

Night Stand 9

Chapter 9

Five years later at the Southside City airport.

A young man walked out of the crowd. He looked conspicuous in a black shirt and business suit. He also wore a pair of sunglasses and looked like the 'Men in Black'.

As soon as he walked out from the luggage pick-up area, his assistant, Gabe Lesley, rushed forward to carry his suitcase and said, "Mr. Wright, little master has not eaten for a day. Shall we head to the mansion first?"

"Why didn't you tell me earlier?" He glared at the assistant.

Everyone in the Wright family knew how precious little master was to Mr. Wright.

And Mr. Wright was always gentle and affectionate towards his boy.

But...

Gabe felt guilty but braced himself up as he replied, "You went to Chicago to sign the important business contract. I was worried that I'd distract you so I did not call you. I didn't expect little master to refuse eating for an entire day..."

took off his sunglasses, and then glared at Wayne's eyes, which were dark yet burning with

could tell that

Is he going

of that,

making the decisions for

down and was prepared for the small chocolate

and frowned. He bent down

my chocolate!" A was around four to five years old. Her eyes were big,

down, she had to look up at