

N. Machine 211

Chapter: 211

Hu Bong offered to try it with the other hesitant cadets. In Hu Bong's experience, whatever Yeowun said never ended weirdly.

"Ready your sword!"

Yeowun shouted and all seventeen cadets prepared to perform the Seven Demon Sword.

Chapter: 212

'Huh?'

Yeowun was glaring at him however. Surely Yeowun was angry at his laziness.

"You think I would not notice if you didn't put in any effort?"

Chapter: 213

And the groups who scattered to train on their own, gathered in one place.

"...I lost. Hmph."

Bakgi spoke and turned away. Ko Wanghur burst out into laughter for winning his bet.

Chapter: 214

Ko Wanghur and Hou Sangwha had become master-level warriors since they didn't slack off on their own training when the team training was over.

"Thank you, Master."

Hou Sangwha was glad that she had become a master-level warrior. She was now the second master-level girl cadet.

Chapter: 215

“Master, what is the reason for having the Six Swords?” Wu Sojung raised his hand and asked. The other cadets also had the same question.

“If we graduate from the academy, we will be fighting against six clans. I need the Six Swords who will complete that job on the frontlines of battle.”

Everyone nodded. All of the people here knew that Yeowun was trying to fight the six clans and create a new Demonic Cult.

Chapter: 216

The fight was to be held at once, battle royale style. Yeowun told them to not use more than 30% of their internal energy to not hurt one another.

“Then, shall we start?”

Wanghur took off his top and flexed his large muscles. It was to bring up his morale, but it wasn't a good choice. It made Hou Sangwha and Wu Sojung feel disgusted at the toplessness and they both decided to attack Wanghur first.

Chapter: 217

The time given for cadets to train for the third test quickly passed by, and many things happened during that time period. It started with Chun Jongsum, the prince of the Poison Clan who left the academy with an injury, and it ended with Chun Yuchan, one of two likely heirs to the throne, who lost the fight for a yellow tag and had his arm cut off. There were other minor incidents, but all the important incidents were related to Chun Yeowun.

In the early morning, just before the beginning of the third test, there was a guest in the Chief's office. The guest was a man wearing a mask with weird symbols on it. It was the Great Guardian, Marakim the Dark King. There were documents in the hands of the Left Guardian and Chief of the Academy, Lee Hameng. But he didn't look pleased while glancing through the documents. After going through every page, he put them down on the desk and asked, “Is this really approved?”

“Yes. It was decided from the top, and the Lord approved it yesterday.”

Chapter: 218

“Before we move onto the test, I will announce one small change in the details.”

The cadets began to mumble, concerned about unexpected change. They now realized that the change had something to do with those tied up people at the front of the stage.

“The original test was going to involve fighting instructors with the Sword Demon formation. But there will be a slight change to this.”

Chapter: 219

He too seemed to be very nervous. He had heard about the test already and he knew what he had to do if he were to survive. However, he was still shocked to see the cadets in front of him.

‘They’re just children!’

He volunteered since he was told that he would be freed if he could win against the sword formation, but he wasn’t told that he’d be fighting teenagers. The instructors scoffed at the man from behind.

Chapter: 220

“Whoaaaaa!”

It seemed like they gained courage by seeing a fight that seemed to end easily. Two instructors then came up to haul the body out.

“You were lucky,” the instructor said. Sama Chak and his members frowned. Like he said, if the man was cold-hearted, they would have been killed. Lee Hameng then got up from the chair and shouted loudly, “I congratulate the victory of Sama Chak!”