

Chapter 10 Let's go together

She wanted to ask Philip, why are you here, but the words came to her tongue and she swallowed them back. It's a public place, he wouldn't want people to know that they knew each other.

Glancing at the indifference on his face, she acted as if she didn't see him either and passed through him into the operating room.

After changing into her surgical gown and disinfecting, she walked to the operating table and saw Jeremy Dyken who is operating on the patient. She is not surprised, when she saw Philip just now, she knew that the doctor transferred to her hospital was Jeremy Dyken.

Jeremy had known Philip for years and had also gone to lectures as a professor in her college, a respectable senior in the field.

Jeremy was also the only one who knew Philip's relation to her.

While working, Jeremy was meticulous, waiting for the surgery to be over before he had the time to greet her, "It's been a long time, how are you and Philip?"

Amaya froze for a moment, he was asking about her and Philip, not just her, the meaning of this, was deep: "Uh.....we're all pretty good....."

Jeremy moved his shoulders, which were stiff from holding one position for a long time during the surgery, and said with a smile, "I'm going out to dinner with Philip later, why don't you join us?"

Amaya hastily refused, "No, I have something to do, you guys have fun."

She was a bit depressed, if Philip was willing to have dinner with her, it would be a hell of a thing. She was confused, Jeremy Dyken, Philip's best friend for many years, didn't know a thing about the strained relationship between her and Philip?

Jeremy didn't pay attention to her reaction and talked to himself, "These three years have been hard on Philip, his father died suddenly and his branch abroad was just starting up, so he wants to come back but can't."

Amaya didn't understand why he said this, so she didn't say anything.

Jeremy suddenly added, "If I were him, I wouldn't feel comfortable too, leaving you alone in the here."

Amaya's eyes narrowed slightly, looking at Jeremy who was smiling like a douche, always feeling that he was a fool apart from his good medical skills. He is nothing but a good-looking face and an EQ of a napkin.

Philip hated to tear her up whenever he saw her, and you know nothing all these years? Or did she misinterpret his relationship with Philip?

As they were talking, Philip came to them, and Jeremy smiled radiantly, "Let's go have dinner together?"

Amaya was about to leave when Jeremy yanked her by the hand,"Why are you running away?Afraid that Philip will eat you?"

Amaya's head was about to crack,how did she run into such a socially oblivious idiot?

Unexpectedly,the next second,Philip spoke indifferently,"Let's go together."

Amaya was slightly stunned,this was the first time in so many years,eating out with Philip,and with his own permission.

There was no hint of emotion on his face,and she couldn't see through what was in his mind,so she took it as a sign that he was for Jeremy's sake and not embarrassing her too much.

When they drove to a little Italy restaurant and settled down,Amaya consciously sat with Jeremy,if she sat next to Philip,it might cause him to resent her.

So many years of learning to observe his emotions and words have been ingrained into her bones,she always unconsciously observed Philip's look,and then found,his face darkened.....

Something was buzzing in her head,was she upsetting him again?

Jeremy seemed to be unaware of the subtle change in the situation and talked to Philip,"Did you take care of that matter?What I don't understand is why you brought Julia to St.Mary's Hospital....."