? It's more important than child?" Winnie was anxious when she saw Brian wanted to take Luke away. "You don't need to worry about this. If you want Luke to go back with you, talk to Grandpa." Brian refused her directly. He was still so determined. After speaking, he left without even looking at Winnie. "I will go to find your Grandpa, but you must take good care of Luke during this time." Winnie looked at Brian's back and shouted. When Winnie walked out of the hotel, she found it was raining outside, just like her mood now. Standing in place, she was waiting for the staff to help her load up the car. Just at this time, Brian's car drove pass by her. Luke looked at Winnie expectantly and kept waving his hand. But Brian didn't even turn his head, as if he didn't see her. Maybe he seemed to ignore her deliberately. Winnie put down her hand. She felt extremely desperate. She was such a fool! She shouldn't like such a man! If it was okay, she really wanted to take her two children away secretly. She hoped that she had nothing to do with Brian in her rest life. When Winnie was thinking, Leo's car stopped in front of Winnie. "Hey! I have been waiting for you. Get in the car." Leo's gentle face and handsome smile once again formed a sharp contrast with Brian's cold face. "I drove here." Winnie bent down to answer. She did not forget to cover her chest with her hand. "You dressed like this. It's inconvenient for you to drive. Get in the car first and pick your car up tomorrow." Leo urged. It was raining so heavily. Winnie was inconvenient to drive with such a dress. Besides, she had just experienced a car accident. He was worried about that Winnie drove home alone. "OK." Winnie didn't refuse. She just got into the car directly. However, the interaction between these two people was clearly seen by Brian who had just passed by. He was so angry in an instant. After Brian walked out of the hotel and knew that it was raining outside, he ordered the staff to put an umbrella in Winnie's car to prevent her from getting wet when she got out of the car. But he didn't expect that Leo would appear suddenly. So the umbrella wouldn't come to the handy. After getting to home, Winnie took a shower and changed into comfortable home clothes. Then she began to draft her resignation letter. Writing resignation letter was so easy for her. Because she had written it so many times. Winnie thought carefully how many times she had been submitting resignation letters since her return. The next morning. After thinking about it so many times, Winnie decided to submit her resignation letter in person. She had to get some important documents back. Besides, she was still holding the last glimmer of hope, hoping that Brian could help her one last time. Winnie went to the hotel to pick up the car, and then drove to the company. After arriving at the company, she began to sort out important documents. But before she finished sorting out, Klara came to look for her. "Miss Winnie, the president is already at work." This time, Klara looked so happy. Maybe she already knew that Winnie was going to resign. Winnie forced a smile. She didn't expect that she would be unwelcome everywhere. "Okay, I'll be here soon." Winnie said. Now, she didn't care about who welcomed her. The important thing for her was to get Luke back. After packing the last stuff, Winnie walked into the president's office again with her resignation letter. After entering the office, Winnie didn't say anything. She just directly put the resignation letter on Brian's desk. "Mr. Bennet, this is not the first time I submit my resignation letter, but I hope this is the last time. This time, the process is relatively simple. After all, there is no contract that binds both parties." Winnie was in a bad mood. When she submitted her resignation, she felt like breaking up with her boyfriend who had been dating for many years. If she didn't try to restrain herself, she might cry aggrievedly. "Since it is unnecessary, you shouldn't come to submit your resignation." Brian said coldly, but never looked up at Winnie. However, when Winnie was speaking, the movement of flipping through the document in his hand stalled for a moment. "My resignation has caused you trouble, but for me it is the end of a life stage. Since it's the end, it has to end completely and clearly. Only when I give your resignation letter will I feel that I have nothing to do with the Bennet Group in the future." Winnie knew that Brian would say such hurtful words. Although she was mentally prepared, she still felt sad. "Mr. Bennet, although I have resigned, I can still take care of Luke, as long as you..." Winnie did not forget the most important thing. But Brian did not give her the opportunity to continue. "I accept your resignation. You can leave now." Brian answered indifferently, obviously with anger. What made Winnie be puzzled was what he was still angry with. Everything was going on according to his will. What was he angry with? "Mr. Bennet, I ask you to think about it from Luke's standpoint. Has he changed a lot when he lived with me during this time? This change..." Winnie still didn't want to give up. But Brian did not give her a chance as if he was determined. "Get out." He yelled at her without any emotions. The two unfeeling words came into Winnie's ears. Winnie smiled bitterly. Her eyes filled with despair and grievance. "Okay, I'll go out immediately. I won't come here next time even if you invite me. Although I am not your employee, the agreement between us is still valid. I will go to find your Grandpa. Please don't interfere with the matter." Winnie glanced at Brian angrily for the last time, then turned and left. Brian looked up after hearing the door closing. His face had been swallowed by anger. He frowned and his eyes were blazing with anger. He threw all the documents and the resignation letter to the ground. He should be happy that Winnie left. Why was he so unwilling to let her go? Why was his reason swallowed by anger? When Brian was angry with himself, the phone rang suddenly. "What's up?" Brian didn't know this phone number. Besides, he was angry, so his tone was naturally not good. "This is Daenerys. I'm looking for Winwin." Daenerys was frightened by Brian's indifferent tone, but she could still hold it on, because she didn't have to face Brian. "Just call her." Brian said as he was going to hang up. "I called her but no one answered. In the morning, she said she was going to the company to submit her resignation letter. I couldn't get through her phone, so I called you. Please help me tell her one thing." Daenerys didn't care how gloomy Brian's face was now. Since she had already gave the phone call, she had to finish what she should say. Brian was obviously a little helpless. But it was for Winnie, so he endured it. "Say." "Just tell her, I have already told Leo. Let her go home to pack things and move directly to Leo's house. As for the job, Leo said that he would accept her unconditionally, and he would give her good salary." Daenerys' words were like an atomic bomb explosion, which made Brian dizzy and unable to calm down. He hung up the phone quickly and pressed the internal call."Let Winnie come in.""Mr. Bennet, Miss Winnie has just entered the elevator. She has left."Klara's tone sounded very happy.Brian hung up the internal call angrily.Then he called Winnie twice, but no one answered the call.Brian was anxious. He stepped directly into the president's exclusive elevator.But fate seemed to be joking with him. When he arrived at the underground parking lot, Winnie had left. He went to the outdoor parking lot again. As soon as he arrived at the parking lot, Winnie galloped past him, just like he left without paying attention to her at the hotel last night.At this time, Brian realized what kind of mood Winnie was like last night. It turned out that the feeling of being ignored by others was so bad.Brian returned to his office, thinking about what happened in the past few months after Winnie returned.Winnie almost treated everything so indifferent, except for her special attachment to Luke. If she was for getting close to him, there was no need to take so many efforts. He gave her so many opportunities but she refused all of them. What was she for? What secrets did she have but he didn't know?Winnie did not go home but drove directly to the old house of the Bennet family. She would continue to fight until she could let Luke go back with her.However, what she didn't expect was that Felix didn't see her at all.Winnie did not give up, waiting outside the villa. She had to go home when it was time to pick up the children.Winnie did not see Luke in the kindergarten. She went home with a depressed mood, only to find Brian sitting in the living room."Uncle."While Winnie was still surprised, Megan already ran to Brian excitedly and threw into Brian's arms."Uncle, I miss you so much. Where have you been these days?"Megan asked happily. Such a frank statement made Brian stunned."I miss you too, so I came to see you."Brian said in a low voice. Only when facing this little guy could he not be so cold."I knew you would miss me."Megan sweetly hugged Brian's neck. At this time, she felt so warm as if she felt the love coming from Dad. She just thought about it but couldn't say it. Otherwise, Mommy and uncle would have to quarrel because of her."Megan, uncle is tired. Don't pester your uncle."Winnie reacted from surprise. She didn't want to disturb Megan and Brian's closeness, but she had to disturb. It was just because they couldn't get along too well."All right."Megan was very obedient. But there was also helplessness and loss in her tone.Megan let go of her arms and stood up straight. But she looked at Brian pitifully."Megan, go to the study to do homework. Mommy will call you when dinner is done."Winnie didn't think that Brian just came here to see Megan. So she and Brian needed some space to talk."Ok."Megan was even more disappointed. But in order not to make Mommy angry, she could only obey the order.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 80 A RIDICULOUS EXCUSE

After Megan went upstairs, Winnie spoke. "What did you come here for?" Winnie was standing in front of Brian. Although she felt a little embarrassed and overwhelmed, it was better than sitting next to him. "You have to continue working for me." Brian's voice became cold. The warmth in his tone just now disappeared. "Why? Did you forget it? I already submitted my resignation this morning." Winnie said ironically. It was that she didn't make it clear, or that Brian came up with a new trick to tease her. "You owe me money, but now you can't pay it back, so you can only work for me." Brian said coldly but couldn't look into Winnie's eyes, because his eyes were mixed with so emotions that he himself couldn't even figure it out. "I owe you money? What money do I owe you?" Winnie asked confusedly, with doubts in her eyes. "My car was crashed by you. It has nothing to do with the company. You have to compensate. I'm sure that you can't pay it back now so you can only pay for it by working." Brian said. There was no coldness in his voice. Since receiving Daenerys' call in the morning, Brian had regretted letting Winnie leave. He was afraid that she would go to work in Leo's company, or that she would move to Leo's house. Even he was more afraid that she would be with Leo. Brian thought for a day before he came up with such an excuse that even he himself felt it so mean. But in order to keep Winnie, he could only be mean once. "Car?" After Winnie heard this ridiculous excuse, she couldn't control her anger. "You still ask me to compensate your car? I almost got killed. Who can be responsible for it? Why didn't you let me compensate you when I asked for a re-investigation? Brian, your excuse sucks." Winnie was so furious, disappointed and aggrieved. Besides, she regretted falling in love with this man. "Well, since you said that, I will compensate you. How much is your car worth? One million? Five million or ten million? I don't have the money but I can borrow it. I will definitely give you." After Winnie said angrily, she took out her cell phone and dialed Leo's phone number. However, Brian quickly got up and snatched Winnie's phone, and then hung up. Without thinking about it, he knew that Winnie must be calling Leo. If so, he was not fighting for Winnie to stay, but quickly pushed Winnie to Leo's side. "You don't want to live with Luke anymore?" Brian had no choice but to mention Luke. "Brian, don't be so mean here. I have already used the software to exchange with it." Winnie wouldn't be threatened. She had already known Brian's ruthlessness. She was disappointed once. So she would not let herself be disappointed repeatedly in this matter. "That software can be regarded as compensation for the car. Now, you have to work for me to exchange that you can live with Luke." Brian's tone was firm. He did not allow his decision to be refuted. He finally looked up at Winnie triumphantly. Only when he saw Winnie's angry face did he feel at ease. He would feel so anxious when he saw her silence. "You... Rascal." Winnie was speechless for a moment. She had seen so many shameless people, but had never seen such a shameless person. After a moment of silence, Winnie spoke again. "What you mean is that if I go back to work, you will return Luke to me?" "I will help you get Luke back. You go back to work." Brian repeated it. "I have a request." Speaking of Luke, Winnie had no reason to object. She could endure everything for Luke's sake. "Say." Seeing Winnie finally compromised, Brian responded quickly. "This time no one can take Luke away from me. If the chairman comes to me, you have to solve it." Winnie only had this requirement. She must hear Brian's assurance. "Okay." Brian agreed in a deep voice. Let alone such a small matter, even if Winnie made an excessive request, he would agree. As long as she did not go to Leo's company, as long as she did not move to Leo's house, everything was a small matter for him. "I have to see Luke tonight. Only when I see Luke will I go back to work." Winnie said anxiously. The closer the dream was, the harder it was to control the emotions. "I need to have a good talk with Grandpa. Only then I can give Luke to you. Tomorrow I will go to see Grandpa." Brian walked to Winnie's side while talking. The problem was resolved, so his mood was unusually relaxed. "Just call your Grandpa. You two can talk about it on the phone." Winnie only wanted to pick up Luke as soon as possible. "Grandpa won't answer the phone." Brian leaned close to Winnie's face and whispered. Then he stepped away. There were two reasons for his stepping away in a hurry. One was that he smelt the similar smell. He was afraid that he would not be able to control himself if he did not leave. The other was that he put all his work on hold for Winnie today, and now he must go back to deal with it. Winnie wanted to continue fighting, but she heard another sentence from Brian. "Grandpa was not at home today. But someone waited there for a day like a fool." After he finished speaking, the sound of closing the door sounded. Winnie looked dumbfounded. Was he talking about her? How did he know? Since he knew, why didn't he tell her but just let her wait there? Winnie scolded. But fortunately, at least Brian agreed to help, she was no more worried like before. There was another thing Winnie couldn't figure out. Brian let her leave in such a ruthless manner in the morning. Why did he come to her to negotiate terms right now? What did he experience during the day? The next day. Winnie came to the police station again. She was told that this was just a simple traffic accident, and it was her who thought too much. Even if the police gave a conclusion, Winnie didn't believe it. But now she couldn't let the police continue to investigate, so she could only investigate it by herself if she wanted to solve the doubts. However, Winnie didn't have any friends here. She could only ask Brian and Leo for help. Brian was ruled out by Winnie in the first place, because he would stand on Penny's side unconditionally. After dinner, Winnie went to see Leo, but Leo did not come back because of working overtime. Winnie had to go home. Lying on the bed, Winnie remembered that Brian had no news this day, so she wanted to give a call to him. When she picked up the phone, she thought of Luke. She decided to see if Luke was okay. So Winnie turned on the monitoring function of the mobile phone. Fortunately, she heard Luke's voice. He was talking with Brian. Winnie was relieved to hear that Brian was also at home. "Daddy, I want to go to Auntie's home. I miss Auntie. I also miss Megan." Luke was begging Brian according to the method Winnie taught him. Before speaking, Luke carefully checked whether Penny was here. "You just came back for a few days. You miss Auntie so soon?" Brian asked in a low voice. His attitude towards Luke had also changed a lot after seeing Megan. "Yeah. I miss her so much. I have been back for many days. I don't want to stay at home anymore. Dad, please! Please send me to Auntie's home." Luke deliberately lowered the volume, for fear of being heard by Penny who was upstairs. "Don't worry. I'll talk to your great grandpa tomorrow. I'll send you there but we have to get your great grandpa's agreement, or great grandpa will be angry." Brian also wanted to send Luke to Winnie's side as soon as possible. Only when Winnie saw Luke would she go to work. Only when Luke returned to Winnie's side could he have an excuse to see Winnie. It was just that things would be counterproductive if he didn't ask for Grandpa's consent. Brian could only endure for one day. "Dad, we can keep great grandpa from knowing it." At this time, Luke was as anxious as Winnie. He just wanted to return to Winnie's side as soon as possible. "You can't do that. It's disrespect for great grandpa." Brian's tone was obviously cold. There was impatience in his eyes. Winnie closed her eyes and listened to the conversation between the father and son. At first, she was very pleased. But later, Brian's tone changed, which made Winnie open her eyes to see what happened. However, when she opened her eyes to see the screen, she was startled by the person in the screen. Winnie saw Penny standing at the stairs on the second floor, listening to the conversation between the father and son, with a sinister expression. Winnie had a bad feeling. Penny's eyes were full of anger. If she vented her anger on Luke, the consequences would be so bad. Winnie quickly put down the phone and tried to call Brian so that their conversation at this time could end quickly, but Brian didn't answer the phone. Winnie became more and more worried. She wanted to bring Luke back immediately, but she couldn't find a suitable way. Since Brian didn't answer the phone, she could only go to his house directly. Winnie was worried about Megan, so she could only take Megan with her. Fortunately, when she walked downstairs, she met Leo who was about to go upstairs. So she entrusted Megan to Leo and went there alone. When she got into the car, she realized that she didn't know where Brian's house was. She picked up the phone and was about to call Albert. Just at this moment, the video program automatically popped out. "Luke, go to bed early. Dad has to go out." When Winnie heard Brian say this, she was so anxious. The bad feeling quickly swallowed her. If Brian went out, Penny would definitely vent her anger on Luke. Luke would suffer a lot. Winnie began to dial Brian's phone number, but Brian didn't answer it at all. She called Albert again but his phone was powered off. Winnie was going crazy. At this time, all she could think of was Klara. Fortunately, Klara answered Winnie's call. "Klara, tell me the specific location of Mr. Bennet's house. I have something to talk with Mr. Bennet." Due to the anxiety, Winnie's attitude was not gentle enough, which made Klara unhappy. "Miss Winnie, you are no longer at work in the Bennet Group. I can't tell you the address of Mr. Bennet." Klara's voice was obviously with disdain and disgust. Then she hung up the phone. "Hey, I have something important. Klara..." After the phone was hung up, Winnie called again. But no one answered the phone. Winnie was so anxious that she was almost on the verge of collapse. She turned on the phone's monitoring system again, but saw the scene she didn't want to see the most. Winnie yelled loudly, but neither of the two people in the video could hear it. Winnie turned off the video once again. She had no time to worry about whether Penny would find the camera or not, she could only call Penny directly. However, Penny didn't answer the phone, either.
