

Chapter 9 The Burden That Couldn't Be Thrown Away

Susan wiped her mouth, "You just kissed Lacey, and now you came to kiss me. You are disgusting!"

Albert smiled?

When Susan was wondering whether it was her illusion, Albert said: "Then why do you love a disgusting man?"

"You!"

Albert picked up the suitcase that had fallen on the ground and took her to the car.

Seeing Albert coming, Jessie respectfully greeted him, "Sir!"

Albert didn't even give Jessie a look.

He put the suitcase in the trunk and opened the door.

Seeing Jessie sitting as the co-pilot, he frowned and said, "Get off the car."

Jessie secretly touched her wrist in plaster.

How dare she provokes him again?

So she got out of the car directly.

Susan silently dragged Jessie back.

Jessie dodged her hand and said: "I'm fine. I'll just take a taxi back. Mr.Karl has a bad temper. Only you can cope with him."

Susan was speechless.

Jessie went straight to the roadside to wait for a taxi.

Susan had no choice but to get in Albert's car.

No, it was her car.

Albert was just a driver

Seeing her sitting in the car, Albert leaned over to fasten the seat belt for her.

Susan ducked back with conditioned reflex and bumped into the window.

The pain almost made her cry.

"What are you afraid of?"

Susan glanced at him, "Albert, please keep your past attitude and don't suddenly be a good man. Yes, you are making me scared."

Albert pinched her chin and turned her face to his eyes. "As long as we haven't gotten divorced, I can do whatever I want."

Susan's heart thumped violently: "OK, you can do whatever you want."

Albert sat back and fired the engine.

Susan was extremely tired today.

She leaned against the window and fell asleep quickly.

.....

When she woke up, she found herself in the bedroom.

Susan turned on a light, only to find there was no one in the room.

She didn't understand what Albert wanted to do.

Sending her back and disappearing again?

Boring.

Going to bed without having a bath was not comfortable.

Susan got up and went to the wardrobe to find her pajamas.

With that, she took off her clothes and went to the bathroom.

She was still a little sleepy.

So she closed her eyes when walking.

Suddenly she bumped into a "human wall" with water droplets.

Susan's heart trembled.

She opened her eyes, happening to meet Albert's joking eyes.

The flame flickering in his eyes reddened her face.

Susan quickly stretched out her hand to cover her chest.

Now she only wore underwear.....

"You... Why are you here..."

Albert stepped forward and trapped her in a narrow space, "This is my home, why can't I be here?"

The sound insulation effect of Albert's house was very good.

Susan took it for granted that he had left.

Unexpectedly... He was taking a bath

Talking like this was quite embarrassing. Susan blushed, "Al, Albert, you....."

"Huh?"

He bent over deliberately, putting his lips on her ear. "I'm listening"

"You, you should leave."

Seeing her shy face, Albert found it very interesting.

"What if I don't get it?"

Although Susan usually looked arrogant and was a powerful woman with means in the eyes of outsiders, no one knew that she had also been an apple of her parent's eyes since childhood.

She had experienced little love, so she was still simple and shy.

Especially in front of Albert...

Her first and only man.

Unconsciously, her cute expression directly aroused the man's desire.

Albert raised her chin.

The flame of desire in his deep eyes seemed to burn more violently.

Susan was afraid and trembled, "You, you put..."

She hadn't finished yet, he kissed her again.

Unlike the previous kissing outside, this time was more aggressive.

Aware of his intention, Susan was wondering what happened to him suddenly?

Punching and kicking him didn't let her escape.
When Albert finished that, Susan cried.
She bit him on the shoulder and went to take a bath.

.....

Although it had long been expected that once Lacey's affair became famous enough to the police station, someone would report it.

However, when many media reported on her relationship with Albert and Lacey in the morning, Susan still felt a little annoyed.

Susan put down her cell phone and looked at Albert opposite.

"Don't you save grandpa and your father's face? "

Albert took a sip of milk. "Isn't this what you want to see?"

"What do you mean?"

The man put the milk cup on the table. "Do you think I didn't withdraw the news? After I tried, these things still burst out. What does it mean?"

Susan said with a smile, "What do you mean, I'm behind all this?"

"It's hard to say."

"Albert, this is not me. If I wanted to expose that news, I would expose it long ago. I won't wait until now."

Albert stopped talking and Susan did not know whether he believed it or not.

But Susan didn't care, "Go get the divorce certificate

after breakfast."

Albert gently buttoned the table with his fingers, "Now in this situation, do you think we can still get divorced? If we divorce, not only our family's reputation will be lost, but also I will be labeled as scum, affecting not only the Karl family but also the company, including your brand."

"Should we divorce at this time?"

Susan froze while she was eating bread just now.

These principles were telling her that she couldn't get divorced.

She would continue to suffer these shackles.

Did people have a responsibility as long as they lived?

Was there a burden she couldn't get rid of?
