

No Chance 1009

Chapter 1009 No Fear

Upon seeing Gareth's face darken, Vincent immediately said, "Hurry up and get out of the car!"

Vincent got out of the car as he said it. He saw that Will and Elisa hadn't gone in all the way and said, "Ah, what a coincidence. What a surprise to see you here, Mr. Darcey."

Will's footsteps paused slightly, and he turned to look at the bearer of those words before raising his brows. "You're here too, Mr. Shane."

Too.

What a subtle use of the word.

It was evident that Will saw Gareth but didn't plan on greeting him. Will was walking in with Elisa and ignoring Gareth completely, just as Elisa had done.

Vincent's car door had yet to close, and Gareth naturally heard it clearly. His sharp gaze swept to the other side, and he exited the car the next moment.

anything as his long legs made their way to the garden of

here with my good friend

silent, so he said and didn't say anything, while Elisa had no intention of paying them any attention. She opened the Gareth and spoke in a voice only the two could hear,

anything and let that moment, there were suddenly four people in the spacious living room. Elisa looked at the three men with different expressions and to her refrigerator and took out fruit opened the bottle of red wine quickly and glanced at Gareth and Will casually. "Both of you have to drive, right? I'll kindly brows and

Gareth simply stayed quiet.

Vincent started enjoying the red wanted to leave, she felt it wasn't nice to do so. She could only sit on the couch and pick up her cell phone. Since Will had said he wanted to talk about it, he could start. Right now, she didn't want to say anything. Neither did she want to

Gareth and spoke in a voice only the two could