Chapter 1021 Have Evidence

Linda had never gasped this intensely before. She even held onto her breath to avoid missing out on her mother's words.

Rose held a mic so everyone could hear what she was saying.

"Firstly, my brother-in-law always had poor health, which can be verified through the hospital's medical records. I prepared one copy, especially for today. Please take a look."

After revealing this, Rose opened her bag and took out a pile of medical records to show everyone in the courtroom.

The judicial assistant came over to receive the medical records and handed them to the judge.

As the judge looked through the medical records, Rose said, "His health was declining as the days passed, and he didn't have much time to live. He was in unbearable pain daily, so he asked us to help him end this suffering. That was the reason

Chapter 1022 A Reduced Sentence That Gained Many Sympathies

Elisa wasn’t the only one feeling miserable. Charli and Rachel were also about to explode at this point!

In particular, Rachel couldn’t control her frustration and yelled, “B*llshit! What kind of nonsense is this? Does she not have any shame spurting such absurdity? She has been targeting Elisa all these years, trying to take over her position. Even the recording is a one-sided account. How dare she use that as evidence!”

Charli held onto her hand. “Calm down a little.” She immediately advised Rachel when she noticed that her voice might be too loud.

Rachel also realized she had lost her composure, so she slowly calmed her emotions by taking a deep breath.

But she couldn’t resist her urge to cuss them out!

F*ck Norman Benett! F*ck Rose Meek! F*ck Linda Benett!

The recording stopped, and Rose had a devastated look on her face, “I didn’t expect Chapter 1023 Where Did the Money Come From?!

She didn't finish her sentence, but Charli understood what she wanted to say.
Norman just spent three hundred thousand to have Elisa break into Benett Corporation's classified system. They had never donated a single cent!
But now!
Where did the money come from?
Rachel was in disbelief at the current situation.
Rose took a deep breath before voicing out again, "That's all I want to say."
After she spoke, the courtroom went silent.
The judge looked through the materials while everyone waited for the final decision.
The judge spoke with a deep tone, "Based on the newest claims made by Mrs.
Benett, it is necessary to go through further investigations. As for the distribution of shares, the court decided that all shares held by Mr. Norman Benett are to be returned

Norman breathed in deeply. He controlled his emotions and slowly opened his mouth to say, "I have no objection."
The judge nodded and faintly announced, "Dismiss."

He got up and left the courtroom. Soon after, the crowd started to disperse slowly.

As for Rose, now that she was a suspect, she was to be taken into custody.

There were already people approaching Rose, ready to handcuff her.

Linda's tears started to fall uncontrollably, "Mom..."

Rose held onto Linda before they came to her. "Linda, I did not get the death fine. It's just that I can't Norman almost burst into tears but could only nod his head. "Okay," he managed to utter.

When she walked away with the cops, Rose sniffled but said nothing further.

"Mom..."

Behind her, she could still hear her daughter's heart-wrenching cries, but Rose didn't turn around. If she did, she feared she wouldn't be able to leave.

Rose turned away and closed her eyes. She forced back her tears.

Linda did nothing except watch her mother's stern demeanor. She started crying once again. All of this is because of Elisa!

While Rachel's voice was rife with rage, she felt helpless to act against Rose. After taking a moment to compose her thoughts, she spoke up, "And this whole thing Sheena gritted her teeth, "I didn't expect it to turn out like this. Elisa... what do you

Elisa was not allowed to speak as the small group conversed back and forth. Now that Sheena had asked, they all looked at her as she drove the car.

Elisa pulled at her lips and then replied, "It's fine. It's better like this. I don't want Rose to die suddenly. How would that bring me any closure?"

"Our corporation has not been doing well. My father and all of you had put in blood, sweat, and tears to establish this business. I'm sure everyone feels discouraged by want this corporation to be disgraced, and much less want my father to see the situation here."

Everyone was stirred up by her words!

Any bad impression they had of her disappeared at once.

Why would they not be happy if they had projects comparable to the collaboration with Wickam Group? Besides, they would get such a large amount

CHAPTER 1029 I'LL GO TONIGHT!

Norman sucked in a deep breath and suppressed his emotions. The next moment, his phone rang.

He looked down at the screen and frowned. Looking around the room subconsciously, he remembered that he was alone. He hesitated before answering the call.

"What are you up to?" The coquettish voice on the other end of the call sounded slightly annoyed.

Norman furrowed his eyebrows. "Why are you calling me at this time?"

"Hmph!" She began saying in an upset tone, "I miss you. You don't come to find me these days, and it's been a while since we met. Do you not miss our daughter? Sweetheart, come here. Daddy's calling."

"Huh? Is Daddy here to see me? Where's daddy?!" Norman's heart melted at the sound of the child's sweet voice.

The next moment, the child's animated voice became louder. "Daddy!"

"Yes, my sweetheart. I'm here." His voice was much gentler than the voice filled with alarm and annoyance from before.

"Daddy, you're so busy! When will you come to see me? Mindy misses Daddy a lot!"

"Good Mindy. Daddy's busy these two days. I'll see you when I have time, alright? Can you wait for Daddy for a few more days?" Norman's voice seemed to be gentler than earlier. Even his eyes were filled with longing.

Linda would be shocked to the core if she were there. She would never imagine that her father would have an affair.

Her parents seemed to be a loving couple in their daily lives. Their relationship was intimate.

Yet...

Yet her father had a lover and even a daughter from an affair!

Norman hid the affair well. No one else knew about it.

"No... Daddy, come see me today. You didn't keep your promise last time. Daddy, Mommy, and I miss you so much... Waah..."

The child began crying.

CHAPTER 1030 GOSSIP

The little girl exclaimed, "Daddy, let's go out and play! The balloons can only fly so high in the house, but I want them to fly higher!"

"A double-story house isn't high enough for you, my dear? The balloons might fly away if you want them to fly any higher," Norman replied with a weak yet doting smile.

This villa was the only property that Norman had left, but it belonged to his mistress, Hilary Turner. At this moment, he was grateful that he had bought her a villa; otherwise, Elisa would have taken it away.

As Hilary looked at Norman's worried expression, she caressed her daughter's cheek. She said, "Okay, Daddy has already played with you for so long. You should go back to your room and take a bath. We'll talk again later."

Mindy pouted and whined, "But Daddy just came. I want to play with Daddy!!"

Hearing his daughter's request to play, Norman couldn't resist but embrace her, "We will play. Daddy will certainly play with you. But let's not go out. We can play at home."

"No... Daddy, I want to play outside," the little girl didn't understand Norman's predicament and only wanted to play with her father.

"No... Daddy, I want to play outside," the little girl didn't understand Norman's predicament and only wanted to play with her father.

However, given his current circumstances, Norman could not expose too much, especially not letting anyone know about his other family. He deliberately warned Mindy sternly, "Daddy won't take you out to play if you misbehave like this."

Mindy was on the verge of tears upon hearing this.

But Norman pretended not to notice and told Hilary, "Look how you've spoiled our child. I won't come again if she continues to misbehave like this."

Knowing that Norman's words were meant to appease their daughter and understanding his difficult situation, Hilary quickly interjected, "I'm sorry. It's my fault. It's been a while since you came; please don't be angry with our daughter."
