

Night Stand 42

Chapter 42

On Saturday morning, while Anna was still sleeping, Tammy pulled her up. "Mommy, time to get up."

Anna looked at the alarm clock drowsily and said desperately, "Tam, it's only seven o'clock. What are you doing?"

Tammy held her arm and wouldn't let go. She said firmly, "Mommy, it's the first time that you go to Uncle Wright's house. Shouldn't you get dressed up? Come on. Have a shower. Put some makeup on. Get changed."

Holding the pillow in her arms, Anna felt hopeless. Why does my daughter keep pushing me to every man she meets?

With Tammy badgering her, Anna put on a light makeup and took out a T-shirt and a pair of jeans that she usually wore on weekends from the wardrobe. Before she put them on, Tammy had taken them away.

"Mommy, how can you wear these?" "What else can I wear?" "This one." Tammy pulled out a burgundy backless dress, "This one is pretty."

"Are you crazy?" Anna patted on her forehead angrily, "I'm not going to a night club. Besides, this is a cocktail dress. We're only going to your classmate's house. Do I need to dress so formally?"

"What about this one?" Tammy wouldn't give up and pulled out another gray-blue dress, "This one must be suitable."

Anna took that dress and looked at it carefully for a while. She agreed that it was pretty, but she still hesitated, "Won't it be inconvenient to wear a dress? You two will jump up and down."

"No, we won't." Tammy raised her hand and promised, "I promise I will behave myself today."

"Yeah, like I will believe you."

Anna was going to ignore her suggestion, but she kept pestering her and wouldn't let her wear the T-shirt and the jeans. At last, she could do nothing but to wear that blue dress.

When Anna just cooked the breakfast at nine, Wayne's butler had arrived at their apartment to pick them up to the house.

important meeting, so he's not at home now. He man in during this time. Mr. Wright has been upset and changed almost all the servants. He once, he didn't think I would hurt him." Anna smiled, though she couldn't believe what she said.

seat and sighed like an adult when hearing them talk about Matthew's injury. Anna talk, and he is so unlucky. I have never seen an unluckier child than him. Mommy, our teacher said Mercury retrograde thing is so superstitious. Which teacher told you so? I can't believe you take severe accidents. If I hadn't got out of the boy, "Matthew,

the ground, "Haven't washed your face? It's alright. I can take him to wash. Where is the up and down and glancing at Tammy and said, "You must be Ms.

big! Look at the staircase! You can walk up the stairs from three entries! There are even elevators in the house! She immediately started talking certainly didn't know what her daughter was thinking. She took Matthew to the bathroom to wash his face and

Do you want to

Matthew nodded happily.

the lunch box she brought. The maid saw that Anna was wait, Ms. Gabriel. Matthew is not asked in surprise, with a