

Night Stand 10

Falling in Love With A One-Night Stand

Chapter 10

“Who... who flirted with you? I already said that it was an accident!” “Then, is what just happened today an accident, too? Or did you use me as a shield?”

Anna was Wayne’s subordinate and he would not allow anyone to bully her. That was why he helped her.

Wayne leaned down towards her ear and whispered, “I hope that this is the last time you flirt with me. If you dare to do it again, I’ll fire you immediately.”

Wayne’s stare sent a chill down her spine. After the elevator chimed and the doors opened, Wayne immediately turned to leave.

Anna heaved a sigh of relief and thought to herself, I’m not flirting with you! Stop flattering yourself, okay?

As soon as Anna reached her department, she was called by her assistant, Vivian Welsh, who appeared flustered. “What happened?” Anna asked.

“A child in the VIP suite on the 20th level is throwing a tantrum and refusing to eat. No one could control him and now the room is in a mess. Our hotel would be responsible if anything goes wrong with him.”

child in the VIP suite

one could coax him. He is throwing a tantrum members? They are supposed to eaten for a day and we’re

was

in

along with the screams of the staff as they approached room.

Gabriel is here.”

trashed. The seat cushions were on the ground and the juicer smashed. Broken lamps, spaghetti, broken plates, and five-year-old boy could be so destructive. “Where’s the kid?” She asked.