

Night Stand 121

Chapter 121

Anna's face turned red. She then said, "I don't think so."

Wayne stared at her with a smirk and asked, "Really? But you don't look like you don't think so."

Anna looked highly wary, so Wayne knew what she was thinking.

Seeing him staring at her, she subconsciously glanced down at herself. Then she hesitantly dropped her hand and asked awkwardly, "Besides, what do you mean by bringing me here? I can apologize for what just happened, but you have to let me out."

Wayne didn't even look like he wanted to move. He simply turned around, leaned back on the headrest at the edge of the tub, and said in a low, teasing voice, "Do you think your apology is enough?"

Anna got anxious and asked, "Then what exactly do you want from me?" "Come here and rub my back." He said curtly

His voice echoed in the bathroom. Anna froze for a long time when she heard the words. She stared straight up at Wayne's back and stuttered, "Are... Are you kidding me?"

"You can think I'm joking if you want to spend an afternoon with me just inside the bathroom."

"Damn!"

Looking at Wayne's back, Anna wanted to push his head into the water. She didn't understand why Wayne could be so petty and shameless. Anna thought angrily, It was just a joke. Do you have to take it so seriously?

As the bathroom got hotter and hotter, Anna's white T-shirt was soaking wet. She felt that if she continued to argue with him like this, she would pass out from the heat.

After thinking for a long time, Anna gritted her teeth and walked to the tub's edge. Reluctantly, she asked, "How should I rub you?"

"Wayne..." Panting, Anna called his name. At the same time, she bit her lips, closed her eyes and let desire take the better of her.

Wayne was more than aroused and ecstatic. The last time they had s*x, he thought that the reason why Anna took the initiative was simply because she was under the influence of alcohol. However, it turned out that Anna was also affectionate towards him, proving that his affection towards her was not merely unrequited love.

He clenched her waist more tightly and sped up. Feeling that his d*ck was wrapped around by her tight psy that contracted on and off, Wayne was so happy that he felt like he was on top of the world.

Anna moved up and down violently in the water. Every part of her body was screaming for more as her G spot was stimulated again and again.

God... This feels SO GOOD... Anna said to herself.

"Ahhh..." Anna couldn't help trembling. She felt a wave of electricity running from her cervix to her head, feeling like fireworks had just exploded inside her body. And her hands and legs went numb but shook uncontrollably.

The next time she reached o*m, she widened her eyes, and her pupils were expanded. Her whole body shivered uncontrollably, and then she went limp in Wayne's arms.

To Wayne's surprise, Anna's orgasm was so intense that she passed out.

After a while, Anna felt that someone was holding her and drying her off as she was dazed. She then was placed in a large, clean, comfortable bed and covered with a quilt. She was so tired that she drifted off to sleep immediately and even had a confusing dream.

She dreamed that she was in the busiest downtown of Birmingham. It was at dusk, and the sunset was scarlet, like a burning flame. Anna was walking alone in the street and suddenly felt bewildered.

*Anna"

She heard a familiar voice. When she looked up, she found herself holding Wayne's arm. She froze and tried to pull her hand back, but Wayne refused to let go. He said softly, "let's go home for dinner tonight, okay? Let's go pick up the kids now." "Home?" in disbelief, she looked at Wayne and asked, "Where are we going? We're..."

Wayne looked at her dotingly and resignedly and said, "Have you forgotten everything? We've been married for over a year, my dear."

"We've been married?" Anna followed him in a daze "Mommy Daddy!"

Two children ran towards them and jumped into her arms. They giggled happily and their laughter as melodious as music

She lifted the quilt to look at herself and noticed that she was wearing loose men's pajamas that should belong to wave kitchen. The aroma of delicious dishes wafting from the dining room, and the maid who had just brought her clothes was arranging the toys downstairs, she greeted her respectfully, "Hello, to look less embarrassed, for him for a while and have dinner after he returns. If off to pick up Matthew and Tammy, he should be back soon." Hearing this, Anna just had to sit down. "Have a

"We've arrived."

Anna snapped back to her senses after hearing Wayne's low voice. She turned her head to look out the window and saw the apartment she was staying in. She was a little disoriented because she felt like she was just having dinner at Wayne's house.

After thanking him, she then turned her head and shook Tammy's shoulder and said, "Tammy! Hey, honey, wake up."

Tammy grunted and was still asleep. "I've got this." Wayne unbuckled his seat belt.

He then got out of the car before Anna could refuse his offer. Wayne pulled open the door on the other side of the car and gently picked Tammy up.

"Come on, I'll walk you upstairs."

Anna froze. She nodded immediately after coming back to her senses and walked ahead to lead the way for him.

Peace's apartment was on the twentieth floor. As the elevator was rising slowly, the two seemed like they could hear each other's breathing clearly in the narrow space.

Tammy was lying quietly on Wayne's shoulder, sleeping soundly. She seemed to trust Wayne a lot.

Anna gave them both a look and thought that maybe Tammy was extra intimate with Wayne because they were really family, and so was Matthew with her.

"I thought you said you got your house back, so why are you still living here?" Wayne asked, bringing her back to her senses.

She looked to the ground and said, "That house is in Golden Ocean Community, where all the houses are old villas. Tammy and I stayed there for one night and both found it a little too chilly and creepy. So, we moved back."

She wanted Ryan to live in the villa, too. After all, he hadn't remembered who he was. That way, the house could be a little more lively. She didn't expect that Wayne later let Ryan stay at the hotel. Moreover, she didn't like having a babysitter at home, so she didn't move in with Tammy either

"Are there still reporters coming here?" Wayne thought of what happened earlier when Scott stayed here and had attracted reporters

At the mention of this, Anna suddenly laughed and said, "A lot of reporters have come here before. When Peace came back from a business trip the other day and saw them, she cursed the crap out of them. After that, no reporters dared to come."

As they were talking, the elevator doors slowly opened. It was pretty late, and there was no one in the hallway.

Chapter 124

Peace drove Anna to the hotel the following afternoon.

When they were at the door, Peace teased Anna, “Do you want me to walk you in? Maybe we will run into Wayne. If you’re too embarrassed to talk to him, then I’ll speak for you.”

Anna rolled her eyes at her and said, “Stop it, Peace, stop the nonsense. Open the trunk and let me take the case. Thank you for taking care of Tammy.”

Peace leaned back, winked at her, and said, “I know. You might as well think about your own business, Anna, like finding a stepfather for Tammy or something. You don’t have to worry about anything else.”

Anna was a little speechless. Peace had mentioned Wayne since early this morning, even making Anna wonder if Wayne had bribed her into mentioning him in front of her.

Anna took her suitcase and then stood still. Only when Peace’s car drove away that she pulled the suitcase into the hotel.

She walked straight to the door of her room and swiped it open with her spare room card. “Why is this a suite?” She muttered, then pulled her suitcase towards the bedroom.

She hadn’t read it carefully earlier when she received the text message and assumed that she would be staying in a regular business room. She had just walked to the room door when she remembered that the rooms on this floor were all suites.

This was a large suite, with the bedroom and living room connected together. Anna had just entered the bedroom with her suitcase when she heard the sound of the door opening. Immediately after that, a sexy half-naked man came out.

Wayne came out of the bathroom with just a wide white bath towel around his lower body. His wet hair was still dripping: The drops of water traced across his tanned chest and fell in the gap between the towel and his body, looking very sexy and seductive.

“What? You can’t take your eyes off me?” Wayne asked as he looked at her and teasingly. “Why are you here?” Anna asked in a panic as she quickly averted her gaze.

Wayne took a step closer to her and asked, “Don’t you know that this room has always been mine?”

“I really didn’t know. It seems that I went into the wrong room.” Anna said, and she looked a little embarrassed

With that, she turned around with her suitcase.

Before she could walk out, she heard someone outside opening the door. Immediately after that, the sound of several waiters talking came from the door.

Anna’s heart beat faster She immediately turned around and stood on tiptoe to cover Wayne’s mouth After looking around, she pulled Wayne to the balcony connected to the bedroom

How could he say such things? He's so shameless! She thought. "And you're so tight." Wayne added. Anna's face immediately began to turn red. "p*—*t, let go of me " She said and then struggled violently.

With ease, she pushed Wayne to the side. Then she struggled to sit up, gasping for air as if she was drowning.

"Shame on you!" She said, glaring at him.

Wayne put his hands behind his head, looked at her amusedly, and said, "The last time you hinted at me like that was yesterday."

Anna quickly realized that he was referring to that she was seducing him into having s*x with her buy playing hard to get, which she didn't. And she instantly felt so angry that her blood seemed to boil all over her body. She grabbed a pillow and slammed it down towards him.

"Shut up!"

Wayne raised his hand and blocked the pillow. He hooked Anna's neck, causing her to stumble and fall on top of him.

The pillow rolled down onto the carpet, and time seemed to freeze. "So, what do you think?"

The sound of her breathing in his ear ruffled his sensitive nerves. Anna found herself having difficulty breathing.

Wayne nodded in response and then said, "There's been some gossip going around the hotel lately, so

He was a little impatient when it came to this matter. All the employees in the hotel thought that Anna deal with these things.

Gabe nodded and said, "I'll deal with this by tomorrow morning. By the way, I got some updates on Leo.
His neighbors said a young man had been to his house before the fire."

Wayne stopped after hearing this, frowned, and asked, "A young man? "The neighbor said the young man was less than twenty years old. He was good-looking and

Gabe pulled a photo out of the paper bag, handed it to Wayne, and said, "This photo is a composite from that neighbor's description, and the young man should look like this."

Wayne held the edge of the photo with his long fingers. He looked at the face of the young man in the picture and felt as if he had seen him somewhere before.

Wayne was thinking about it when he heard a footstep in the distance. A tall young man approached them, his figure mapped out in long shadows by the light of the hotel corridor. In a pleasant voice, he said, "Hi, guys."

"So, what about Anna? You think she's a better mother for Matthew than I am, don't you?" Ada continued to ask, even though she was a little upset.

Wayne frowned slightly. After pondering for a moment, he nodded and said, "Yes."

He thought that sometimes he didn't always have to tell everyone what he thought. He had always liked to solve most of the problems he encountered efficiently, so he would end the conversation by answering her in this way.

Although Ada didn't look too happy, she didn't continue to ask questions.

After leaving Wayne's office, Ada clenched her fists and got into the elevator. She thought that she would have been Wayne's wife if it weren't for Anna.

As the elevator doors were about to close, Ada heard a young man say, "Please wait!"

She immediately pressed the button. And she thought she had heard that voice somewhere before. Then she saw a young man walking calmly into the elevator when she looked up.

He nodded at her and said, "Thank you."

The moment she saw the man's face, Ada's face turned pale. Luckily, the sunglasses she was wearing blocked her surprised expression.

"It's you!" The young man looked at her and asked in confusion, "What? You know me?"

Ada clenched her fists and denied, "No, I don't." She realized that the man looked exactly like Pearson Ray, who had been lost.

Ada thought, he didn't seem to recognize me, maybe because my whole face is covered by my hat and sunglasses.

The man left after the elevator doors slowly opened.

Ada gradually returned to her senses and went to the front desk and asked, "So, who is the man who just left?"

Anna immediately blushed. She lowered her head and muttered in a low voice, “Can you wait until I finish eating? Why are you always thinking about...”

She didn’t finish her sentence before she saw Wayne get up and leave the table. “What are you doing?” Anna asked, puzzled.

Wayne picked up a large paper box from the couch. He placed it on the dining room table and then unwrapped the bow ribbon tied around the box.

As he opened the box, Anna saw a beautiful navy blue dress inside with a white lace hem that looked classic and elegant.

“We’re taking Hans and his team downtown tomorrow, and I hope you will wear this tomorrow.”

Anna knew that she had misunderstood Wayne and felt very embarrassed. “Did you think that I was going to have s*x with you?” Wayne asked insistently.

Anna immediately avoided his gaze. She grabbed the dress and walked quickly to the bedroom.

“No. I’m going to try this on right now.” She said.

Wayne smiled meaningfully. His eyes lit up when he heard the rustling of clothing fabric coming from the bedroom when Anna took off her clothes.

He walked into the bedroom and saw Anna with her back to him. She had already put her dress on and was busy buttoning the buttons on the back of her neck.

"Are you sure he's Pearson? Did you mistake him for someone else?" "It's really him! I saw his face clearly."

It was already late at night. On the first floor of a villa, Jason looked at Ada suspiciously and took the glass of wine from her hand.

He said, "Well, stop drinking. Even if that guy is really him, it doesn't matter. If Wayne is still willing to see you, that means Pearson didn't say anything about what we did to him yet. We can make a deal with him."

Ada suddenly snapped back to her senses. She looked a bit drunk.

Looking at Jason, her manager, she said, "Do you think that he went to Wayne on purpose? Is he trying to threaten me with this?"

"He must have been trying to do that! He loves money, and he must have wanted to use it to ask us for money. Besides, he has no evidence about what happened that night."

"What should we do now?"

"I think, rather than avoiding him, we should find him and make a deal with him. You know, money talks."

Ada slowly calmed down after seeing such a determined look on Jason's face. She thought, Yes, Pearson loves money so much. He won't refuse me.

Early the following day, Anna was awakened by the alarm clock. When she woke up and saw the clock on the wall, she immediately jumped up from the bed and exclaimed, "Oh my God! It's already 8:30!"

Wayne came out of the living room. He was wearing a white shirt and brown suit pants, and he had a cup of coffee in his hand. He looked at her calmly and said, "You have twenty-five minutes to get dressed."

Anna scratched her hair and looked frantic.

She walked off the bed and scolded Wayne as she looked for her clothes, "Damn, Wayne, it's all because of you!"

"What did I do?" Wayne asked teasingly as he sipped his coffee.

Karl had walked up to them while they were talking. He was as tall and attractive as a model, and the white couture suit he was wearing made him look like a gentleman.

"What are you doing here?" As everyone expected, he talked to Peace first. Peace immediately responded, "What? Why can't I come here?" Karl rubbed his nose and smiled, looking a little embarrassed.

"That's not what I meant. It's that someone just told me last night that she'd never see me again, but she showed up right in front of me today." He said.

"Sorry, I meant what I said last night." Peace nonchalantly rolled her eyes at him. Suddenly, she waved to someone behind him and said gently, "I'm here, darling."

A young man was walking toward them, and he was one of the visiting foreign guests. He was very muscular and looked like he worked out a lot. He was obviously more athletic and more imposing than Karl.

Just as he walked over, Peace took his arm very affectionately and said, "Everyone, this is my boyfriend, Spencer."

After greeting Spencer, Anna felt awkward and immediately left with Wayne.

Both Peace and Carl were the types of people who didn't want to give in, and neither wanted to admit that they were weak.

They would target each other whenever they met, and Anna had already gotten used to it.

Anna felt that Peace had gone a little too far because she realized that Karl's expression had changed

As soon as Anna and Wayne left, Karl immediately showed his anger. He gritted his teeth and said, "We just broke up last night, how could you find a new boyfriend so quick?"

Peace glanced at him nonchalantly and said, "I don't see what's wrong with that. I got a new boyfriend after we broke up, but you were with someone else while we were still dating."

"As I said, she's my friend's sister." "Oh, it seems your friend has a lot of sisters."

Anna took Wayne's arm and drank some wine with the guests. She flushed as she drank a few and leaned on Wayne softly.
