

Chapter 22 Go Abroad With Me

Albert stared at Lacey's flustered face with his dark eyes for a few seconds and then whispered a few words in the assistant's ear.

The assistant was puzzled after hearing this. He looked at Lacey and nodded, "OK, I'll do it right away."

Lacey looked at Lacey again, "Lacey, what do you want?"

"I told you everything. I thought you would worry about me, protect me, and be good to me, but... You made up with Susan. Albert, what do you think of me? Maybe the mysterious man is right. You just regard me as a chess piece, a chess piece used to torture Susan... A catalyst to promote your feelings..."

Albert did not answer but looked at her quietly.

Lacey had seen the answer from his eyes.

There was never any tenderness in his eyes when they were together.

However, in the photos of Albert and Susan sent to her by the mysterious man these days, she found that Albert's facial expressions were enriched.

Just looking at the photos, she could feel his strength, his flesh, and blood.

"Susan is the woman you love, right? Haha... I thought you had me in your heart..."

"The mysterious man is right. Since you don't love me, I'll let you remember me forever!"

Albert noticed her hatred and responded, "Lacey, what are you going to do?!"

"Since you don't love me, I'll let you hate me. I want your mother to die with me!"

Albert's pupils shrunk and his fingers clenched, but his face was still calm.

"Lacey, don't be bewitched by him. He's stirring up discord. Can't you see it?"

"If you love me, why do you monitor my mobile phone? Why do you ignore me for so many days?"

That day, he wanted her cell phone to install monitoring so that he could find out who was behind the scenes.

Albert's eyes were slightly cold. Fortunately, there was a cover-up of the night, and Lacey couldn't see it.

"I'm acting with Susan. I want to help you find out the mysterious man. If I don't pretend to love her, how can the mysterious man show up?"

"If I don't care about you, how can I come here quickly? Lacey, we have known each other for many years. You have always been in my heart. You are my little princess. Everyone knows that. Why don't you believe it?"

Women always begin to waver because of a few words from men, especially the women like Lacey. Albert just said a few words, and she believed it.

Lacey burst into tears, "Albert... Do you love me? Are you and Susan just acting?"

"Of course, now the mysterious man will be caught soon. You won't be threatened by him. We can be together forever."

"Really? Is that true?"

"Of course....."

Albert walked to her step by step and finally pulled her down from the danger zone.

.....

On the other side, is the airport.

Susan slowly opened her eyes and saw many people coming and going.

She frowned and found that she was in a person's arms at the moment. She looked up and saw Aaron. She was even more puzzled, "Aaron? Are you okay? Where is this? The airport? What are we doing at the airport?"

"I'll take you away, Susan. I can't let you stay here alone and immerse yourself in love with Albert and forget your illness. You must follow me and go abroad for treatment."

"So... You lied to me? You didn't have a car accident. Did you stun me and bring me here?"

She still remembers that as soon as she got to the hospital, she was taken into the emergency room by the doctor. The moment she stepped into the emergency room, she just fainted.

"Yes, I lied to you because I knew you wouldn't go with me."

At this time, the video of Lacey and Albert suddenly appeared on the large LED screen of the airport.

Albert's words echoed at the airport, "I'm acting with Susan. I want to help you find out the mysterious man. If I don't pretend to love her, how can he show up..."

"Albert... Do you love me? Are you and Susan just acting?"

"Of course."

Acting.....

Susan's face turned pale in an instant

It turned out that everything he did was for Lacey.

These days, his tenderness and domineering towards her were fake, fake.....

No wonder, no wonder, he suddenly changed his temper. She couldn't figure it out, now it was all for Lacey.

Susan blinked and a tear fell.

She raised her hand and wiped away the unexpected tears. "Aaron, you've already known it, haven't you?"

Aaron looked at her and answered after a few seconds. "I know you won't believe he doesn't love you, so I didn't say it."

"Susan, you are pregnant now. The most important thing for you now is to protect your life and your child, rather than immerse yourself in the illusion Albert built."

"Go abroad with me. I believe foreign technology will help you continue your life!"

At this moment, she had nothing to miss?

Her child.....

Yes, her child was everything to her. Why did she forget?

Albert, he could destroy her world easily.

"I'll go with you."

"You don't have to worry about the company. I'll have people watch it. If Albert doesn't operate it well, I'll start the acquisition and hand it over to you."

Susan stopped talking and became depressed.

After controlling Lacey, he directly handed her over to the police.

And sent his mother to the hospital.

But Susan didn't know these things. All of the LED screens changed their channels.

At this time, the radio broadcast had prompted to board.

Aaron said, "Let's go."

They got up, passed the door, and looked up at the night sky. Maybe they'll never come back?

Step by step, as if walking out of the mud, painful but relaxing.

However, the moment they stepped on the stairs, someone shouted, "Madam, please stay!"

What happened.....

Susan turned around and saw Albert's assistant, with many people behind him.

Aaron held Susan's hand, "Don't worry about him."

"Sorry, Mr. Albert said that his wife had been kidnapped. Please go to the police station with us!"

Aaron looked at the assistant and seemed to wonder what was wrong.

He said calmly, "We are friends. She is willing to go with me voluntarily."

Susan admitted, "Yes, we are friends. There is no kidnapping. Please don't abuse your power."

At this time, a low and indifferent voice came from the crowd, "Friends?"

Albert was wearing a black windbreaker, and the night wind blew up his coat, like the king who dominated everything.

He was not in a hurry but walked gently. "Aaron, you must be thinking, which step went wrong, and let me stop you first?"
