

Night Stand 96

Falling in Love With A One-Night Stand

Chapter 96

“The man that talked with Miss. Gabriel just now is Owen, a producer from Enlight Media,” Gabe said and stood straight in front of Wayne’s desk uneasily. “The short-term variety show launched by the Carousel Hotel and Enlight Media has already attracted a lot of attention. After the trailer was broadcast, the tag went viral in various social media platforms. The audience like Scott and Tammy very much and many people become their fans, so Enlight Media intended to sign up with Tammy as a child star.”

“A child star?” Wayne frowned.

“Yes. Owen came here today to discuss the new program plan with the investment department. And he wants to persuade Miss Gabriel to join Enlight Media and work as Tammy’s agent. He thinks highly of Miss Gabriel. After all, without Miss Gabriel’s idea of the lucky draw, the program wouldn’t exist.”

Hearing this, Wayne clenched his pen, looked up from the contract, and asked, “Did she agree to join it?”

“I... I don’t know,” Gabe said.

He couldn’t help feeling nervous when talking to Wayne because Wayne had been unpredictable recently.

Hearing his words, Wayne didn’t say anything.

After a while, Gabe reminded him, “Mr. Wright, the meeting will start soon. The representatives from the hotels have been waiting for you.”

Carousel Hotel planned to develop a youth hotel chain that would form a product line with the tourism company of Carousel Group.

Therefore, the representatives from the branches of Carousel Hotel came to the headquarters of Carousel Group to have a meeting and discuss it.

Wayne put down his pen and said in a deep voice, “Let’s go.”

In the meeting room, there were a lot of people. Anna was a junior employee in the company and she sat in the corner.

“Carousel Hotel is mainly engaged in the high-end hotel chain and has never developed a low-end product line. If we want to develop a youth hotel chain, we should do detailed market research first,” someone said.

Hearing this, Wayne, who had been silent all the time, nodded and said, “Market research is necessary. But most market research companies are not reliable, so I think we don’t need to entrust the research to those companies. I suggest each branch send a representative to do field research.”

Anna, who was busy taking notes, didn’t notice that Wayne was looking at her when he spoke.

“Miss Gabriel, after the centennial celebration, you seem to have not much work to do. I’m putting you in charge. Is there any problem?” Wayne said.
