

Night Stand 47

Chapter 47

"Mommy let's go."

Anna heard Tammy's words, and the next thing she knew, Wayne's car had vanished around the corner of the street. She coughed in embarrassment.

On the way back home, Tammy held Anna's hand and said with a sly grin, "Mommy, did you just have a crush on him?"

"What? Who?" Anna denied firmly, "What crush?"

"Then why did you stand there and kept staring at Uncle Wright? I was embarrassed by you!"

"Tammy!" She was speechless, a feverish blush on her cheeks.

When they got out of the elevator, she suddenly remembered what Tammy did, so she pulled her collar and looked at her coldly, "I haven't asked you yet. How could you casually invite other people to our home? Have you asked for my permission?"

Tammy struggled and said with no regret, "Mommy, let me go. One good turn deserves another. That's what my teacher taught us."

"....."

Anna didn't know whether Tammy's teacher really taught her this kind of thing. On Monday, Anna met Wayne at the gate of the kindergarten after school, who also came to pick up his child.

"Let me drop you home on the way."

Wayne's black car was parked under an inconspicuous old tree. Seeing that there were too many people here, Anna knew it was impossible to catch a taxi here and difficult to take the subway, so she agreed.

When they arrived, she said politely, "Thank you so much, Mr. Wright. If you were not always busy, I would ask you to stay for dinner."

message that she was only being polite, so clearly that someone would waywardly pretend that he did when

"Matthew happened to say that he wanted to eat the food you made.

out to slap herself in the face. Why can't stop talking? Do I regretted inviting him, she still cooked a delicious meal after she led Wayne and Matthew into her apartment. She took all the food from her fridge, but her great here.

Take a seat and eat.” Wayne was putting the food in the kids’ plates awkward, so she tried to say something. She said, Anna decided to stop finding topics and shut up. Obviously, Wayne to him was more embarrassing than eating was interested in gradually kids in the living room while Anna was washing dishes in the kitchen. It was almost leave now,” said Wayne flatly, standing up from the about how to tell him to go for a long time. In retrospect, she was embarrassed by herself. When the dinner. I hope you have a good meal today. You are welcome to visit us at any slightly he still doesn’t understand I’m only being polite? No way. Does he take it seriously tree outside the kindergarten again. Wayne dropped Anna and Tammy home and went inside to have dinner for three days in a row before she realized. She found it a little inappropriate, so she avoided the tree and took Tammy to take the they had dinner without Wayne that She cut the steak for Tammy and said, “This happy as usual and didn’t look any different from the days when does the apartment become so quiet without the two silent much sound