

Night Stand 39

Chapter 39

"Sir, I think Miss Xavier has nothing to do with the accident." Henry frowned in embarrassment

"Nothing to do with her?" The old man asked in disbelief, "Why are you so sure about it?"

"Miss Xavier was in Mr. Wright's bedroom when the accident happened." The butler bit the bullet and said, "A maid broke in his bedroom and saw them on the bed."

The old man was livid when he heard it and pounded on the wooden table, "Shameless!"

He never really liked Ada. He often heard about all kinds of her gossips these years.

Besides, after Wayne introduced her to the family six years ago, he ordered his men to investigate in her background. She was first a waitress selling alcohol in a nightclub. How was she able to become the top star in the industry with such a bad start? He didn't think opportunity was the most important reason.

This woman is ambitious. "Sir, do you want me to continue the investigation?"

The old man took a deep breath and said deeply, "Not necessary. I have something else for you to do."

On the way back home, Tammy kept chattering, which annoyed Anna. "Uncle Wright is handsome, rich and humorous. Mommy, you have got a good one." "Oh, you should really shut up."

Opening the door and giving Tammy a withering look, she pushed her in and retorted while taking off her shoes, "He is handsome. But not that handsome. Do you think he's more handsome than Uncle Grosz?"

Tammy frowned and said with round eyes, "Of course not. Scott is a super star. He's the most handsome man in the world. I'll marry him in the future."
