throwing it in the trash can. However, his finger suddenly felt empty. Gareth wriggled his fingers and believed it was because he had just taken off the ring. Soon, he focused on his work again. Five days passed in the blink of an eye. Elisa stayed at home for the past few days. She would sometimes chat with Rachel Markee and discuss work with Charli. Will and Elisa had not contacted each other ever since lunch that day. However, she suddenly received a message from Will. Will: Ms. Iris, are you free for dinner? Elisa: You are free today? Will: I always have time for a beautiful lady. Elisa frowned and knew he must have something to discuss with her. Elisa: You can tell me now, Mr. Darcey. What would you like to discuss? Will: Can you give me your address? Should I pick you up? I would like to discuss with you the banquet and court matters. Elisa: Send me the address. I will go there myself. She did not wish to reveal her address yet. However, she was aware that if Will decided to investigate, he would find it eventually. Soon, Will sent her the address and the time of the meeting. Elisa read it and messaged to acknowledge receipt before putting down her phone. Everyone attending Mr. Morris' birthday banquet would have their own agenda. Thus, Elisa wondered what was Will's and what he wanted her to cooperate with. She had a feeling that she could fulfill one of her wishes through this meeting. Thus, Elisa hailed a taxi and headed to the meeting place. She arrived just
