Chapter 1311 The Talented Have More Responsibilities

Nicole's lashes fluttered again, and her gaze was intertwined with endless disbelief. She never thought that her dad would be the most supportive at this time.

The hesitation in her heart suddenly disappeared. She looked at her father and nodded solemnly.

"I understand, Dad. Thank you!"

If she liked Gareth and persisted, she believed the day would come! Everything would work out! Just as she was thinking about it, she felt happier. As for Nicole's mother, she said nothing. She sighed in frustration and got up.

An hour later, Elisa arrived home and went into the bathroom. It had been a chaotic day.

Elisa wanted to shower and rest. She never thought that her cell phone would vibrate incessantly before she could finish drying her hair. She had taken her cell phone with her.

It was Rachel's cell phone number.

Elisa had earphones, so it wouldn't affect the conversation even if she was blow-drying her hair.

She blow-dried her hair and asked, "What's up?"

"I miss you, So I called to chat."

Although Rachel said such, Elisa could clearly hear the deceit in Rachel's voice.

Elisa almost called her a busybody.

Elisa raised her brows.

"Tell me. What's up?"

Elisa understood her best friend too well.

Elisa even understood Rachel's sigh.

Rachel laughed mischievously.

"I heard all about what happened at the banquet today."

Elisa snorted in response. She knew Rachel had called because of this.

Rachel's gaze was excited.

"Babe, you're amazing! Old Mr. Darcey and Wickam like you so much. They even fought publicly before the Tabor family for you to be their granddaughter-in-law. You're so popular now!"

Elisa was dumbfounded. She didn't know what to say.

Rachel had always liked to talk about such things.

Rachel couldn't help but say, "But you've always been popular.

Now that these two elderly men with important positions are fighting for you to be their granddaughter-in-law, everyone will think you're amazing!"

The corners of Elisa's mouth twitched.

"If you have the time to gossip, you might as well study legal statutes meticulously."

"Ah...I have to memorize those things.Do you think I have such good memory...Liz, this is a painful topic!"

Elisa couldn't help but laugh.

At that moment, it was as though she could see Rachel's sad expression through the cell phone.

"Ah...I just feel like there will be more trouble in your life.Nicole really likes Gareth and always treats you like a rival.But she was ignored at her grandfather's birthday banquet as the host.Nicole must be furious."

Elisa was still blow-drying her hair.She said calmly, "I can't control this.Let nature take its course."

"Although that's the case...you must be careful, Liz.Linda isn't dead, and many days have passed.Perhaps she's up to some new tricks! You must be prepared!"

Elisa answered, "Alright."

"Ah...Do so many people envy you because you're so outstanding? Ah, babe.Is this what they mean when they say talented people have more responsibilities!"

Chapter 1312 Are You Home? I'll Come to Look for You

Elisa pursed her lips and said nothing.She continued blow-drying her hair while Rachel scrolled through Twitter, bored.She looked at it for a while and felt it was uninteresting.

Elisa was just done blow-drying her hair and kept the hairdryer.She took out her earphones and turned on the loudspeaker.

"Aren't you resting?"

"What time is it? I can't fall asleep."

Rachel's voice was slightly worried.

Elisa instinctively knew something was wrong and asked, "What's up?"

Rachel sighed.

"It's nothing.I'm just a little fed up with life."

The more she spoke, the more Elisa felt that something was wrong.Elisa asked again, "Do you want to talk about it?"

"Ah...I'm just too depressed." Rachel's voice was slightly embarrassed. It seemed like she wasn't even in the mood to scroll through Twitter.

"What on earth happened?"

Rachel's gaze turned complicated, and her expression was indescribably red from embarrassment. But she mostly found it hard to talk about it. She never thought that she would experience such a thing. She was about to fall apart! She tried calming herself for a few days to feel normal again.

"Rach?"

Elisa called out because Rachel didn't answer her from the start until the end.

Rachel immediately came to her senses.

"Ah...?"

The next moment, Rachel sighed and said with frustration, "I will tell you, but you can't laugh at me."

"How could I do that? And when have I ever done that?"

"I..I.."

Rachel was at a loss for a moment.

While Elisa was waiting, Rachel finally said, "I'm no longer a maiden!"

Elisa's gaze froze.

In an instant, she didn't know what to say. It seemed like she was still thinking about what Rachel meant.

Rachel's initial nervousness grew when she didn't hear a reply. She immediately asked, "Did...you hear what I said? Is the reception bad?"

She might not have cared about what others thought. She cared most about how her friends and family viewed her. She had never told anyone about this, and Elisa was the first. She felt more nervous.

Elisa looked at her cell phone.

"You mean...?"

Rachel's figure was slightly stiff, but she sighed and said, "I slept with a man..."

Elisa's gaze immediately froze.

"Who was it? Was it consensual?"

She had to make things clear in such a situation.

Elisa had to get revenge for Rachel if her best friend was forced.

If not, Elisa would ask Rachel if she was in love.

Rachel took a breath.

"We drank a lot, and then it happened in a muddle. The two of us didn't mean for it to happen."

Elisa was perplexed. She was feeling slightly stupefied at that moment.

Rachel seemed conflicted talking about it.

Elisa asked again, "Who is he?"

She might not have asked too much out of respect if it was someone else, but Rachel was different.

Elisa wanted to protect her best friend.

Rachel opened her mouth but suddenly didn't know how to say it. It seemed difficult for her to say that man's name.

After a moment's pause, Rachel swore.

"I freaking..."

After that, she controlled herself.

Instead, she raised her right hand restlessly and scratched her head.

"I'm So jittery!"

Elisa could also feel it and immediately said, "Are you home? I'll come to look for you."

Chapter 1313 I Must Have Been Blind to Take Pity on Her!

Rachel was touched but said, "It's alright. Why should you come and look for me so late at night? I'm fine."

Elisa ignored her. She held her cell phone and went downstairs.

"Wait for me. I'll be there soon. I'll bring you a midnight snack too."

"No, I..."

Before Rachel could finish speaking, Elisa ended the call.

Elisa was already at Rachel's house the next time they communicated.

Furthermore, Elisa had two bags of snacks in her hands.

One had burgers in it, and the other had fries.

Rachel's worried expression immediately dissipated when she saw the food. She said in astonishment, "Wow! You brought me food! I love you so much!"

When Rachel said it, she had taken the bags from Elisa. She put them on the dining table before opening them individually.

Elisa changed her shoes and walked in.

After washing her hands, she sat before the dining table and watched Rachel cut the burger up with her full attention. She wasn't in a rush to speak.

Rachel didn't bring it up, either.

Elisa helped Rachel cut her burger.

Rachel ate happily and was satisfied. It was as if she had no more worries.

When she was full and could eat no more, she dusted off the crumbs, burped, and said, "Amazing! It's been a long time since I've eaten so happily!" Elisa didn't say anything. She only stared at the person before her.

Rachel noticed her gaze and finally sighed.

"Ah...I know you want to ask who the person is, but...I can't say it aloud. I freaking..."

She suddenly didn't know how to continue.

Elisa could tell that Rachel couldn't say the man's name. Upon further inspection, Elisa also noticed the confusion and...hesitation intertwined in Rachel's eyes.

Elisa wrinkled her brows slightly. She wasn't in a rush to investigate who the man was. She decided to start from the beginning.

"How did it happen?"

Rachel's gaze was slightly distracted. She said, "It's been around a week. One day, a distant relative called me and needed my help with something, so she asked to meet in a bar."

Elisa listened earnestly and didn't intend to interrupt.

Rachel was slowly immersed in her memories.

"She's a distant cousin whose family isn't in good condition. I always thought she was a pitiful girl because her parents divorced when she was young. She's been living with her grandmother since she was young. But I must have been blind to take pity on her!"

Rachel's voice was clearly filled with hatred.

Elisa wrinkled her brows slightly and said nothing.

"That day, she ordered a drink for me and told me many of her painful stories. She also said she was in a tight spot and needed my help. But the more we spoke, the giddier I felt, like I drank a lot. The alcohol was strong, and the aftereffects were extreme!"

Elisa furrowed her brows tightly. She strongly doubted if the alcohol had strong aftereffects or if there was something wrong with the alcohol. It didn't make sense to her as she listened to Rachel's tone.

Rachel restrained her emotions and said, "I felt something was fishy after that. She said she would take me to rest, so I followed her into a room in a daze."

In the end, I realized that...a man was next to me when I woke up the next day, and I was naked! My body ached, and I felt unwell!"

Chapter 1314 The Man on the Bed

Elisa's gaze flickered slightly. She had some questions but thought about it and said nothing while waiting for Rachel to continue.

Rachel raised her hands and covered her head. She was frantic.

"I was in a daze at the time. Although I've never experienced it, I've heard of things, and I immediately knew that I freaking...slept with the man!"

Her voice was slightly peculiar at the end. She wanted to scream her lungs out and relieve her stress, but she didn't dare to. If others heard it, her reputation would be ruined.

Rachel couldn't help but take a deep breath. She shut her eyes while using one hand to massage her temples which were twitching incessantly. She said in frustration, "I don't know what to do. I don't dare to face that man now. I..."

Elisa stared at her.

"What happened after you woke up that day?"

Rachel's lashes fluttered slightly, and her lips squirmed. She didn't know what to say.

Elisa didn't continue asking and waited for Rachel to speak. Since Rachel had spoken about the specifics of what had happened, she would slowly tell Elisa who the man was.

Rachel sighed.

"After I awoke, my movements might have awoken him. He was also in a daze when he opened his eyes and saw me. At the time..."

Rachel's memories slowly returned to that time.

The moment the man awoke, he felt that something wasn't right.

When he turned and saw Rachel's dumbfounded and frantic expression, he immediately cried out in surprise, "What the heck! Why are you in my bed?!"

Rachel came to her senses and took a breath furiously.

"Who is in your bed? Look at where we are!"

The man looked around casually. He knew it was a hotel with one glance at the layout.

"What the heck!"

The man sat up, and the exquisite upper half of his body was instantly revealed. Rachel panicked because the covers were pulled away, so she pressed them close. She didn't want to expose her bare self. But...because the covers were pulled away, the man saw her delicate collarbone and caught a faint glimpse below.

In an instant, yesterday night's memories flooded his mind.

The man suddenly had a complicated expression! He never thought that yesterday night...he and Rachel would...

The man's brows wrinkled tighter! Rachel bit her lips.

"I don't know what happened.After drinking last night, I was confused and disoriented, so my cousin led me here to rest.Why did you come in?!"

"D*mn! How the heck do I know how I came in?"

The man's eyes were filled with impatience and uneasiness.He wasn't spooked by Rachel's question but by what had happened between them last night.

Rachel took a breath.Her cheeks were hot.She couldn't be bothered about anything else.She grabbed the covers and wrapped herself in them before running to the bathroom.

"Oh my god! Let go of the freaking covers!"

Because the covers were pulled away, the man was left lying on the bed.

Everything could almost be seen clearly.However, Rachel didn't even turn around because she didn't dare to look at the man on the bed.

She knew that he must have nothing on.

The man sat up uneasily and grabbed his hair.But when he turned, he realized fresh blood was on the bed! After experiencing such encounters, how could he not know what the blood on the bed represented?! At that moment, his expression seemed to darken!

Chapter 1315 I Don't Want to Talk to Him

"That's about it.I didn't dare to come out after I went into the bathroom.I only did so after the man left..."

Elisa furrowed her brows.

"So, how did he come in that day?"

"I don't know.He didn't tell me.But it's impossible that he schemed or wanted to do such things with me.It must have been a coincidence."

"Did you call your cousin after that?"

"Yes, but she said she didn't know.She said she left after booking a room for me.She apologized and said everything was safe, but I don't believe her!"

"Did she tell you why she was looking for you that day?"

"Yes.My cousin needs money and wants me to lend her some, but I feel something is wrong.This has something to do with her.In any case, I drink often.How could I have drunk too much?! Moreover, I'm not the type to get dizzy and light-headed. I usually won't get hungover the next day from drinking too much. Don't you think it's strange?!"

Elisa's brows furrowed tightly, and she stayed silent.

Rachel gritted her teeth and said, "I thought she would probe and ask me certain things, but my cousin is smart. She said nothing. She really beat me! I have no evidence!"

Upon hearing Rachel was much more agitated than just now, Elisa said, "Calm down first."

Rachel took a deep breath and shut her eyes. She said nothing as she tried hard to calm herself.

After a while, she raised her hands and covered both sides of her head. She hung her head, and her hair covered her confused face.

"I'm feeling very bothered now."

Elisa looked at her and said softly, "We have to investigate. Who on earth is he?"

When Elisa said it, she rose and walked to Rachel's study room.

Rachel immediately got up and followed.

When she saw Elisa opening her laptop, Rachel asked, "What do you want to investigate?"

"Your cousin. Give me her cell phone number."

Rachel immediately turned on her cell phone and read out her cousin's cell phone number.

Elisa's hands started tapping away on the laptop.

Soon, Elisa discovered who her cousin had contacted in the past two days.

At the same time, she discovered the man who had entered Rachel's room.

And that man...

Elisa's gaze froze slightly.

Rachel's expression changed, and she ultimately sighed.

"As expected of you..."

Elisa was dumbstruck. She had only wanted to help Rachel investigate who had arranged for such a thing, but she found out who the man was.

"He came in with a room card," Elisa said softly.

Rachel bit her lips, and she felt that something wasn't right. She shook her head.

"It can't be. He hates me so much. How could he be in the same room as me? And we..."

Rachel couldn't continue.

"I still have to investigate. You can ask him what on earth happened that day."

Rachel said awkwardly, "I don't want to talk to him."

Elisa sighed in silence. She knew how Rachel felt.

At that moment, she didn't say anything.

Instead, she continued to investigate what had happened that day.

However...

Elisa had one less thing to worry about when she found out who the man was. It was just a shame.

Rach had been a maiden... She would now have something else to worry about.

CHAPTER 1316 LET ME GIVE A TOAST TO YOU!

After giving out his order, he placed a bet of seventy thousand before revealing his cards.

He was confident Gareth and Elisa wouldn't continuously enjoy such great luck.

The card was revealed.

He had the nine of spades.

The man raised his bets by another seventy thousand.

The rest of the people only had a ten percent chance of winning him. He didn't believe that anyone could get the number ten.

He arrogantly said, "All of you should simultaneously reveal your cards to save time."

"Aren't we going in clockwise direction? Why should we do it simultaneously? Could we play properly instead of changing the rules as you wish?" The masked man was upset when he heard what the dealer said.

Before showing his cards, he bet one and a half million worth of chips.

The people who were observing the game looked dumbfounded.

This round's dealer had nine of spades, but the masked man immediately raised such a big bet. At this point, isn't he willingly donating his money?

It didn't matter as the masked man had plenty of money, but he couldn't tolerate the vulgarness of the dealer.

His card was flipped.

It was an eight.

Later, the woman beside him revealed an A.

It was the lowest number.

The masked man wrapped his arms around her shoulder. "Darling, it's only a game. Anything that can be solved by money isn't worth worrying about. We can win the next round!"

From what was observed, the man in the mask was filthy rich.

The dealer this round imagined collecting the pile of chips in front of him as his number was four and a half times bigger than the number on his subordinate's card.

Next, it was Gareth and Elisa's turn to reveal their cards.

Gareth glanced at Elisa, and they both showed their cards together.

Gareth had a five, but Elisa had the ten of spades!

The dealer's chest tightened when he saw Elisa's card. He was sure the ten of spades wouldn't show up in the first round after his deliberate shuffling.

How did this happen?

When she saw his shocked and angered expression, she mockingly announced, "Bro, you were the one to shuffle and distribute the cards, and we have an equal number of people at the table. I believe this shouldn't be a problem, right?"

Elisa was delighted as she received another four million.

She felt like she understood the momentary joy compulsive gamblers experienced, having won massive amounts of money instantly.

However, she continued to stay seated in a composed manner.

Instead, she only betted half the amount from the previous round.

"No problem. I'll admit my defeat."

The accumulated chips were all pushed to Elisa, and the next round began with Elisa as the dealer.

She started distributing from Gareth according to the clockwise direction.

She then revealed the number eight.

The man felt his chest tense when he saw the eight of hearts.

The lady is brilliant. How can she get such a high number every round?

He betted a million earlier. Wouldn't it show the audience that he was afraid if he gambled less than the previous round?

Hence, he betted twice the amount.

Gareth raised the amount to four times more than what the man had bet.

The masked man looked excited and immediately betted ten times the amount.

Due to the large amount of money at stake, the audience observed anxiously. Everyone was waiting in anticipation to know who would win the fifteen million.

They revealed their cards in a clockwise fashion. The boss was luckier than the masked man as he had eight of diamonds while the masked man only had four of spades. Gareth, meanwhile, had the seven of spades.

The man's subordinate and the masked lady both had the number six.

"Ms. Elisa, you're extremely lucky today. Let me give a toast to you!"

CHAPTER 1317 I ENVY THEM!

Elisa suddenly pursed her lips.

She wasn't afraid of drinking, but she didn't like the strong smell of the alcohol because...

Gareth would rather meet with clients than face her at home in the past. She was reminded of her pathetic self that only ever waited for Gareth, who came home with the scent of alcohol all over him.

When she was about to reject him politely, Gareth took the wine glass from the man. "She doesn't know how to drink. I'll drink on behalf of her."

Elisa awkwardly smiled since Gareth had already explained it this way.

The man wasn't satisfied but didn't want to force her with so many people around.

If rumors went around about how the KKCD casino put a lady in a difficult position as he couldn't owe up to his defeat, he wouldn't be able to save his dignity.

"Sure, you can drink on behalf of Ms. Benett. Cheers!"

He then swallowed his drink in one gulp.

Gareth didn't hesitate to do the same.

However, the masked man crossed his arms on the table, looking amused.

He followed them without hesitation when he knew that Gareth brought Elisa to the KKCD casino. He wanted to know what Gareth had up his sleeves.

But he never imagined that Gareth would bring Elisa to gamble!

He had been observing from the side before, and even when he joined in, he couldn't deny their collective luck.

He had the same thought as the man in the center seat. They wanted to see when Gareth and Elisa's luck would run out. Hence, as soon as they finished the wine, he hurried them to continue the game, saying, "I'm busy. If you're still playing, then let's begin now."

Elisa started to shuffle and distribute the cards.

Elisa wasn't as lucky this round.

Her card was the number three, and the other six people had six, five, eight, seven, three, and ace, respectively.

The masked lady received the lowest number once again. After the masked man saw his card, he slowly lifted the corner of his lips and proudly exclaimed, "Ms. Benett, I have a higher card than you."

Elisa didn't respond to him as she kept her composure.

Both had the number three but with different symbols. What is there to be happy about?

However, the man in the center seat was undeniably pleased as he got eight of spades. His subordinates and the masked man couldn't beat him.

Only Gareth hadn't revealed his card, but he believed Gareth wouldn't have one higher than him. He would still have the higher card even if he had the same number.

Hence, he was confident he would win that round.

Gareth stared at him scornfully and flipped his card.

He had the nine of spades!

"Oh my, how could this happen? They must have the luck of the devil. We'll need to rub some luck off them. Who knows? We might be able to win as well."

"After all, they're from Zovain. I heard that they have the Goddess of Luck protecting them."

"They have won multiple times. I envy them!"

As soon as Gareth revealed his cards, the people gasped in shock and started murmuring in their native language, but Gareth and Elisa understood what they were saying.

Both of them were collecting millions of just from this gambling session alone.

"This is getting boring. I haven't won once in the past few rounds. I'll leave the table."

The masked man toppled his chips and pulled the masked lady away.

The man in the center seat breathed deeply.

He could let the masked man leave but couldn't let Gareth and Elisa go with so much money from the casino!

"Let's continue."

Gareth didn't say a word as he shuffled and distributed the cards.

The man dismissed his subordinates, leaving only three people at the table. He requested, "Let's reveal our cards simultaneously at the count of three."

Chapter 1318 Aren't You Willing To Accept Your Defeat?

The audience fixed their eyes on the cards when he said that. They looked even more nervous than the three at the gambling table.

Gareth and Elisa won heftily from the casino. If he lost again, he would lose his dignity and might be unable to keep his life.

Hence, the man was eager to win this round.

Compared to his eagerness and anxiousness, Elisa and Gareth were exceptionally calm. Elisa was satisfied as they had already won multiple times. Even if they lost, they would only pay back the amount they won.

As for Gareth, his true intention had nothing to do with winning the bet!

And the situation at hand had not reached his desired outcome.

“Elisa.”

Gareth called her.

She was surprised to hear him call her name.

However, she remained collected in front of the people watching them. The man also didn’t tease her when he learned her name.

He could only focus on the game.

One, two, three.

All of them revealed their cards. Three sixes.

When Elisa saw that they had similar numbers, she was glad she had set the rule at the beginning to compare based on the symbols. She had spades, while the man had hearts.

As always, she won again.

All the chips were swept in front of her. Elisa couldn’t help but imagine how much she would receive after the gamble.

With that amount of money she had, she could splurge on herself. She was thrilled by that thought.

But the man couldn’t stand it anymore.

He continued to gamble with Gareth and Elisa, but they kept winning for the next few rounds. It attracted the attention of many people who had started making their own bets on who would win.

The man held a chip in his hand, sweating profusely from nerves.

His boss only limited him to three million. Not only had he exceeded the limit, but he had also betted using his savings.

He was agitated.

“Both of you have been winning continuously, and I haven’t touched the deck. Since there are only three of us, let’s compare who has the highest number based on the sum of five cards. We’ll only consider the second digit if the sum is more than a single digit.”

As he was unhappy with his defeat, the man started to change the rules again.

“You keep suspecting us of cheating, but how can we cheat with so many people observing our game?”

Elisa mocked the man and continued, “Aren’t you willing to accept your defeat?”

“What a joke! Have you tried asking around if KKCD has ever backed out in fear of losing?”

He scornfully laughed at her comment.

KKCD casino was the largest casino in Moranta. No way they would back away.

However, he also had a mission.

“Joseph, do you remember how you insulted others when you won consecutively in the past? You said they shouldn’t embarrass themselves in KKCD if they can’t afford to gamble. So what are you trying to do now?”

“You keep changing the rules as you suspect them of cheating. If you don’t have the guts to continue, have someone take over your place.”

“Exactly! A bet is a bet! Don’t beat around the bush and destroy the reputation of KKCD.”

People in the crowd started to insult the man as they were upset with his attitude. With their public outcry, both Elisa and Gareth finally had a name to attach to the man.

It looked like the man had offended many people with his pathetic tricks.

“If that’s the case, let’s leave, Elisa.”

Chapter 1319 Aren’t You Willing To Accept Your Defeat? for more details

Gareth made his stance clear as he talked to Elisa.

Elisa was startled.

Didn’t he want to become the public enemy? Why is he backing off now?

“Our God and Goddesses of Luck, we haven’t gotten the chance to bet against you, and you’re already leaving. KKCD casino is not dominated by Joseph alone. Many more people will gamble with you if he doesn’t have the guts to do so.”

Someone hurriedly walked to the front of the crowd to stop them from leaving when they saw that Gareth was about to leave with Elisa.

“Exactly. Give us a chance to rub off your luck and feel the sense of victory again after our many defeats in KKCD Casino.”

“That’s right!”

Many of the spectators respected and envied them. Of course, they didn’t want Gareth and Elisa to leave as they believed they could borrow their luck to earn back some money.

After all, many of them had suffered substantial losses at the casino.

Joseph immediately dialed a number on his handphone when he saw this scene unfold before him.

Before the call was accepted, a loud, hoarse voice started nearing them, "What is happening? Why is it so noisy here?"

A boastful-sounding voice boomed.

Soon, a man with gray hair and pale skin walked down the stairs. He was wearing a purple shirt and had a hand in his pocket.

His appearance silenced everyone, and Joseph immediately fawned upon him. "Mr. North."

"Useless prick!"

His insult immediately got Joseph running to the back of Mr. North.

The crowd silently gasped. Joseph was merely a follower. The actual manager was a person called Mr. North.

The appearance of Mr. North also meant that Gareth and Elisa wouldn't be able to leave with a single cent in their pockets.

"This little brat is still immature and can't afford to play. Let me join both of you. We can keep the rules the same as before." Mr. North walked closer to Gareth and Elisa.

Undoubtedly, he had been observing them since they joined the table.

"Sure."

Elisa immediately replied to Mr. North. After all, they had won a large amount of money. They could still afford to play a few rounds even if they lost. Besides, Gareth was here, so what was there to fear?

However, Gareth sharply noticed that the person Joseph referred to as 'Mr. North' had a white Bluetooth earphone in his left ear.

Since the moment he made his appearance known, he had been unnaturally pausing between his sentences.

Someone must have been instructing him covertly.

"Let's begin."

Gareth nodded and walked towards the gambling table with Elisa.

Mr. North had some potential. He won the first four to five rounds. However, Gareth won the most bets after the fourth or fifth round.

It made the people who placed their bet on him overjoyed as they also won when he won.

However, Elisa was slowly losing interest in the gamble. She turned to look at the crowd. Suddenly, she met eyes with the masked man and lady that had previously gambled with them.

The masked lady was staring at her. Elisa felt her heart sink when she saw the expression in her eyes.

The two people had not appeared in the casino out of coincidence. They must've been observing Gareth and Elisa for a long time.

However, they had already disappeared from the crowd when she wanted to warn Gareth about it.

Chapter 1320 Mr North

"Haha! I could finally feel the joy of victory at KKCD casino by rubbing off the luck of the God and Goddess of Luck!"

Suddenly, someone in the crowd was cheering out of joy.

The voice interrupted Elisa's train of thought. A plump man in the crowd was cheering while holding his chips up. Within a few seconds, the people around him were calling for him to stop.

"You must be crazy. Their good luck will also bring them bad luck. We're indeed winning now, but you have to control yourself! Do you think they can leave KKCD with the money they've won?"

These words hit him like a splash of cold water in his face. He gained his senses right away.

Elisa wasn't far away from them. Despite their efforts to lower their voices, Elisa could hear every sentence.

The crowd started to disperse.

After a while, Gareth, Elisa, Thomas, and the casino's staff were the only ones surrounding their table.

Even though Henry was kicked by Gareth and was ordered by Joseph to apologize to Elisa, he didn't try to conceal his aggravation towards Elisa. His blazing eyes indicated, 'You're dead meat now.'

Elisa smirked scornfully at his expression without feeling scared at all.

"I guess there's nothing special about KKCD casino." Elisa let out a mocking remark.

"Don't insult our casino with your nonsense. Two of you have been winning ever since you appeared in our casino. I believe you have another motive. Tell us."

Mr. North threw away the cigar in his hands and folded his arms on the gambling table. He instigated them without beating around the bush.

What do you mean by Moranta's largest casino?

From Elisa's perspective, this was Moranta's most f*cked up casino.

Anyone who came with a fortune would have to leave without anything. Even if they won, the money would deceitfully return to the people in the casino. Not only did they have such pathetic tricks up their sleeves, but they were also thieves!

Elisa was disgusted by their shameless acts.

"Take me to your boss, and I'll not take a single cent from here." Gareth looked into the eyes of Mr. North and shared his intention indifferently.

Mr. North noticed that Gareth's eyes were expressionless and cold.

It was indeed true that they had another motive. They had already done their research on everyone in the casino.

Before Mr. North could reply, he heard a husky and dull voice from his earphones. "Bring them up."

"Yes, boss."

Mr. North respectfully replied and hinted to his subordinates.

His actions immediately verified Gareth's suspicions earlier!

Soon after, Gareth and Elisa were led through a long corridor to the elevator, where they went to the thirty-ninth floor. It was the highest floor of the building.

The decorations were extravagant, and there was an outdoor swimming pool. The building beside the swimming pool looked like a grand palace.

They followed them and noticed a man in his forties, wearing a white T-shirt, black shorts, and slippers, sitting on a leather sofa.

A German Shepherd covered in black fur was in front of the man, and a plate of fresh red meat was placed before the dog.

The man caressed the dog's head before lifting his head. "You're not here just to meet me after winning such a big amount of money. Are you? Tell me, what's your motive?"

Elisa noticed the man had several strands of white hair and a few wrinkles on his forehead, but it couldn't conceal his distinctive and outstanding aura.

The man quickly noticed her staring at him and took a glance at her. Elisa's face stiffened as she swiftly looked away from him.
