

Night Stand 88

Chapter 88

Hearing this, Anna was totally stunned and thought, How could the owner of the necklace be him?

But on second thought, she thought that it made sense.

She should have guessed that Wayne was her children's father when the butler threatened her with Gabriel Group and forced her to sign a contract because nobody in Birmingham had the power to pose a threat to Gabriel Group except Wayne.

By the time she hung up the phone, Wayne had returned to the hotel. He seemed to have something to deal with Anna then looked at Matthew's little figure not far away. At this moment, Matthew was immersing himself in building a castle with Tammy. The more she looked at his face, the more excited she felt.

Her son, whom she thought about every day in the past five years, was in front of her at this moment. And they've known each other for several months.

Anna wanted to walk to Matthew but her feet failed her. After a while, she finally took a step. At the same time, she could not help but feel sad and shed tears.

"Mommy!" Tammy ran to her and said excitedly, "Come and have a look at the castle we built..."

Anna hurriedly turned around, trying to not let Tammy see her crying. But Tammy had seen the tears in her eyes.

"Mommy, why are you crying?" Tammy asked anxiously.

"I'm not crying." Anna was almost incoherent and said, "The wind... the wind is too strong here. Sand blew in my eyes." |

At this time, Matthew also trotted over. When he saw Anna like this, he showed a worried look. Then he held Anna's hand and looked at her with concern.

It was not until then that Anna found his eyes looked the same as Tammy's. The two children looked so similar but she didn't find it before. Thinking of this, she felt guilty and couldn't hold

She slowly squatted down and carefully looked at Matthew with mixed feelings.

Matthew was so anxious that he wiped Anna's tears with his little hands and almost cried too.

"I'm all right, Matthew. Don't worry," Anna took his hand and said, "I'm happy."

puzzled look, Matthew didn't believe her words at all. He couldn't see that there was something

"Matthew, Mommy said sand blew in her a hesitant look. Then the two of them

50 Points

Mommy,

their warm breaths and looking at their cute faces, Anna couldn't help but hold the two children

the matter with you?" Seeing her like this, Tammy also let go of the two children. She wanted to tell them that Matthew was her son. But after would accept her if she told him the truth about his identity.

can imagine. Even if I tell him that I'm Matthew's mother, he won't let Matthew come back to

to take Tammy away

her eyes full of fear. I a little spade, forced a smile, and said, "Tammy, Matthew, I'll go build

are children after fine and wanted to play with them, Matthew and Tammy immediately paid all their attention to that the rims of Anna's eyes were red and look into his eyes. She kept her head down and said in frowned more tightly and gazed at her with his eyes crew of the program will take care of Tammy. Don't worry,"

in a low voice with

from the shock. When she recalled the night is powerful in Birmingham, and Wayne is always unpredictable. If he knew that I was the surrogacy mother, my hard-won peaceful life would be to her room and took out her suitcase in the corner

breakfast in the restaurant downstairs when Scott walked over with composure and sat down

a cup of milk, and two pieces of waffle," elevator behind him but didn't see Anna. "Where is

2/3