

Night Stand 86

Chapter 86

It was already midnight. Wayne, who had been in a deep sleep, was awakened by Anna's scream

With a frown, he sat up with a drowsy look. After a few seconds, he became lucid and said with displeasure, "Why did you shout? Relax. We are still dressed."

After staring blankly at Wayne for a long time, Anna looked at his pajamas and then at hers. The next moment, her face was flushed with embarrassment.

Wayne knew what she was thinking at a glance. Then he said tonelessly, "It was the hotel staff who helped you change your clothes. As for why I slept next to you, you took my hand and kept talking in sleep. I can't just sit there all night without sleeping."

When Anna heard that, her face turned even redder, and she wished she could disappear in front of him at once.

How did he know what I was thinking about? It's so awkward. "Then why am I here?" she asked in embarrassment.

The decoration of the room that she was in was similar to her room, but there was no camera here so she could see at a glance that she was not in her room.

Wayne got out of bed, poured a glass of water, and handed it to her, "You know you are seasick, but you still insisted on going to the island with us together. Did you go there for Matthew? Or did you deliberately..."

"Deliberately what?" Anna asked in confusion.

Wayne gazed at her with a meaningful look and said, "Deliberately cause the current situation."

Anna's face changed when she heard that and she raised her voice in an instant, "Who deliberately caused the current situation? I'm not that shameless. Do you think that I want to lie in your arms? Do you think that all women in the world are obsessed with you?" She retorted in a strong and angry tone as if she was greatly insulted.

"What if I say I hope you did it on purpose?" Wayne said. His words extinguished Anna's anger and made her confused.

"Are. Are you kidding me? It's not funny at all." Anna said with a stiff expression, not daring to look at him. Then she lowered her head and gulped down the whole glass of water.

"Do you think I'm kidding?"

"Uh..." Anna almost choked on the water, tried to restrain herself from coughing, and blushed.

while, she said, "I don't know

Wayne meant that he liked her. If she misunderstood his meaning, it would be more awkward. Therefore, she head," Wayne said with a frown. "Huh?" Anna was stunned and

I

25 Points

25 Pomes

kissed her. She felt the warmth and was about to scream, Wayne stuck his mouth.

a sudden, Anna's mind went blank and lasted for a long time. When Wayne let her chest, she gasped for what I meant?" Wayne asked, standing straight at the bedside deep and hoarse voice full of desire, her heart beat long time, she gritted her teeth, raised her head, and questioned him, disgust in Anna's eyes, he was what you did to me just now, I hope such arm from behind and said, "Make it clear. What do you..." Before he could finish his words, Anna slapped him on and stared at him with shame and grievance in slammed the door and left. "Bang!" The loud sound of the door slamming echoed in the room for a long the astonishment in his

the sun rose and shone brightly into the room. In the room,

Ada I won't get

the window and the sea wind blew