

My Wife Is Twice My Age 21

“what about her ronátis

“she’s well enough to recover at home, the man replied without elaborating the tuned to continue her work

“Uhm.“Yarrickäteedikere, stunned. He couldn’t believe Hailey left just like that. He didn’t even get her phone number nor did he know where she lived Perhaps she didn’t him drimy be she didn’t know how to face him..

All she wanted was to hold her, is her, and be close to her if she wasn’t ready, he’d never push it.

Besides, Hailey hadn’t fully recovered yet I wouldn’t be appropriate for him to take things further.

Varrick frowned, pulled out his phone, and dialed Selena’s number without hesitation. The call connected quickly.

“Selen, Hailey hasn’t fully recovered yet. Why was she shut out so suddenly?

Selena chuckled softly on the other end. “What’s the matter? Are you worried about her?”

“Yeah,” Yarrick admitted, not bothering to hide it. He really was worried

At the hospital, Hailey had doctors and nurses around. If anything went wrong, she would receive immediate care at home just didn’t feel as safe “I’ll take Halley’s decision, but don’t worry, she has a private doctor and a full-time caregiver at home. She’s in good hands. This might even be better than if she were to stay in the hospital,” Selena explained.

“Oh, that’s a relief

Yarrick let out a breath of relief. He didn’t have to worry if that was the case. However, he didn’t understand why Hailey would leave without telling him anything

Yarrick, have you made up your mind yet? When are you going to do

Halley?”

“Tas made up my mind og Halley wants to be with me, Fake care of her for the rest of my life“yarrikh didn’t hesitate since he had already thought it through. Trouve really thought it through? Even considering her age?”

“Yes, I have. I truly want to be with her. Honestly, aside from knowing her name and her age, I barely know anything else about her. But we’re already married. And we’ve spent so together. No matter what brought us together, I believe this is her face

Tarrick masters about this. He ruly wanted to give their relationship a chance After all, they were come through this marriage. It was only right to try and work it out. As for the the en million dollars, he had to give it up. Sure, itung Untle, bar he had no cholo

“Alright then, if that’s how you feel, I’ll support you both ging it a shot. But there’s something and you to understand.” Selena was overjoyed to hear Yarrick’s decision

Halley ended up in the hospital because of emotional traumas. That’s why I need you so eat her well. Don’t break her heart, Yarrick. She can’t take another blow

Still, selena’s words bet Yanick confined

He thought Halley had never had a boyfriend, so what kind of heartbreak could she have suffered? What kind of relacionstop was Selena referring to? But he didn’t think, in his mind, Halley would tell him herself.

Chapter 15

“Varrick, I spoke to Halley today. She’s open spending some time with you,” Selena said.

It seemed like Halley was finally warning him. Perhaps it was the way he had held her in his arms that made her feel different...

“She just needs a little time to herself. She’s still shy. Don’t push her. She’s just, she’ll catch out by now, Selena said with a soft laugh

“Okay.” Halley was really something. She seemed too shy to face her new husband! However, it seemed like she enjoyed it when Varrick was kissing her. Her soft body had relaxed to his touch, and her heavy breathing and parted lips were evidence that she had already accepted him.

In this point, there was nothing to her to be embarrassed about.

“It’s alright, Varrick. Test focus on work for now. Love a feeling she’ll be calling you soon. From what I am seeing, she really does like you. Maybe it’s the age difference that has her hesitating. But she told me herself that she was too shy to push her then a little shot. “

With that, the call ended

Leaving the hospital, Yarrick suddenly felt a strange emptiness settle over him. He used to take a little time out of his day to visit Hailey. But now, she had been discharged.

Michael took a test as he got on the bus

If Michael was free, maybe they could grab a couple beers to the weekend, so there was no work tomorrow. It was the perfect time to unwind.

A moment later, Michael replied, “Things happen. She’s staying in tonight. So much for that date” on! I just left the hospital. Wanna grab some bus boue and drink?”

Michael’s mood lifted instantly.

The washing dood and a few drinks couldn’t fix

“Alright! Meet me at the place of apartment. I’ll be there soon.”

“Whright! Pin on way!!

Barbecue and beer were absolutely the perfect pair.

They meet up just outside the apartment complex and then found a restaurant nearby. They ordered some barbecued ribs and six bottles of beer.

Yarrick, how come you’re back early today?” Michori asked.

“Oh. I was just helping my lacre for a bit. Now that they’re here in person, of the book “the raised his glass and clicked it againer Michael’s before downing it in one go “Nice. You wear running around like crazy every day. It must’ve been hausting

“It’s for. They’re family, it’s what you do.” Yarrick chuckled. He wasn’t about to tell the truth now.

His relationship with Hailey was still a secret, it wasn’t appropriate to make it public.

Aside from knowing her name and her age, he couldn’t answer a single question about her. Anyone who heard the full story would think he had lost his mind.

“So, how are things going with Isabelle? You’ve been back at work for a week now. No dates? No hotel meetups or anything?”

“Ugh, what can I say? These days, all we do is best, and even then, it’s mostly about buying a house and the wedding gifts she wants. She even asked me to sell my parents house back home

“What the hell? Sell the house my parents live in? What does she expect them to do, sleep on the streets! This is insane?” Michael’s voice was rising with frustration. Just talking about it hurt when they were just dating, none of this ever came. But the moment they graduated, reality came crashing in house cost millions of dollars, and the wedding gifts were expensive

“My way I’m allowing my parents sleep on the streets even if it means not getting married at all. They raised me and gave up everything for me. I’d be heartless to do something like that. “You’ve right, Michael,” Yanick said, nodding with a heavy heart.

At the mention of parents, his mind instantly came to the tired, worn faces of his own mom and dad. They had sacrificed so much as thinking and motivation all at once.

Thinking about it made his chest ache with guilt

He had to work harder in

old life with him and he could give them the life they deserved.

She wondered what kind of wife Halley would be. As an older and more mature woman, surely, she would understand these principles

Either way, he had to get along with her first. For now, he’d keep in from his pants, not to stir things up before anything was certain the time was right

If they really clicked, then he’d tell them when

Monday came in a blink of an eye.

Tarrick and Michael showed up at the office each, talking also the company cafeteria served cheap, filling breakfasts, and that was where they usually ate before pulling started

"Varrick, can you take a new computer to M. Brown? Bring back her old one too. And make sure all the software she needs is installed and ready," then ordered. "Yes, Mr. Duneun.
I'll have it over right now."

Not long after Varrick came to his desk, Ethan handed him a new task.

Varrick had a pretty good impression of Amanda. She was beautiful and warm, always polite and easy to talk to.

He headed straight to the equipment room, picked out a high-end machine, and

Then he went to the design department on the fifth floor

"Good morning, Amanda. Here's your new computer right here the new computer?!!

"Good morning, Varrick. Thank you so much!" And she smiled cheerfully "Petty pleasure, actually. This batch of computers is solid. I picked the best one for you, knowing how demanding design work can be." Varrick was alright through when selecting her computer.

"Not bad! You've learned how to treat me well!" Amanda joked as she playfully patted his shoulder, then gave it a little squeeze.

"It's no trouble, really. The design team should have the best equipment. Yarrick felt Amanda was flirting with him so he quickly explained

I was always thoughtful. He had already thought

"Thank you, Varrick. On your way out, let the head of the company know we've seriously improved just received some great news about it today" "Oh, what new?" Yarrick surprised, daything than might affect has fure in the company was worth paying alientom 10.
