

Chapter 11 Old Age

Susan nodded, "OK. Half a year? I hope we can divorce peacefully then."

Albert frowned slightly and looked at her. He didn't understand why suddenly she wanted to divorce eagerly?

Didn't she love him so much?

Although he wanted to explore her mind, his arrogance since his childhood made him unable to ask.

Divorce, he also wanted to divorce.

The man's face suddenly cooled down. "How much do you think I like this marriage? We just benefit from each other. Don't take yourself too seriously."

Susan's heart sank. "I never take myself seriously, but I don't want the thing last night to happen again. I'm already in harmony. I will act in front of outsiders, I don't like the rest."

"You don't like it? Didn't you like these all the time? You even don't hesitate to use some messy things to force me to sleep with you. Susan, don't play tricks in front of me."

Yes, she used to love him to the bone and looked forward to his love most.

Before... She was very young.

The disease pulled her to her old age in an instant.

Thinking of herself before, she was too young to believe that as long as marrying him, they would live together for a lifetime.

For a long time, she smiled, "I used to love you, but now I don't love you. If you want to, you can go to find Lacey and anyone."

The man's face was cold enough to freeze her to death.

Susan said wisely, "I am also considering for you so that you won't quarrel and separate, or everything you do will come to naught, won't it?"

"You're right."

His face seemed to return to expressionless.

Susan breathed a sigh of relief. "If there is nothing else, I'll go first."

Before Albert spoke, she left directly.

She closed the door lightly.

Albert suddenly felt a wave of fury from no where, kicking over the chair in front of him.

With Albert's means, along with the pressure on media channels, public opinion on the Internet changed in an instant.

Many reporters said that the man was not Mr. Albert himself, and Lacey was not his lover. They were flattered that Mr. Albert had a good relationship with her wife.

Some people said that the Laura family is married to the Karl family. The Karl family does not mind the decline of the Laura family. It seemed to me they are true lovers.

After reading these, Lacey smashed the mobile phone directly.

"Susan Laura! You are so annoying!"

Now that Albert was married, she was not sure what Albert wanted to do to her. On the surface, he connived at her, but when Susan played tricks on him, he would turn a deaf ear to her.

For a man like Albert, he would never do anything for Lacey.

Thinking of this, Lacey was very stuffy.....

Why could Albert always keep a bit sober? Why couldn't he give up everything for the woman he loved like other men.

Was she not charming enough or did he not love her?

Thinking of this, Lacey grabbed her hair anxiously. What should she do now?

At this time, the cell phone she fell to the ground rang.

Lacey walked over and was angry when she saw the string of strange numbers.

Then she said angrily, "Who the hell are you? What bad advice did you give me? As long as I pretended to be raped, Albert would break up with Susan? Now?"

They not only didn't break up but also were reconciled!"

The people on the other side disdained, "I've never seen such a brainless woman like you. I told you to pretend to be raped by others, you lay directly on the ground and tear your clothes. That's all? If you don't have utility value, I'll first let someone kill you and let you know what it's like to be raped!"

Lacey's frightened face turned pale, "You... You don't dare to show your face. I don't want to cooperate with you! I will not rely on you to gain what I want anymore."

The voice over there was cold instantly. "If you choose to cooperate with me, you have no chance to repent. You'd better be obedient. If you want Albert, I'll help you."

"You... I listened to you once, but you look at what I am now! I am ridiculed and mocked at!"

"You are the mistress. Why are you so angry?"

"You....."

"If you want to defeat Susan effortlessly, you must listen to me!"

Lacey's eyes lit up as soon as she heard that she could defeat Susan.

"Can you help me defeat her?"

The man didn't answer her, but said, "Tomorrow, someone will send you a bag of lipsticks. You find your way to mix these lipsticks with Laura's finished products."

Although Lacey wanted to defeat Susan, she was still afraid, "Won't you hurt any people, will you?"

"Don't worry, it won't kill people, but Susan Laura's brand will be destroyed."

"But what does this have to do with me?"

"Just do as I say. Don't talk so much nonsense. You must finish this job."

Then he hung up directly.

Lacey was afraid and angry. She didn't know who the man was. He called a different number every time.

She dared not call the police, because once she called the police, all her information would be dug out.

This man helped her hide and she helped him. This was their agreement. If she unilaterally broke the contract.....

Lacey shook her head. She dared not think anymore!

In the evening, Lacey called Albert.

Crying, very sad, "Albert, are you going to abandon me? The whole Internet is full of news about you and Susan. You didn't even call me once. If so, would you please tell me directly..."

Albert had been sitting alone in the office for a long time.

The house was dark, only the cigarette sparks in his hand and the neon lights from the French window.

It seemed that he came back to his mind when he heard Lacey crying.

"For the sake of family interests, I have to pretend to love her. What, you can't stand it?"

"No... you leave me alone for so long and ignored me. I thought..."

"I'll be busy recently so I don't have time to accompany you."

"Oh... Well... I'll hang up..."

With an "Em", the man hung up directly.

Lacey looked at the dark screen in her hand and finally made up her mind that she must defeat Susan. Years ago, it was Susan who threatened and lured her away, so she would encounter those stains that could not be erased in her life.

Even if Albert didn't love her much, without Susan, Albert would marry her, and then she would be rich and glorious all her life.

Susan destroyed all this!
