Chapter 128 A Compensation of Fifty Million

Monica's blood began to boil.

"Mom, why are you still siding with an outsider at this time?"

Elisa glanced at Monica. Monica's temper and personality were not the best. But being born into a well-off family, she had elegance and poise. Elisa had never heard a word of profanity from her before. However, that didn't mean that she was a virtuous person.

Monica had always given Elisa the cold shoulder and looked down on her. When Elisa was a part of the family, she had to respect Monica, who was her mother-in-law. Now that there were no more relations between them, was there any point in giving the same respect and apologies just as she did before?

If Monica threatened to hurt her in any way, Elisa would no longer hold herself back.

I'll attend tomorrow's banquet since you hope that I'll go. Since the circumstances are not the best, I'll leave now. I'll visit you again when Mrs.

Monica was furious.
