

Night Stand 70

Chapter 70

Outside the door, there was a group of entertainment reporters and photographers.

They came here early in the morning when they heard that the famous cellist Scott had come back from abroad and was living here.

Not long ago, the news that the popular star Rita had specially gone to Vienna for Scott's cello recital and the two of them left the concert hall together hit the headlines.

All the entertainment reporters in the city hoped to get first-hand information about Rita's relationship with Scott. However, in the past half a month, Rita had never shown up in any public activities and the reporter had no news about her.

Therefore, as soon as they knew Scott was here, they rushed here immediately to interview him and get more information about him.

"Are these reporters crazy? I have nothing to do with Rita. I don't even know who she is," Scott said happily as he closed the cover of the peephole and turned around.

"Why did they come to me?"

"It is rumored that you are Rita's boyfriend. It's not strange that the reporters came to you," Wayne said and glanced at him. "You don't know who she is? Really? Even I know that she is a popular star."

"You..." Scott got anxious and was afraid that Anna would misunderstand him. He stared at Wayne and asked, "What do you mean?"

"Nothing. I was just asking casually. I don't think you need to disassociate yourself from Rita in such a hurry. After all, no one here cares about your relationship with her."

Upon hearing this, Scott flew into a rage and his attitude changed dramatically. "Wayne, don't talk nonsense. I have nothing to do with her."

"Be quiet, Scott. It's not the right time to talk about this," Anna said helplessly, sounding troubled, "The most important thing now is to think about what we should do to let them leave."

"I'll call the police," Scott said as he took out his phone.

"It's useless," Wayne said lightly. "Even if the police drive them away, they will come back as soon as the police leave."

When Scott heard Wayne's blunt retort, his face turned livid with anger. Then he said with sarcasm, "Then what do you think we should do? Since you are capable and clever, find a way to solve the problem now."

Anna turned to curious about what Wayne would do. After all, if the reporters knew that he was here, the news of the CEO asked. Wayne didn't

50 Points

send security guards here between calling the police and calling the property management company? Do you think the security guards are more powerful than the police?" Scott the security guards will come here earlier than the police," voice.

for the sake

Wright finish his words," Anna interrupted Scott. She knew that Wayne must have other ways to deal with it easy." Wayne looked at the time and said, "The security guards should be now."

guards. The staff of the property management breathed a sigh of relief. As soon as she finished speaking, the doorbell suddenly rang. "Did they come here again?" Anna said and frowned with Wright, the reporters are downstairs now. But don't worry. They won't come here again," Gabe said respectfully for help? What are you going to do next?" He didn't believe Wayne at much? He is indeed rich, but it doesn't mean that he can handle everything. Besides, it's not easy

Gabe and nodded, seeming to

Scott raised his chin slightly and said you want to do?" Scott covered his chest at once and took distract the reporters downstairs later. Then someone will pick you up and send you

"You mean I'll leave here? What about as possible and lead the reporters away. However, when he was about to speak his thought, Wayne beat him to it. At this moment, he felt as if he was driven away by you leave," Wayne answered him without much couldn't help but glare at him and couldn't can word had said made sense.

back to his

carrying a cello case and pulling his cap low over