Chapter 108 Do as They Say

Sheena smiled coldly. "What's the use of that? My parents seemed to be obsessed with me marrying into the Helm family. They knew that I would refuse, but they still insisted."

Sheena snatched the piece of tissue from Rachel's hand. She sobbed and wiped her tears. "They did not even give me a phone call. I have been outside for so long. Instead, they posted the news about my engagement on social media. Will they even care if I died outside?"

"Don't say that." Elisa held her hand and said solemnly. "The Helm family is not a good choice of marriage for you. Your father is willing to sacrifice you so he can work with the Helm family."

"Exactly. What can I do now? I can only keep resisting. But in the end, I'll still be left with no choice but to marry into the Helm family obediently."

Rachel was extremely furious as well. "Your father is too much! I heard that the Helm family is very superficial. In fact, they do a lot of unthinkable stuff behind closed doors. They should be kept away from the public and receive punishment for their evil deeds!"

She held Sheena's hand as she watched Sheena continue to cry quietly. "If there is a scandal in the Helm family, your father will definitely call this marriage off."

Sheena's eyes suddenly lit up. She looked at Elisa subconsciously. "But the Helm family..."
