

N. Machine 151

Chapter: 151

Yeowun felt his heart pounding. He then found a small dots that looked like those under the writing of the blue pearl stone which showed a drawing.

A martial art that represented the Lord of the Demonic Cult was the Godly Force of the Sky Demon. Every cultist knew of the power beyond that martial art and it was also one of three Godly Forces of the Jianghu. But the word said Sword Force, not Godly Force.

‘Hmm... is it a sword skill?’

Chapter: 152

“Ugh!”

The light stones from above shined down on him, making him look down. It was too bright to look up directly.

Yeowun’s eyes grew larger. What kind of breathing skill would be divided up into twenty-four stones? Nano then highlighted the twenty-four stones in red. Yeowun’s eye grew larger as he looked at it.

“This...!”

It was astounding. Over hundreds of stones were placed around the pillar, and twenty-four of them had placed in the shape of a dragon soaring up into the sky. It was the same shape that was placed on the pedestal.

[Yes, that is true, Master.]

Nano had recorded the quick energy flow within the body already. Yeowun then became curious about Nano’s conclusion and brought up his internal energy.

“Huh?”

‘Huh?’

Yeowun then noticed the place where he bowed at the front of the pillar sank in the middle and liquid seeped out from it. He tasted it with his finger and found out that it was oil.

‘Is it made for fire?’

Chapter: 156

‘I did it!’

All the lines perfectly matched each other now. Yeowun got up and looked down again.

‘I knew it... it’s a map.’

Chapter: 157

Ja Wumin smiled bitterly as he spoke. The reason he said this was because Yeowun’s group had taken a steep drop after Yeowun was taken to the cave. They were no longer a group, but rather, regular cadets.

“Maybe we’re lucky. We lost those who were going to lose anyway,” Ohjong said with an annoyed expression. The other cadets also became angry. A total of six cadets had gathered here.

“We just have different paths.”

Chapter: 158

“You?”

Bakgi became confused at Ko Wanghur’s decision. Bakgi had spent a few days with them and Ko Wanghur ate a lot, which was fitting for his big body. It was shocking to hear Wanghur, who ate three times more than the other cadets, to decide to skip a meal.

“Well, you are our temporary leader, so you need protection.”

Chapter: 159

Ohjong and Hu Bong were shocked. It seemed that these cadets had been waiting for them since they all had wooden swords in their hands. Ohjong turned to Bakgi to signal for him to run away.

'They've been waiting here. They must be ready.'

Bakgi also agreed and nodded. As they turned immediately to run away, another group of cadets ran up from behind, blocking their path.

Most groups had already gathered most of their group members. The only group that was not fully yet was Bakgi's group.

'They are originally members of the 7th cadet party, so they are waiting for him to come out.'

'Good. Let's do it.'
