Chapter 118 The Important Thing

The scowl on Linda's face now looked worse than before, but she managed to keep her composure. "Mom, things may not have been as I thought it were."

"What happened?" Rose knitted her brows, and her eyes flashed with concern.

Linda helplessly dragged Rose into her room and recollected everything that had happened to her.

Rose listened with a frown, "That can't be, even if there are top secrets in the company, he shouldn't be upset with you, since you're seeing each other now."

Linda drew a light breath, "I thought it was because I violated his private space, but Mom, it feels like he hates me now."
