

Chapter 34 The Entire Truth Revealed

Lauren was freaking out.

"I... No, it is not me... I know nothing...Other people told this to me..."

Lauren said brokenly.

"Who said this to you? Don't you know where your own sister's heart is?" Back then, Raymond dealt with Karen's body so he knew she had no heart in her chest after she died.

"Lauren, what did he mean? You told me that the Parker family forced Karen to give her heart to them and then she died! Didn't you tell us they wanted Karen's heart?" Lauren's mother stared at her with confusion.

Lauren's face turned pale as white as paper and then her gaze suddenly rested on Raymond. She looked at him fixedly who as well looked at her coldly and indifferently.

"Since you had known the entire truth, why did you come to ask me? You know it, right?" Lauren had already been pushed on the verge of collapse.

"I want You to speak it out," he said.

"Yes! It's me! I did all this to them! But Karen deserved it! She had planned to kill Hilda so you should thank me for this. If I hadn't let Karen drink that glass of wine, it would have been Hilda who died! I did nothing else then! I also didn't expect Karen to fool around with those men! You see, it is her retribution! God was punishing her!" Lauren put everything on the table.

"After I knew Hilda wanted a heart, I deliberately spread the news that Karen was a match for her so that's why the Miller family would come to Hilda after Karen died. But what a coincidence! That day when Karen died, they found a suitable match for Hilda, so I let my parents think Hilda took Karen's heart," Lauren added.

"Ray, you think Karen is a kind woman? No! She is not! She is a complicated woman! Everything she had was stolen from Hilda!" Lauren knew she was not able to be with Raymond so she told everything she knew to Raymond.

Lauren's parents were totally shocked by what Lauren said.

They looked at their daughter who was supposed to be kind and nice and wondered when she became so terrible and cold.

"Ray, I love you so much! The reason why I did all this was that I loved you so much! I couldn't let you be with Karen! She is such a bad woman and how could you be with her? So Ray...can you love me? I can do anything for you! I can forgive everything for you...Ray..."

Lauren's parents knew everything would be over and they would end up with a worse result than the Parker family. All this was because of what their daughter did! Just because of a man, Lauren would actually hurt her own sister!

Raymond had already known about the entire truth but why did his heart still hurt when Lauren told him about Hilda?

He recalled what Hilda said to him: Raymond, I really hurt...

He also hurt... Kiki, I also hurt now... hurt all over my body.

He then recalled what Hilda said again: I hate you... I don't want to love you anymore... I regret it.

"Hilda!" Raymond roared in his heart!

Chapter 35 Begging You To Tell Me Where She Is

The Morris Corporation, as Karen's father had expected, became a target in the business world.

Overnight, the family who was always flattered by others now was the one everyone sneered at.

Raymond was locked in a room by Raymond and then was sent to a mental hospital. He asked the staff to keep a tight eye on her and could never let her leave the hospital.

Tracy was clear about the result of the Miller family and she was quite surprised, freezing, "What did Raymond mean? Didn't he protect the Miller family like pearls? How could...the Miller family collapse overnight?"

The housekeeper shook his head, not knowing why he dealt with the Miller family like this.

Tracy didn't care about how the Miller family ended up and to her, the collapse of them was good news. Then she could deal with Raymond without being distracted. Good news anyway.

About half a month later, Raymond knocked on Tracy's home door.

It was not a surprising thing for Tracy that Raymond came to her.

With his social status, if Raymond wanted to find something out, he could find it out anyway. That could explain why he could know where Tracy lived.

At first, Tracy was confused about why the Miller family would fall from the high overnight but everything became very clear gradually.

The only reason was that Raymond might have found out the truth.

But he shouldn't take his anger out on others. If Raymond thinks about it, it would be himself to blame. So when Tracy saw his tired and emotionless face, she only felt irritated.

"Raymond, you are bold enough to see me alone," Tracy said with cold eyes, "Aren't you afraid I will kill you right here?"

"Tell me where she is?" Raymond didn't want to waste time with Tracy with his body spreading coldness.

"Why are you confident that I will tell you?" she asked.

"Because she loves me," Raymond said with pale lips.

"She loves you?" Tracy sneered with laughter, "Raymond, you are really an interesting man! Do you have the nerve to say she loves you? If my memory is correct, the woman you said loves you almost died in your hands two times! She stabbed herself two times thanks to you! What's more! She was sent to the emergency room several times because of you! That's how Hilda died!"

"Are you regretting now? Raymond, it's too late for you to regret it! Hilda could not see this!" Tracy found out that she couldn't calm herself down in front of Raymond.

Tracy pointed at the door and said to Raymond, "Get out of here! I don't want to see you anymore. I have told you that I will let you pay for what you have done to Hilda. You will never know from me where Hilda is!"

"But I am begging you..." Raymond stared at Tracy with expectations in his eyes, "I beg you to let me see her. I can only have one look. I want to talk to her and I won't do anything else. I promise, after this time, I will never appear in front of her. I..."

Raymond knew Hilda hated him and didn't love him anymore but he couldn't control himself.

He used all his resources, human and material, to find Hilda's grave but it had been a month, and nothing was found as if her grave disappeared from this world.

Raymond didn't want to lose her and he wanted to find her back and take Hilda home...
