

My Twins 801

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 801 TWO PEOPLE APOLOGIZE TOGETHER

Leo stopped in the mid of his sentence, because he had done everything, it he kept saying, it was like sophistry. "Leo, you let me down again." Emily got up and walked out. "Where are you going?" Leo asked from behind. "I will go to Winwin, I want to apologize to her. I want to comfort her broken heart." No matter what time it was now, no matter whether it was the right time, she must immediately go and apologize to Winnie. She could image how sad Winnie was. "I'll go with you. I'm the one who should apologize." Leo paid the bill and chased out. Winnie had finished eating hot pot happily. Vanessa washed dishes in the kitchen, Winnie and Brian watched cartoons in the living room with two kids. "Mom, can you and dad go with us to our school opening ceremony tomorrow?" Megan was worried about tomorrow. "Of course, it's a new beginning in your life, so I will be there for you." If it weren't for the new life of her two kids, Winnie wouldn't have been back this week. "Great, Brother and I will speak behalf of the freshmen tomorrow. I won't be nervous with mom and dad there." It was the most practical thing for her to have Mom and Dad with her. "Mom, when will you finish studying? I want to see you every day and tell you all about school." Luke wanted more, he wanted to be with his parents all the time. "I have an event that will take more than a month. Luke..." "Mom, don't work so hard and come back. I want a stable life for a family of four. I don't want to go back and forth between the suburbs like we do now." Luke said sadly and it upset Brian and Winnie. Winnie was silent, because she did not know how to answer. She thought that the kids would not care about the things between her and Brian, and would not have expectations for a complete family, but she did not expect him to keep all these in mind. "Luke, you must stay with your grandfather for safety. When this time is over, you can go back and there will be no running back and forth." Winnie avoided the most sensitive issues. She dare not give any commitment. However, Luke did not want to give up this rare opportunity, he still wanted to fight for his father. "Mom, we have to go back and forth even after this period of time. After all, Dad is in the suburbs. Mom, can you give Dad a chance..." "Luke, the matter between mom and dad was decided a long time ago. It's not that I don't give dad a chance, it's that we don't have a chance." Winnie knew what Luke was to say, so she interrupted him. Hearing that, Luke was disappointed. Winnie was sorry, but she had no other way. "Winwin, for the sake of the kids, give me another chance. I know you won't believe me, but I will never play with the kids' happiness." "I was wrong, I shouldn't have..." "Brian, don't say that in front of kids. If you are a good father and I am a good mother, it is the most responsible behavior for our kids." Winnie couldn't give Brian the chance, even if the kids interceded for him, she could not accept. The pain destroyed her at once, and there was no possibility of her being hurt again. "But Mom, my sister and I need a complete family." Luke's words again hurt the heart of Winnie. A complete family was like a myth to her, something she could only look at but never entered. So far, Brian had never realized what he really had done wrong. So far she had done so much, but Felix still could not accept her. So far, all of Brian's promised had not been fulfilled, and he was still giving for others. Winnie saw no hope, no future. In this case, she could only control herself. It was impossible for her to give her kids a complete home. "Son, I am..." Before she could say "sorry", the doorbell rang. Megan hurried to open the door. "Hello, uncle, aunt." "Hello, Megan." Emily responded to Megan's greeting, and then went to Winnie. "Slow down..." Winnie said while she got up. But Emily came to embrace her. "I'm sorry, Winwin, I'm really sorry." Emily apologized, which confused Winnie. "What's wrong with you?" Winnie asked Emily, but got the answer from Leo. She was worried that the two had cut off all relations. "Winwin, it is about severing ties..." Hearing that, Winnie knew what happened. She interrupted Leo with a gesture. "Luke, take Megan to play with Aunt, I have something to talk to Emily." Winnie did not want the kids to hear these things, so she interrupted Leo and told the kids to leave. Luke did as she said. Seeing that Vanessa took two kids upstairs, Winnie took Emily to sit down. "Winwin, I am really sorry. Leo shouldn't have done that. It's because of me that you're sad." Emily burst into tears. She did not like to cry, but she was said that Winnie was abandoned by her friends. "Don't say that. Leo has apologized to me. Besides, Leo was drunk and not conscious enough." Winnie was pleased and warm for Emily's apology, at least her best friend cared about her and felt aggrieved that she had been treated unfairly. It was worth it that her best friend protected her. "He should apologize since he was wrong, but he wouldn't have made such a mistake if it hadn't been for me. So I apologize, too. I'm sorry, Winwin. Don't take what he said to heart." Emily still cried in apology, she could even imagine Winnie's reaction when she heard Leo's words. She must hold grievance and disappointment. "Well, I accept your apology. Don't cry, you can't be emotional now." Winnie smiled and held Emily in her arms. Her despair and grievance had faded away. At that time, she did not expect that one day she would smile to face this problem. It was life, in was dark and fearful in the last moment, but in the next moment, it was full of sunshine and joy. "Winwin, I apologize. I shouldn't have said that before. I was in a bad mood and couldn't think of a way. That was why I said those words." "I'm sorry, Winwin, I'll never say that again." Leo apologized to Winnie, only in this way to make Winnie feel better. "Come on, you have apologized, don't torture my ears again." Winnie most disliked other people's apology. It was Brian's weapon to hurt her, so she was loathing the people apologized to her. Whether it was intentional or unintentional, Winnie must solve the problem. "Emily, Leo was not intentional, but I think this is the key to the problem. Emily, you and Leo have a good talk, I don't want to sandwiching between you, because I don't want to affect your feelings." "If you can be together, I'd rather disown both of you." Winnie had to say so, afraid that Leo would be failed to pursue Emily. "Winwin, don't say that. If we cut off the relationship with you, do you think we can live happily for the rest of our lives?" "Winwin, I know you are worried about us, and I promise you to have a talk with Leo. Don't disown any of us. Relationship is important, but friendship is more important." Emily rushed into Winnie's arms and cried. Winnie sacrificed her most precious things for them, Emily was moved and felt ashamed of Winnie. She once again realized that the matter between her and Leo could not be put off any longer, there must be a result. "Well, don't cry. What's wrong with you today? There are so many tears." "Pregnant woman is so emotional." Winnie comforted Emily. "Winwin, don't worry about us. I've already told Emily that I will respect her whatever decision she makes." Leo knew Winnie said those words for the sake of them, but if Emily did not change her mind, anyone's help would be useless. "What are you taking about? Emily's mood is changeable now. Pregnant women can't control their emotions, so listen to it as a joke. Leo, you have to insist and take Emily and you child home." Winnie had to encourage him since she found that Leo was going to give up. "Her mood is indeed uncertain during this period of time. When she was in a good mood, she asked me to accompany her to the hospital for examination, to cook for her, to take her out for a walk. But in the next moment, she said she would have abortion and wanted to stay away from me." "Indeed, she confounded me. This is my first time dealing with a pregnant woman, and I didn't know it had anything to do with pregnancy. I think she doesn't like me. She hates me." It was not hearing Winnie's words then Leo knew that pregnancy would affect a person's mood so greatly, and in this way, he felt less depressed.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 802 THE HAND IS GOOD MEDICINE

Winnie looked at Leo with a smile. Since she met Leo, she had never seen Leo being so helpless, which was quite pitiful. It seemed that he really loved Emily, or he would not change his mood because of Emily. "It is normal, whatever changes during pregnancy are normal and she will be ok by the time the baby is born." "But Emily, control yourself, Leo has a good temper, but now he was helpless now." Winnie said jokingly. If Leo could not insist, Emily would be sad. "I don't think I am affected by the pregnancy. Winwin, did you react this way when you were pregnant?" Emily asked Winnie, confused. She did have hot temper and she had uncertain mood recently. But she didn't think it was about pregnancy. "Yes, but you can take it all out on Leo, and I have no one to vent out. My family suffered an accident, my sister was ill at the time, so I have to overcome it all by myself." She accidentally talked about her experience and forgot that Brian was around. At that time, she had been suffering and only her aunt cared about her, and she had to work every day. "Oh, I'm histrionic compared to you." Emily once again felt Winnie that had had a hard time. Should she cherish Leo and give him the opportunity? "Women should be histrionic and should be loved by men." She did have a hard time, but she made it through. She did not know how she did it, but she knew there was no a man to help her. On the contrary, all her discomforts were brought to her by a man. She might not be suitable for men in this life. "I am sorry." Winnie's words made Brian feel guilty and spoke out this sentence. He could take good care of Winnie, but he had hurt her. He felt ashamed and wanted to make it up for her. Winnie did not expect Brian to chime in. She was stunned and then gave an ironic smile. "Thank you, but I can live without a man." Winnie refused, thinking he did not love her. "Leo, talk with Emily, I won't affect your love." Winnie returned to the original topic. Now the first task was to make Emily and Leo together as soon as possible. As for her, there was nothing to talk about. Leo left with Emily. Winnie and Brian sent them to downstairs. "Wait here. I'll go up and get the kids." Winnie obviously wanted Brian to leave. "Winwin, don't you want to talk to me? Let's go to the park and talk." It was still early and Brian did not want to leave, so he wanted to have a talk. They both knew what they would talk about. "Ok, let's go to the park." The park was just outside the community of Winnie. The lights were on and many young couples were there. Winnie felt she did not fit in looking at those couples. "Sit down." Winnie and Brian sat down on a chair. Brian was silent, enjoying the quietly walking with Winnie. Seeing that he was silent, Winnie thought he was still resistant to the topic, so she opened her mouth. "Mr. Bennet..." "Can you not call me that?" Brian's thought was pulled back by her address. He looked at Winnie with love in his eyes, but there was grievance in Winnie's eyes. Winnie dare not look at Brian, for his eyes had a great magnetic field, which would suck her in. Winnie did not want to call her that, but there was no better address for their relationship. Winnie looked away, ignored the requirements of Brian. "Well, Mr. Bennet, I don't care what happened between you and your father. But he treated me and Vanessa like his own kids, so I couldn't let him feel depressed." Winnie was obviously telling Brian, she did that was not for him but Rufus. "Since you did not do that for me, we don't need to talk about it." Brian got up and left, showing his attitude deliberately. He wanted Winnie to admit that she was good for him. However, it did not work. "Brian Bennet, if you dare leave, I promise you will never see me again." Winnie called Brian by his full name, threatening Brian. Brian stopped his pace, motionless, with his back to Winnie. But he felt better from the fact that Winnie changed her address. "You always say you can do it. If you go, I'll show you what I can do." Winnie threatened him again, as her voice just fell, Brian obediently sat back to the original position. "Winnie, including my mother my sister, no woman dare to threaten me like this, you are the only one." It was true, but he was willing to be threatened by Winnie. "When did you learn sweet words, it a new way though." Winnie sneered, dare not believe that Brian would say so. "I'm telling the truth." Brian was unconvinced. He changed a lot because of Winnie, but Winnie did not find it. "Come to the point, let's talk about your father." Winnie felt, since Brian did not go, they should face to the problem. "I'm not going to ask you anything specific. Just tell me how you can forgive your father." Winnie asked directly, because Brian would not tell her what had happened. "Shall I tell you what I really think?" Brian was serious. Since he agreed to have a talk, he should show his own attitude. "Yes, tell me what you really think." Winnie felt that to know what he really thought lead to the key to the problem. "That woman jumps off the building in front of me. I want her kids to suffer for twenty years as my sister and I did." Brian said, looking at Winnie. At this moment, his eyes were filled with hatred and ruthlessness. He held all his hatred and the sight of his mother's death in his cold eyes. He wanted revenge all these years. Winnie could see the hatred in the eyes of Brian, but she felt it was a kind of pain bind himself. Winnie knew that he could not forget the picture of his mother's tragic death, and that he was struggling in pain at the moment. Winnie was sorry for Brian, so she wanted to help him. She reached out her hand and put it on his clenching fist. She just wanted to give him some comfort, to ease his resentment. Winnie's hand was a good medicine, as she touched Brian, his heart immediately melted and hatred slowly weakened. He unclenched his fist and grasped Winnie's hand. His forearms propped up in his legs, his head in his hands. "Winwin, no one knows how I have been through for more than 20 years, and no one knows when I can't sleep at night and think about my mother." "The moment my mother left, I had nothing and I was no longer a child. I was a teenager and I had to grow up overnight." "Every time I see my mother in my dream, her head is cracked and her face is bloody, I will be scared into a cold sweat and wake up..." "Stop it, stop it. It's not your fault. You should not suffer from this." Brian was about to break it, Winnie embraced him and stopped him from continuing. "I know how you feel. You may feel better when you hear my story." Winnie tightly embraced Brian. She wanted to tell him what happened to her, so that Brian could be better. "It's hard to accept the way your mother died, but you still have your father and grandfather. However your relationship is, they are your family." "Both my father and mother died. We tried to save my mother, her hair was gone, her face was covered in bruises, and she had bruises all over her legs." Winnie was sad to think of that, but in order to ease Brian's mood, she had to say it. "But she was better than my father. My father's belly was open with his intestines exposed... His face and body were covered in blood, and his head was about to drop..."

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 803 OF THE SAME FATE

Winnie almost could not finish her words, but she still insisted. She had never told Vanessa and her aunt, afraid that they could not accept it. She was the only one who knew how terrible her father's death was and she was the only one who was suffering. Vanessa saw his father was covered in blood and his intestines exposed, but she did not know that his father's head was almost knocked off. Winnie had been more suffering than Brian. Her sister could not contain herself when she remembered this. "Winwin, stop, stop. I don't know any of that, much less how you made it through." Brian put Winnie in his arms and comforted Winnie in turn. They had common torment. Since so, they should comfort each other. At the moment she was embraced, Winnie collapsed. But she did not cry, but silently shed tears. "I'm telling you this not because I want to tell you I have more suffering. I just want to tell you, I made it through and have a happy life, you can do it too." With tears streaming down his face, he convinced Brian that they shared the similar story but had different destinies. Winnie got nothing, Brian still had his father. "No matter how much you hate it, whether you accept it or not, it happened. You are hurting not only yourself but your father and your family by keeping this hatred in your heart." "I no longer have parents, and I have no chance to honor them. You still have your father and your chance, and I don't want you to regret forever." Brian was touched by her words, but he had been silent. Until Winnie stopped crying, she pushed him away. Winnie sorted out her emotions and kept distance from Brian. She was disappointed that Brian said nothing. But it would be enough he had heard it. "So only that woman can make you let go of your hatred, right? You want to see her and her kids die, right? Tell me her name, I will help you." Winnie had said what she should say, but Brian did not show his attitude. "I can take care of my own affairs. Just leave me alone." Brian did not want Winnie to get involved. And he really did want to talk about it right now, and he didn't need anyone to help. Winnie was upset to hear that. She was silent, looking at him. It took Winnie a long time before she continued. "Well, since you don't like my interfering in your affairs, consider I am meddling. In the future, you don't have to do anything about me. You and I might as well draw boundaries, lest we dislike each other." Winnie tried to make her tone calm, only in this way to hide her trembling heart. She stood up calmly and walked away. Joshua overestimated her. She knew that she did not have the ability that she was nothing to Brian. Otherwise, Brian wouldn't have called her meddling. She would never do it again. Brian calmed himself down in the park before going to Winnie's home, but he found that Winnie had not come back as he reached the house. And her phone was off. "Vanessa, you stay at home with the kids, I go out to find your sister." Brian turned to leave after saying that, but was stopped by Vanessa. "Brian." "Brian, my sister texted me. She said she wants to have a walk and asked you to take the two kids home first. She also said she would be there on time for the kids' school opening ceremony tomorrow morning." Vanessa had received Winnie's message, so she knew that her sister was hiding Brian and they had quarrel. "Is she all right?" Brian was worried. "Yes. You'd better take them home first." Vanessa really wanted to scold Brian, but the kids were there, so she said nothing. Although her sister did not say anything, she knew it must be Brian brought trouble to her sister. She did not understand what Brian wanted. In his mouth, he said to get her sister back and to make up for her, but he always did something different from what he said. Even if he was worried, Brian had to leave with his two kids. He was worried on the way home. Winnie was sad too and did things for his sake. Even if he couldn't face it, he shouldn't have told her to stay away from his things. Brian thought he could keep calm and control his emotions in front of everyone. But in front of Winnie, he had no sense of bondage, always could not control his emotions and let Winnie sad. Brian was still worried after bringing the kids home. So he went out to the yard and called the bodyguard. "Where is Winnie?" "She has been walking on the road from the park. We don't know where she is going." "Protect her and send me her location." Brian hung up his cell phone, returned to his house, took out his car key, and drove to the address given to him by his bodyguard. Winnie was in a bad mood, no matter how she calmed herself, she felt headache. She sometimes was dazed and sometimes laughed at herself. She was nosy, pretentious, and cocky. She should stop her meddling and stop trying to change Brian. However, it was good enough that Brian knew something about her. She told herself she should not meddle in things of Brian. She did not know how long she had been walking, and where she had been, until she found herself in the gate of the Public Security Bureau. This might be the most reassuring place, but thinking of Brian, she still could not calm down. Looking at the lights inside, Winnie knew that her colleagues were still working overtime and struggling for the safety of the people. Winnie was also a policewoman, but she was suffering in her relationship. How idle she was, so she had time to grieve and meddle. It seemed that she wasn't busy enough. As she was in a daze, a familiar and deep voice was heard. "What are you doing here at this late hour?" Finn asked with doubts. At the moment he stood next to Winnie, but he could not see the expression of Winnie. But when Winnie turned to look at him, he found that Winnie's eyes were red and swollen, obviously she had cried. "What happened? Can I help you?" Finn asked quickly. It was his question that Winnie realized another thing. If she had asked Brian if she could help him, all this might not have happened. Winnie forced herself to raise her lips. "I'm all right." "Your smile is ugly." Finn had seen countless people. He could see through the emotions of the criminals who had sharp eyes. Winnie, a woman, could not hide her emotion from him for sure. But he did not ask too much. However, he did not expect Winnie to grow red in eyes again. Winnie realized her gaffe, so she blinked, so that her tears would not flow down. But at this time, Finn's another word made Winnie lose control. "Want to cry? Cry if you want, I can give you my shoulder." Finn said, patting his shoulder. Winnie gawked at Finn, the next moment, she shed tears. To avoid Finn seeing her tears, Winnie really leaned on Finn's shoulder. She cried not because that Brian had no response, but that he had told her not mind his own business. She cried because of grievance, and that she could not help thinking of her parents. In order to cater to the mood of Brian, in order to appease his painful heart, Winnie even mentioned her dead parents. However, Brian said she was meddling. She hated herself that she always interfered in Brian's affairs. She felt sorry for her dead parents. Winnie cried with her shoulders trembling. Finn did not know what happened, but he felt she would not have such treatment. He raised his hand, trying to pat Winnie on her back to comfort her, but it stayed in the air. He was her leader, and having her cry on his shoulder went beyond the leader-subordinate relationship. If he comforted her with his hands, it was even more out of line. This scene was caught by Brian, he wanted to get off to take Winnie away, but he had no excuse. Looking at Winnie crying on other men's shoulders, Brian's heart ached. But the problem was, he hurt Winnie, he was embarrassed to offer his shoulders. Winnie sorted out her mood and in the next day, she went with two kids to attend the school opening ceremony. Two kids did well on the stage, Brian and Winnie looked at the two kids in the audience proudly. In front of the kids, she still talked to Brian, but she was polite like a stranger. "Take the kids home after the ceremony. I have other things to do this afternoon." Winnie pretended to be calm, but it was painful for her to face Brian. "Are you going today? Dine with the kids tonight, if not." Brian wanted to create opportunities to talk with Winnie seriously.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 804 CAN I HAVE SURGERY

"I am not sure yet. I don't know when things will end. I will dine with them next time." Winnie did not tell him the specific time she would leave, nor did she accept the invitation to dinner. She wanted to leave without being disturbed by Brian. "Last night..." "Two kids are outstanding, those parents are jealous." Winnie interrupted the words of Brian. She would not dwell on the past. "Winwin..." "I can't see clearly here. I'll go to the other side." Brian wanted to explain what happened last night, but Winnie kept a distance from him. It was Monday, Oscar and Penny went to the hospital to see a doctor. At Penny's request, they took her previous cases and went to another hospital. Penny hoped that it could give a different examination result. She knew it was a long shot, but she was hoping against hope. After a morning of examination and the results of the first two examination, the doctor finally came to a conclusion. "The results given by these two hospitals are unquestionable and indeed it is advanced cancer." The doctor's answer was undoubtedly another sentence of death for Penny and her hope was completely extinguished. "Doctor, can I have surgery?" Penny showed her panic. "Yes, but..." The doctor could not go on. The next words were a fatal blow to the patient, which was cruel. "Just tell me, Doctor. I can take it and I'm prepared." Penny knew the reason for the doctor's hesitation, she knew she could accept it. Still hesitating, the doctor looked up at Oscar standing behind Penny. "You can tell her, doctor, she knows her illness better than anyone." Oscar was helpless, he could not lie to Penny at this moment. "Well, surgery and chemotherapy are feasible, depending on the patient's own wishes. But you've got a lot of spread, and surgery to remove just one organ is useless. And you're not going to be able to handle it if you're not feeling well in the chemotherapy." "That is to say there is a very high risk of surgery, and it may leave you with less time than conservative treatment. And you may die in the surgery." The doctor was afraid the patient could not bear it, so he did not tell her the worst possibility. "I suggest conservative treatment based on my understanding on your condition. Your pain-sensing nerves aren't sensitive, so the pain is not obvious to you, so you don't have as much suffering as others, and you can live a bit longer." "Just treat it conservatively, be optimistic and you'll live longer." The doctor gave the same advice as the other two hospitals. Penny was completely hopeless, that was to say, she could only wait for death. She had no idea how she got out of the hospital, let alone how she got home. Now she was in her own bed, and she still could not shake off the fear of death. She was gonna die. She had run out of life before she was thirty. She still had a lot of things to do, she had not defeated Winnie yet, she could not die in this way. What should she do? Winnie said goodbye to the two kids and then drove directly to her company. After arranging her work, she hurried to the police station, so she did not have lunch. "This program has been hacked. It will take some time." Winnie said while operating, and got herself involved into the work. But without lunch, her stomach was growling. "Didn't you have lunch?" Officer Lee asked Winnie. "No, I will eat tonight." Winnie was sure she could hold on. "Aren't you going tonight? Do you have time for dinner?" Officer Lee knew where Winnie was going and what time her plane was in the evening. "That depends on when this task can be completed, if I can finish early, I can have dinner in the canteen before I go to the airport. Otherwise, I'll have to eat dinner on the plane." Winnie had her plan, but she did not know what she would encounter during the operation, she was not sure when she would finish. "Ok, seize your time." Officer Lee shut his mouth and didn't bother her anymore. Thankfully, the virus was not as complex as Winnie thought, so she had solved it before dinner. "I can have dinner now. I haven't had food in the canteen for a long time. I really miss it." Winnie completed her task, and in the process, Brian had not showed up, so she was relaxed. "I'll have the food delivered to your office. I want to talk to you." Officer Lee said and got someone to get food for them from the canteen, and then he went to Winnie's office with Winnie. "You want to tell me about Richard?" Winnie was smart and she could guess what Officer Lee wanted to tell her. "Yes, but there is still no news from Richard. I want to talk about Penny's abnormal behavior." "She discreetly looked for the camera in the house before she made a phone call. That means she knows we had cameras in place, but she failed to find them." "But she still went outside. There are no cameras outside, but we found some video of her outside." "Of course she couldn't be heard, we just saw her make a hurried call with the nanny's phone, but we don't monitor her phone so we don't know what she said." Officer Lee told the story of the day. "Who did she call?" Winnie think it is very simple to find out. "Thomas." Officer Lee answered without hesitation. "Thomas again? What is there between them?" Winnie frowned, puzzled.

She did not know Thomas well, only that Brian and Stella did not get along well. So she did not know what was going on between him and Penny. "I don't know, we have checked Thomas when he went to the prison to see Penny, but nothing was suspicious. Now Thomas appeared again, and Penny called him secretly, it proved that there was something wrong." "We checked Thomas's phone records, and they had no other calls expect for this." Officer Lee told her the general situation, which confused Winnie. "Then carry out in-depth investigation on Thomas." Winnie gave her suggestion, and it would be Officer Lee to make the decision. "We do not dare to investigate further for fear of alerting him." As Soon as Officer Lee finished speaking, lunch was brought in by his colleague. "Officer Chambers, let's eat first, otherwise you will run out of time." Two men sat down to eat. "Well, don't mind the rest of it. See if you can find a way to put a hidden camera outside Penny's house, so that she will have no secrets and we won't miss information." Officer Lee knew it was useless to say that to Winnie, for she needed to go to school. He just wanted her to help install the cameras. "Yes, but not today." Winnie stopped eating and began to think of a way. "Officer Lee, I'll ask Oscar to find a way to take Penny out and get the nanny away. Then you let our colleagues go in and install it." Winnie felt it was the fastest way, or it would delay for a long time if she did not when she came back. Some important information would be lost during this period of time. "Ok, tell me when you contact Oscar, I will be ready." Two people settled things down before they quietly had dinner. "Officer Lee..." Winnie wanted to ask Officer Lee for help, but at that hour, Finn came in. "Director Poole." "Director Poole." Both of them greeted Finn. "You haven't left yet?" Finn asked Winnie. "Soon. I was just about to ask Officer Lee to take me to the airport before you came in." Winnie raised her request to Officer Lee. But before Officer Lee could respond, Finn had already made an answer. "I'll send you there. I'm off duty." "Thank you." Winnie smiled, no matter who sent her, it was good that she did not drive herself to the airport. She didn't want to give Brian another chance to pick her up. On the way to the airport, Finn drove steadily, and there was soft music playing in the car, which did not sound suitable for talking about business. "Did my state last night scare you?" Winnie mentioned what happened last night, for she felt it necessary to explain with Finn. "No, but I am surprised. I didn't expect you to cry, I thought you were tough." Finn wanted to know why Winnie cried, but he could not ask about her privacy. "I am sorry, but I am a woman, I have difficult time too. Do you think I am a man?" Winnie felt presumptuous to cry in front of Finn. She felt that Women had the right to cry. "You are a beautiful woman, even if I am blind, I can't regard you as a man." Finn said jokingly, so that Winnie would not be embarrassed because of that happened last night. "Thank you. I am indeed a woman, but I cannot take the title of a beautiful woman." "Something happened last night, and I was sad. It was your fault, by the way, or I could hold back tears if you hadn't lent me your shoulder."

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 805 GET OUT OF MY WAY

Winnie was also joking, if she said it in a serious way, she could not control her emotions. "It's my fault that and I made you cry." Finn did not expect Winnie had such a lovely side. "It's good to admit your mistakes. I am tolerant and I have decided to forgive you." Winnie could not help but laugh out. Theo charming dimples made her look happy and sexy. Finn looked sideways and was attracted by Winnie's charm. If he wasn't driving right now, he wouldn't be able to look away. Finn had seen many women, but Winnie was beautiful, smart, kind and tough. He found her advantages during the contacts with her.

Of course, he had found that she did not have any easy life. He wanted to protect her and keep her from hurting again. Soon she arrived at the airport, Finn left as soon as Winnie got the terminal. Winnie walked toward the terminal, only to see Brian was there looking at her. The moment she saw Brian, the pain of yesterday hit her like a flood and made her sad again. Winnie took back her sight, and then continued to go inside. "Winwin..." Brian called her, but Winnie did not stop her paces. "Winwin, I came to see you off." Brian guessed Winnie might leave at this hour, so he came early waiting for Winnie. Naturally he had seen that Finn sent Winnie over. "Thanks." Winnie gave a polite answer, but did not stop walking. She wanted to check in immediately and get rid of Brian. He hated her and she didn't like him either. In that case, never mind his business. "Winwin..." "Sorry, Mr. Bennet, I'm running out of time. Thank you again for seeing me off." Winnie said while speeding up her pace. She loved him, but Brian ignored her, so she could only escape. No matter how fast Winnie was, Brian could keep up with her steps. "Winwin..." This is the third time Brian called Winnie, but Winnie interrupted him again. "Will you stop pestering me? I don't understand why you're doing this?" Winnie could not help but burst out, but she knew that this was the airport, people coming and going, even if she was angry, she had not made a big noise. "Turn and go, that's your path. I turn too, just get out of my way." Winnie made her words clear that they were not on the same road, they should leave each other alone, so that they would not be upset. "Winwin, I just want to talk to you." Brian had guessed Winnie's reaction and he knew that she was angry because of things last night. But he needed the opportunity to explain, needed Winnie to listen to him. "Sorry, I don't have time. And you and I made words clear last night. Please take responsibility for what you said." Winnie said in a low voice. She was really angry about Brian's attitude and her failure to control her heart. Then she turned around and went to check. She just wanted to move on. Brian could only watch Winnie disappeared in his sight. He knew his words were cruel last night. Winnie comforted him with her dead parents, but he said something unacceptable to Winnie. Why couldn't he have thought it over before he said that? Winnie said that to comfort him, but he made her disappointed. Sure she was sad and angry. Chagrin could not turn back the clock, and he could not take back his words. Now he just had to talk with Winnie. Wendy was restless after being roared by Brian and she had been wondering what the unsettled thing he referred to. This problem had been plaguing her for days, and she was now in a state of nervous breakdown. And she'd been in a trance all this time. Trance was from being imprisoned by Jonny, from her body and mind were insulted by Jonny. Now in addition to thinking about Brian every day, she also always thought of that fact that Jonny humiliated her. Wendy felt that she would be tortured to death, but she was full of strength at the thought that she could get Brian back. However, now she had to do everything on her own, no one to help her, no one to advise her. Wendy felt that she should not have wild thought at home, but talk with Brian, so that she could know what he was thinking. Now everything was her wild guess, only when she knew Brian's idea, she could take action. Wendy dressed up and went to the Bennet Group. As soon as she walked into the Bennet Group's reception hall on the first floor, the receptionist came up to her. Looking at receptionist with a smile toward her, Wendy was secretly pleased. There was no such treatment before, did Brian deliberately arrange it? "Hello, Miss Yup, are you here to see our president?" The receptionist asked Wendy politely and respectfully. "Yes, I come to see Brian. I know your rules. I can make an appointment." Wendy spoke carefully, lest she guessed wrong and felt embarrassed. "You don't need an appointment..." Wendy interrupted receptionist's words with joy. She thought that Brian had restored her privileges and could go to his office unannounced. "I can go straight in, then..." "No, Miss Yup, hear me out." The receptionist was embarrassed and hurried to interrupt Wendy's words. "Well, Miss Yup, Mr. Bennet gave orders that you are not allowed to see him. He'll find you when he's ready." "Please go back, Miss Yup." The receptionist turned back to her own post after that. With embarrassment, Wendy stood still. It wasn't what she thought. Brian had known that she would come, so he made issue that order. She used to come to the Bennet Group and go straight to the 30th floor without telling anyone in advance. Later, she had to make a phone call with Brian first, but now she had no right to enter the reception hall on the first floor. She wanted to know how she had come to this point step by step and how she had alienated herself from Brian. Wendy came out of the Bennet Group and felt depressed. She wanted to talk to someone, but she had no one to listen to her. At this time she thought of Penny, so she drove straight to Penny's home without hesitation. Penny was surprised at Wendy's appearance. But it was good to have someone to talk to since she was alone at home. "What's the problem again?" Penny not only knew Wendy had a problem, but also knew it was related to Brian, because Wendy's topic was all about Brian. "I don't know how to bring Brian Back to my side." Wendy was still depressed, as if the embarrassment she had just encountered at the Bennet Group had not been diluted. "It is simple, kill Winnie and Brian is yours." Penny's malicious words scared Wendy, she denied in panic. "I can't do that. Or I will have no chance to get Brian. I will die too." Wendy was really frightened by Penny's words. Penny had such courage, not afraid to lose her life, but Wendy was afraid. She just wanted to get Brian, and had no intention to kill Winnie, she could not ruin her life for Winnie. "You are frightened, it is just a joke." Penny laughed, creepy. "You can joke." Wendy tried to be calm, but she still smile with panic. "I want your advice on whether I should continue to pursue Brian or give up." Wendy went to the point. "Are you stupid? You have to do what you're supposed to do, and that's the only attitude you can make success." "If you want to give up, do you think you have the confidence to succeed?" "Don't give up. Insist on it." Penny did not want Wendy to give up Brian, otherwise there was no one to torture Winnie. "But Brian doesn't even see me now. What do you want me to do? I'm at my wit's end." Wendy could not find a way out now. "Easy, have sex with him and get pregnant and then force him to get married with you. It's a cliché but it's the best way to do it. Wendy, can't you do this?" "Winnie is successful in this way, and now she had two kids." Penny despised Wendy that she wanted Brian, but she had no means. Wendy had lost, and now she was still struggling. "This method is easier said than done. It is not easy to get pregnant, and Brian will not be cheated many times." Wendy answered. She did not think this was an easy way, and she had psychological shadow of sex.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 806 LIVE BROADCAST

Penny continued to help her with ideas seeing that Wendy had doubts. "If you can't do it, you can only start from Winnie. Find a way to hurt her, stimulate her, let her leave Brian forever. Make some gossip for her, or slander her in front of Brian's grandpa. If she is notorious, Brian will not want her." Penny said a lot of tricks to deal with Winnie, her purpose was not to let Wendy get Brian, but want to torture Winnie. "I have used all these methods. Winnie is not as easy to deal with as I imagined. She is very smart and cautious." Wendy denied for she had tried all these, but it did not work and Winnie had found it out. "What do you want to do then? Do you want to give up?" Penny suddenly got angry. Wendy was obviously afraid of Winnie and dare not confront Winnie. "I don't want to give up. I have paid a lot to get Brian. If I give up, what I've given won't mean anything." If Wendy wanted to give up, she would not have come to Penny, who was a devil. Penny did not immediately respond to Wendy, but sighed and wrinkled eyebrow. A moment later. "Well, let's carry out the first plan. I will get Brian to my home. You get into his bed. Wendy, even if you can't get pregnant at once, it's easier to talk about things in bed." "Also, it is best to let Winnie see you two in bed, to kill two birds with one stone." Penny could not think of any other way, and that was her only idea. "Will that work?" Wendy asked with uncertainty, but to let Winnie see the two in bed would be excited. "What do you think?" Penny asked Wendy. If Wendy could come up with a better way, she was willing to listen to. "I..." Wendy had no idea. Seeing that Wendy was silent, Penny knew she would not refute this plan. "Wendy, I can help you. But you must do something for me, too." Penny would never do good things without a reason. "What is it?" Wendy asked with doubts. "Come out with me." Penny got up and lead Wendy outside. She still suspected that she could be overheard inside, so she had to go outside to feel safe. In trepidation, Wendy followed Penny to the outside, she was really afraid of Penny's request was to kill Winnie. "How many phones do you have right now?" Penny came to garden, thinking it was relatively safe. "Two." Wendy answered. "Lend me your phone, which you don't use very often, and I'll make a call. That's what you do for me." Hearing that, Wendy felt relieved. She gave her phone to Penny as quickly as she could. "This is the phone I don't use very often." "Well, you go in. I'll go in when I'm done and we'll work on the plan." Penny did not want to be overheard on the phone. Penny was confused, but obediently walked into the house. After Wendy went in, Penny hurried to make a call. It took two calls to get through, and he was very aggressive. "Who are you? Why keep calling me?" "Uncle Thomas, I am Penny." To save time, Penny said. "What is going on?" Thomas eased down hearing that it was Penny. He was watching the news with his father in the living room. When he heard it was Penny, he went to his bedroom. "Uncle Thomas, what I told you last time was no joke. I'll do whatever it takes to get me to see my dad. I won't even blink an eye to kill Brian. I am going to die, and I am not afraid of anything. Penny went straightforward, because she wanted to end the call as soon as possible, so as not to be detected abnormal. "....." Thomas frowned and there was cruelty in his eyes, but he kept silent. "Uncle Thomas, I know you have the ability to find my father. I'm going to take it as acquiescence if you don't say anything about the advice I just gave you. I will see my father if Brian dies. Penny regarded that Thomas agreed, anyway, she was dying. If Brian died, Winnie would suffer for a lifetime. In this way, she would fulfill her wish. "I'll try." Thomas gave such an answer. It was risky, but it was the fastest way. Although the odds of success were not very high, but it had nothing to do with him, so he did not have to take risk. After she hung up the phone, Penny erased the phone records again. Then she went in and discussed with Wendy how to get Brian here. Winnie was having lunch when she received a phone call from Officer Lee. Officer Lee told Wendy that Penny was studying how to deal with her. Hearing that, Winnie was not in a mood to eat. "Send me the video and I'll see what they say." Winnie got up and went out. That was not the kind of picture you'd expect from two dirty people talking to each other. Winnie began to listen to them chat after she received the video. Hearing their conversation, Winnie gave mocking laugh. "You always want to deal with me." "What qualities of women do you favor, Brian? They are all scheming. I wonder how you dealt with them all those years. Is it harder than running the Bennet Group?" Winnie soliloquized and then signed looking at the screen. Penny, the person she tried to help, actually hated her so much, actually wanted to see her tortured. Hadn't Penny tortured her enough over the years? Hadn't it sated her hunger for victory? The video stopped at Penny and Wendy walking out of the house. Winnie cut off the video. She had not found an opportunity to let Oscar take Penny away, and the surveillance camera had not been installed, so naturally she could not hear the two people talking outside. Winnie did not care if it was related to the case, but wondered she should remind Brian to be careful. Winnie could not see through Brian, so she was not sure if she should remind Brian. Would he believe her? He never believed her, and if she told him, would he suspect that she had a purpose? Winnie had bePennytangled. They cut ties the night before, shall she contact him now? Winnie did not know how long she tangled, she did not come back to her sense until Officer Lee called her. "How's it going?" Winnie asked Officer Lee. "According to our judgment, Penny must have made a phone call outside, and she used Wendy's phone. But we have not found call records in Wendy's phone." There was disappointment in Officer Lee's voice. "Do you think it is possible that it is not Wendy's phone or Wendy's other phone?" Winnie said. They must come out for something, because Penny had been vigilant indoors. "Yes, there is only one number under Wendy's name, but it is not this one. We're running Thomas's phone records right now. If she made a call to Thomas, we want to monitor Thomas' phone." "Officer Chambers, contact Oscar and find a chance to install the surveillance cameras so that we can handle it easily." Officer Lee did not say too much. Winnie was outside and she could not help. He just wanted Winnie to install the surveillance cameras as soon as possible. Had they been installed earlier, the phones might have been a clue. "Well, I will do it as soon as I can. Officer Lee, get me the video." Winnie agreed and she had realized the urgency of this matter. Although she did not want to know how the two women deal with her, Winnie wanted to know how the two would do to Brian. So she spent the whole midday break on these two men. At noon the next day, Oscar came back to see Penny. "Penny, I let the nanny have a day off and I will take you to eat out. Whatever you want, I'll give it to you." Oscar contacted Winnie at noon yesterday and she asked him to find a suitable time as soon as possible. So Oscar came at today's noon. "That's great. I'd love to eat out, but I was afraid you wouldn't have time. Let's go out and have a good meal, and I need to go to the drugstore to get some medicine." "Wait for me. I'll change my clothes and we'll go." Penny wanted to buy medicine. Even if Oscar didn't take her out, she wanted the nanny to take her out, just for the medicine she wanted. After the two of them went out, there was no one in the house. Office Lee, who had prepared the cameras in advance, entered the house. Winnie had been plagued by the words of Wendy and Penny. She was ultimately unable to determine whether to tell Brian or not. Finally she asked Morgan out. At a cafe. "Morgan, thank you for your help before." Although Brian arranged Morgan in C city to take care of Winnie, she should thank Morgan. "Director Chambers, that's very kind of you to say that. It's my job to take care of you. Besides, I haven't done much for you all this time." Morgan just went to the airport to pick up Winnie two times, so Winnie's thanks put him to shame. "I feel secure with you around, even though you did nothing. It is the best help." "Morgan, actually I have some questions. Does Mr. Bennet really like Wendy?" Winnie wanted to make sure of it, if Brian really liked Wendy, she would not tell Brian, or she would be meddling.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 807 TALK WITH MORGAN

Morgan smiled and gave the answer without hesitation. "Director Chambers, why do you have to ask this question? Mr. Bennet likes you, not Wendy." This question was single choice, and Winnie was the only choice. "Morgan, if he doesn't like Wendy, why does he still protect her and not cut ties with her?" Morgan's words set off waves in Winnie's heart, but after all, he was Brian's staff, he would only speak for Brian. And if Brian personally said that, she would not believe, let alone Morgan. "Director Chambers, because Wendy saved Mr. Bennet. Mr. Bennet would not be cruel to this rescuer." "Director Chambers, you really don't have to think too much, and don't mind Wendy. Brian was helpless that he could not be cruel to Wendy. Morgan understood Brian's helplessness, and Winnie's grievance. And there were barriers between the two of them. This required Winnie to have enough forbearance and tolerance, otherwise they were doomed. But how many women could do that? It might not be true love. "But who is sure that the woman who saved him was Wendy, and what will he do if one day he finds out that it wasn't she?" Winnie was worried that once Brian gained his memory back, he would find that what he had done was false and all his efforts were not worth it. Then he could not accept it. "In fact, Mr. Bennet has doubts, the plot said by Wendy was different from his memory. But there's something wrong with his memory, so he is not sure about it." "I think he should always be prepared for that, but he should not go too far with Wendy before the matter is confirmed, otherwise if the woman is really Wendy, he will always compensate more, or even... he is afraid Wendy put forward unreasonable conditions because he hurts Wendy." Morgan spoke out Brian's concerns. In a word, he could do nothing to Wendy, or Wendy would pester him. "It seems that I have no need to worry. He has room for everyone, but he has no scruple with me." Winnie said sadly, but she was happy that Brian was ready for that. "Director Chambers, you can't think so, Mr. Bennet loves you." "We've been working with Mr. Bennet for a long time, and we know what kind of man he is and what kind of temper he has. He keeps secrets from everyone but you." Morgan explained for Brian, but it was not flattery but real things. "Director Chambers, let's talk about the relationship between Mr. Bennet and his father. Before you came along, we all thought their relationship would never improve. We all thought he would never talk to his father." "But then you came along and everything changed. Everything we agreed on was overturned. This is all because of you. Only you can change it. And Mr. Bennet is willing to be changed, because he loves you." Morgan said Brian loved Winnie and cared Winnie, but Winnie did not believe it. She felt that it was not the true, but felt that Brian only vent anger to her. Morgan said Brian never hid things from her, but she felt he had many things to hide from her. Like how he felt about the woman who had save his life. Winnie forced herself to understand and accept everything about Brian, but who would consider her? She was a woman, although she was tough, she needed a shoulder to lean on, like the broad shoulders Finn gave her when she wanted to cry. If Brian gave her that shoulder, she must be the happiest and most secure woman in the world. Unfortunately, that shoulder was Finn's. And it was Brian who made her cry. Winnie smiled dryly. "It doesn't matter what his attitude is to me. I just hope he doesn't get too close to Wendy and Penny will not influence his judgment." Winnie wanted Morgan to convey her words. And he could judge it was a reminder and an advice. Winnie knew that Brian and Penny would not be together, but she was not sure if Wendy would be with him. She felt women around him had a problem and were not good for Brian. But this was her personal opinion, Brian did not think so. "Director Chambers, don't say that. Give Mr. Bennet another chance..." Morgan knew Winnie was to give up Brian, so he pleaded for Brian, but Winnie did not give Morgan the opportunity to explain. "Morgan, let's not talk about this. Besides talking to you today, I want to give back the car to you." Winnie gave the car key to Morgan. By drawing a clear line, she meant that everything should not be related to Brian. "Director Chambers, I can't take back this key. Mr. Bennet said he'll demote me and take my pay cut if you bring back the car key." "Mr. Bennet knew you had a problem with taxis, and that's why he left the car to you." Morgan could not take the car key, or he would be in trouble. "I will try my best to overcome the psychological shadow, and as you know, I seldom come out. After some time, I will go out to participate in activities with my school. This car is a waste to leave it to me. Take it back, and thank Mr. Bennet for me." Winnie put the car key in front of Morgan. However, Morgan pushed the car key back to Winnie. "Director Chambers, give it back to Mr. Bennet yourself, so I won't be embarrassed." Brian did not mean to demote Morgan, but Morgan felt if Winnie gave it back herself, Brian could meet her. Winnie had to take back the car key for not making a hard time for Morgan. A new day began. Brian stood in the office by the French window to think of Winnie before he began to work. Morgan had told him that Winnie wanted to give back the car, as well as that Winnie wished he could stay away from Wendy and Penny. It was understandable, for Winnie had been against him and Wendy to be together. However, Brian couldn't understand why she asked him to stay from Penny. She knew he hated Penny, why did she still say that? Brian was pondering Winnie's intention when Jack knocked on the door. "Brother... Mr. Bennet, I did what you asked me to do. Here are some cooperation plans I've made. Please have a look and give me some advice." Brian spoke cautiously, even nervously. Brian walked calmly back to his desk and sat down. With a serious look on his face, Brian checked the time before looking up at Jack. Looking at Jack, his eyes were cold and stern, and his eyebrows were deeply frowned. "I gave you two days, but you took five days. It is not qualified." Brian looked down at Jack's design plan. After two minutes of reading, his brow tightened again, and then he asked coldly and severely. "You made this?" "Yes... I did it." The plan was indeed done by Jack himself, but Brian's stern look made him nervous and unable to answer questions. "In five days, you have only selected a few cases, and all the data you read are successful ones. I can't believe you gave me such a terrible plan. None of these plans is qualified, and there is even plagiarism." Brian looked through each plan and found too many inadequacies. Jack, who had worked hard for several days, was not convinced. "Mr. Bennet, you gave me a lot of documents, but you only took a glance. Is it possible that you misremembered the plan? Maybe you should take a good look at it and give me another opinion." Although not convinced, Jack did not dare to speak directly, and his attitude was moderate. "Don't do that. These are the most recent ones. I can't remember them wrong. Don't give me an excuse, Jack. I even remember the case ten years ago." Brian turned up his voice at the end of the sentence, ignoring Jack and refusing to give him a chance to refute. "Take it back, look it over again, and make a new plan." Brian commanded chilly, and then threw the document to Jack's arms. His attitude was clear: he was not satisfied with it and Jack had to start over. His attitude was tough, and Jack dare not speak out his opinion. Jack went out, and then the secretary came in. "Mr. Bennet, the representative of WY is here." "Wait for me in the conference room. I'm on my way." Brian commanded serious, because he was busy, he had no time to think about Winnie's words. Brian walked into the conference room, and heard an enchanting voice before he looked up. "Hi, Mr. Bennet. Long time no see. I'm so happy to see you in this way." Brian looked along the sound and frowned almost immediately. "You represent WY?" Brian asked with surprise. There was only possibility for Gloria to show up in the meeting room – she was in this cooperation. But she had never known anything about business before, and her appearance in this way was rather dishonest.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 808 EMBARRASSING MEETING FOR GLORIA

Hearing the question of Brian, Gloria gave a coy smile. "How can I represent WY with my limited abilities? I am currently an intern at WY, at best an assistant to our director." "Mr. Bennet, you are the best of the best in business, and I think I can learn a lot from you, so I followed him to be here." Gloria was modest, so that Brian would not have other ideas about her. Brian did not respond to Gloria but went straight to the seat and sat down. "Albert, tell the secretary to bring Jack here." Brian gave the order without hesitation, and Albert hurried to do it. Brian didn't say a word until Jack came. It wasn't until Brian showed up that he gave the order again. "Take meeting minutes, cooperate with me on this case." "Me?" Jack was unexpected. Brian told him to sort out the document well, but now he wanted him to be in a new case. And what he was not satisfied was that he had to do take minutes of meetings as a secretary. He was a branch manager even without his big brother's achievements. How could he be reduced to a secretary? He would protest. Jack was dissatisfied and even had an impulse to rebel. But he could control his emotions very well when he saw that Brian was serious. So he gave up and obediently began to prepare for the minutes of the meeting. "Brian..." Gloria suddenly changed the address to Brian. She wanted to ease the atmosphere, but it upset Brian. He looked at Gloria coldly and Gloria suddenly stopped speaking. "Miss Lee, this is the conference room. Please be careful with your address." "The meeting will begin immediately. Please do not talk about anything unrelated to work here." Albert understood the meaning of Brian, so he immediately reminded Gloria. This reminds and Brian's sharp eyes made Gloria embarrassed. The meeting officially began. First, MY side explained the specific details of cooperation. In this process, Brian saw out of the corner of his eye that Gloria was doing nothing, and her mind was wandering. She was not as conscientious as Jack, who was taking minutes of meetings. So Brian doubted why Gloria came here. WY's representatives were making detailed reports, and everyone in conference room was listening carefully, but there was sudden phone ringing. As the phone rang, all of a sudden everyone's eyes fell on the source of the sound - Gloria. Gloria realized that she had affected everyone, so she hurried to press reject key. "Sorry." An apology would not save anyone valuable time, nor could it hide her disorganized attitude toward the meeting. "Miss Lee, the basic thing to do in a meeting is to turn off your phone. As a member of WY, you should know that. This is the first time I'm warning you, if it happens again, please leave the conference room." Albert' merciless words embarrassed Gloria again, but what he said was true, which was written in in the rules and regulations of cooperation. "I'm sorry." Gloria held resentment, but had to abide by. Albert took a warning look at Gloria and then once again reminded everyone. "Make sure your phones are off so that it won't interfere with the progress of the meeting. Everyone's time is precious. Please treat others with respect." "The meeting continues." Without the command of Brian, Albert knew what to say. As the meeting continued, everyone's attention returned to work, only Gloria glowered at Albert. He embarrassed her in the face of so many people, especially Brian was watching. Before she came, she did not expect Brian to be so serious and rigorous at work, and did not expect a phone call would cause such a big trouble. It was so awkward. When she got an opportunity, she certainly would teach him a lesson. The meeting was in progress. Calvin knocked on the door and poked his head in after opening the door. "Mr. Bennet, Director Chambers' call." Brian got up from his chair. "Albert, preside over the meeting." Brian strode to the door of the conference room, and the door had been closed before everyone figured about what happened. "It's so not democratic. Mr. Bennet said we should focus at work. My phone can't ring, but he is allowed to leave." Gloria whispered, expressing her dissatisfaction, but she dare not really argue about it. She had been embarrassed enough, if her words provoked Albert again, it would be worse. At the same time, she was wondering why Winnie called and Brian was so obedient. Could he answer the phone after the meeting. Judging from his appearance, she could know that Winnie was the woman Brian cared most. So Thomas's words were not always true. Winnie was the most difficult one to deal with. Brian went out from the conference room, took the phone from Calvin, answered it while he strode to his office. "Winwin, you finally called me." Brian was excited at this moment. "I am... I'm gonna give you your car back. At noon I will give Morgan the car key, you tell him to take it." Winnie made this call after thinking for a lone time. She thought a phone call would be better than a meeting. And she wanted to know if Morgan had conveyed her words to Brian. "No need to give it back to me, and Morgan will not accept the car key." Brian did not expect Winnie to return his car, but at least he had heard her voice. "Ok, I won't embarrass Morgan, but I won't drive it." Winnie had thought of this result. She could give Brian back the key when she came back. "I'm all right." Winnie did not know what to say, afraid of exposing some things, so she was to hang up the phone. "Wait a minute." Brian stopped Winnie in time. Since she called, he had to talk to her for a longer time. "Winwin, did you meet with Morgan?" This was a topic that Brian tried to stall the time. "Yes, I wanted to give him the car key. But he won't take it without your orders. I don't want to embarrass anyone about my business. Even if Morgan does not accept the car key, I will hand it to you when I return. Or I'll leave it at our school and you can send someone to get it." What she said was not important, what was important was that Morgan conveyed her words to Brian. Since Brian knew it, he would be careful, and she had no need to worry. "Winwin, don't worry about the car. You fill oil yourself and I'm just lending you a car." Brian didn't think a car would affect their relationship. But Winnie has been tangled with the car. "Winwin..." Brian wanted to say more, but Winnie did not have the patience and directly interrupted him. "I gotta go." "Winwin." Brian again stopped Winnie, and found another topic. "I have another question for you. What do you mean by asking me to stay away from Penny?" "It was nothing but a reminder that she knew she had cancer and everyone should be careful. And the appointment that I go to see her with you will be cancelled. I can go by myself and I will be careful." Winnie could not put things out in detail, but she felt practical that she had reminded him. After that, Winnie directly hung up the phone. She felt there was no problem, but Brian was more confused. Mentioning Penny, in fact, was an abrupt thing. Winnie had not answered his phone, so it was strange that she suddenly called. Brian didn't think it was simple. Penny must have done something, and Winnie was afraid that he was involved, so she called to remind him. Klara was still with Jonny and had been staying at the hotel for a long time. After dinner, Klara asked Jonny to go for a walk with her. Jonny said yes, but reluctantly. In the park. "Honey, you have a branch and me here, so why don't we buy a house here? It's so wasteful for us to stay in hotels all the time and it doesn't feel like home." After enduring so long, Klara finally couldn't bear it and made a request. "I have a branch here, but I'm still in the main office. I'm going back when this company is up and running, and you're going with me. I don't think it's necessary to buy a house here." Jonny replied curtly. His money could not be used for fixed assets. Once he had done what he wanted to do, he would return home with the money and leave some for his child. "You want to go back to your country? How can I go there with you? I have my kids and four old people." Klara was obviously disappointed. She did not expect that Jonny would return to his country. And if she was alone, she could go abroad, but she had a family to take care of. "Go back with me, kids go to school aboard, and old people can go with us too. Klara, I have a lot of houses. If the old people want to live with us, we will live together. If not, we will live separately." "I'll get them two nannies from your country, and they'll be well fed." Jonny pretended to be nice, as if he was a big plutocrat with countless properties. He knew he was bluffing, but the listener was delighted. She did not know what Jonny had a lot of houses, so he was really rich.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 809 KLARA AND WENDY MEET AGAIN

Klara thought Jonny's suggestion was good, but the old people would not go with her. "That's good, but the old people have never left town, so they would leave with me. I can't leave and you can't stay, I don't think we will work out." Klara said with disappointment, she had to think so, but she did not want to give up Jonny, who was a rich gentleman. Jonny looked at Klara with a smile, and then hugged her close to comfort her. "Why not? You're making things too complicated. I have a branch here, and I spend a few months a year here. If the old people don't want to leave, they can stay here. I'll get a nanny to take care of them, two or more, and then you'll go abroad with me, and you'll follow me back when I get here." Jonny calmed down Klara, now he had not used up the value of Klara, he could not let her leave him. "Then we have no place to stay when we come back. Do we have to stay in hotels for months? It is expensive to stay in hotel. It hurts me to spend so much money." Klara's temporary goal was to have a house. A house in B City cost more than 10 million. If Jonny bought her a house, she would have 10 million in fixed assets. "Oh, so you love money. How about this? I'll rent a house, and we won't stay in a hotel. You give me time to think about buying a house." Jonny let go of Klara with a smile, but he got a plan. He thought hotel was expensive too, which took up a large part of his expenses. In this way, he could save these money. The price of a day in a hotel could rent a house for two months. It was a great idea to move out. "I..." Klara tried to explain that she did not want to rent a house, but Jonny give her the chance. "Well, that is it. I'll save the money as you say, and tomorrow I'll look for a house." Afraid Klara still mentioned buying a house, Jonny hurried to change the topic. "Klara, didn't you look for Wendy these days?" "No, I don't want to contact her too often." Klara had not contacted Wendy since she got her five million back, because she did not want Wendy to find out she was with Jonny. "You should have your money back as soon as possible. If one day she finds out we're together and gets jealous, you can't get the five million." "But it's no big deal, it is just five million. If she won't give it to you, I will." He did not want Klara to give up this five million, but he had to talk big. "I can't give her five million for nothing, but you have your point in that. Wendy is a person who likes to rob thing from others. If she knows we're together, she'll probably try some of those bad tricks on me." Klara would not give up her money, let alone five million, five hundred was important. She constantly smeared Wendy, for fear that Jonny changed his attitude towards Wendy. As soon as Jonny liked Wendy, she would be doomed. "In that case, the relationship between you and Wendy needs to be handled well. After you get your money back, stay away from her completely." Jonny induced Klara to get her money back, so that he could cheat more. Otherwise he would be suspected again and again, and he didn't have that much time. "Well, I know what to do." Klara felt Jonny was right. She could not stay away from Wendy now, but she had to be careful when she was with Wendy, so as not to expose Jonny. Klara was obedient, in the next day, she asked Wendy out for lunch. In a restaurant, Wendy and Klara chatted excitedly, looking like old friends. "Wendy, you don't look good recently, you even have dark circles." Klara was concerned about Wendy, however Wendy's condition was really very bad. "I don't know why I can't fall asleep. I feel like I'm having trouble sleeping because of the pressure of work." Wendy knew she was in bad shape, but it had nothing to do with work. She got something in her mind, plus Jonny caused shadow to her. She felt particularly tortured this time, sometimes she was dull and speechless, but sometimes she wanted to lose her temper. In short, her mood fluctuates, and she had no control over it. She couldn't sleep since she talked about the plan with Penny, and she felt like she was going crazy. In the past, she would not agree to see Klara. However, she was really depressed, so she agreed to come out to see Klara. No matter what Klara said to her, she could at least say a few words to release herself. "Wendy, do what you can at work. Don't be in a hurry, you have plenty of time." Klara comforted Wendy. She knew that Wendy was not seriously responsible for the work at all, and her low mood must be related to Brian. "Wendy, how is your relationship with Mr. Bennet recently? Is Winnie still in your way?" Klara asked. If Wendy was willing to tell her, she could know some news about Brian and Winnie. If Wendy didn't want to tell her, she would stimulate her and make Wendy feel worse. "I'm making progress, but not as fast as I thought." "As for Winnie, they are not together. Recently I heard she was away on a business trip. I don't know where she went." Wendy dare not tell the truth. Klara was sitting in front of her, so she could only say superficial words or small talk. She could not talk to Klara about some serious things about Brian. "I did not expect them to really separate. Wendy, don't miss this opportunity." Klara encouraged Wendy to be brave. However, she knew better than anyone that Brian would not be with Wendy. "I will grasp it, I will not let Winnie get him." Although unconvinced, Wendy was stubborn. "Right, Klara, haven't you found a job yet?" Wendy did not dare to talk about this topic further, for she did not know what to say. "Yes. I don't find the right job, so I stay at home." Klara was so happy that she didn't have to go to work in her current state. If she could tie Jonny, she won and did not have to work for the rest of her life. "Shall I ask Brian to let you go back to work? Even if you are not short of money, the old people will be worried if you don't have a job." Wendy did not sincerely want to help Klara, but she wanted to find a chance to see Brian. If she could talk things out with Brian, she would not have to use Penny's bad tactics. Although Klara did not care about it, it was a shame for her. Klara felt the most substantial when she worked with Morgan and Calvin. Although she was secretly in love with Brian at that time, she was always positive and energetic every day. She was thinking that if she did not reveal her secret love, if she did not envy Winnie, would she live a simple life as before. "Wendy, I'm not going back. Winnie is erratic, if one day she returns to the Bennet Group, I will be kicked out again." Klara refused, afraid that she would be embarrassed again. Now she put Jonny first and foremost, which was a kind of success for her. "All right. If you want to go back, let me know. I can find a way to get you back." Wendy's plan did not succeed, and she could only give up. "But you are right that Winnie is really quite annoying. Relying on the convenience of her work, she would certainly find an opportunity to approach Brian again. I will speed up my efforts to marry Brian before she causes trouble." Wendy was determined to cooperate with Penny to get Brian. However, Klara had sarcasm in her heart. Klara was not an outsider, and she knew better than anyone who Brian liked. Even if Winnie and Brian had broken up, Brian would not take fancy on Wendy. The most funny thing was that, with a dirty past, Wendy still had confidence. In fact, if Brian did not mind about it, it would only prove that he had not loved Wendy. For so many years, everyone thought that Brian loved Wendy deeply, so he had been waiting for Wendy, but actually Brian did not love her. "Wendy, you should have such determination. And make sure you marry Mr. Bennet as soon as possible." Klara encouraged, but actually her smile was full of sarcasm. She was on the sidelines now, and she just wanted to stand back and see who won. Wendy's evil deeds were more sinister than Winnie, at least Winnie was dignified. And Wendy, up until now, everything she's done had been despicable. So she hoped Wendy's end was tragic. Since Gloria came out of the meeting, she did not think about work, but about Brian's attitude to Brian, and Winnie's call. She went to the beach alone and thought about it carefully and seriously. She had a cooperative relationship with Thomas. But she always felt Thomas was partial to Winnie. Every time Winnie was mentioned, Thomas did not allow her to intervene. However, Winnie was her biggest opponent, if such an opponent was ignored, she would be destined to be a loser. Why did Thomas do that? Was there any agreement between him and Winnie?"Wait, Jack was seen at headquarters yesterday, proving that he has come back. What else will Thomas do? Isn't that Jack comes back to headquarters his ultimate goal?" Gloria soliloquized. She felt it was related to Thomas, and perhaps the agreement between Thomas and Winnie was more ambitious than hers.

Hey, My Twins Babies

CHAPTER 810 WORRIED ABOUT BRIAN

Gloria continued to talk to herself and analyzed. "Yes, that must be so. Thomas is an old fox and can't bet on me." "I am stupid, how can I figure it out so late?" Gloria blamed her stupidity, but fortunately she saw the facts now. Thomas was still useful, since he did not allow her to make a move to Winnie, she would do as he required, but she had to have her own plan and hide it from Thomas. Gloria then picked up the phone and called Winnie. Winnie was off class. She felt strange that Gloria called her. She picked up the phone after a moment of silence. "Hello." Winnie was the first to speak. "Hello, I'm Gloria." Gloria's tone was with sarcasm. Winnie was ready to respond to that "Hello." Winnie was waiting for Gloria to speak first. "Director Chambers, I just hope you can notice the time when you call Brian. We were all in a meeting yesterday and one phone call from you ruined it." Gloria's tone was deliberately charming when she addressed the name of Brian. "My time and our company's time are valuable, let alone Brian's time, which was indeed money, and was measured in seconds. Do you know how much you cost the loss? I don't think you can afford that." Gloria's tone was with sarcasm, but slow. She was not anxious or angry, she wanted to be ironic, so that Winnie would retreat. "Is that what you're calling to tell me for? Or do you want to tell me that you work with Brian?" Winnie did not care what Gloria said. Winnie did not like Gloria as her enemy, more do not like her way of showing off. "Yes, I work with Brian. You know what? I think you're a smart guy, so I'm gonna cut to the quick. I want to go after Brian again, and I want you to know. If you want a challenge, do it openly. If not, don't call Brian again." Gloria told her purpose. She must have been spoiled since childhood and developed her arrogant and domineering attitude. "I see. You can do that, but I will try to minimize the frequency of my phone calls to Brian, as we have kids, and there is something we need to talk about." "I also will check my own time when I call Brian. I can't waste my brain when I make a phone call to him. My time is money, and though it cannot be measured in seconds, it is precious to me." "I'm going to start making money. Good luck." Winnie finished speaking in one breath, and then hung up the phone. She knew new information in this telephone that Gloria began to pursue Brian again, in the way of work. But it had nothing to do with her, Gloria's call only annoyed Winnie. She had not made a call to Brian for a long time, she did not expect that her call would be known by Gloria. It was an excuse for Gloria to argue with her. Winnie gave a wry smile, she did not understand why she became Gloria's enemy though she was far away. Winnie did not have the mood and energy to think of Gloria, she was worried about Brian. Although Brian would be careful, she was still nervous. After dinner, she called Oscar and told him the story. "I don't know what time it is because they were typing on their phones, and then went outside. So keep an eye on her these days and let me know if there's anything wrong." Winnie had been worried, because she did not know the plan of Wendy and Penny. It was an untimed bomb, maybe it would explode tonight, maybe in 10 or 20 days from now. She was out of the city and she could not be of help. What she could do was to remind Brian, and ask Oscar for help. "I'll, don't worry. Penny wanted to ask Brian to her house, but Brian may not come. I think he'll be more careful for your reminder." Oscar comforted Winnie, knowing that she was anxious. She had been deeply in love with Brian, but she was hurt, and dare not continue. "I hope so. I just can't be at peace." Even if Oscar would help her, she was still worried, afraid that Brian would fall into a trap, which would affect his happiness all his life. It was the end of the week again, she didn't have to go back to B City actually. Although Stefan let her go back to discuss the location of the franchise, Winnie knew they could decide in the video conference. However, using this excuse she still came back, for she would be less worried about Brian. Winnie did not tell the kids she would be back at a different time, so that Brian would not find out. Instead of coming back on Friday night or Saturday morning, Winnie returned at noon on Saturday. Stefan went to the airport to pick her up, and then went directly to the store and then discuss about the franchise with Daenerys and Emily. "I came back yesterday at noon. I have been in H province for a week. After inspection, I decide the head office is in the provincial capital city, and I had found a few stores. Now I have videos and pictures, so you can see which store is better." Stefan finished and began to play the video, but Daenerys had no patience to watch it. "I don't want to watch it, and I can't understand it. Boss Stefan, I trust you. From now on, you're in charge of everything. I just collect the money." "I called you here for a meeting. Don't you want to give me some advice?" Stefan had never seen a partner who trusted him so much and left everything to him. "I did not come here for a meeting. I'm focused on having my second child. I came here to eat hot pot." Daenerys was naughty; she did not give any advice because she did not care about it. "Having a second child has nothing to do with eating hotpot." Emily did not watch the video too, but carefully listened to Daenerys and Stefan. "It is said that eating hot pot is the best for women who was to get pregnant, so it is related." Daenerys could not help laughing, she just needed a reason to eat hot pot. "Oh... I see. I think I've heard of it, but in a different version. I heard that eating hot pot is good for pregnant women. I happen to be pregnant now, so I will try it later." Emily chimed in. She did not like to give advice or watch video. She and Daenerys just wanted to eat hot pot. "Emily, you said that too? You can have hotpot, but we are having a meeting now." Stefan was confused by these two people, it was clearly a meeting, but it felt like a gathering. "I'm so upset and I can't understand it, or give any advice. The solution to feeling upset is to eat hot pot." Emily felt happier to eat hot pot than to talk about hot pot. "You two foodies." Whether the two people were joking or not, Stefan was helpless, but it proved their trust in him. "Boss Stefan, I agree. I don't care about these things. I know little about H Province, and I can't give any opinion even after watching the video. I will just collect money like Daenerys." Emily was a hard-working person, but since she became pregnant, all her thoughts had been on the baby and Leo. Now when she thought about meetings and work, she had a headache. So what bothered her most at the moment was a meeting. "Well, you are only focus on kids. Winnie is earnest." "Winwin, give me some advice." Stefan was pleased, at least Winnie watched the video seriously and she could give him advice. However, Winnie had no respond. "Winwin." Stefan observed Winnie. However, there was still no response from Winnie. Stefan looked up at Daenerys and Emily, at the moment they could not help laughing. Stefan got up and went to Winnie, and at this hour he was completely disappointed. Winnie's eyes were not on the video, and she was in a daze. "Winwin." Stefan increased the volume and called her again. "Well, what is it?" Winnie looked at Stefan, confused, but Daenerys and Emily laughed out. "What are you laughing at?" Winnie was more confused. "Don't laugh, Stefan. Isn't this a meeting? Why aren't you serious?" Winnie turned to Stefan and tried to figure out why the two were laughing, but only to find that Stefan was also laughing. "You three are not focus on the meeting. You're not here for a meeting, but for gathering." "Don't you want to have hotpot? Let's go and eat. You know what, hot pot is not only good for pregnant women, but also for those who are absent-minded and depressed." Stefan took them to eat hot pot happily since the meeting could not continue. Hearing that, Daenerys and Emily laughed out loud.