

Night Stand 68

Chapter 68

Anna was annoyed and drove the two of them out of the kitchen.

They are so strange today. Why are they suddenly so interested in cooking? If they stayed : here, I'm afraid that I wouldn't have have finished cooking until night!

she thought speechlessly.

Outside the kitchen, Wayne and Scott looked at each other with disdain in their eyes.

Tammy and Matthew, who popped their heads around the bedroom door and watched what happened in the kitchen, couldn't help covering their mouths and laughing.

"See? Pressure indeed can help make things happen," Tammy said proudly.

Matthew nodded approvingly with joy on his face. It was the first time that he had seen Wayne go after a woman.

The lunch was particularly hearty. Anna cooked fish, braised chicken wings, fried meat with bamboo shoots, and tomato and egg soup. When she put the dishes on the table, the air was filled with the fragrance of food immediately.

The food were so delicious that all of them were eaten up. After lunch, the two kids went back to the bedroom to play.

Scott cleaned up the table and offered to help Anna wash the dishes. "Anna, let me do the dishes. I promise I'll wash them clean."

Anna happened to want to have a rest so she didn't refuse him and said happily, "OK. Be careful not to break the dishes."

"I see. You may rest assured," Scott said. Then he happily took the dishes and bowls to the kitchen and began to wash them.

After a while, he suddenly found that something was wrong.

I shouldn't have offered to wash the dishes. How could I let Wayne have the opportunity to stay with Anna alone?

Thinking about this, he turned around, looked in the direction of the living room, and found that neither Wayne nor Anna was there.

Where did they go?

In Tammy's bedroom, Wayne and Anna were sitting around a chessboard with Tammy and Matthew, and the four of them were playing Aeroplane Chess.
