

N. Machine 111

Chapter: 111

These two were the cadets who had showed excellence beyond expectation. Lee Hameng brought them forward.

“Three group leaders from the second test. Sure, you should have that much of courage in you as a leader. Come to the front of the stage.”

The three leaders walked out. As they grouped up, Yeowun turned to Bakgi who walked up on his right. Chun Muyeon was famous, but he had only seen Bakgi guide his formation. He had a long scar on his right eye.

Chapter: 112

Yushun used the defense formation, or the fifth sword, to defend. Chun Yeowun narrowed his eyes.

‘What?’

The movements were familiar, but he couldn’t counter the formation just once. Chun Muyeon then moved onto his next attack. Yushun was astonished by the level of power. It seemed like he would lose if he underestimated Muyeon.

Chapter: 113

‘Oh, it’s my turn.’

Chun Yeowun got up and stood across Sang Munyo. His question for the yellow tag was set aside.

‘What I do here will decide what will happen next.’

Chapter: 114

‘What an embarrassment!’

All the cadets were shocked too. They thought Yeowun would lose easily, but even the instructor who fought Muyeon wasn’t pushed back like that.

'Ugh! Dammit!'

Chapter: 115

'No! I have to defend this!'

Munyo quickly sent internal energy to make a barrier within himself, but when Chun Yeowun's hand struck, his rib cage was destroyed and he screamed in pain.

"AAAAAAAARGH!"

Chapter: 116

But it was too late for regrets.

The atmosphere on the training ground was now very different. Instructors were like the symbol of impossible for the cadets. However, they had just witnessed two cases where the impossible had turned possible.

The instructors were also shocked. It might be better for the cadets to have hope than despair for the next test, but this was also very embarrassing.

Chapter: 117

'Qi?'

It was qi. Bakgi was also entering the level of a master warrior. Most cadets didn't see the light but Chun Yeowun and the other cadets who were over the top-class level saw it.

'Please!'

Chapter: 118

"I will see you during the third test. Dismissed!"

Cadets then began scattering to go about on their way. Some went to the private training room to take the Black Dragon Ball, while some high-ranked clan members went to study the book first so they could aim to be a group leader.

'Let's take the ball first.'

Chapter: 119

If they were the leader, there was no way they would turn down Ko Wanghur. But if this was who they were competing with, their chances of getting accepted to group were becoming slim.

The cadets then shouted their names and their clans. There were some from high-ranked clans like Ko Wanghur. Out of the sixteen of them, five were from high-ranked clans and eleven of them were from middle to low-ranked clans.

As the people turned to Yeowun and waited for his answer, Yeowun calmly said, "I first want to thank you for wanting to be in my group."

Most of them apologized as they left. Although most of the cadets had left, three were left behind. What was more surprising was that Ko Wanghur hadn't left.

Hu Bong was touched by the three cadets who stayed behind. Ko Wanghur from Demon Fist Clan, Ja Wumin from Golden Door Clan, and Ohjong of the Tiger Sword Clan. These cadets also thought of giving up on joining Yeowun, but they felt the power and charisma in Yeowun's speech.

"Pr..."
