

N. Machine 91

Chapter: 91

'Nano, simulate the formation scanned on the second floor of the library in 3D.'

[I will activate it beginning from the very first mark.]

A human figure appeared and began showing the sword movements that had been left on the stone.

Chapter: 92

He got up and tried using the first formation of the Butterfly Blade Dance. The sound of his hand slashing through the air sounded different. His movement now left a faint trace wherever he moved his hand.

"Wow!" Yeowun gasped. There was a faint silver glow on his right hand.

'Am I... shaping qi?'

Chapter: 93

Hu Bong smiled, "No, it's not much. My sword skill is too weak, so I copied a footstep skill to help."

Hu Bong's clan used swords. Hu Bong thought using the only sword would not work as they progressed so he copied a book on something else to help him further. Yeowun nodded.

'I guess everyone is going to get better now.'

Chapter: 94

He realized he had to train more and forgot about all his anger toward Chun Yeowun.

'I can't waste time on such a fool.'

Ha Ilming then began training right away. Like the other cadets, he was going to spend all of his vacation in training. That's why he was up early to train in the private training room. After training internal energy in the morning, and he then proceeded to practice formations in the afternoon. And then it happened.

Chapter: 95

He had learned a lot about Nano's usage, but it was always fascinating to know about these things.

'I guess I will have to grow up then.'

Chun Yeowun then started to try testing his sword formation. His sword moved quickly, simulating the twenty-four sword movements, but his face didn't express excitement when he finished the formation.

Chapter: 96

'Maybe he hid something in that poem.'

It was nonsense to only leave sword formation.

'Nano, can you replicate the front side of the stone on the first floor?'

Chapter: 97

'Four holes... probably means the fourth blood point.'

The fourth blood point was shown in the book on its location.

'This is weird. The basic flow of energy starts from another place... it would need seven holes then... OH!'

Chapter: 98

"I'm lucky. I wanted to meet you."

He was polite but also suspicious.

"If you are asking about me, shouldn't you be introducing yourself first?"

Chapter: 99

'What does he want? Why does he want to duel me? Is he certain that he can defeat me?'

That was the weird part. However, there was no loss in dueling him and Yeowun didn't think he would lose either. Yeowun decided to agree to the duel.

"Good."

Chapter: 100

"I want to ask you something first."

"Yes?"

"Why did you want to have a duel with me?"