

N. Machine 191

Chapter: 191

Yuchan regretted that he didn't cut Yeowun's arm back then. That mistake had brought this onto him. Therefore, all he needed to do was one thing.

'I will take his arm before he grows stronger.'

Chun Yuchan then became serious and readied himself.

Chapter: 192

"You are lucky. I was going to cut your arm with that."

Yuchan smiled. He really would've achieved that with the previous attack if Yeowun had reacted a little slower. Yuchan then pointed at Yeowun with the hand that had the blade qi.

"Stop with that stupid sword skill and come at me with the Butterfly Blade Dance."

Chapter: 193

'Dammit! Are you really okay with this?!'

Bakgi looked at Yeowun's eyes. He looked to see if Yeowun was confident enough for this, but there was no fear or concern in his eyes. Bakgi then felt like he could trust him and nodded.

"Good. Then it sounds good enough."

Chapter: 194

'N-no way!'

'How did he lose?'

'Impossible!'

Chapter: 195

Wu Gunpil took his yellow tag and handed it over to Yeowun while glaring at him. Gunpil then warned, "Don't think this is..."

Before he could finish, Yeowun's fist struck his stomach.

"AAARGH!"

Chapter: 196

"These tags don't mean anything to me."

Yeowun now had a total of six yellow tags. One from Hou Jinchang, one from Ha Ilming, and four from Chun Yuchan. Gallen was astonished.

'He can still keep it to lessen the competition and he still decides to give them away... this guy is different.'

Chapter: 197

Heirship Competition. This was the sole interest that everyone had as this was directly connected to the future of the cult.

There was one person who wasn't in the medical room however. It was the 108th cadet, Ha Ilming, who was taken into another room on the way. He was in the Chief of the Demonic Academy's office.

"Hmm."

Chapter: 198

"108th cadet, Ha Ilming of the Red Martial Sword Clan. Not affiliated with any other clan officially. This is what you wrote down when you registered."

Ha Ilming closed his mouth. With his Blood Reversion Art revealed, he couldn't spill any more.

"You think you can keep it from me? You think you will walk out safely with this forbidden art? Who did you learn it from?"

Chapter: 199

“Huh?”

Yeowun and his members became surprised. All these cadets then came up to them so Hu Bong and the other members blocked them from coming near Yeowun.

“Move! I want to talk to the Prince!”

Chapter: 200

Yeowun bowed in the end. The cadets then began to mumble to themselves and they began to leave one by one. Those cadets who just wanted to join for the test left without hesitation. Unlike what was expected in the beginning, not that many decided to leave. A total of twenty-six cadets still stayed behind.

508th cadet Yu Paran who knelt on one knee bowed to speak.

“I wanted to join at first just for the test, but I changed my mind after listening to you. Please take me in.”