

Night Stand 97

Chapter 97

“Ah! What are you doing?” Anna exclaimed.

When he loosened his grip on her shoulders, she had thought that Wayne would let her go. But to her surprise, before she could stand steadily, she was dragged back into the meeting room by him.

The next moment, the door was slammed shut with a loud bang and she was pressed against the big conference table by Wayne.

Anna stared at him with her face turning pale, feeling ashamed and angry. “What do you want?”

“You asked me to behave myself?” Wayne said in a deep voice as he loosened his tie, pressed Anna’s wrists on both sides of her, and looked into her eyes with a darkened face. “Did you always behave as if nothing had happened after you slept with men and then ask them to behave themselves when they wanted to get close to you?”

He didn’t believe that Anna really didn’t care about what had happened that night.

Anna turned her face away to avoid his gaze and said angrily, “If you still felt bothered because of what happened that night, I apologize. I shouldn’t have made you misunderstand our relationship. If you feel I have feelings for you, then I have to say it is just your illusion. Mr. Wright, I don’t like you, not to mention playing hard to get in front of you. Please let go of me.”

Hearing her words, Wayne was both annoyed. Then he moved his hand and touched her waist, saying, “You’re really something.”

Feeling his touch, Anna couldn’t help but shiver with her face full of horror. “What are you doing? Let go of me.”

“You don’t care about what happened that night, do you? Then it doesn’t matter to you if we have s*x one more time, right?”

When Anna heard this, her mind went blank. Then she struggled desperately without thinking but it was in vain. – Just now, her words ignited Wayne’s anger and made him feel that his dignity was trampled by her.

At this moment, Wayne was overwhelmed by his anger.

He had never cared about a woman so much in his life but she cold-shouldered him and didn’t care about him at all. It was a shame for him.

The moment Wayne was about to take off Anna’s skirt, Anna widened her eyes in shock. In desperation, she used all her strength to break free and then slapped Wayne hard in the face.

The sound of the slap echoed in the meeting room and Wayne froze. Soon, a distinct palm print appeared on his face.

“You bastard!” Anna pushed him away and ran out of the meeting room in fluster.

After a long time, Wayne raised his hand to touch his aching cheek. Then he pulled out a chair and sat down slowly.
